Acree re-elected AAFP membership

KANSAS CITY, Mo. -- Russell Arch Acree, M.D., of Hahira, has been re-elected to active membership in the American Academy of Family Physicians, the national association of family doctors. The Academy formerly was called the American Academy of General Practice.

Re-election signifies that the physician has successfully completed 150 hours of accredited postgraduate medical study in the last three years. Members become eligible for re-election at the end of the third year following their election to membership. The Academy, the country's second largest national medical association, is the only national medical group that requires members to keep up with medical progress through continuing education.

The Academy, founded in 1947 and headquartered in Kansas City, Mo., was instrumental in the establishment of a new primary medical specialty in family practice in 1969. The new specialty is expected to increase the numbers of family physicians available to serve the public in the future. The Academy's postgraduate education program is the foundation of eligibility for family doctors now in practice who apply for certification in the new specialty.

General plans new facilities

General Telephone Company plans to invest over $21 million in new telephone facilities in its Georgia exchanges in 1972, according to E.H. Jared, general manager for the Company's Georgia operations.

General's 1972 expenditures for construction and service improvement will exceed last year's by almost $6 million, he said.

For the six year period from 1971 through 1976, General Telephone has projected gross expenditures for telephone facilities "in the range of $100 million," Jared noted.

General Telephone Company of the Southeast operates 67 telephone exchanges in communities throughout the state.

Bobby Wetherington named president of Commercial Bank

Bobby G. Wetherington was named by the Board of Directors at a meeting Tuesday, January 4, to succeed V.A. Gaskins as president of the Commercial Banking Co.

One of the youngest presidents in the bank's history, Wetherington, 32, has served as executive vice-president and cashier since joining the bank in 1968. "I am greatly honored that the Board saw fit to make me president," he said.

Paul Johnson, who has held the duties as cashier and a member of the Board of Directors for the past eighteen months, will fill the position as vice-president and continue his duties as cashier.

Both natives of Hahira, Wetherington and Johnson attended Hahira Elementary School in their early years, later graduating together in 1957 from Hahira High School. The newly named president attended Valdosta State College for four years, graduating in 1961 with a degree in accounting. He was a bank examiner with the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. for five years following his graduation from VSC. He resigned in 1966 to accept a position as president with Farmers and Merchants Bank of Russell County, Alabama.

Under the direction of Wetherington, the bank opened two new branches in Hurtsboro and Phenix, Alabama. At the age of 26, he was the youngest president for the Farmers and Merchants Bank. He resigned his position with the Alabama banks to become executive vice-president and cashier at the Commercial Banking Co. to enable him to return to his hometown of Hahira. "I haven't regretted it -- Hahira is a great town," the newly elected president stated.

In the four years that Wetherington has been associated with the local bank, assets have increased from $1,308,000.00 to $2,488,000.00. He stated that he is very enthused about the growth of the Commercial Banking Co., as well as the Citizens Bank, which is indicative of the growth in the Hahira community.

Wetherington attributes much of his success in the banking business to his first position with the FDIC as bank examiner. "Sharing the expense and knowledge with bankers throughout the four Southern States including Georgia, Florida, Alabama and Mississippi, which I came in contact with was a great advantage to me in learning the banking business", stated Wetherington.

Wetherington is married to the former Brenda Marshall of Hahira. The couple have two sons, Fred, 4-year-old, Lee, 2, and a 7-week-old daughter, Tina.

Johnson began his career in banking in 1961 after spending two and a half years in the Navy. He was employed with the Ormond Beach First National Bank in the Daytona Beach area and four years later was promoted to assistant cashier of the bank. He was again promoted in 1967 when he was transferred to DeBarry, Florida, an affiliate of the Ormond Beach Bank, to join the staff as cashier. He returned to Hahira in July 1970 to be affiliated with the Commercial Banking Co.

The newly elected vice-president is married to the former Linda Banes of Cecil. They have two children, Michele, 4-years-old and Matthew, 2.

Both Johnson and Wetherington stated that they liked small town living and were especially happy when they were offered positions in their hometown.

Gaskins, one of the founders of the Commercial Banking Co., has been active in the banking business for the past fifty-one years. He was presented a Service Award last year in recognition of his loyal and faithful service to the banking industry.

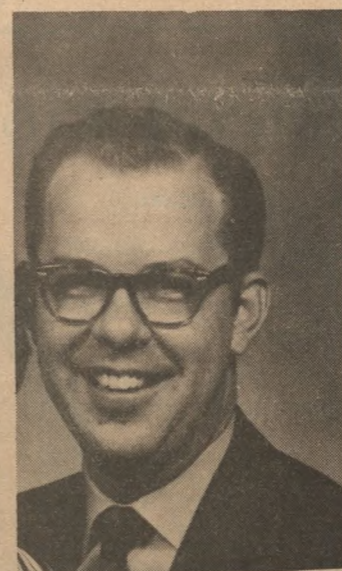

He came to Hahira in 1927 after working for five years with the First National Bank in St. Petersburg, Florida. Raised on a farm in Berrien County, Georgia, he worked in the county clerk's office for three years before launching a career in the banking business in 1920.

After moving to Hahira Gaskins and two partners, Tally Lawson and Jim Scruggs, started operating as a private bank on April 22, 1929.

The Commercial Banking Co. was incorporated in April 1945 when its assets totaled about $300,000.00.

An active member of Hahira First Baptist Church, Gaskins has served as a deacon for 45 years and has acted as treasurer for the Church for the past 42 years.

He is married to the former Emma Williams of Lanier

Mayor receives notification of water, sewer loan

Mayor W.R. Salter was informed Tuesday afternoon in a telephone conversation from the office of the Department of Agriculture in Washington, D.C. that the City of Hahira has been granted a loan of $125,000.00 for water and sewer extension. The loan was granted to the city by the Farmers Home Administration to extend service to the area from the city to Interstate - 75.

According to the Mayor this extension will serve residential and well as commercial and manufacturing properties in the area. "This will be a self liquidating extension service," states Salter. Salter stated that the West and East side of the city is increasing in population and will need additional water and sewer service if the city continues to grow.

Cong. Stuckey makes loan announcement public

(A TELEGRAM)

Rep. W. S. (Bill) Stuckey is pleased to announce approval of a Farmers Home Administration, US Dept. of Agriculture loan for $125,000 for the City of Hahira. Cong. Stuckey said the funds will be used to enable the City to extend its existing water and sewer lines to serve additional areas. 492 rural families will benefit from the improved modern water and sewer facilities. W. S. (Bill) Stuckey Jr.

A Hahira man drowned Saturday morning when his truck slipped off ice-covered Futch's Bridge and plunged into the Withlacoochee River about six miles southeast of Adel.

Isaac Samford Sermons, 59, of Route 2, Hahira, was traveling south on the Old Coffee Road about 8:30 a.m. when he attempted to cross the wooden bridge covered with ice.

The bridge has runners on which vehicles ride across, but Sermons' pickup truck left the runners on the left side about half way across the bridge.

Tire marks indicated that he nearly left the road on the left side of the bridge as the truck slipped closer to the edge. As he neared the edge, the driver cut the wheels sharply and the pickup crossed the runners to the right.

The driver was unable to stop the truck and it fell into the river at the deepest point. The pickup sank into about 10-12 feet of water upside down and it was not visible from the surface.

The Sermons vehicle was following closely behind a vehicle occupied by K. C. Brown and his wife, also of Hahira. The three were going to their homes from Nashville where they were employed.

As Brown reached the end of the bridge, he happened to look in his rear view mirror and failed to see the Sermons truck. He turned around and found where the truck had fallen off the bridge.

Brown then went to the nearest residence, R. T. Futch, and asked him to call Sheriff D. J. Connell in Adel. Connell in turn contacted the state patrol and the Cook County Rescue Squad.

H. B. Giddens of the Rescue Squad used a probe to find the upside down truck in the river. He hooked a line from a wrecker to the truck and the truck was pulled to a shallow part of the river.

The squad removed the body from the cab to a boat and then transferred it to the ambulance. The body was removed from the truck about 10:00.

When the pickup was brought to the surface the right hand window was broken out and the front windshield was cracked. The victim's foot was caught on the rear view window and the doors on both sides were dented.

The victim was taken to the Memorial Hospital in Adel where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

Sheriff Connell supervised the entire operation of recovering the truck and body.

"We have to give a lot of credit to our Rescue Squad," Connell said. "They haven't been organized long, but they surely did a good job today."

The wooden bridge on the county dirt road has caused considerable controversy in the past. Much of the criticism from those who travel the road centers on the narrow runners which line the bridge.

One resident who lives nearby said it is next to impossible to stay on the double runners when they are iced over.

The deceased was born and reared in the Mineola community near Hahira and was a farmer. He was an active member at Rocky Hill Church, where he was a deacon, president of pallbearers, Lodge #28; and financial secretary of Lodge #10 in his church.

Funeral services are to be held this afternoon (Thursday) at 3 o'clock at Tabernacles Church of Christ in Valdosta with interment in Rocky Hill cemetery. The Rev. J. C. Phillip, pastor of Rocky Hill Church is to conduct the services. David Miller, host pastor, will preside.

Active pallbearers will be nephew's of the deceased.

An honorary escort will include Calvin Carter, Henry Moore, G. C. Lane, Henry Wright, Wesley Williams and Tommy Hampton.

Several songs are to be sung, including "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Saying."

Survivors include his wife, Sallie Mae Sermons; six daughters, Patricia, Marie, Gail, Pricilla and Aquila Sermons all of Hahira and Juanita Sermons of Newark, N.J.; three sons, Isaac Jr., Ronald Amos, Wallace Dixon and his mother Eliza J. Sermons all of Hahira; five sisters, Mrs. Beatrice Alderman, Miss Bessie E. Sermons of Hahira, Mrs. Naomi Merrell of Valdosta, Mrs. Genovous Stripling and Mrs. Inez Darrington of Jacksonville, Fla.; five brothers, Johnny B. Sermons, Jr., Elder A. Sermons of Hahira, Robert J. Sermons of Jacksonville, Fla., Amos Sermons of Palatka, Fla. and C.V. Sermons of Baxley, Ga. and two grandchildren.

James Scott and Son Funeral Home in Valdosta is in charge of arrangements.

Mayor

Mayor W. R. Salter received a letter this week from the staff of Central Hospital in Milledgeville, Ga. on behalf of the patients for their appreciation for all the Christmas gifts sent to them by the people of Hahira.

Salter stated that he would like to thank the members of the Hahira Garden Club for sponsoring this worthwhile project and for their part in making the Mayor's day at Central Hospital a great success.

"This should make each of us proud that we made Christmas a happier day for these patients," stated the Mayor. "Again thanks to each one who had a part in the program," Salter added.

Do you have age proof?

If you are nearing retirement age, you should be thinking about proof of age for social security benefits. It is recommended by the Valdosta Social Security Office that you take advantage of social security TELESERVICE and call your social security office at telephone number WX-6500. You can get advice as to what documents you will need and how you may best obtain them. By doing this before you reach retirement age, you will save both yourself and social security valuable time which will help you to get your first social security check on time.

Proof of age or date of birth presents quite a problem for many people who do not have a birth certificate or baptismal certificate to prove their correct date of birth. There are other records that can be used and the people at the social security office are glad to help you find and obtain the best document for your personal case.

Some of the documents that are readily available are school census records, old insurance policies, marriage records, children's birth certificates, old voting records, military records, or discharges, lodge and fraternal records, labor union records, old employer's records, old family Bible, World War I and II draft records, and U.S. census records.

If you are already of retirement age, you should not wait until you have proof of your date of birth or age to file for your social security benefits. Even if you are still working, you should file for Medicare benefits if you are age 65 or within three months of being 65 years of age. You should contact your social security office where you can get help in filing your claim for benefits and in obtaining the documents that are needed to prove your age.

You should avail yourself of the TELESERVICE and call telephone number WX-6500. You can get answers to all of your questions, proper advice and assistance, and you can even get your claim filed by your telephone call. Just dial operator and ask for the number. There is no charge for the call.

Employees at the Indianapolis sewage treatment plant no longer have to walk around the premises. Electric carts have been purchased for them to use.

your week ahead

BY DR. A.W. DAMIS

Forecast Period: January 16 - 23, 1972

- ARIES Mar. 21 - Apr. 19
It seems as though you will be involved in conversations far over your head. Ironically, you are inclined to pursue endeavors that do not suit your aptitude.
- TAURUS Apr. 20 - May 20
The first symptoms of a smoldering animosity that exists among your associates will appear this week. Also, there's the possibility of many Taurus people taking a trip that is disappointing.
- GEMINI May 21 - June 20
It would be wise, very wise for you to guard against disclosing a confidence entrusted to you. Bluntly, during this cosmic cycle you are inclined to betray a friend, thoughtlessly.
- MOONCHILD June 21 - July 22
This happens to be one of those periods when Moonchildren are gifted with the "Midas touch." Don't hesitate to take chances, provided you are speculating within reason.
- LEO July 23 - Aug. 22
Be especially careful of your grooming, this week. According to your chart, it's highly probable that you will have an opportunity to make a good first impression.
- VIRGO Aug. 23 - Sept. 22
Complications could develop between you and a member of the opposite sex; apparently your actions are being misread. Unless you take an objective look at the situation - a mental explosion is likely.
- LIBRA Sept. 23 - Oct. 22
A wedding, in one form or another, will affect you during the present cosmic cycle. What is more, it's advisable that you show enthusiasm, regardless of the news you are about to receive.
- SCORPIO Oct. 23 - Nov. 21
Many members of your sign are going to be too "pushy." So, curb the urge to become the center of attraction. A powerful personality will not step aside if you attempt to run the whole show.
- SAGITTARIUS Nov. 22 - Dec. 21

Household workers must have quarterly report

Homemakers who employ workers must send in quarterly wage report, social security contributions by January 31.

People who employ household workers have an important job to do themselves this month, according to William M. Eanes, social security district manager in Valdosta.

"If you employ a household worker covered by social security, you're required to send a wage report and social security contributions to the Internal Revenue Service by January 31," Mr. Eanes said.

The wage report and the social security contributions are for the last quarter of 1971.

"You're required to report," Mr. Eanes said, "if you pay a household worker $50 or more in cash wages in any 3-month quarter -- January-March, April-June, July-September, or October-December. You must send in a report of wages, along with the social security contribution, within one month after the end of the quarter.

Homemakers may file the report on a form available at any Internal Revenue Service Office - Employer's Quarterly Tax Return for Household Employees (for social security)."

Information on the return includes the employer's name and address; the household em-

Former DE student prepares for Business Law

A former Lowndes High School student and now a member of the DECA Alumni is attending college planning to major in business. Charles Lane, has shown that Distributive Education opened the door to success as he expressed it. "DE was an important part of my last year in school, and after I graduated DE helped me to keep trying to do my best for myself as well as for the people I am in contact with."

Charles worked at the Roadrunner Restaurant on I-75 during his senior year at Lowndes High and after graduating he was appointed assistant manager at the Valdosta modern restaurant.

He now attends Valdosta State College in the mornings where he is majoring in Business and Social Sciences. After graduating from VSC he plans to continue his education to obtain a degree in business law. "I am planning far ahead of time but I have confidence that the determination D.E. gave me will help me to do what I have planned for. "I only regret that I was not able to take DE in my junior year," he added. The DE program was organized in Lowndes High School this past year and it is presently in its second year of operation.

Before his senior year, Charles plans were to graduate from high school and get any job. "DE helped me to save money for college, trained me for a job, gave me responsibility and best of all, DE made me realize how enjoyable a job can be when we learn how to like it," he said.

The Veterans Administration is urging veterans to take 22-week courses in water pollution control now available at nine community and technical colleges around the country.

Daniel Parker, president of the Distributive Education Club at Lowndes High School, explained a slide presentation at the Open House held recently. Daniel, son of Mrs. Maggie Parker of Valdosta, has been named DE Student of the Year at Lowndes High and expects to receive a top place in the State contest.

Lowndes DE has open house

Members of the Distributive Education Club of Lowndes High School held an open house and invited parents and employers of students participating in the DE work - study program.

The DE Club is trying to inform the community about the projects and activities they have been involved in, and the open house was planned to let the parents know what DE is and how it works.

A slide presentation was explained by Daniel Parker, Club President and State DECA parliamentarian, and a film on DE, "Tell it like it is" was also shown, to give the parents a better idea about the program. The students want their parents to know what they are doing in the DE classroom and on the job and how DE helps them to develop their potentials."

The DE students of LHS this year are preparing Marketing Manuals, Studies and Marketing and Creative Marketing projects and their work in these areas was shown and explained to the guests.

"Lowndes High DECA"

by Debbie Roark, alumni president

As a member of Lowndes High School D.E. Chapter in its first first year of operation, I was offered the opportunity to see how this exciting program developed. I don't need to say I was skeptical when I heard about it for the first time. D.E. was new to me, to other students and to our school. I am very glad my skepticism did not keep me from deciding to enroll in D.E. in my senior year. From then on, to enroll in D.E. in my senior year. From then on, things changed fast, as did my attitude towards the program. At the end of my first quarter, D.E. was a very important part of my life. It was a challenge. By being a member of D.E. I had a world of opportunities, and could not let them pass by. I learned basic economic concepts, merchandising, salesmanship, advertising and human relations. But best of all, we all learned to do a better job, for ourselves, for our employer, for our community; it was like learning to make a better future. The first year was successful. The summer passed and the new school year began. And I was invited to the initiation of the new members of DECA. Daniel Parker, now a senior and a D.E. II student, said: "I was a student because I had to be and D.E. made me be a because I wanted to be. Now I want to learn, and I want to do the best I can."

"We hope to be able to compete in most of the events at state and national this year. We want to do for our club as much as Distributive Education has done for us," he added before he left to go to address the new students who were about to become members of DECA.

Daniel is now the president of Lowndes Chapter, and the State Parliamentarian of DECA. He represented Lowndes High DECA at the NLC in San Antonio, Texas.

Daniel was selected last year as one of the three most outstanding students of Lowndes High School because of his fine job in the D.E. Club, and the past September, he was chosen the most outstanding officer in the school for his leadership abilities.

And I saw and learned about many others for whom D.E. has given an opportunity to lead and follow with understanding and skill. If DECA has done this and so much more in Lowndes High School for some students, I know we can say that Lowndes Chapter of DECA has achieved its goal for its first year.

Lowndes High DE Club plans employer-employee banquet

About 120 persons are expected to attend the 2nd annual Employer-Employee Banquet of Lowndes High School Distributive Education Club. The banquet is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Monday, January 18th at the Inn in Valdosta.

The banquet is held each year to honor the employers of D.E. students. Outstanding students are to be presented at the program during the banquet. Phil Walden, LHS DE Club Director, said the awards are for the most outstanding male and female students who were selected "Students of the Year" in the local program, and will be competing at district level in February. An award will also be given to the most outstanding officer of the DE Club. Honorary Life membership, the highest award the club can give, is presented to a person the club feels has shown special interest in the program and has cooperated in reaching its goals. This year Lowndes DE will give the first Honorary Life Membership to the person who helped initiate the program in Lowndes High School. The planning of the banquet is being carried out by the DE students, and the 1971 DE Alumni will help with the final activities and the presentation of awards during the banquet. Charles Harris, professor of Distributive Education at Abraham Baldwin Agricultural College at Tifton, is to be the guest speaker.

Sheryl Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Boykin, puts the final touches on the clothing of a mannequin at a department store in Valdosta where she is working as a member of the Distributive Education Club at Lowndes County High. Sheryl, a senior, is among 44 students who are going to school every morning for 4 classes and working half day at Valdosta retail business establishments which are extensions and laboratories of the E. E. classroom activities.

Tax filing deadline

Albany, Georgia. -- Georgia farmers and fisherman who did not file a declaration of estimated Federal Income Tax by Jan. 17 may have a tax deadline by March 1.

Calvin G. Lane, the local representative of Internal Revenue Service in Albany, said today that if you earned at least two-thirds of your 1971 gross income from farming or fishing but did not file an estimate by Jan. 17, you must file your 1971 Federal income tax return and pay any tax due by Wednesday, March 1, 1972, to avoid penalty for underpayment of estimated tax.

"In the good old summertime . . ."

. . . is not good for chickens

ATHENS—With the full force of winter coming on, it's hard to imagine that hot weather could possibly be unpleasant. But the middle of the summer is an uncomfortable time for most humans—and recent studies at the University of Georgia College of Agriculture indicate that broiler chickens don't care for hot weather any more than humans do.

The studies, under the direction of Dr. Till M. Huston, professor of poultry science at the University, confirm that high summer temperatures cause problems for the producers of broiler hatching eggs. The study was a compilation of data gleaned from hatchery production and special experimentation in experimental houses on the University poultry research farm.

Several Georgia hatcheries contributed in the three-year study by making their records available to the U. Ga. investigators. A hatching capacity of more than a million eggs per week was involved—representing approximately ten percent of the eggs set in the state.

These records showed that hatchability decreased during the hot summer months of June, July, August and September. Hatchability was lowest in August, with a five to six percent decrease over the cooler seasons of the year. In contrast, hatchability was highest in January, February, March and April, with the month of March proving the leader.

Dr. Huston says the reduced hatchability alone could represent a loss of as much as $5 million per week to the state's industry—a figure that becomes $50 million per week when projected nationally.

This figure does not even include the hot weather losses due to poorer egg production and quality.

The scientists then went to specially equipped environmentally controlled houses on the school's poultry research farm, where additional information supported the findings of the hatchery survey.

Three different environmental temperatures were selected to represent the three seasons of winter (45 degrees), spring (65 degrees) and summer (85 degrees). The temperature within each house was adjusted for a daily variation of ten degrees above and below the mean to simulate natural daily fluctuation.

The study covered a period of twelve months. Pullets were placed in each of the test environments before they began to lay, and the first results were immediately noted; pullets in the cooler environment of 45 degrees Fahrenheit did not start laying as soon as those in the two warmer houses. The onset of production in the cooler group was delayed on an average of approximately one week. However, once the hens did start laying, egg production, egg size, fertility and hatchability were as good in the cold environment as in either of the others.

The study revealed that the high environmental temperature of 85 degrees F. caused a decrease in egg production and egg size as well as fertility and hatchability, particularly in older hens. Apparently the hot weather reduces the productive life of hatchery flocks, Dr. Huston concluded.

And so it's just possible that, with the coming of winter months, millions of chickens across Georgia and the nation are clucking sighs of relief, feeling great about the fact that the hot weather of summer is several months away.

House to operate "Information line"

ATLANTA -- The Georgia House of Representatives Public Information Office will again man a toll-free information line for citizens who have questions about House activities.

The toll-free number for persons outside the Atlanta calling area is 1-800-282-5800. For persons in the Atlanta calling area the number is 656-5083.

House Speaker George L. Smith II of Swainsboro said the unique Information Line, which proved successful during the 1971 legislative session, should be even more helpful this year as more people learn how it can be used.

During 1971 an average of 125 calls per day were received during the final weeks of the legislative session.

Citizens used the line to messages for House members to check the status of bills, to find out how a legislator had voted on a bill issue and even to name or mailing address their legislators.

"The Information stands ready to answer about any question pertaining to House activities," said. "We encourage to call the free number they have a question what's going on in Atlanta."

More than a billion dollars for construction.

It will take a lot more electricity to meet the energy demands of the '70's. And a lot more money to supply that demand. During just the next three years, construction will cost us $1,519,000,000.

Many millions of those dollars will be spent for air and water protection. Because along with the responsibility of ample electric service, we have a commitment to the environment.

But whether a clean-air device or a turbogenerator, every item we buy has rocketed in price. Since 1960, for example, copper wire has gone from 30 to 67 cents a pound. Finished steel is up more than 30 percent. A utility pole that sold for $29.13 is bringing $40.92 today.

Regardless of cost increases, our continued responsibility is to you. To supply electric power. And to protect the environment. After all, some things are priceless.

An excellent platter garnish is meringued peaches. Fill centers of drained canned cling peach halves with mincemeat (1 tablespoon in each half). Top with stiff meringue (2 tablespoons sugar per egg white) and bake in a 400 degree F. oven for 5 to 7 minutes until slightly browned. They're ideal with roasts.

A quick and easy way to prepare a zesty sauce to serve over pudding or cake is with eggnog. Simply combine 1 package (3 ounces) vanilla pudding mix with 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg. Stir in 2 1/2 cups eggnog. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until pudding comes to a full boil. Serve hot to warm up any winter evening.

A coconut pie shell "contains" a cream, chiffon, or ice cream filling. deliciously. Spread 2 tablespoons softened (not melted) butter evenly on the bottom and sides of an 8 or 9-inch pie plate. Spread 1 1/2 cups of shredded coconut, chopped, in pan and press into butter with fingertips.

There is no excuse for pretending that it is the inevitable law of the marketplace that all family farms should be replaced by corporate producers, Congressman James Abourezk (D.S.D.) told the House of Representatives when he introduced the "anti-conglomerate, Family Farm Act of 1972 Nov. 9. "This is bad economics and it is terrible public policy for a Nation that already has far too much of its population crowded into a few metropolitan areas. "Over the past decade family farmers have been driven off the land by unfair competition from vertically integrated conglomerates that write off production losses against huge profits made in their manufacturing and distribution operations. "This kind of write off is a luxury that is denied to the family farmer, and it is a luxury

TOUR GEORGIA State of Adventure

SAVANNAH (PRN) --
 Savannah's Ships of the Sea Museum, by her historic waterfront, is making room for landlubbers.
 The museum is expanding to house a non-nautical exhibit of antiques which will enhance the superb collection of ship models and marine artifacts belonging to this unusual attraction.

Ready for the viewing public early this year will be a display of "business antiques," including items from a turn-of-the-century drugstore, barber shop, bank, post office, and doctor's office. Other exhibits include old farm equipment and a set of imported woodworking tools, most of them made in England and Germany.

The new addition will include such early oddities as a cash register operated with marbles, and an oscillating fan run with an alcohol burner.

Set near Savannah's famous Factor's Walk, the maritime exhibit brings two thousand years of seagoing history and legend to vivid life with more than 130 ship models. Here are the ships that shaped Georgia's destiny from irony that it has nothing whatsoever to do with efficiency of production.

 "Agricultural conglomerates are not more efficient than a reasonable size family farm.
 In fact, the really large conglomerates often suffer from bureaucratic hardening of the arteries that makes them less efficient than a good family operation. Unfairness lies in the fact that even the most efficient family operation can be undersold by a conglomerate whose actual farming operation is less efficient than that of the family farm. "When this happens, everybody loses. "The family farmer loses because he is forced from his chosen occupation and evicted from his lifelong home. "The consumer loses because the cost of his food supply is placed more and more in the hands of a few

Tips for homemakers

BY MISS TED PHELPS
HOME ECONOMIST

With so many synthetic (chemically made) materials on the market and so many chemicals used in dry cleaning and home laundries, it would pay you to experiment with a scrap of your material before cleaning. (You'll find that polyester double knits sew better if washed first.) Once you have caused a chemical reaction you can't undo it. If dry cleaning fluid reacts with your fabric, it is ruined. I suggest that you cut 2 1/2" squares of fabric. Put one through your washer and dryer, with your regular wash. Then compare the two scraps to see if there is any shrinkage or change in texture. (I use a "warm" setting.) You can save yourself a lot of grief by testing your fabric before you sew.

DOUBLE KNIT TROUBLE
If you've done any sewing using double knit material, you know what a stitch-skipping problem it is.

To keep your machine from skipping stitches, run all your knits through a regular wash cycle before they are cut out. Some knits have sizing, which make the fabric difficult to penetrate with a needle.

A too-large needle can also cause skipped stitches. In most cases, a size 11 needle is best for knits. Size 14 and 16 needles are so large they cannot penetrate polyester yarns in a knit fabric.

If neither one of these measures prevents your machine from missing stitches, try adjusting the top tension. When all else fails, call your repairman.

WASH SWEATERS
Washing sweaters saves money as well as extra trips to the cleaners. To handwash sweaters and other knitted garments made of wool, swish up a cool solution of soap or detergent suds. Immerse the garment and squeeze the suds through several times. AVOID warm water and agitation. Always support the fabric with your hands. Rinse thoroughly in the same manner.

Roll in a thick towel to remove excess moisture, then lay flat to dry. Do not wring or squeeze the damp sweater.

Remember to follow these guidelines carefully. Improper washing can cause drawing up or matting, which will result in a ruined sweater.

SAVE SOCKS
With just a little imagination, you can bring an old or

Music Notes

Gospel And Country

Jim Ed Brown continued
JP: Do you have a fan club?
Jim: No.

JP: What do you expect a fan of yours to be?
Jim: I think somebody that enjoys somebody's recordings, or enjoys somebody's music - whether it be mine or whoever

.....they are going to buy some of your records or they are going to request some on the radio. I don't really expect anything out of them because you know, to each his own. I only hope that they will buy my records, request my songs on the radio, watch my television show and come out to see us whenever we come to their area. Of course I can't expect anything, you know.

JP: You have been a regular on the Opry since 1963.do you feel the Opry is beneficial to an artist?

Jim: Sure.
JP: I do not mean money wise.

Jim: Oh I know, but being a part of the....(pause)...that is like Carnegie Hall is to the pop musician, the Grand Ole Opry is well, it is the epitome of everything we're looking for. You know it's the TOP of Country Music and once you get to the Grand Ole Opry you might say, "where else can you go". It is a grand place to be, yes. I think it is beneficial to anybody that's in Country Music to be on it. Of course there are a few who have done awfully well with it.

JP: You have had several long engagements at Lake Tahoe, Nevada....how was country music received there?
Jim: Very good. In fact we are still playing the Sahara Hotel.

JP: What do you look for in songs you record?
Jim: Something that says the way I feel, what I like, you know.

JP: What about "Pop A Top"?
Jim: That was a cute little song. "Pop A Top" is not a drinking song as a lot of people think. Of course it can be taken a lot of different ways but it is a cute song and I liked it. I still like it.

JP: Do you select all your material, or does your A & R director help you?
Jim: It is a mutual thing between all of us.

JP: Who is your A & R director?
Jim: At the present time, Mr. Bob Ferguson.

JP: Who do you book through now, Jim Ed?
Jim: Top Billing.

JP: Have you ever had any stong ambitions to be anything else?
Jim: No, just a singer.

JP: Do you have any particular ambition you have not fulfilled yet?
Jim: Sure. I think everybody does unless they are No. 1. Everybody is striving for that, and not only that, but I think a person is striving to record the songs that everybody wants to hear, and to sell the records. You don't really look for money, because it is not the thing, uh....

JP: Self satisfaction.
Jim: Self satisfaction, sure-ly.

JP: Do you personally prefer package shows or club dates, and why?
Jim: I prefer the package shows because the club dates get a little hairy at times... the smoking, the drinking, the noise you have to compete with, you just can't do your best.

JP: This is true, but don't you find on club dates you have much more time to show what you can do? In other words, you can maybe do hit songs of other artists, fill requests, meet your fans personally and do some of your own songs?
Jim: I think you can do as well on a package show as a club. If you are strong enough the booker, promoter or the people will keep you out there.

JP: There has been a lot of controversy about the off-color jokes told by some of the entertainers on package shows. Parents with children attend country music shows more than any other kind and would like your opinion.
Jim: I think if an artist does that type of material, he should not be booked back again.

JP: What is your favorite color?
Jim: Blue

JP: Do you have a favorite food?
Jim: Pinto beans, corn bread and potatoes.

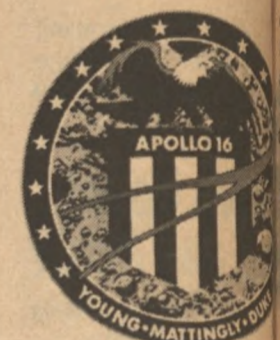

JP: Do you have an all time favorite country music song?
Jim: My all time favorite?
JP: Yes

JP: Oh you're getting into a lot of different categories there because there is a lot of good songs. Are you talking about my own songs or some that other people have done?
JP: Either one. Maybe one that has been a favorite since childhood.

JP: "I Love You Because".
JP: Mine too. The late and great Leon Payne wrote that and so many more great ones. Who are some of your favorite vocalists?

Jim: Jim Reeves was a great favorite of mine. There are a lot of people that I'm listening to. Johnny Cash, I think is fantastic. Glen Campbell is awfully good. The Osborne Brothers, I think the Glaser Brothers are fantastic. Of course I thought The Browns were ty good. Hal Hal

JP: They certainly are million sellers and all, you have a favorite songwriter anyone you like most among they write?
Jim: No, not really, but no body writes that many songs. They may write 3 or 4 a year that are but that is chosen out of 60, or 100 songs they write in a year. Tom T. is great. Kris Kristofferson is very good. There are a lot of good writers. (To be Continued)
