VOLUME 1 GEORGIA STATE WOMANS COLLEGE, VALDOSTA, GA., APRIL 17, 1935. NUMBER 15

F. E. R. A. Activities Listed for 1935-36

LIST OF POSITIONS GIVEN TO DR. PHELAN BY STATE ADMINISTRATORS

A list of positions for applicants for F. E. R. A. aid for next year has been sent to Dr. Earl Phelan, director of the F. E. R. A. on campus. If the Georgia State Womens College is to remain on the payroll during 1935-1936 the nature of some of the positions now held by the students will necessarily have to be changed.

A bulletin issued by the Federal Emergency Relief Administration with the cooperation of the U. S. Office of Education says that students should not be employed under this program to replace other paid labor or to carry on regular maintenance work of the institution; nor should this program replace or be substituted for any student work relief formerly carried on by the institution itself.

This definitely precludes regularly maintained routine jobs; including office activities, such as typing, stenography, mailing, filing, messenger service, library circulation service; operation and maintenance of physical plant, such as janitor service, window cleaning, bell ringing, elevator operating, care of locker and shower rooms, painting, general carpentry, furniture repairing, plumbing, electric repairing, lawn mowing, raking leaves, watchman service; management and operation of routine auxiliary enterprises, such as proctors and supervisors of dormitories, dishwashing, and waiting on tables, bookstore clerking, laundry work, repairing athletic uniforms, athletic publicity, regular college publications; routine assistance to members of faculty, such as teaching regular classes, laboratory routine, grading papers for campus classes—or any similar work normally paid for out of institutional funds, or for which college credit may be given to any student.

Rates Are Given For Applications In Dormitory

Dr. Reade has announced that applications for rooms for next year may be made this week or later. The small fee of $1.00 will be charged for room reservations, but, if the girl changes her plans by August 15, this fee will be returned to her. Because of the large number of students it is hoped will attend G. S. W. C. next year, it will be necessary that a number of the rooms be occupied by three persons. According to arrangements the charges for a three-girl room will be $1.50 cheaper for each girl per month than will be the two-girl rooms—the former being $5.00 and the latter $6.50. The larger the enrollment of boarding students, the more the likelihood of the addition of the new dormitory.

May the 1st Issue Of Canopy To Be Alumnae Edition

The Alumnae Association will publish a section of alumnae news with the Canopy in the May 1st issue. The inside sheet will be given over entirely to alumnae notes.

Before the re-organization of the Pine Branch and the institution of a weekly newspaper, a section of alumnae news was written in each monthly issue of the Pine Branch, but due to the content of the Pine Branch, and the lack of space in the Canopy there has been no alumnae news in either publication for this year. Due to this fact, the issue for May 1 will be the alumnae issue.

The students will receive their regular copies of the paper, but the middle sheet will be given over to alumnae news. Copies of the paper will be sent to alumnae members in Georgia and throughout the United States. Copies will also be sent to foreign countries where alumnae reside.

Kathryne Connell, society editor of the Lowndes County Tribune, will serve as editor, and Miss Mildred Price, as business manager.

Miss Sawyer Heads Speech Teachers

At the meeting of the teachers of speech at the Georgia Education Association, Miss Louise Sawyer, professor of speech at the Georgia State Womens College was elected president of the Georgia Teachers of Speech Association.

Miss Sawyer served as first vice-president of the association last year. She has been actively connected with all speech activities in the state since her establishment on the faculty here.

Miss Sawyer is faculty adviser to the Sock and Buskin Club and directs the productions given by the club each year.

MILDRED SEYDELL SPEAKS FRIDAY

Mildred Seydell, famous columnist and author will speak at Assembly Friday morning on her recent trip to Africa.

Mrs. Seydell is one of the most famous figures in Georgia journalism, having conducted a column in the Atlanta Georgian for a number of years. She has also written articles on her impressions of celebrities in foreign countries that have been circulated in the Hearst newspapers throughout America. She is also a pioneer in educational advances in Georgia. The offices that Mrs. Seydell holds in the state read like a list from Who's Who.

Class In Riflery Begins Practice

A class in rifle shooting has been organized for the spring quarter, and the first lesson was held in the gymnasium on Thursday evening. The class will be taught by Mr. Eddie Zant, and Mr. Bill Davis, both of whom are qualified teachers.

The class is open only to juniors and seniors, and due to the large number of students that have signed up regulations regarding the shooting have been made. The number signed is a larger number than can be handled on the shooting range, so the best of the shots will be selected to do further shooting on the range.

Classes will be held in the gymnasium until the girls are qualified to shoot on the range, then only the best shots will be allowed on the range. For this reason a great deal of competition is being shown in the sport.

Students who have signed for the class include: Leonora Dufour, Estelle Roberts, Clare Lawson, Eleanor Bailey, Luelle Giddens, Antoinette Andrews, Elizabeth Larisey, Una Ritch, Harriett Bullard, Camille Rogers, Esther Smith, Leila Urquhart, Louise Ambos, Mary Elizabeth Weatherford, Lee Stearman, Dorothy Ogletree, Broun Hutchinson, Janet Cook, Merle Gibson, Ames Watkins, Rachel Coxwell, Virginia Ingram, Helen Carter, Virginia Sheppard, and Geraldine Arrington.

Fine Arts Club And Seniors To Visit Florida

The members of the Fine Arts Club and the senior class will leave Friday morning for Florida. They will visit points of interest in northern, southern, and central parts of the state. They will visit Ocala and the historic old Silver Springs, one of the most unusual springs in the country. One of the main points of interest for the Fine Arts Club will be the visit to the Ringling Art Museum in Sarasota. The museum, which was founded by the circus magnate, contains one of the finest collections of art in the South.

On Easter morning the party will visit the Bok Tower and hear the Easter services. One of the largest carillons in the United States is at the Tower. The sunrise services on Easter morning are one of the main attractions to the visitors in that section, as they feature the carillons played by Anton Brees, the Belgian.

The party will come back through central Florida and arrive back on campus on Sunday night.

was one of the most interesting that she has ever made. She will give accounts of her adventures on this trip in Assembly Friday.

Librarians Post Book Lists

BOOKS CHOSEN FOR EVERY MOOD ARE LISTED

A list of books for the college girl's every mood has been posted on the library bulletin board. These books were chosen from both old and new books in the library.

For a "bored with life" mood the following were chosen: Butler, Way of All Flesh; DeKruif, Microbe Hunters; Dostoevsky, Crime and Punishment; Douglas, Magnificent Obsession; Durant, Story of Philosophy; Kallet and Schlink, 100,000,000 Guinea Pigs; Lippmann, Preface to Morals; Thomas, With Lawrence in Arabia.

Girls with "the blues" were told to read Auslander and Hill, The Winged Horse; Beard, Whither Mankind; Gaskell, Cranford; Lynd and Lynd, Middletown; Millay, The Ballad of the Harpweaver; Marco Polo, The Travels of Marco Polo;

For recreation and vocation the following were recommended; Allen, Anthony Adverse; Butler, Erewhon; Conrad, Nigger of the Narcissus; Dostoevsky, Brothers Karamozov; Galsworthy, Forsyte Saga; Jones, Christ of the Indian Road; Rolland, Jean Christophe; Stripling, The Store; Tolstoi, Anna Karenina;

For a mood of indifference: Buck, The Good Earth; Cather, Shadows on the Rock; Galsworthy, One More River; Lewis, Work of Art; Morley, Parnassus on Wheels; Peterkin, Scarlet Sister Mary.

And if you are in love: Allen, A Kentucky Cardinal; Anderson, Elizabeth, the Queen; Besier, The Barretts of Wimpole Street; France, Thais; Gaspell, Allison's House; Robinson, Tristram; Strachey, Elizabeth and Essex; Wilder, The Woman of Andros.

If you prefer travel the following books are recommended: Adams, Mont St. Michel and Chartres; Adamic, The Native's Return; Clark, The Spell of Scotland; Davis, A Day in Old Rome; Ellis, Bible Lands Today; Shackleton, Touring Great Britain; Speakman, Here's Ireland;

Vesper Services

Vesper was held Sunday night in the Rotunda under the leadership of Ethelvn Massey. The service was a particularly lovely devotional. Joy Miller sang "Teach Me, O Lord," and Catherine Morgan read extracts on Friendship from The Prophet by Kahlil Gibran. A piano solo, Londonderry Air was played by Virginia Ingram. Mary Askew read a poem, "Hypocrites" by James Whitcomb Riley.

Miss Margaret Hall read a number of the "if" passages from the Bible at the Thursday services, and pointed out the differences in viewpoint between the Old and New Testaments. She also read a poem, "If."

CHANGING THE NAME COMES UP AGAIN

At the alumnae luncheon in Macon Friday the matter of changing the name came up again. It seems that most of them are for it. An incident that happened in connection with the luncheon again brought home the fact that we are continually called by other names. In the write-ups of the luncheon that appeared in the Macon papers the alumnae were referred to as being such of the Georgia State College for Women. As everyone knows that college is in Milledgeville, and so again we didn't get the credit for even having a luncheon. Not that Milledgeville would care for it—they had one at the Dempsey at the same time. But Valdosta should at least be recognized.

Another incident concerns the news for the state papers. Our name is continually mixed in the news sections. We are called every name in the alphabet, and our news is continually mixed with that of other colleges bearing initials similar to ours. Nothing can be done about it however, one can easily see how they might be confused.

But we do nothing about it. We sit down and say "It would be very nice if the name were changed," but nobody bothers to suggest what we might do about it. The Canopy has tried to arouse some interest in the matter, but so far all we have received is comment.

The individuality of the college is at stake. How long are we going to watch impassively as we are confused with other colleges in the state. Can't we find a name that is synonymous with our history and traditions? We can if we will.

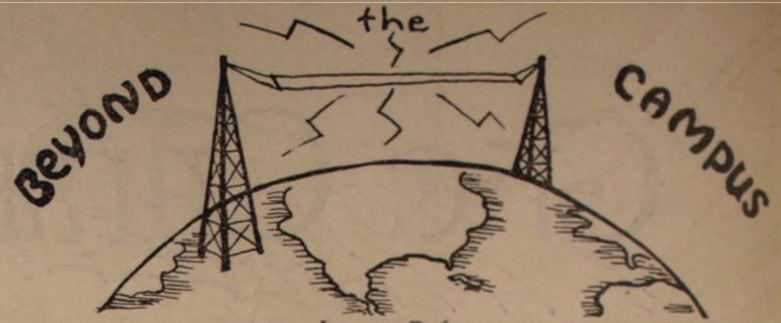

THE F. E. R. A.

Georgia authorities have announced that if G. S. W. C. is to receive F. E. R. A. aid for next year some of the positions will have to undergo changes, and others be substituted.

We find that some of the jobs are particularly interesting to the campus. In the Fine Arts Department we notice that students may do lettering and designing for publicity dealing with health, safety, and public welfare. And one of the most interesting is the fact that art exhibits may be organized in relation to the college. We have a campus excellent material for a student art exhibit. Explanatory pamphlets to accompany the exhibits could be worked out by the students.

String ensembles, choral groups and solos for non-profit making performances in hospitals, schools and public welfare agencies are listed, as are non-profit making plays, marionette shows, and skits for underprivileged children in the community.

There is an excellent chance for the F. E. R. A. student to make contacts and to be of service in the community through the plans for next year.

Leonora Dufour

A funny incident happened in New York last week. Life is always offering such things, but it is seldom that we hear of them outside of novels. It seems that a man bought a piece of paper for 50c that turned out to be a Beethoven manuscript, hitherto unheard of, therefore making it very valuable. Beethoven for 50c. Sounds like O. Henry.

Dust storms in the West prove what damage drouth can do. The drouths of last summer, not content with laying waste to all the farmer's wealth, now ravage further with dust clouds over all the country hit by last summer's drouth, and some of the West that was lucky enough to escape the drouth is now being hit by the dust storms which even extended as far east as Louisiana and Alabama. They have not finished their devastation yet. Georgia is due next.

An interesting story in a recent issue of Country Life tells of an interesting chase for Chinese art objects. (All this is so interesting). The simplicity of art has caused it to last for centuries. The very impassiveness of it has caused it to come down through time. Well the modernists could learn from it all.

CINEMA CYNIC

There is no need to tell you that 300 dollars will be given away tonight, you are probably on the way there now.

Tomorrow Wallace Beery will be on in "West Point of the Air." With him will be Robert Young, Maureen O'Sullivan, and Lewis Stone. This is the picture in which Wallace Beery risked his neck and his life as well. But it is what he loves.

Monday and Tuesday Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy play in "Naughty Marietta." Nelson Eddy is the young man you have been hearing and reading so much about. He has a fine baritone voice, and is very good to look at, which is something else. Most of them aren't. Unless you think Lanny Ross can sing. You know who MacDonald is, and how she can sing, and how good she will be as Naughty Marietta.

Now for a little gossip. They say that "Caprice Espagnol" (if they haven't changed the name) will be definately the last Dietrich-von Sternberg production. From now on it is each for himself or herself. The very, very, rich "Jock" and "Sonny" Whitney backed Robert Edmond Jones in his production of "La Cucaracha" which made such a hit. "Sonny" also lost $100,000 on a show by Peter Arno, and they're still friends. That must be friendship. But what is a mere $100,000 to a Whitney? Jean Harlow and William Powell—(well, we like 'em). They held "Naughty Marietta" over another week in Atlanta. They like the blond Nelson Eddy. Hollywood is still mad because Bette Davis was overlooked in her swell performance in "Of Human Bondage." They say she really deserved the prize if acting was any judge, and not box-office. Elizabeth Bergner has made her "Escape Me Never" into a movie which we can't wait to see. Meyer Levin in comparing her Catherine the Great with that of Marlene Dietrich says: If you could assign Dos-toievsky and Tarkington to the same plot, with the same list of characters, you might expect to receive two works as diverse as these.

THE OPEN FORUM

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

Don't you think upper classmen should be able to wear ankle socks with print dresses—that is, on the campus? Hose actually make one cross because they are so hot, and besides socks to match print dresses look better. The family pocket book can tell the difference when one is at home for the summer and can wear anklets and when one is at school where hose must be worn.

And while speaking of clothes, it seems hard on freshmen and sophomores to drag out the one and only and place it upon a freshly set wave every time they go to town. Now it is to be admitted that low sunbacks and absolutely bare legs are not advertisements of modesty, but what we want is to do away with too much convention and have a little comfort.

JUNIOR.

Dear Editor:

After hearing students frequently discuss the question, I feel impelled to bring the matter of wearing anklets to your attention.

The abolishing of the rule forbidding upperclassmen to wear anklets would be greatly appreciated by overburdened parents, and it would also result in a more satisfied student body. The only bad effect it could possibly have would be to greatly decrease the hosiery sales in Valdosta. It could in no way harm our reputation as an institution because G. S. W. C.'s is the only campus near-by on which the wearing of anklets is forbidden.

For the excellent reasons of economy and comfort, we would like to be allowed to wear anklets to classes and on the campus.

SOPHOMORE.

Among those who attended Little Commencement at Georgia, were: Misses Myra Hackett, Carroll Peebles, and Frances Fluker.

FRESHMEN WITH PARTY

The sophomore class of G. S. W. C. entertained the freshmen Friday night with a carnival, which celebrated the finding of the hat by the freshmen earlier in the year.

The upper rotunda was transformed into a colorful midway, which presented all the freaks and wonders so typical of carnivals. The most popular freak was Tarzana, the wild woman (Margaret Bennett), but her popularity was rivaled by that of La Verta, the tattooed lady (Catherine Hagan) and Zora, the strong woman (Elizabeth Sims).

The popcorn stand, operated by Hulda Summer and Catherine Morgan, was a real note of local color. Dressed in white chef-caps and aprons, they served the popcorn in quite a professional manner.

Tree Smith, Jacob Griggs, Bootsie Hatcher and Mavne Register revealed hitherto unsuspected talent as barkers for various sideshows. It can be safely predicted that out of these four will come at least one train-announcer.

The Chamber of Horrors, under the able supervision of Lorene Johnson, frightened many a freshman severely. It is said that the sophomores who assisted here had nightmares all Friday night, and the rumor is quite logical, for Frances Carson as the dead woman was sufficient inspiration for a whole stableful of nightmares. The shrieks and groans of Margaret Hudson, Emma Ambos, and Florence Tharpe aided materially in producing hysteria.

At nine o'clock, the following program was presented in the lower rotunda:

SPORTS

Last Saturday the P. E. Department put on an exhibition for the Young People's Christian Endeavor Convention which met in Valdosta over the week-end. Tennis and golf matches were played and various other campus games.

The riflery class met for the first time Thursday evening under the direction of Mr. Zant and Mr. Davis. The girls learned the different parts of a rifle and how to take aim.

It is gratifying to the P. E. Department to see that the girls are all interested in the different campus sports and that the tennis courts and the golf course are being regularly used.

The first baseball game of the season was played on Wednesday afternoon. Both associations are determined to get their names engraved on the Honor Plaque this year and so the rivalry is especially keen.

Score cards for archery and golf have been placed on the athletics bulletin board in Converse Hall. Students playing either game may get their score sheets from the envelopes on the board.

The pupils of the Valdosta High School have been invited to use the college courts on Wednesdays. Experienced players at the college will oversee the playing.

A double tennis tournament was part of the sports program for the week.

Baseball Game This Afternoon

Interest in baseball is at its height now with the first game of the season scheduled for this afternoon.

The players have been divided into four teams, the Connie Macks, the Lou Gehrigs, the Babe Ruths, and the Dizzy Deans. A contest will be carried on during the quarter to determine the winner of the series. The winning team will be entertained with a breakfast swim by the other teams. The team to get in their share of the money first received five points. The Connie Macks were the first team to accomplish this end.

Both the Kappas and Lambdas are very anxious about the winning teams, as the two teams are closely tied as to number of points toward the honor plaque. The winning team will add a goodly number of points to either the Kappas or the Lambdas.

The breakfast swim will be held at the end of the quarter at Barber's pool.

SOCK AND BUSKIN CLUB

At the meeting of the Sock and Buskin Club on Tuesday evening, Miss Louise Sawyer gave a discussion of some of the plays that she saw recently in New York. Among the plays were "The Children's Hour," "The Petrified Forest," starring Leslie Howard, and "Escape Me Never" starring Elizabeth Bergner. Miss Sawyer took each of the plays and gave a critical analysis of them.

A discussion of future plans of the club was held. The plays to be given in the future meetings were also discussed.

KAMPUS KALEIDOSCOPE

This week has been a dull one so far as we can see . . . There isn't much doing in these parts . . . What ho, land ahead! Weddings had all the little girls agog with excitement . . . First there was Mary Frances King's with a college girl as maid-of-honor, and Mary Young's with Frances Copeland as bridesmaid . . . Then Billy couldn't find his shirt (talking about somebody losing their shirt) . . . because some girl had borrowed it to wear in the glee club . . . my, my! And speaking of weddings, that reminds us . . . That was naughty of you to throw away your ring Louise, suppose you hadn't been able to find it next morning . . . Or them, rather . . . And same little boy who lost his shirt loses his head to a tall dark occupant of Senior house in preference to a little blonde . . . Catherine Morgan still has the cup that she won in a beauty contest . . . The sophomore carnival was darling . . . It must have been great for the freshmen once . . . Hackett, Daniels, Fluker, and Middleton journey off to Georgia, while the rest of us sit around and pine . . . And we see that Carroll finally made it too . . . The Zipplies journey (say, can't you find another word!—the editor) off to Clemson. (What is the matter with that word?—Your gossip monger) . . . And the Seniors get all excited over their trip to Florida . . . That class in rifle shooting is more dangerous any day than a bunch of horse-back riders . . . We take all that back again . . . It must be true love when they make eyes like a certain couple we know . . . You probably know too . . .

This time we're digressing from form agin . . . We'll tell you about a little number we know of. It seems that her boy friend calls her up to go riding with him, and she says that she will. Well, it also seems that a boy from the home town calls her, and after all boys from the old home town don't come every day, so why not tell the town boy so . . . but subtly of course. Well, the little darling gets a terrific headache in just a few minutes, and calls the faithful one and tells him how sick she is. He is so sorry, and asks if there is anything he can do. She waits and waits on the old home town sheik, and he never shows up. But that isn't the sad part about it, the boy gets smart to all the trickery, and drops her acquaintance. Moral: Never try to fool a Valdosta Boy for a home town swain—you can't tell about either one of them.

A. A. U. W. Meeting

Miss Louise Sawyer, director of the speech department will speak at the meeting of the A. A. U. W. on Thursday. Miss Sawyer will discuss some of the current plays that she saw in New York during the spring holidays.

Piano and violin music will also be given on the program. Hostesses for the meeting will be: Mrs. T. C. Ashley, Misses Margaret Hall, Janie Bush, and Fredeva Ogletree, and Mrs. R. G. Dickerson.

A resume of the business year will be given, and election of officers for the coming year will be held.
