Glee Club Concert Proves Success

ASSISTED BY PARIS LEE, BARI-TONE, AND OUTSTANDING COLLEGE ARTISTS

The annual concert of the college glee club at the Ritz theatre on Saturday evening was one of the finest in the history of the club. The concert easily proved that the college has some very acceptable talent in the musical field.

One of the outstanding features of this year's concert was the group of songs by Mr. Paris Lee of Atlanta. Possessing a bass-baritone voice of unusual appeal, Mr. Lee sang the American classic, "Old Man River," and "The Armorer's Song" from Robin Hood with a thorough understanding of technicalities and emotional appeals. Mr. Lee, who is soloist with the Ponce de Leon Avenue Baptist Church in Atlanta, is one of Georgia's outstanding baritones, and his group with the glee club Saturday added immeasurably to the concert.

The first part of the program was devoted to songs by the entire club and solos by advanced voice pupils. The program opened with a group by the club, "On Wings of Song" (Mendelssohn), two English folk songs arranged by Thomas F. Dunhill, "The Morris Dance" and "Old King Cole," "A Winter Lullaby" (DeKoven-Riegger), and "The Rumanian Wedding Song" (DeKoven). The violin obligato was played by Mrs. Frances Pardee and the vocal solo was sung by Mr. Lee.

Joy Miller, of Albany, gave one of the outstanding performances of the evening in the three solos she sang, "Hindu Slumber Song" (Ware) was one of the loveliest in her group.

Margaret Pardee showed rare technical skill for one of her age in "Hejre Kati" (Hubay). Her handling of the difficult violin passages in this selection indicated an efficiently trained talent.

In the group by the double trio the Russian folk song "Dark Eyes" was outstanding.

Margaret Ziplies in her group of piano selections again showed the technical skill and appreciation of values that has won her the reputation of one of the finest pianists to ever study at the college.

In the last group by the club "Listen to the Lambs" was the embodiment of the negro folk songs.

The second group was made up of songs that are currently popular, and dances with them. Solo parts in the

May Day-Play Day Set for April 27th

MARY POLHILL, OF SYLVESTER, TO REIGN AS QUEEN

Miss Mary Polhill, recently elected May Queen for this year's festival, will reign over a court essentially different from those of the past in that it will tend slightly to the rustic. May Day is one of the oldest traditions of G. S. W. C., and preparations have been begun already to make this May Day the greatest of all. Costumes, may-pole windings, dances, music, and the court have been selected and arranged under the direction of Miss Leonora Ivey, director of physical education.

Miss Polhill, of Sylvester, a member of the senior class, in accord with the requirements of the May Queen, has been a student at G. S. W. C. for the past three years. She was originally a transfer from Bessie Tift College. She is an officer in the Student Government Association, and the French Club, and a member of the Fine Arts Club. Miss Polhill has shown active interest in student activities since her matriculation, and this, combined with her lovely brunette beauty, will prove the selection of her as May Queen by the student body to be a wise one.

Miss Margaret Ziplies, of Savannah, who was elected as Miss Polhill's Maid of Honor, is an exceptionally brilliant music student. She is the accompanist for the Glee Club, an officer of the Philharmonic Club, and an honorary member of the Sock and Buskin Club.

Several years ago Play Day was added to May Day to make the outstanding combination Play Day-May Day. To it are invited the seniors and prospective students for G. S. W. C. from the various high schools near the college. Members of the Physical Education Department, lead by Miss Ivey, will serve as Masters of Ceremonies and introduce the visitors to the pleasures of the campus of G. S. W. C. The Sock and Buskin Club will produce a series of one-act plays and the day will be closed with the beautiful May Day ceremonies. The date for May Day-Play Day has been set for April 27, as the Saturday nearest May 1st.

president of the International Relations Club, Miss Harriet Bullard, Nashville, vice-president, and Miss Bessie Jo Johnson, Scotland, secretary. Miss Broun Hutchinson, Valdosta, was elected president of the Sock and Buskin Club, Miss Mary Agnes Roane, Savannah, vice-president, and Miss Cleo Barber, Bainbridge, secretary.

Mildred Seydell To Speak Here

NOTED COLUMNIST AND AUTHOR WILL RELATE AFRICAN ADVENTURES TO STUDENTS

Mildred Seydell, one of Georgia's most brilliant newspaper columnists, will speak to the students here on April 18.

A recent article from "Town and Country Review," published in London, England, is quoted as follows:

From all parts of the world has come praise for Mildred Seydell, America, Africa, Sweden, France, England and Germany, joining in the approval of her writings.

She is a native of Atlanta, Georgia, coming from one of the oldest and most prominent families in the state. She married Paul Seydell, of Belgium, who is now a naturalized American.

Mrs. Seydell has had a noteworthy journalistic career. In 1922-23 she conducted a column for the Charleston Gazette, of Charleston, W. Va. Coming back to Atlanta she joined the editorial department of the Georgian-American in 1924, and has been with this paper ever since. For this paper she organized the Parent-Teacher section, and later the Food section. For five years she conducted a daily column of friendly philosophy entitled "What Would You Do?". In October, 1931, with a change in the make-up of the paper, she changed the style of her column, making it one of personal experiences and opinion, and called it "All in a Day." Since October, 1933, her column has carried simply the heading "Mildred Seydell" with sub-titles varying as to subject matter. Her columns have proved very popular and she has received thousands of letters of congratulations.

In 1926 she was selected as the representative of the Hearst Crime Commission to go to Europe to ascertain how countries which have less crime than America handle their situation. The commission was composed of fifteen leading criminologists, representing every section of the States. On this trip she was the guest of the (then)

GARDNER AND TURNBULL GIVE REPORTS OF CONVENTION AT TALLAHASSEE

At the regular meeting of the S. G. A. last Friday night Miss Henry Kate Gardner, president, and Miss Mildred Turnbull, president-elect, gave interesting accounts of the S. G. A. Conference in Tallahassee. They represented the group of students from G. S. W. C. who attended the conference.

Miss Turnbull, the first speaker, reported upon the addresses of Dr. K. T. Abbey, professor of history at F. S. W. C., and Dean Shailer Mathews of Chicago U. and a round table discussion led by Miss Doris Davis of Sophie Newcomb. Miss Gardner was most enthusiastic about the lectures of Dr. Evelyn Newman of Rollins College, and Miss Thyrsa Amos of the University of Pittsburg, and a round table discussion led by Dr. Philip Davidson, professor of history, Agnes Scott. Both students were emphatic in their finding that G. S. W. C. was really in a much better situation, as far as Student Government is concerned, than most of the other schools who attended the conference. They found the encouraging fact that we have comparatively few outstanding problems.

Dr. Abbey spoke on "The Student Government—what it is and what it should be." She pointed out that the S. G. A. is a student personality laboratory and that it is upon them, and not upon the system of grading or examinations to make a go of it. Their daughter S. G. A., was the instrument entrusted to awaken in each of her students the realization of her own potentialities. As Michael Angelo was to the perfect piece of marble from which he carved Moses, a means of enhancing its beauty, so should col-

Program Arranged For Delegates

The delegates to the State Interdenominational Christian Endeavor which will meet here this week will be entertained by G. S. W. C. on Saturday afternoon.

Campus games will be arranged while the visitors are on campus and an archery exhibition will be one of the main features. Members of the more advanced classes in the sport are the managers and teachers will participate. Box hockey, tennis, deck tennis, and miniature golf will also be of the sports program.

From 5:30 until 6:30 a tea will be held in the Rotunda for the visitors. A dance program, under the direction of Miss Leonora Ivey, director of the physical education department, will be given as part of the entertainment.

Student Elections

Officers in the International Relations Club and the Sock and Buskin Club were recently elected. Miss Es-ther Smith, Sycamore, was elected

OUR NEED FOR AN AUDITORIUM

The Glee Club concert on Saturday evening showed how badly the college needs an auditorium. At present it is our greatest need. Inconvenience, humiliation, and insults are but a few of the consequences involved in our deficiency.

On Saturday evening the Glee Club performance was sandwiched in between the pictures being shown for that evening. The crowd that came to the show was not the audience that would have come to the Glee Club concert purely for that alone. Because of the length of the picture, combined with the length of the Glee Club program the evening must have seemed interminable to the audience.

It does not seem fair to students who work hard on their numbers to have to hear children laughing on the front rows, and talking out loud, because they have come to see the picture and not hear a solo.

When the Sock and Buskin Club presents its annual play it is as much at a loss as to where to give it as is the Glee Club. The auditorium out at Emory Junior is rather small, and the people who would come to the theatre will not bother to come out to Emory Junior. So every year the same problem occurs.

The situation in Assembly is just as difficult. If we had an auditorium a great many of the seating problems could be solved, and adequate acoustics could be had.

All of the entertainments, debates, assembly programs, and artist series could be given safely if we had a place in which to give them. As it is we cannot feel confident that we will receive any support whatever from factions opposed to our efforts. If we had an auditorium of our own, we would not be bothered with these trivial details.

If the Georgia State Womans College needs one building it is an auditorium.

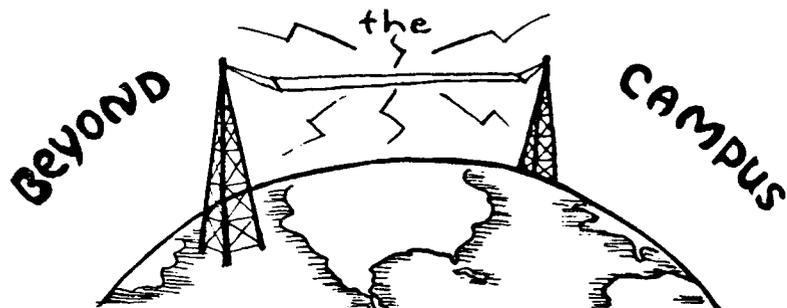

THE ALUMNAE ISSUE

The second week in May, the Alumnae Association of the college will publish an issue of the Canopy.

This issue will be one of the most important of the whole year. The paper will be serving the association and the college, and vice versa. The alumnae are one of the best means of advertisement that the college has, but they cannot advertise their alma mater unless they have some idea of the new trends on campus.

It will be an answer to this demand that this issue will be published. It will serve as a means for graduates who have lost touch with their classes to again establish contact.

Copies of the edition will be sent to alumnae members throughout Georgia and the other Southern states, and foreign countries also.

Leonora Dufour

The United States is at least taking precaution The House just recently voted the president drastic war-time powers He has been given the right to commandeer the nation's financial resources also The president cut his cruise off the Florida coast (where it is reported he is not so good a fisherman as executive), to return to his desk in Washington At last the vice-president is allowed a privilege They let Garner sign the $4,880,000,000 work-relief bill We'd probably never hear of the vice-president if the president didn't like fishing And Judge John S. Candler and Milton Fleetwood, president of the Georgia Press Association, plan to lead the dry factions in Georgia . . . Georgia gets $20,361,000 to spend on road constructions The literary world loses one of its most imposing figures, and America one of her greatest poets in the death of Edwin Arlington Robinson A chapel is planned for construction over Gorra Harris' grave at her home in Bartow county The banners of the G. O. P. are dusted off, Dickinson (Senator from Iowa) declares the New Deal "a failure" They've forgotten

1929, or are they trying to make others forget it And nine of the hopeful prospects say they aren't interested Bad boy (Hamilton) turns out to be "easy to catch" according to the police It must have been a cinch, if they say that They say (Washington Merry-Go-Round) that Huey is very particular about his dressing Nothing suits him exactly It takes hours for him to get into the swing of the thing London becomes disturbed over prospects of air raids, as well she might It wouldn't take many bombs to blow the whole of England off the map Bobby Jones and Gene Sarazen thrill the fans at Augusta, if for nothing more than autographs Craig Wood sets the real thrill Colleges are pronounced free of communistic trends By some grey-beard of course It seems that Eden may some day replace the charming, but rather incompetent Sir John Simon Anyway, Hitler seems to respect the title, with his proposals for a non-aggression treaty with Germany's neighbors Prince Eugen, a brother of King Gustav of Sweden, holds an exhibition of paintings in Stockholm

CINEMA CYNIC

Tonight Chester Morris and Jean Parker will play the leads in "Princess O'Hara," a modern-cinderella story. Incidentally, in case you don't know or haven't heard, $175 dollars will be given to some lucky person, or else some unlucky person will hear how he won it and wasn't there to get it. Jean Parker made a name for herself in "Sequoia," but to our mind the baby puma was the star. We are ready to argue with anybody on that score.

Gene Stratton Porter's "Laddie" will be on Thursday and Friday. Most of you probably read the popular story in your childhood (those of you who have advanced beyond that stage). John Beal will play Laddie. You will remember him as the Little Minister, the boy who did such a good job opposite Hepburn in the Sir James M. Barrie classic. Personally we would assign "Laddie" to the age of sentimentalism (the great American public eats it up!), but if anybody can help it any, we think that person is John Beal. This picture will be sponsored by the Fine Arts Club, so see it if for no other reason.

Jack Holt in "The Best Man Wins" will be on Saturday. Here is a good example of the he-man stuff if you prefer it. And those of you who have let Tailspin Tommy capture you, shame on you!

There will be a stage show on Monday. "Cuban Revue" will feature the rumba and a Cuban band. We like the rumba in our own little fashion, so we'll probably see this too.

We read a very interesting commentary on movies the other day in Esquire, the men's magazine that all the women read. Meyer Levin, in his "The Gandid Cameraman" gives this viewpoint: "I think that most men select about one picture a month for attendance. (What a comparison to college girls!) They may go to the pictures as often as once a week. Usually they just "go along," with the family, the girl, or the gang. But about once a month the cinema serves a man as some place to go. There is a picture which is worth seeing, which is worth taking someone to see."

Which goes to prove that after all men do have it over women when it comes to brains, if movies are any standard. A woman will go to see any picture as long as the hero avenges the heroine, and all ends well.

group were done by Florence Tharpe, of Leesburg, and Pearl Wilson, of Cordele. A novelty number "Do Re Mi" (the Duncan sisters) was one of the most attractive and the waltz number the loveliest dance. Mr. Lee sang "Without a Song" (Youmans) in the second part.

Credit for the splendid concert given by the club is due to Miss Alimae Temple who directed the students, and Miss Leonora Ivey, who directed the dances.

THE SOCIAL WEEK

Mrs. J. C. Thoroughman, of Stephenson Memorial Hospital, Changchow, Kianysu, China, who was attending the conference of the Methodist Missionary societies was the guest of the college last week. She is an alumna of G. S. W. C.

Miss Jerry Hatcher, of Moultrie, was the guest of her sisters, Misses Bootsie and Barbara Hatcher, over the week-end.

Miss Eleanor Turnbull, of Moultrie, spent last week-end with her sister, Miss Mildred Turnbull.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Kelly, of Cordele, spent Sunday with their daughter, Johnnie Mae.

Mrs. Joel NeSmith, of Miami, formerly Miss Annie Lois Gardner, who is an alumna of G. S. W. C., spent last week with her sisters, Misses Henry Kate and Martha Gardner.

The Georgia State Womans College entertained the delegates who attended the conference of the Methodist Missionary societies Wednesday afternoon with a tea from 4:30 to 6:30. The music was furnished by a double trio featuring Miss Pearl Wilson as soloist. Those who served were: Misses Mary Elizabeth Weatherford, Sally Sparks, Clara Davis Adams, Clara Louise Driskell, Mildred Turnbull, and Carolyn Brim.

Miss Mary Askew has as her guest for the week-end, Miss Beth Tharpe, of Moultrie.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Whipple, of Quitman, visited Miss Tad Whipple last Sunday.

Mrs. P. C. Andrews, Howard, Tom, and Frances Andrews, and Mrs. L. B. Brewton, of Thomasville, were the guests of Misses Antoinette and Bernice Andrews last Friday.

Miss Louise Smith spent last week-end in Jacksonville as the guest of Miss Helen Riddle.

Miss Mildred Fokes, of Camilla, visited Miss Judy Cochran last week-end.

Mrs. T. G. Ritch, of Jesup, visited her daughter, Una, last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Tyson were the guests of Misses Lucille and Leila Mae Tyson last Thursday.

Misses Patsy and Shelly Sparks had as their guest last Wednesday, their mother, Mrs. Battle Sparks.

Miss Hester Bruce, of Blackshear, Mrs. Robert Martin and daughter, Rose, of Hinesville, and Mrs. Wilder were among the delegates to the conference who visited the college last week.

Mrs. Norman Reinhardt, of Vienna, visited her daughter, Norma, last week.

Mrs. J. H. Carter and daughter, Margaret, of Adel, visited Miss Vivian Stanford Sunday.

Dr. and Mrs. Pittman and son, of Statesboro, and Dr. and Mrs. Reid were guests at lunch in the dining hall on Saturday.

Mrs. M. J. Dickerson, of Homerville, visited her daughter Lois, Tuesday.

Miss Lucille Wurst had as her guests last week, Mrs. D. F. Wurst, of Donaldsonville, and Mrs. Rufus D. Bullock, of Ochlochnee.

Miss Ruth Stewart had as her visitors Thursday Mrs. J. T. Stewart and Kathleen Stewart, of Ochlochnee.

Miss Nina Graham, of Americus, visited Miss Manelle Vinson Thursday.

A wedding of much interest to the college was that of Miss Doris Swindle, of Ray City, to Mr. Joe Mack Smith, of Nashville. They were quietly married March the 17th in Tallahassee.

The College wishes to extend its sympathy to Miss Mildred Ogles in the death of her father.

Misses Marjorie Groover, Carolyn Brim, Elizabeth Wilkes, Louise Ambos, Dorothy Ogletree, Virginia Sheppard, Jerry Arrington, and Mary Polhill acted as judges Thursday at the district meet of high schools at Lakeland.

Miss Elizabeth Groover, of Boston, visited Miss Rebecca Lundy Sunday.

Miss Jeanette Johnson, of Thomasville, visited Miss Lorene Johnson over the week-end.

Miss Rebecca Creech and Mrs. Clayton Howell, of Lakeland, visited Miss Clarice Conner last week.

ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION TO ENTERTAIN WITH LUNCHEON FRIDAY

The Alumnae Association, in connection with the meeting of the Georgia Educational Association in Macon, this week, will hold a luncheon at the Lanier Hotel on Friday. The price of the plates will be 60c.

All of the alumnae of the Georgia State Womans College who expect to attend the meeting of the Association have been issued invitations to be present at the luncheon.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank Reade will be guests of honor on Friday, and Miss Elizabeth McRee, of Valdosta, president of the Alumnae Association will preside.

Members of the Alumnae Association who will expect to attend the luncheon are asked to get in touch with Cora Burghard, 341 Hardeman St., Macon.

SPORTS

Although this is the first quarter that horseback-riding has been offered, it has been taken most enthusiastically by a number of the students. There has been only one week of lessons, but it is hoped that soon the girls will be able both physically and professionally to take to the roads.

Another sport that has become very popular is riflery. Many girls have signed up for the course and it is expected that they will all become crack shots.

Archery, that ever popular sport, is again being offered four times a week. This is one sport that always receives the support of the students. Miss Estelle Roberts, of Cordele, one of the teachers, has broken her own record and still remains the champion of the campus with a record of 50 out of 54.

Now that warm weather is here, the girls will be seen hiking out to Barber's pool for a swim. Several enthusiastic aquatarians have already made the plunge. It's too bad that our own pool isn't ready.

There is an air of furious activity on the campus with the P. E. Department getting ready for May Day. All of the gym classes are learning dances for the Festival, and it promises to be one of the loveliest that has been had on the campus.

The athletic council held its monthly meeting at the House in the Woods on Tuesday evening. A supper was given for the members of the council, and business for the quarter was discussed.

lege be to each and every one of us. There are inherent qualities a good S. G. A. must have—a cordial relationship between student and faculty, ignorance of rules being no excuse because ignorance does not remedy, and a regard of the association as an organ of growth rather than one to keep order. It is one of the outstanding things in college to give us experience in personal contact.

Dean Mathews also stressed three points, three moral obligations that each individual of the rising generation must recognize to maintain a clear cut path through life—first, moral obligation to self; second, to fellowman or close associates; and third, to the nation. The latter obligation is perhaps the greatest and also the least recognized today. Dr. Mathews gave the rather fine example of Canada and the U. S. as showing recognition of the national obligation to each other.

Dr. Newman gave a rather different slant than is usually taken on her subject, "Woman and Democracy." She urged that the women of tomorrow work together with men and not try to push themselves to the front in loud and brazen tones. She gave an account of the recent Peace Conference at Geneva and the women attending. There the women who succeeded in getting a voice were those who possessed dignity, poise, and not a desire to run things but a wish to stand shoulder to shoulder with the men to bear the burdens.

KAMPUS KALEIDOSCOPE

Well, the excitement is over for another week, and we can settle down to peace and quiet for a day or two. The Glee Club did right well by itself, and Joy Miller right well by herself (not forgetting Wilson, Tharpe, Bennett, Howell, and the rest—) And it seems that there were quite a number of young men hanging around after the concert looking moon-eyed Evening dresses and a spotlight do seem to do something for a girl We know of a certain young man that had that same look in his eyes last year when he saw a little girl dancing up on the stage, but everything is all right now, because he can take her home as his wife now That story of ours in last week's issue about that certain young man from town with that certain something about him got reprinted in one of the town papers How we doin' We thought we wer' so low nobody bothered to read us Senior House continues to line up the scalps Two more seniors get that look in their eyes, one of them with a ring on her finger (yes, the right one, you dope) And another boy keeps asking out there, "Woody or Woody not"—Catch on Gosh, you're getting along swell then We give our personal vote to Mary Polhill when it comes to corsages, no wonder—When a boy up and sends a girl one for no particular reason (or so she says), then it must be love Where did you find that car, Leila? And Lizzie tells us about that A. T. O. pin, but we know better, too And Henry Kate with an S. A. E. pin How you like that open air taxicab, Marie? So you're having a swell time, Isham And what town boy got oh so tired of that "oh you great big wunnerful man" stuff, and gave a little girl her marching papers? Out in the cold again, too bad We take all that back about the equestriennes, it seems that some of them can really ride

King and Queen of Spain at their summer palace at Chigi, in Rome. During her stay in Europe, Mrs. Seydell interviewed the most spectacular celebrities of Spain, France, Belgium, Switzerland, Italy, and Monaco. Interviews of this character, which were written under the title "Talks With Celebrities," appear in Mr. Hearst's numerous newspapers scattered throughout the United States.

Mrs. Seydell will speak here on her recent trip to Africa. Her adventures appeared in her column in the Georgian during her entire trip. She and her husband traversed the African continent from Cape Town to Cairo.

In 1930 Macaulay published Mrs. Seydell's first novel, "Secret Fathers." It met with immediate success, and went through several editions. In 1932 Grosset and Dunlap bought the reprint rights, and several reprint editions have been issued.

Mrs. Seydell has written many magazine articles for various outstanding publications. As a lecturer she is in great demand. Her subjects are based on the various aspects of the countries she has visited and on their great personalities.

As a newspaper representative she has made a special study of schools and colleges. Her findings being published in newspapers and magazines.
