City considering closing land fill to non-residents

Remember birth certificate

Parents, guardians reminded to register preschoolers

Parents and guardians are reminded again this week that registration for their preschoolers is still in progress at the Hahira Elementary School.

The principal's office is open for registration Monday through Friday between the hours of 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. Children who will be six years old on or before December 31, 1973 may enter the first grade in September; however, they should be registered as soon as possible, stated Walter W. Harrison, principal.

A birth certificate and immunization record must be submitted at the time the child is registered, the principal said. Health forms for the child's physical examination may be obtained at the principal's office, the local Health Department or from the family physician.

According to an announcement this week from City Officials, the City of Hahira is considering closing the City Dump to non-residents of Hahira.

The officials stated that due to lack of a county land-fill operation for the North Lowndes County residents, the present Hahira City Dump has almost reached its capacity and unless some action is taken within the near future by the Lowndes County Commission to obtain the necessary property for a land-fill operation for solid waste disposal, the City of Hahira will not be able to accommodate City and County residents.

THE CITY OF HAHIRA has tried to accommodate the North Lowndes County residents, but due to the current increase of solid waste it is going to be the responsibility of the Lowndes County Commission to furnish the necessary land-fill operation for solid waste disposal, the officials said.

According to reports the City Dump is being filled with wrecked automobiles, wire fencing, stumps, and other large items which the city is unable to handle.

"Charging a fee for non-residents of Hahira to use our City Dump will not alleviate the problem. We are going to have to limit our operation only for Hahira residents and by doing this the present dump will accommodate use a few more years or until the Lowndes County Commission starts a land-fill operation for the North Lowndes County Area," the City officials stated.

It's Time Again

Unless you're lucky enough to have become accustomed to the change, confusion will reign again this Sunday, April 29, when Lowndes Countians will join other Americans across the country in setting their clocks up an hour to put Daylight Saving Time into effect once more.

Designed to give an extra hour of daylight during the summer months, Daylight Saving Time will affect the entire United States under the Uniform Time Act. In actuality, it will simply mean getting up in the morning still groggy with sleep and going to bed at night before you've even had time to get sleepy.

The switch-over will occur at 2 a.m. Sunday morning, so the simplest method to keep the time change straight is to reset the clock before going to bed Saturday night.

For instance, if you go to bed at 11:00 Saturday night, set your clock up to 12:00 and you'll be headed in the right direction until the last Sunday in October when Standard Time will resume again.

Phillipine nurses coming to Smith

Four Registered Nurses from the Phillipine Islands are expected to arrive in Valdosta Saturday, April 28. These Nurses will be employed at Smith Hospital for at least one year. Their arrival will be a welcomed relief to the shortage of Registered Nurses in the area, stated a hospital spokesman.

"We at Smith Hospital trust that everyone in our community will extend to these people plenty of "Southern Hospitality," stated a spokesman.

One additional nurse will arrive at a later date from the Phillipines.

Walk for 'mankind'

A 20-mile walk around the city on April 28 might give some community projects "a fast track" if a Kiwanis-sponsored effort gets enough support.

A Project Concern "Walk for Mankind" is being planned here for this Saturday, and the funds raised during the walk are to be divided between international organization and local agencies.

Founded in 1961, Project Concern maintains clinics and hospitals in the United States and overseas. These programs are financed largely by walks for mankind, which began across the country in 1969.

According to Kiwanians Jack Gayle and the Rev. Wallace Mooney, co-directors of the walk, this is the first year Valdosta has participated.

"We are in the process of making the rounds at area schools, explaining the project and showing a couple of short films which detail the work that Project Concern is doing," Gayle said.

"The students are very enthusiastic, and we are certain they will do their part to make this a success."

Although the students in the county are being approached to assist in the walk, they are not the only participants. Everyone can join up.

Once a person has agreed to participate, he is to be given sponsor cards. The person then contacts friends, neighbors and businesses, explains Project Concern and the walk for mankind and asks them to sponsor him in the walk.

The sponsor pledges a certain amount for each mile the person walks. The pledge can be anything from 10 cents a mile on up.

Pertinent information on the sponsor is filled out on the card along with the pledge amount, and the walker takes the card with him on his April 28 journey.

Walk officials are to validate the number of miles a person walks by checking the card at various checkpoints along the 20-mile route.

Following the walk, the card is to be mailed to the sponsor to show how much his donation is to be.

Usually, 80 per cent of the funds donated is sent to the international office of Project Concern in San Diego, Calif. In Georgia, however, only 60 per cent is to go to San Diego. The remaining 40 per cent is to remain in Lowndes County to be shared with local groups.

Georgia gets to keep the extra 20 per cent at the request of Dr. Jim Turpin, who founded Project Concern in 1961. Turpin is a native Georgian and received his M.D. degree from Emory University in Atlanta.

According to Gayle, the local proceeds are to go to the Lowndes Association for Retarded Children, the Southside Recreation Center and the Boys and Girls clubs here.

"We're looking for total involvement of the community," Gayle said. "We have lapel buttons for this campaign which say 'It's Not Easy.' But the more people involved, the easier it will be."

Gayle and Mooney are encouraged by the enthusiasm shown by the young people for this project.

"We plan to talk to students from the upper grades in elementary school through college," Gayle said. "We want to get as many walkers as possible, and we want these walkers to get as many sponsors as possible."

Bill Perry, who is heading up a sub-committee of local merchants in conjunction with the project, said the main recipients of the walk results will be the local youth.

"Since 40 per cent of the donations will remain here, our young people will benefit the most," Perry said.

The 20-mile walk route is to begin at the C&S Bank parking lot downtown, proceed north to Five Points Shopping Center, then circle the outer edges of the city before ending at Mackey Park.

Checkpoints, supplied with refreshments and first aid supplies, are to be set up at various intervals approximately two miles apart. Sponsor cards are to be validated at these areas.

Gayle said the police and sheriff's departments are to clear the way for the walkers, and liability insurance is being carried as an extra precaution.

"We're trying to build competition among the various school groups," Gayle said, "and some duplicate male and female prizes will be given."

A $25 savings bond is to go to the persons who collect the most money, pairs of shoes are to be presented to those who finish the 20-mile jaunt first and pens are to be to the persons who sign up the most sponsors.

A banquet is to be held at a later date to recognize the winners, Gayle said.

... 'It's taking of human life'

ABORTION DEBATE I

"A fetus has rights"

Editor's Note: The pros and cons of the abortion issue have provided a raging controversy for years throughout the United States. And the controversy continues despite the recent Supreme Court ruling barring states from interfering with the decision of a woman and her physician to terminate an unwanted pregnancy during the first three months. This is the first of four interviews presenting opinions on abortion.

By MARGIE BESTER
Copley News Service

LOS ANGELES — Dr. John T. McLaughlin believes that "a human being is a human being from the moment of conception."

"Abortion is the taking of human life, and I don't think anyone has that right," he said.

Dr. McLaughlin, a surgeon of suburban Glendale and a member of the Right of Life

League of Southern California, is diametrically opposed to abortion.

He contends that the instant conception takes place, a human being is formed.

"That cell is alive. It contains 46 chromosomes and man is the only being with that number of chromosomes. That cell is a human life," he said.

Even in a case where a woman or girl is raped or the victim of incest, Dr. McLaughlin is opposed to abortion.

"Rape is a tragedy," he said, "but you don't cure a tragedy by killing an innocent human life."

"The woman in this case is entitled to sympathetic care and is under no obligation to raise her child, but she cannot kill it," he said.

It is his belief that "when a girl is old enough to get pregnant, she is old enough to be responsible for her action."

"There is no justice in killing an innocent person. If a girl wants to be an adult, then she has to accept the responsibilities of an adult."

That responsibility extends even to a 12-year-old girl who has had inadequate sexual education or has been a victim of incest because "she has no right to kill the child who didn't ask to be conceived and who has a constitutional right to his life," he said.

He considers pregnancy-through-rape a shaky argument in favor of abortion because "it takes an average of 50 exposures to get pregnant. Getting pregnant the first time is very rare — it happens, of course, but only very rarely."

His opposition extends to cases where a woman is exposed to rubella during the first three months of pregnancy because "the chances of her having a seriously defective baby are about one in a couple hundred."

"There is a 20 per cent chance of a deformity, but it might only be something like a crooked little toe or a shortened finger," he said.

He does not, however, think that abortion should be a criminal offense.

Rather, "People should accept that abortion is wrong on their own."

"I think abortions are illegal and there should be some limitations. Abortion violates the Constitution but how do you punish a violation of the Constitution?"

"The Constitution guarantees that no one can be executed without a trial by his peers. And a fetus does have rights."

"For instance, money can be willed to an unborn child and that child is given all the rights of a citizen as a result. "But he is not being given the right to life. The poor devil has to have some rights," he said.

Surprisingly, he is pleased with the Supreme Court's decision to legalize abortion because "the Supreme Court has finally recognized the rights of the unborn."

"The court ruled that a doctor cannot perform abortions after the sixth month."

"I think the court is back about 1,000 years on when life begins, but it has recognized the rights of the unborn by giving it rights after six months."

That's the good news, so far as he is concerned. The bad news is "that the court didn't realize that the child has human life from conception."

Also, the decision "is getting rid of the hypocrisy that used to surround abortion."

"Doctors no longer have to perjure themselves by saying the abortion is necessary for the mother's physical or mental health," he said.

But in spite of what courts might rule, Dr. McLaughlin will continue in his fight to convince people that abortion is murder and a fetus has human rights from the second it is conceived.

ST. JOHN Activists aided enemy

By JEFFREY ST. JOHN
Copley News Service

NEW YORK — "It is my intention," stated U.S. Navy Cmdr. and former POW Richard Stratton, "to request that the State Department formally accuse certain members of the government of North Vietnam and the Communist military of war crimes."

The testimony of Stratton and other former POWs of torture and brutal treatment at the hands of Hanoi provides a sound basis for pursuing such charges. However, what of those antiwar activists who cooperated with the North Vietnamese to use POWs as political pawns? The most celebrated of these are former Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark and actress Jane Fonda. Both went to Hanoi and returned to the United States extolling the "humane treatment" accorded the U.S. POWs.

On Aug. 15, 1972, Clark told of his visit with 10 U.S. POWs who were in good health, good spirits and well-treated. "My judgment is," Clark told a news conference, "that they (North Vietnam) are treating the prisoners humanely. I think the people who say they are not may have motives themselves. They may care more about the (South Vietnam President Nguyen Van) Thieu government than getting the boys home."

After all U.S. POWs were free, Stratton summed up his treatment as follows: "At the hands of the North Vietnamese, I have been tortured. I have been beaten. I have been placed in solitary confinement for a total of 18 months by my captors. I have been harassed. I have been humiliated. I have been put on public display — all this contrary to international law."

The appalling treatment of the POWs makes Hanoi's rejection of a U.N. offer on May 3, 1971, to inspect the prison camps much more understandable.

The history of the Communist treatment of prisoners in World War II and Korea, as well as North Vietnam's refusal to sign the Geneva accords of 1949 on POW treatment, gave credence to the suspicion that our POWs were, in fact, being brutally treated and used as propaganda. Prior to the assertion by Ramsey Clark in August, 1972, extolling the "humane treatment" of U.S. POWs, scattered testimony of a handful of escaped and released POWs strengthened the case against the North Vietnamese.

Now the testimony of hundreds of POWs safely returned provides overwhelming evidence that those few stories were not only accurate, but largely understated.

It is true, however, that when Clark went to Hanoi and was used as a propaganda

Marijuana Smoking -
Some Missing Facts

The hazards of cigarette smoking are well-documented. But how about the hazards of other kinds of smoking?

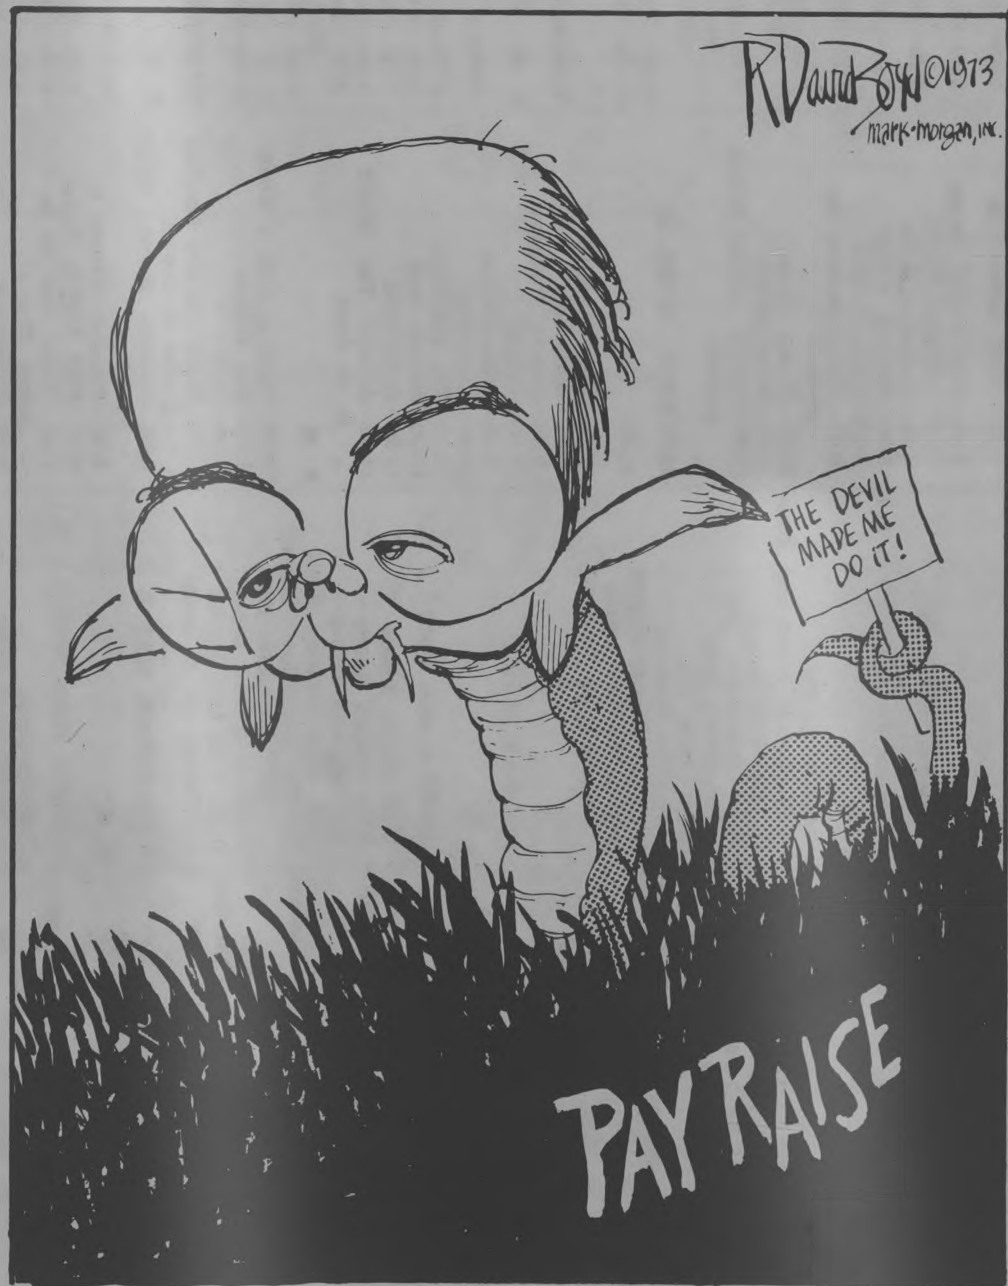

The latest government survey concluded that about 30 percent of university students in this country are marijuana smokers. Other surveys have found higher percentages and also indicated increasing rates among high school students and even preteenagers.

Because marijuana is illegal, research has been severely restricted. Few studies have explored the effects on the lungs and body. But some experiments have suggested a direct correlation between smoking hashish, which is a stronger substance than marijuana, and chronic bronchitis.

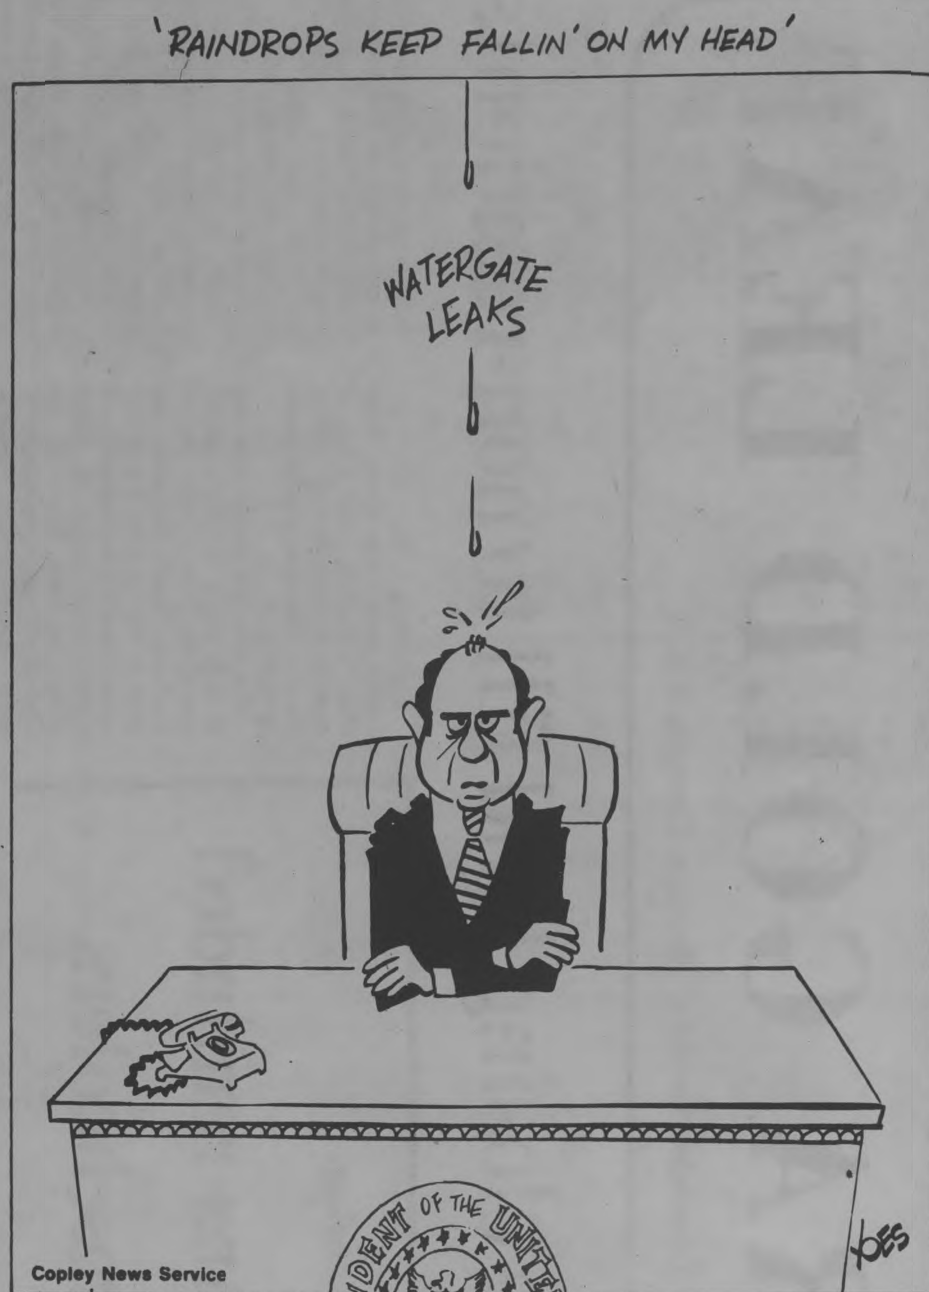

A recent study of 31 American soldiers found that most of the men developed symptoms of lung trouble after smoking hashish regularly for three to four months. Nine men developed severe shortness of breath and coughed up mucus, which indicated distress in the lower respiratory tract. Another 12 men had recurring infections in the upper respiratory tract.

According to Dr. Albert Haas at the New York University Medical Center, these findings may have important implications for the long-term effects of marijuana smoking. In his own pilot studies with people smoking pot, Dr. Haas found that some subjects developed similar symptoms as hashish smokers: sore throats, hoarseness, and trouble in the upper respiratory area. He also found marked differences between the effects of smoking cigarettes and marijuana. (Cigarette smoking narrows the air passages in the lungs, while pot smoking appears to expand those passages.)

The Real Snake In The Grass?

A CHANGING WORLD
Dr. Graham's apology was unnecessary

By JOHN PINKERMAN
Editor, Copley News Service

Billy Graham has one of the most efficient and persuasive public relations corps in public life today. Not so long ago, however, it ran a little bit too scared.

Pouring into news service and newspaper offices was the publicity tub thumpers' "explanation" of an unfortunate statement made by Dr. Graham during a crusade in Africa in which he advocated castration for certain rapists.

Part of the explanation was a new statement by the evangelist in which he said, "My comment on rape was an off-hand, hasty, spontaneous remark at a news conference that I regretted almost as soon as I said it." Fine.

But, it really wasn't necessary. Billy Graham is one of the most decent men in public life — in America and around the world.

He has dedicated himself to spreading a word that will bring a better world, a better relationship between people.

Politicians and high office holders spout reckless, dangerous, libelous, slanderous and cruel mouthings day after day — and few pay attention. They are forgiven, ignored or excused on the basis that "it's only politics." Billy Graham's selfless energies in behalf of his fellow man for over 30 years would seem to make it unnecessary to explain or apologize for a slip of the tongue in a moment of pity for victims of horrible cruelty.

He has preached the gospel in nearly every country in the world: He is as comfortable and as acceptable with the aboriginal Maoris of New Zealand as with royalty in Britain. He breached racial bars in South Africa in a highly successful crusade attended by 45,000 blacks and whites sitting together, a rare experience in that nation of apartheid. And, he had the nerve to tell the people of South Africa, "Apartheid is not going to work."

Born Nov. 7, 1918 as the son of a Charlotte, N.C., dairy farmer, William Franklin Graham craved a career as a professional baseball player. He wanted to be a big league first baseman, but with graduation from Wheaton (Ill.) College, he chose a career in which he is pitcher, catcher, home run hitter — and a champion in all positions. He does God's work in the biggest game of all.

He and the late President Dwight Eisenhower were close friends and this association has caused presidents since Ike's time to seek his counsel (being a friend of Billy Graham is worth a lot of votes and politicians know a good thing when they see it).

He got his big break back in 1949 during one of what up to then had been lightly noticed crusades across the country. He was in Los Angeles and the late newspaper baron, William Randolph Hearst, took a liking to him. The result was one of those famous San Simeon telegrams to all Hearst newspapers: "Chief suggests you puff Graham." Newspapers across the country front-paged his "decisions for Christ" and he was on his way.

As one skeptical of spell binders, preachers generally and other artists of rhetoric, I once had the opportunity to share breakfast with Billy Graham (along with about 1,000 others). He captivated me like no other man has in over 40 years of interviews and speech listening. His sincerity and dedication to others comes through loud and clear.

I choose to think that many millions of others experience the same reaction, whether close to or somewhat aloof from his preachings. That's why it would seem his publicity men over-reacted in hastening to recover from one unfortunate remark in over 30 years of preaching.

Even so, Dr. Graham's approach to crime generally is worth reflection. "Ultimately," he said, "the answer to controlling crime is not to mount a legal offensive, but to effect a change of heart. This is the miracle produced by faith in Christ."

"My recent world trips only strengthen my conviction that our nation's future is hinged irrevocably to a spiritual renewal."

Dear editor:

Notes from a spring house-cleaning of my desk:

I'll never understand politicians. Here some of them are trying to get a law passed giving reporters the right to refuse to tell what they know, whereas in some cases they'd be a lot better off with a law keeping reporters from telling what they know.

Despite the fact that economy is booming, there are six major railroads now bankrupt. Such a statistic is bad for national morale. Why doesn't Washington get the six to merge and then we could claim we have only one bankrupt railroad?

A new word has come out of Washington that I'm in favor of. On finding what he'd been saying for weeks was wrong, a press secretary explained to reporters that from now on all those other statements are "inoperative." I hope you will do everything you can to spread the use of this word. I'd like to be able to get by with telling my banker that my promise to pay that note six months later is now inoperative.

Some cities, trying to whip traffic congestion, are considering passing a law making it illegal for a commuter to come into the city in a car by himself. He's got to have three or four passengers with him or he won't be allowed in. This might reduce the number of cars, but not the number of people. What a choice! Having to decide whether you want to be swamped by cars or people.

You can't get ahead of scientists. They've announced they're going to attempt to predict earthquakes, but I notice they've picked a spot where earthquakes have occurred periodically for years. If weather forecasters were as smart they'd stick to predicting the weather in the Sahara desert.

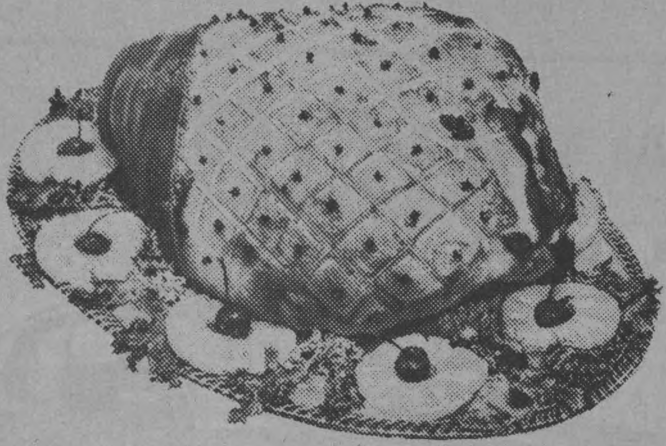

This doesn't quite clean off my desk, there're still some more things stacked on it, but I've learned, even if the Watergate people haven't, it doesn't pay to dig too deep.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

... about your Social Security

Student Beneficiary Report Due by end of School Year.

Students 18 and over who get monthly social security checks will soon be getting an attendance reporting card that has nothing to do with how many classes they might have cut.

A reporting card is mailed by the Social Security Administration to each student beneficiary about 3 months before the end of the school year. The student should return the card to social security as soon as possible.

The information on the attendance report helps social security decide if the student can continue to get monthly checks. Any delay in returning the reporting card could mean a delay in payments.

Full-time students who are 18 and over and are unmarried can get monthly checks from social security until they are 22 if a parent gets social security payments of if a parent has died after working long enough under social security. Under recent changes in the social security law, a student who has not earned an undergraduate degree can continue to get social security payments through the end of the semester or quarter in which he reaches 22.

If the student's school does not use the semester or quarter system, payments can continue until he completes the course he's taking or 2 months after he reaches 22, whichever comes first.

More than 590,000 students in colleges, high schools, and trade schools get $65 million a month from social security.

Any student in the Hahira area who needs help with the report or information about his benefits can call the Valdosta social security office. The telephone number is WX6500.

Every year several folks in our area, who receive social security checks and work on the side, fail to notify social security of their earnings. As a result, later on in the year, they get a letter from social security telling them they failed to file an annual report and in many cases that they have been over paid benefits.

In most cases this can cause some financial hardship. There are three rules to follow and you won't get yourself in this situation. First, if your earnings were over $1680 in 1972, you are required to make a report to the social security office. Second, this report must be filed by April 15. Third, it's your responsibility to file this report personally.

If the report is filed late you can be charged a penalty. Frequently this could amount to giving up a full month's social security check in addition to the amount you were actually overpaid based on your earnings. Don't you be a late filer. As soon as you get that form W-2 from your employer of if you are self-employed complete that tax return and if either shows over $1680, contact your social security office and file your annual report.

Your social security office is located in Valdosta and they will be happy to help you file your annual report. Just dial operator and ask for WX-6500 for more information.

pawn by the Communists that treatment of the POWs had improved. It was not until Hanoi realized the role the POWs could play in their own propaganda campaign that the torture and mistreatment diminished.

Clark and other antiwar activists like Jane Fonda, however, are guilty of allowing themselves to be used in this vicious Hanoi propaganda ploy.

Clark has spent much time decrying the violation of international law and has, in effect, accused the United States of committing war crimes by its bombing campaign of North Vietnam. At the same time, the Hanoi government has blatantly violated 13 of the 127 articles of the 1949 Geneva Convention Treaty on treatment of POWs.

Ramsey Clark's own role in Hanoi's propaganda efforts and the use of POWs makes him a very special kind of moral war criminal.

wife were shot to death near Hahira Monday night in what detectives say was apparently a murder-suicide.

Lt. A. W. Ganas, head of the Lowndes Sheriff's Detective Bureau, said the bodies of Willie C. Hendricks and his wife, Hazel M. Hendricks, were found in the bedroom of their residence in the Shiloh Community about 9:30 p.m. Monday.

According to reports, two children, a 15-year-old son - Richard Lawton Hendricks - and his 14-year-old sister - Frances Darlene Hendricks - found the bodies about 9:30 p.m. and ran to the residence of deputy Cecil Pittman, who lives nearby, for help.

Reports showed detectives found the bodies in the front bedroom of the house. The woman was shot in the heart with a 30-30 rifle, while the man had apparently used the same rifle to shoot himself under the chin.

Detectives said the rifle was found under Hendrick's body with one spent shell in the chamber and another found under a bed.

Officers estimated the time of the shooting at about 8:30 p.m. They said they had no indications as to a cause.

Detectives said the husband apparently shot his wife while they were in the bedroom and then immediately turned the rifle on himself.

Thought For Food

The Easter Bunny recommends this festive fruit topping for your Easter Sunday ham. Simply combine one-half cup of peach and pineapple preserves with one-half teaspoon ground coriander, mixing well. Lightly mix in one-third cup each slivered almonds and flaked coconut. Spoon half of the topping over the ham 30 minutes before the end of the roasting time and the remaining half 15 minutes later.

Meat leftover from a baked ham dinner can be converted into an economical yet distinguished dish that merits a place on the company luncheon table. Ham a la King is a pleasing example. Simply add cubes of cooked ham, canned mushrooms (stems and pieces), chopped pimiento, sliced ripe olives and chopped hard cooked egg to a medium white sauce and heat through. Serve the mixture on toast triangles.

After the children played games and hunted the eggs, they were served delicious refreshments.

For the second week in a row the weather was good and fans at N.V.R.T. saw a spectacular show as drivers in both the late model and sportsman class ran for the money.

In the feature event of sportsman it was O'Neal who jumped off to an early lead only to be passed on lap No. 4 by Sputter Ragan of Madison who pushed his Ford racer to a commanding lead and was never challenged for the lead as O'Neal held second and Jones third. The late model feature saw the lead change three times, as McDonald blew an engine and Benton developed mechanical problems with the final outcome placing Hudson first, Roberts second and Ragan third.

Next week's program will be a twin 35 lap feature in both classes with time trials at 7:00 p.m. and races at 8:00 p.m.

Miss Pamela Hales of Fayetteville, N. C. was maid of honor and the bride's only atendant. She was becomingly dressed in a formal gown of blue sheer organza over matching angel skin, adorned with white lace. The Victorian fashioned gown featured a silhouette highwaisted bodice, shepherdess sleeves, and high stand-up collar. Bandeaux of white lace adorned the bodice, sleeves and encircled the waistline with a row of blue buttons added in center front of the bodice. She wore a Camelot cap covered with matching lace holding a tiered veil, and carried a nosegay of mixed spring flowers with matching streamers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiant in a floor-length gown of Peau D'Angle white lace over light blue angel skin, designed with empire lines. The gown featured a high round collar, Bishop sleeves with high cuffs, and a skirt shirred to modified fullness. The all-white lace gown over light blue lining showed a sheer lace yoke, scalloped outlines on the collar, cuffs and hemline. Blue satin ribbon centered the front of the bodice and waistline.

Her bridal headwear was styled as double layer Mantilla veil, white illusion, over light blue illusion. The chapel length veil flowed from a high Camelot cap, covered with white lace over blue lining and topped with a blue satin bow. ## RECIPE

From Mrs. P. J. Antrini, Ar thony, KS: I remember the lin ring. When it rang, everyone wa quiet. Piano practice stopped voices lowered to a whisper, dist washers stopped rattling dishes and quiet came over the house hold as the most dramatic ring of all came over the telephone party line in our home. Ten short rings was called a "line ring," and it could be called the forerunner of radio and television announcing. We could always be sure it would be worth listening to. In mid-summer it might be Taylor's Department store "with a carload of peaches on the tracks for a low price." A little later in the fall, the same store might have reported a carload of potatoes, or a carload of coal. If the "Ted North Players" came to town for a week of tent shows, we heard about it through the "line ring." But the announcement that brought the most excitement for us children was the "line ring" that said, "There will be no school today because of the blizzard."

Tips for Homemakers

By Ted Phelps, Home Economist

Organic Foods

The subject of organic foods is one of increasing interest and growing concern. It is important that homemakers know the "fact and fantasy" of organic foods. When consumers read or hear the work organic foods, what do they expect? They expect these foods to be produced without pesticides and artificial fertilizers and to be free of preservatives, hormones, and antibiotics. This is not always true. There is no legal definition to define the term "organic". Unfortunately the term is used loosely and there is much misrepresentation.

There has been proposed legislation requiring definition of terms and regular Government inspection of producers and processors of organic foods. If legislation is passed, definitions will read as proposed:

"Organically grown" food means food which has not been subjected to pesticides or artificial fertilizers and which has been grown in soil whose humus content has been increased by the addition of organic matter.

"Organically processed" food means organically grown food which in its processing has not been treated with preservatives, hormones, antibiotics, or synthetic additives of any kind.

There are many myths and misconceptions concerning the use of commercial fertilizers in growing food. Many claim that organic foods are most nutritious. There is no scientific basis for this claim.

The type fertilizer used does not determine nutrient content. The nutrient content of a plant is based primarily on genetic nature. Other factors include climate (including amount of light), the kind and amount of nutrient material available to the plant for growth, and the stage of maturity when the plant is harvested.

To be absorbed by the plant, nutrient material must be in the inorganic form. Organic fertilizer must be broken down into its inorganic components before the elements can be absorbed. With the exception of the mineral elements, most nutrients are synthesized in the plant rather than being absorbed from the soil in a preformed state.

Preserving freshness of fruits and vegetables is the key to maintaining nutritional value. Various factors are involved in maintaining freshness. These include the time and manner of harvesting, packaging, speed of transportation, handling at wholesale and retail levels, as well as handling in the home. Maintaining freshness has nothing to do with the manner in which the vegetables and fruits are fertilized.

There are no scientific findings to support the claims that human diets today are contaminated by poisonous chemicals due to the use of mineral fertilizers. To the contrary, many scientists feel that the use of such fertilizers has helped the environment. In recent years, there has been less erosion, higher quality of foods, and better yields than ever before. This increased yield per acre is of most importance to our expanding population.

Various scientists have stated that organic farming alone could not provide all nutrients essential to plants to feed the world population today.

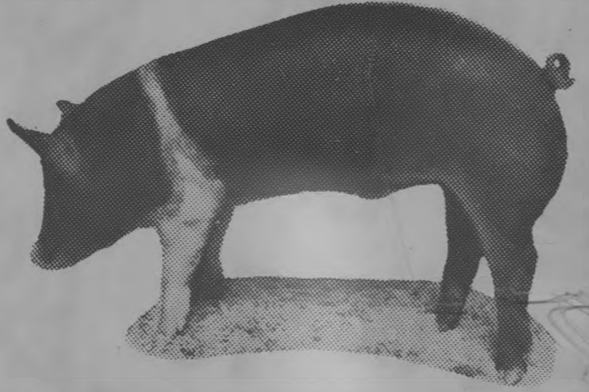

It is also interesting to look at the cost of foods advertised and labeled as organic. Because production of these foods is limited, they usually cost more than foods produced by regular means. Although the cost of organic food varies from store to store, the consumer can expect to pay an average of 1-1 1/2 to 2 times as much for organically produced foods.

It is important for today's homemaker to become knowledgeable to the "facts and fantasy" concerning organic foods so that she can make both sound and economic choices of foods to provide optimum nutrition for her family.

Korea wants to thank veterans; names sought

The Republic of Korea is seeking names of American military veterans who served in Korea since August, 1945, to thank them for helping Korea gain its freedom.

Korea veterans are asked to send their name and current address, dates of service in Korea, military unit and rank to Korean Light, Inc., P.O. Box 36, Santa Barbara, Calif. 93102.

They will receive a personalized letter of thanks from the Korean government as part of the Republic's commemoration of the 20th anniversary of the armistice between the Republic of Korea and Communist North Korea this July.

Peter Kang, executive vice president of Korean Light, Inc., said his nonprofit foundation is coordinating the nationwide search for the Korean Veterans.

"More than 5 million Americans served in Korea over the past 25 years," Kang said. "The Korean government is anxious to express its gratitude to those who helped Korea gain its freedom."

Kang said the Republic of Korea, in addition to the letter of thanks, would provide the Korea veterans with information on the remarkable progress made in that country over the past 20 years.

Special low cost group tours to the Republic of Korea are being arranged for veterans and their families who wish to visit Korea, Kang said.

Card of thanks

We, Emma and Virginia Gaskins, wish to express our heartfelt appreciation to many friends, loved ones, doctors and nurses, for the kind words, gifts, food, cards, letters, and most of all for their prayers for my recovery. ## your week ahead

BY DR. A.W. DAMIS

Forecast Period: April 29 to May 6, 1973

- ARIES Mar. 21 - Apr. 19
In the general scheme of things, over reacting to the subtle flirtations of the opposite sex is indicated. Meaning? Play the waiting game.
- TAURUS Apr. 20 - May 20
Being over confident about how a member of the opposite sex will react toward you, might be a problem. Don't take affairs of the heart for granted.
- GEMINI May 21 - June 20
The planet Mars could push you into a week of being irritable and restless. More than likely, you will seek something or someone that is unobtainable.
- MOONCHILD June 21 - July 22
An event or situation, during this week's cosmic cycle, will be a reminder that you are too far caught up in the past . . . to ever change.
- LEO July 23 - Aug. 22
Someone, an associate or acquaintance, will come to your aid . . . unexpected help is indicated. But, you must expect opposition from a source that is usually favorable.
- VIRGO Aug. 23 - Sept. 22
A chronic ailment might flare up because of an emotional strain. Actually, outside pressure pertaining to your job, task or mission is indicated.
- LIBRA Sept. 23 - Oct. 22
For most members of your sign, there will be increased contact with members of the opposite sex. Incidentally, temptation will be masked as opportunity.
- SCORPIO Oct. 23 - Nov. 21
Ideal planetary alignment is favorable for most members of your sign. Turmoil might exist among your associates; it's not likely however that you will face reversals.
- SAGITTARIUS Nov. 22 - Dec. 21
Putting aside your job, task or project because of the opposite sex could be a problem, this week. Try to stick with established romance patterns, don't stray.
- CAPRICORN Dec. 22 - Jan. 19
The planet Mars gives your sign a shot in the arm. Ambition, opportunity and a wide open throttle should push many Capricorns ahead.
- AQUARIUS Jan. 20 - Feb. 18
Beware! You must follow through with any project or venture, that is initiated this week. Tricky stellar patterns warn of — boom or bust!
- PISCES Feb. 19 - Mar. 20
Rumors, half-truths, gossip and malicious innuendos plague most members of your sign. So, don't elaborate or pass on any confidential information that comes your way.

Touring youth choir presents program at Methodist Church

The Fisherman's Union, a 45-member youth choir from Nyack, New York, presented a program at the Hahira United Methodist Church Tuesday, April 24, at 7:30 p.m.

The choir was formed several years ago by a group of concerned high school students who were eager to share their faith with those around them.

Under the leadership of Marilyn and Joe Constance, advisors for the Fisherman's Union, the choir has performed in many churches in New York State, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Vermont, and has recorded two popular stereo records of contemporary traditional music.

Their Spring Choir tour will again take them through the coastal states to Miami, Florida.

It's the 'Gospel' . . . music that is

By Louelle Bass

There's a song titled "The Grass is Greener on the Other Side". It is really green and fresh looking on this side now, isn't it? The roses are in bloom and everything is so colorful and beautiful. Just think "How Beautiful Heaven Must Be!" Spring is the time of year for growing, and with the revivals in the different churches it's a time for spiritual growth also. Look around and thank God for the world in which we live.

Revival is now in progress at Pineview Baptist Church. Reverend Julian Maddox of Jasper, Florida is bringing the messages. You have a special invitation to come be with us nightly at 8:00 p.m.

Sister Grace Day and the Day Family were very inspiring to all who heard the singing and messages during the revival at the Church of God in Hahira last week. Chuck sang the song "He Will Pilot My Ship" and I've never heard it more beautiful! They're a blessing where ever they go. The congregation enjoyed dinner on the ground, an Easter egg hunt, and afterwards a wonderful fellowship with Christ through baptism.

The revival at Free Will Baptist in Hahira last week was a blessing to all that attended. There was special singing with Kaye Parrish playing the piano.

The regular monthly sing will be this Saturday night at the Free Will Church in Hahira. Featured singers will be the Sunnyland Singers of Jasper, Florida at 7:30 p.m. Grace Boutwell of the Revelations, has had her time with the cold and virus. Seems when it gets started it goes around. Glad she is better now.

There is now in progress a big tent meeting in Valdosta, with Brother Reuben Brookshire. The meeting is being sponsored by several pastors from the churches of God. I was informed there were about twelve pastors in the meeting Monday night. Go and prepare to receive a blessing. There will be special singers and old fashioned soul stirring preaching at 7:30 p.m. nightly.

A big all night gospel sing is planned for this Friday night at Lowndes High Martin Stadium. Connie and the Hopper Brothers, Eva Mae and the Lefevres, The Dixie Echoes, Kingsmen (The Apple Tree Song), and the Host, the Georgians. This sing is sponsored by the Beta Clubs and the Key Clubs of Lowndes County. Gets underway at 7:00 p.m. Coming up the first week in May will be the big annual sing in Quitman, Georgia. This sing is sponsored by the police department in Quitman. Chief Bembrey is known to us in Hahira, as he was the chief here a few years ago. The Blackwood Singers, The Pathways, The Lefevres, and the Broadwell Family, are some of the singers that will be there.

Thanks to the many friends that have given us such nice comments concerning our singing on the early morning show. God has been so good to us. We realize we would be useless without Him. We hope that in some way we may help someone to grow stronger in faith. Don made a statement, "We're not all that good, but the Lord sure helps every way He can". Christ does His share every time! If anyone falls short it's us. Thanks to the other three Shilohs for going ahead and fulfilling our engagement last week. I've had my bout with the cold and fever, I know there are so many people. Guess it's the change weather, and we try getting too early and go too fast. wherever you are, if you're you'll soon be up and about. Go out somewhere support gospel music this week and be in the church of your choice Sunday and revival.

Veterans Corner

Q -- I know I read it somewhere, but can you tell me when I will receive the 1973 dividend on my "V" - prefixed National Service Life Insurance policy?

A -- The dividend will be paid automatically on the anniversary date of your policies still in force. The same holds true for veterans with "K" - prefixed United States Government Life Insurance policies.

Q -- My wife and I were recently divorced, and I am in school under the G.I. Bill. When will my allowance be cut to the amount for a single veteran?

A -- Your allowance will be reduced at the end of the year, or at the end of your current term, whichever comes first.

Q -- I am a married female veteran with three children. I am 50 percent disabled, and drawing compensation and allowances for my children, but not my husband. Why can't I receive such an allowance for him?

A -- You should contact the Veterans Administration immediately. A law passed last October (PL 92-540) now enables you to claim him for an allowance.

Q -- How many spinal cord injury treatment centers does VA have? How many prosthetics treatment centers or amputees?

A -- VA has 15 centers for treatment of spinal cord injury patients and 18 prosthetics treatment centers for amputees. These are geographically dispersed around the country.

A nematode control demonstration was carried out in Lowndes County this past year at the farm of C. R. Bland, Clyattville. Lowndes 4-H members assisted Extension Agents George Kessler and Doug Durham. They are: Richard Stephens, Rusty Caine, Nathaniel Burke, Joy Grite, Jerry Cargile, Tommy Thomas and Randy Jones.

Nematodes hurt farmers pocketbook

TIFTON -- Georgia corn farmers suffering financial losses on their crops because of lance and sting nematode damage now have a new prevention method available.

Results from 1972 on-farm evaluation tests of chemical nematicides has led the University of Georgia Extension Service to suggest that growers try these nematicides in fields infested by lance and sting nematodes.

Nematicides used in the tests and now suggested on a trial basis include Dasanit, Furadan and Mocap, each applied at the rate of 2 pounds active ingredient per acre on a 12 inch band over the row. The chemicals should be mixed in the top four inches of soil for best results. Preliminary tests in other states indicate success with in-furrow application on a six to seven inch band with mixing limited to that caused by the planter.

Some limitations do exist. Dasanit is not as effective on lance nematodes and Mocap should not be applied directly on the seed (injury may result).

Until recently, corn was used as a nematode reducing crop in fields where crops such as tobacco, cotton or vegetables suffered losses. But now, more and more difficulties in corn production are associated with the presence of root-knot, lance, sting, stubby-root and lesion nematodes.

According to Extension Plant Pathologist Johnny L. Crawford, tests to date have not provided enough evidence to suggest chemical treatment for root-knot, stubby-root and lesion infested soils.

The evaluation tests were joint efforts by Georgia Extension, Experiment Station and chemical company personnel designed to find out if nematodes on corn can be controlled economically.

"Since the practice is new," Crawford emphasized, "our Extension specialists are urging farmers who plan to try the method to check with their County Extension Agents before treating. There are also several safety precautions to be observed."

Crawford said further work is underway to determine whether other nematodes should be controlled and if other rates and methods of application are better.

Don't prune flowering shrubs until you see blossoms. Pruning earlier will eliminate flower buds present on the limbs. For Forsythia, quince and spirea, thinning is the best way to prune. The oldest and tallest stems need removal at ground level, so newer, more vigorous growth can mature and bloom.

MORAL ANGLE

Penalty should fit crime

By FATHER LESTER
Copley News Service

Dear Father Lester:
Evangelist Billy Graham was recently quoted as saying: "I think that a person found guilty of rape should be castrated. That would stop him pretty quick." Morally, wouldn't that punishment be inhumane and immoral?
Betty G.

Dear Betty:
Rape can be an extremely serious offense. Some cases can be tantamount psychologically to death for the victims. In my judgment those cases can quite readily warrant the death penalty. But even the average case demands severe punishment, and ordinarily the more prevalent the crime the more severe the punishment ought to be.

Castration is a severe punishment and to a great extent peculiarly fits the crime of rape. It is not, in my judgment, an excessive punishment nor does the mutilation argue, as some people suppose, to its being inhumane and immoral. A criminal's head can be chopped off for a grave crime without offense to humaneness or morality; certainly then the criminal can be punished by having a less important part of his body cut away. Even the thought of a bleeding human body offends young girls and other people unaccustomed to harsh realities, but humaneness and morality cannot be judged by such tender sensibilities.

The fear of castration would probably stop a lot of would-be rapists.

However, before the community would install such severe punishment it ought to make sure that it is not culpably contributing to the crime. Presently, for instance, government seems somewhat at fault for some rapes in as much as it allows nudity and outright pornography which get men "all steamed up."

Nor does it rebuke women who through carelessness and skimpy dress put their charms on public display, tempting, almost asking, any passerby to steal them.

Dear Father Lester:
The United Steelworkers Union and the companies agreed lately to settle their differences through binding arbitration. They say the agreement will work for the benefit of the employees, the company, its customers and the nation. Both the union and company will have equal bargaining leverage without interrupting the earnings of employees or the operations of the companies. The continual operation should cut down on U.S. imports and put more people to work here at home. Isn't a contract like that with binding arbitration what you've been calling for?
A Steelworker

Dear Steelworker:
Yes.

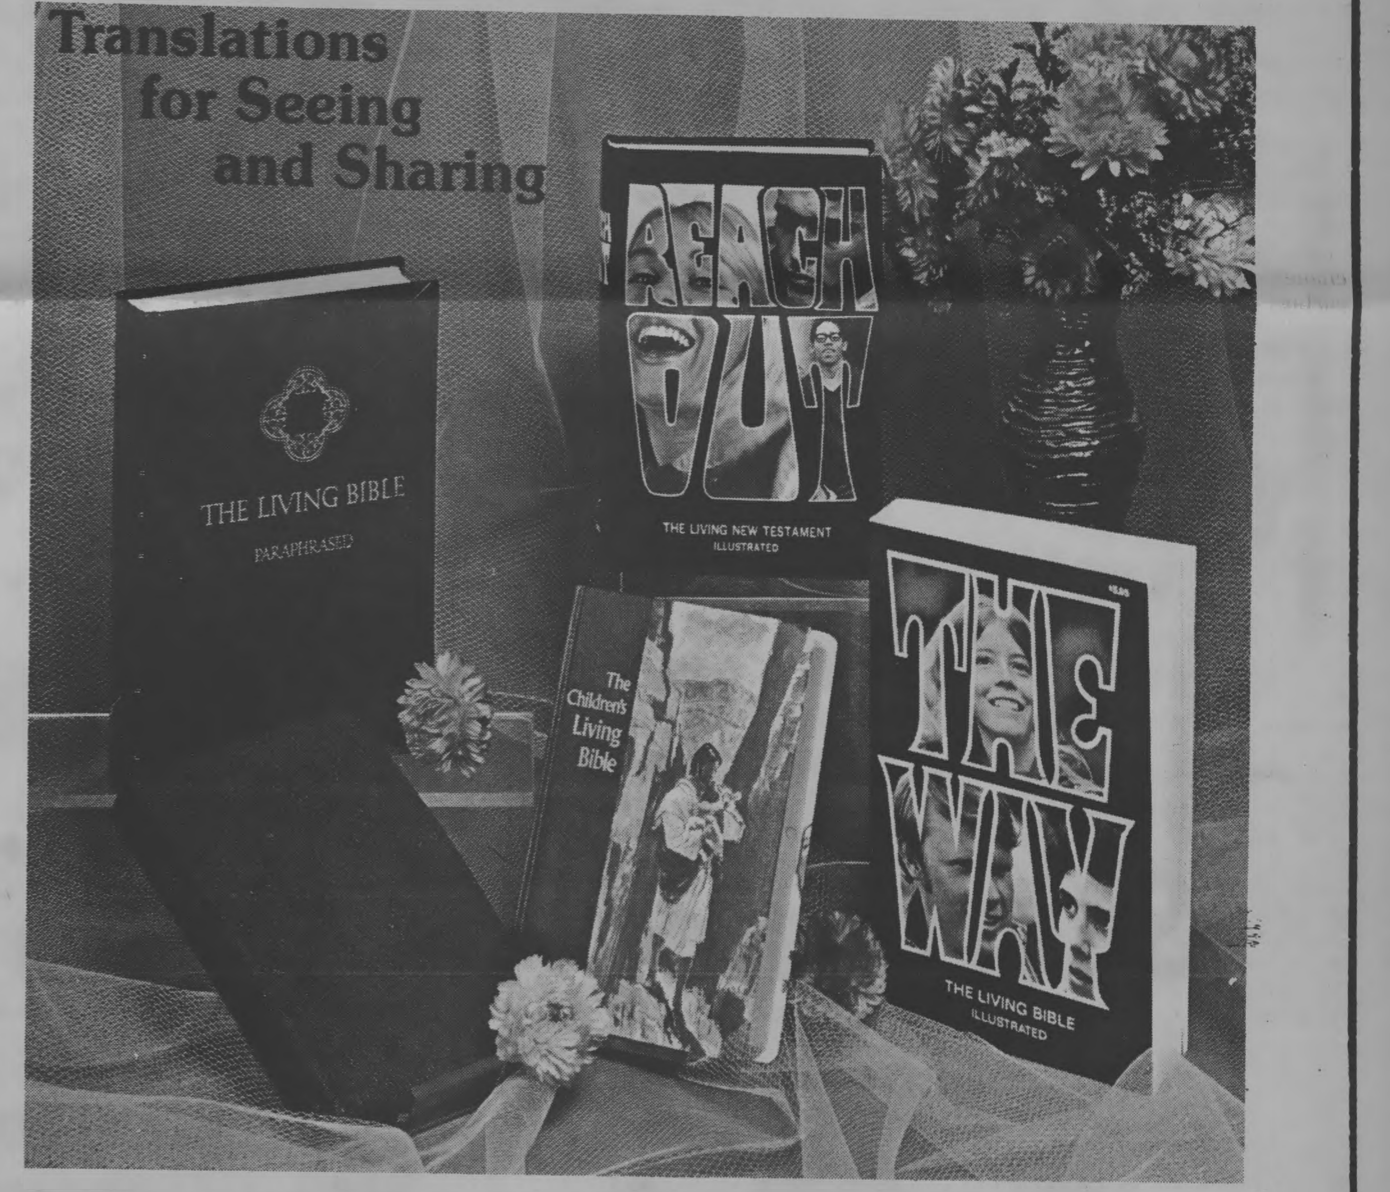

Congratulations to your union and the companies for taking the big step! Their pact is hopefully the wave of the future. The present financial pinch has made the need of labor-management cooperation and the immaturity of settling their differences through strikes and lockouts more and more obvious. Management, labor and the public sink or swim together.

The community cannot morally tolerate war between labor and management any more than it can a shooting war between two cities.
