

It will be better to plan for a book of blessings and graces, taken, of course, from people of all sects and creeds,-- with perhaps a few selected prayers for special occasions, and it may be best to omit these entirely.

Do you know of any such book already in print? If not, would you be willing to write a short forward for such a proposed book?

I know that you are a busy man, but only busy people have time to do the worthwhile things.

With all good wishes, I am,

Sincerely yours,
