

THE CAMPUS CANOPY

VOL. II—No. 10

VALDOSTA, GA., FRIDAY DECEMBER 6, 1935

DANIEL W. HICKY TO SPEAK HERE ON DECEMBER 15

English Club Will Bring Famous Atlanta Poet to Campus.

Daniel Whitehead Hicky, who will be the guest of the English Club in a few weeks is Georgia's most outstanding poet. He is nationally recognized as one of the outstanding poets of the day. He will read selections from his poetry to students at a tea to be given in his honor.

Mr. Hicky was born in Social Circle, Georgia, December 6, 1900. In 1919, after a high school education he went to Atlanta to work, and has made his home there since that time.

He began writing when he was fifteen years old, but it was not until 1920 that he had any of his poems published. They were first published in the Atlanta Constitution in the column written by Frank L. Stanton. Today Mr. Hicky publishes poems in the Saturday Evening Post, The Commonwealth, The Yale Review, The Forum, Harpers, and The Good Housekeeping.

In the past few years he has won several prizes, and has served as president of the Atlanta Writer's Club.

The English Club, which is sponsoring Mr. Hicky's visit to the college presented an appreciation program of his poetry in Assembly on Wednesday morning. Louise Hardy, president of the club explained the aims of the club, and Leonora Dufour gave a resume of recent honors bestowed upon the poet. Ames Watkins, Matilda Tillman, Priscilla Kelley, Martha Sue Williams and Frances Fluker read several of his poems.

CLUB NEWS

The International Relations Club had a business meeting Tuesday, December 3, at which was discussed an invitation extended by the American Association of University Women to the I. R. C. to meet with them in the Rotunda Thursday evening at 8:00 to hear Mrs. Rogers T. Lively speak and to discuss the problem of how to make money for the scholarship fund.

The Sock and Buskin Club sponsored a tea dance at the Legion Home on Friday afternoon, November 29 from 4:30 to 6:30. Dick Ross's orchestra furnished the music for the occasion.

Notice

Meet your dance rehearsal for Christmas promptly.

The Pine Branch, literary quarterly will be out next week. This will be the first issue of the year.

Fine Arts Club Opens Exhibit

The seventh annual exhibition of paintings by Georgia artists, sponsored by the Fine Arts Club was opened this morning in the Upper Rotunda. The exhibit will be on view until December 18. Valdosta is the second city in the circuit to receive the paintings after the opening in Columbus where they were very enthusiastically received, attracting many visitors.

The exhibit is of especial interest to our students, as two of the paintings, "A Gray Day," and "A Portuguese Youth," are by Miss Frances Ruth Carpenter, director of the art department at the college.

The students and public are invited to view the exhibit from the hours of 10 to 5 o'clock in the Upper Rotunda of Ashley Hall.

THANKSGIVING IS CELEBRATED WITH DINNER

The Georgia State Woman's College celebrated Thanksgiving with the annual Homecoming dinner in the college dining hall. A program of musical numbers was given by Miss Clara Bancroft, teacher of voice, and Miss Virginia Zippies, pianist. The glee club of the college also sang a Thanksgiving song.

The annual sophomore-senior formal was held at the Valdosta Country Club on Friday evening, and the Sock and Buskin Club gave a tea dance in the afternoon.

SUMMER INQUIRES OF SUPPRESSED DESIRES

By HULDA SUMMER

Psychology teaches that suppressed desires are common to everyone but that most victims of smothered impulses will not readily admit their obsessions. At G. S. W. C. the case is different, for when questioned about the matter many students were frank in discussing it.

Some very interesting suppressed desires were unearthed. No one who knows Broun Hutchinson casually would suspect that dignified conservative to be inwardly dying to march through town eating a pink ice cream cone. No one would ever guess that Matilda Tillman has always entertained a yen to be known as a man-hater! And Carol Peeples wants, oh, so badly, to be a sophisticated lady!

Leonora Dufour, when asked for her suppressed desire, blushingly admitted that she has always wanted to be a ballet dancer. Having a mental

Presidents to Take Part In Firelighting Service

The annual firelighting ceremony of the Y. W. C. A. will be held in the Rotunda Sunday evening. This ceremony is one of the most beautiful of the traditional Christmas ceremonies of the college.

The Fire of Fellowship is lighted by the president of the Y. W. C. A. and the presidents of the various campus organizations take part in the firelighting, each contributing a fagot to the blaze.

The organizations represented were as follows: Mildred Turnbull, president of the Student Government Association; Anna Richter, president of the freshman class; Ruth Bunn, president of the sophomore class; Matilda Tillman, president of the junior class; Clara Davis Adams, president of the senior class; Louise Howell, president of the Kappas; Margaret Hudson, president of the Lambdas; Lucille Thompson, president of the Math-Science Club; Rachel Coxwell, president of the International Relations Club; Ann Turner, president of the Fine Arts Club; Martiel Lundy, president of the Philharmonic Club; Joy Miller, president of the Glee Club; Broun Hutchinson, president of the Sock and Buskin and Buskin Club; Louise Hardy, president of the English Club; and Leonora Dufour, editor of the Campus Canopy.

LAMBDA VICTORIES TIE ASSOCIATIONS FOR PLAQUE

Lambdas Take Both Games in Tuesday Tilt.

The Lambdas came off tops Tuesday afternoon with a double header, winning the last games of this quarter's athletic rivalry. They took the fist ball tilt with 9-15, 15-6, 15-13 and the American ball by a margin of 3-0.

This double victory ties the two associations in their contest for the plaque.

In the first toss-up of the fist-ball game the Kappas walked off with the lead and kept it throughout the game. In the next game the order was reversed with the Lambdas winning easily. Cheered by their comeback the Lambdas took the last game after a hard fight from the Kappas.

The American ball game was a thriller from the starting whistle to the last. Jackie Studstill came up for the first score in the first quarter, an under-the-goal kick good for two points for the Lambdas, and Ruby Harrison made the additional one point in the last quarter. The ball was kept moving all over the field and although every one was numb from cold both teams played a fast, shifty and exciting game.

The line-up for the American gall game was:

Kappa		Lambdas
D. Wilson	LW	K. Toole
P. Howell	LE	H. Rogers
V. Ingram	C	R. Harrison
L. Sutton	RE	J. Studstill
B. Andrews	RW	A. Adams
C. Bragg	LH	A. Richter
M. Turnbull	CH	M. Hudson
M. Bennett	RH	F. Fluker
H. Bullard	LF	V. Tuck
J. Daniel	RF	A. L. White

S. G. A. Meeting

The Student Government Association will hold its regular monthly meeting in the Rotunda tonight at 7:30. Mr. Phillip Covington of Moultrie will be the speaker of the evening.

FINE ARTS CLUB OPENS BAZAAR

The annual bazaar of the Fine Arts Club opened today in the Art Dome. Gifts of a varied nature are on exhibit by the Club. Some of the gifts were made and donated by members of the Club.

Ann Turner, president of the club has announced that the exhibit by Georgia artists will open in conjunction with the bazaar.

The bazaar will last through tomorrow.

picture of herself in tights and a deep consideration for preserving aesthetic ideals, she magnanimously decided to live for art other than the terpsichorean.

Charlotte Walton pines secretly for a bathtub big enough to swim in, and Leila Callendar wants to travel anywhere that nobody else goes. Her theme song is evidently "In My Solitude." Chappie Bragg's desire, if not suppressed, would result in her being known as Public Enemy Number 1, for Chappie longs to drive brand new cars sixty miles per hour through plate glass windows. Antoinette Andrews wants to drive recklessly into every wagon she sees and off every high bridge.

My suppressed desire is to climb a chandelier and yell like Tarzan. But Mrs. Cedeyco's answer was the tops: "I don't ever suppress my desires—it's more fun not to!"

POET EDGAR GUEST CHARMS HOLLYWOOD

By PRISCILLA KELLEY

Edgar A. Guest, the "Just Folks" poet, is in Hollywood making a picture. This newspaper man who made his fortune writing simple things wanted to make his film debut in "something simple." This "something simple" is being concocted by Scenarist Malcome Stuart Boylan, but Edgar Guest's dialogue will be by Edgar Guest.

However the public may receive it, Guest himself is now the most popular actor on Universal's lot. He has the sort of gentle, friendly, glad-to-see-you personality that makes friends. He likes people and grants interviews.

Wendy Barrie has a cosmopolitan background to be proud of. Her father is English, her mother is Irish. Wendy was born in Hongkong, and educated in England and Switzerland.

During exam week the Ritz is offering "The Return of Peter Grimm" starring John Barrymore, and on December 19 and 20 the fortunate few will be able to see Ann Harding and Gary Cooper in "Peter Ibbetson."

The Marx Brothers will soon be with us again in "A Night at the Opera." Eddie Cantor says in his own modest way, "They're three of our foremost comedians . . . My wife can name the other."

IT ALL DEPENDS ON US

By CHAPPIE BRAGG

"My daughter never smoked until she went away to college" is the complaint of many mothers, not only about smoking, but about countless other things of a harmful nature, or things not approved by families. And you have no idea how many parents say to themselves "No, indeed, I shall not send my child away to learn to drink, smoke and use strong language."

All of this sort of thing, you must realize, is just another black eye to your college; all blame for a girl's individual departures from the straight and narrow are laid at its door. Did you ever stop to think that the girls who allow their school to be excuse for their delinquencies are the very girls who come off to college for just that reason—to take advantage of the absence of a parent's restraining hand to indulge in things forbidden at home.

It seems rather hard, doesn't it, that the college should be asked to cover up their weaknesses at the expense of its good name? It seems too bad that the public should get an uncomplimentary opinion of your school because of a few who use it to gain their own ends.

The only way to fight this injustice is by word of mouth. So let's stand up for our college and denounce the weaklings who perhaps threaten our own future by reflecting on the good name of our school.

DALLAS DORT, HEAD OF INVESTIGATIONS STUDIES W. P. A. COMPLAINTS

By ARNOLD SERWER

(Assoc. Colleague Press Corres.)

Washington, D. C.—One of Harry Hopkins' brightest young men is 27-year-old Dallas Dort, head of the Works Progress Administration's newly enlarged Division of Investigation. Dort, as division head, is charged with investigating all complaints made of misuse of any part of the $4,800,000 work relief fund. In the entire works setup there is probably no more involved and complex job. The boss of the new "W" men, however, is enthusiastic about the work.

"It's darned interesting," he says. "There's something popping up every minute."

The things that "pop up" range from complaints of selling of jobs by officials to relief people to direct misappropriation of funds or misuse of WPA equipment. Every complaint is investigated at first hand by a "W" man sent out from some one of the division's 15 regional offices. If the division thinks they have sufficient evidence to convict the evidence is turned over to the Department of Justice, or sometimes to local authorities for prosecution.

In order to be considered eligible for appointment as a "W" man an applicant must be either a lawyer, a trained accountant, or an engineer. If you're a double or triple threat man, that is, if you have either two, or all three kinds of training, so much the better. Former Secret Service men, or former G-men, with the aforementioned requisites, are especially eligible. The present staff has a large number of former Secret Service men and former special agents of the Department of Justice on it. All in all, more than fifty additional investigators have been hired by Dort in the past two months.

Dort, himself, is by training a lawyer. After taking his A. B. at Princeton in 1930, he entered Michigan to study law. In 1933 he left Michigan, with an LLB. degree. At Princeton he was a member of Key and Seal. At Michigan he was affiliated with Phi Delta Phi, a legal fraternity.

For a short time he was in business in California, managing a hotel. In the fall of 1933 he came to Washington and was hired by the FERA to help the Compensation section work out plans to make restitution to FERA workers injured while employed on work relief projects.

From that post he was transferred to the job of keeping tabs on the administrative end of the various statistical projects launched under the CWA program. This was no small responsibility, since under the CWA, statistical projects, formed an important part of the white collar section of the job-giving program.

About a year ago Dort began running the FERA'S Division of Investigation. At that time many of the component parts of the FERA had their own individual investigators, aside from their regular field men who checked on the progress of the program. With the launching of the WPA these units were coordinated into the present division, headed by Dort.

At 27, with a $4,000 yearly salary, and the status of a WPA division chief (which incidentally would call for a much larger salary in almost any other New Deal agency) Dallas Dort is just beginning to go places. His youth, coupled with a suggestion of shyness, gives him an appealing and extremely likeable personality.

That comparative oldster, Dr. Tugwell, if he ever met Dort might well be imagined as saying, "Yessir, I was as young as that once."

Random Note—Somewhere in this fair land of ours is a young G-man, possibly hot on the trail of a public enemy, while unbeknownst to him, another young man, employed by the government here, is considering having a second G-man put on the trail of the first one. For it seems that the G-man, suddenly ordered away to parts unknown, forgot to return to the aforesaid young man, his former roommate, seven dollars he borrowed from him. Moreover, he also borrowed the roommate's valise. The roommate says the G-man did not behave with criminal intent, but merely in keeping with the habits he observed in him when they roomed together in college. He says Jay Edgar Hoover ought either to recall the culprit, or send somebody out to bring him in.

LEONORA DREAMS OF PENTHOUSE

By ROSALIND LANE

Orchids to Leonora Dufour—her accomplishments would fill a best seller—hardly seems possible one person could be and do so many things—she's always busy but never too hurried to tell a good story or joke, or to hear one—calls Ghent, Kentucky her home—loves Kentucky and winter sports—says it's great to sit by a warm fire on winter nights and read while the snow falls—is a great admirer of Gertrude Stein—likes to walk in the rain and visit art galleries—makes delightful sketches in black and white—goes kodaking when she has the time—fell for Chicago while there in October—think the northern boys are more courteous than southerners and don't have such obvious lines—high spot of the trip—dancing with her Dad in Cincinnati at the Netherland-Plaza to the music of Ted Fio Rifo and his orchestra—declares the life of luxury she lived for three days has spoiled her. She's a souvenir collector and keeps loads of scrapbooks.

She's interested in everything—was the founder of the Campus Canopy in '34—has been editor since then—has spoiled her. She's a souvenir collector—was editor in '34 and '35 and is editor now—was awarded prize for her poems in her freshman year—is literary editor of the Pine Cone—received silver-cup for her services to the college publications—writes excellent prose and poetry—one of her poems, "Moondust" appeared in the August Versecraft—is an extraordinary pianist—entertains her friends with her own compositions—usually popular songs—sings second soprano in the double trio of the Glee Club—had the role of Kitty in the operetta—is a member of the Sock and Buskin Club—She and Clara Louise won the debating contest in their sophomore year—has travelled all over the U. S. except on the Pacific coast—finds the time to make honors—Leonora has dark brown hair and large, expressive brown eyes—her features are lovely—wishes she resembled a Russian countess and were worldly looking—wants to own a black and silver penthouse and invite her friends in to discuss literature—if she doesn't starve in the attempt.

DR. BISCH QUERIES

"Am I Losing My Mind?", by Louis E. Bisch, M.D., READER'S DIGEST, November, 1935.

Have you ever felt that you were losing your mind? Well, read this account of symptoms which come daily to a noted neuropsychiatrist and try to be certain that your symptoms are merely imaginary before worrying your friends for their opinion. Many people who suffer with loss of memory, inability to concentrate, inferiority convictions, guilt, worry, or depression are not going insane. Often behind these lie physical causes which really need attention.

PERSONAL MENTION

Mary Kathryn Harrell and Rosalind Lane spent last week-end with friends in Jennings, Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. McKibben of Coolidge visited Mildred McKibben last Sunday.

Lucy Hammond of Griffin, who graduated last year, visited Clara Hammond during Thanksgiving.

Mrs. E. F. Parker and Mrs. W. E. Brown visited Sara Parker and Edith Brown over the holidays.

Marion Lucas of Albany visited Marie Joiner last week-end.

Dr. Marion Farbar was the guest of Lois Hafford at her home in Waycross last week-end.

Marie Wilson of Moultrie was the guest of Rhona Barfield for the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Stone Sowell, Miss Hazel Crosby, and Mr. Melton Braddy visited Lilla Crosby and Will Emma Dunlap Sunday.

Friends of Mildred Montgomery will be glad to know that she is rapidly recovering from an operation last Saturday.

Ann Groover visited Lou Grevenburg in Savannah over the week-end.

Russell Fenn was the guest of Harriet Futch Sunday.

Inez Cook of Colquitt visited Bessie Jo Johnson last week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Garrett of Albany spent Sunday with their daughter, Eleanor.

Ruth Williams attended the Thanksgiving hop at Annapolis last week.

Miss Annie P. Hopper, Priscilla Kelley, and Matilda Tillman attended a tea given for Miss Hopper in Quitman Sunday.

Jackie Studstill and Margaret Berryhill attended the Peters-Sullivan wedding in Lakeland last week-end.

Helen Moore, Mary Virginia Williams, Vista Maloney, Mayme Witholter, Annette Phillips, Harriett Bulard, Lucille Hinson, Martha Strange, Alexa Daley, Hulda Summer, Floye Ivey, Evelyn Whitmire, and Audrey London went home last week-end.

Eloise Lineberger visited Dot Herndon in Lake Park last week-end.

Lucille Thompson visited in Ellaville over the week-end.

Leonora Dufour spent the holidays in Tallahassee with her mother.

The students, faculty and public are invited to attend the tea for Daniel Whitehead Hicky in the Rotunda on Sunday afternoon, December 15. Admission will be 25c.

The game of lawn bowls, one of the oldest as well as one of the simplest of out-of-door games, is finding increasing popularity in American colleges. Several schools now include it in their co-ed athletic programs.

AROUND THE CAMPUS

Schedules for examinations have been posted on the bulletin board in Ashley Hall. Exams will begin on Tuesday, December 17 and will continue through Thursday, December 19. The Christmas festival will be given on the 19.

Registration has been progressing through the week. Each class has registered on the assigned day, and all registration for the winter quarter should be finished by the end of the week.

Leisure time activities for the winter quarter include classes in typing, shorthand, bookkeeping and knitting. Schedules were made this week for the classes.

All students using old prints in the Pine Cone are asked to take their dollar to Lucille Thompson as soon as possible.

Dances are now in preparation for the Christmas festival. Costumes should be finished this week. All students are required to wear a costume to the manor house.

The I. R. C. meeting on Tuesday December 3, will take the place of the regular monthly meeting of the club for December.

Did You Know That—

—Ruby Harrison received a pair of woolen socks, size 11, from a would-be boy friend before whom she remarked that she had cold feet?

—When Miss Gilmer was guest-speaker at the Waycross Pilots' Club banquet she received a huge box of candy from Caroline Miller?

—Rachel Rainey's "radio" has been suspiciously silent for quite awhile, but she serenaded the English class one morning—what price glory?

—A certain blond freshman has the habit of buying cigarettes at Brookwood? Better be careful!

—Doctor Reade stays up all night thinking up the fast ones he pulls on every occasion?

—Lorene got left in Columbus one week-end? Quitt a convenient coincidence!

—June holds joy for Joy and Joy for Frank? Here come the bride!

—Broun nearly lost her costume in "The Rivals"—a safety pin saved the night the play and her rep.

—Half the costumes used in "The Rivals" were Christmas Festival ones and Miss Ivey won a bet on St. George's purple hat?

—Margaret Hudson can tell a mighty funny story about one Friday night Adair Street and a good friend of hers.

—The operetta was a huge success, largely due to those oh-so-lucky pirates?

Believe it or not these things were said on our very own campus. Can you guess the guilty ones?

1. I am sorry but I left out the line that I was supposed to walk on.
2. It's got to go to press at 4:00 o'clock.
3. Have you seen Margaret Sims?
4. You are the cutest little ole thing, bless your heart.
5. He is so sweet, I still get a letter from him every day.

6. Yes, I am still crazy about that tall blond with blue eyes.

7. Somebody please buy some crackers.

To our way of thinking it's a good thing that Walter decided to go into business at the other end of town—Jerry, I wouldn't stand for it.

Sweetie, we bet you were glad that Garnet wrecked the car—However it's a good thing that his visit didn't last over the week end, isn't it?

And who was it that said that the rules around here weren't strict enough. To ou mind she needs a good tarring and feathering.

Poor Hazel is like a man without a country now that her campus friends can't visit her at her house.

And what about the freshman who cried all night because she knew that she had flunked her math test and then made A.

Things We Like—

- That green dress of Myra's.
- Miss Hopper's new car.
- To see Jackie run down the American ball field.
- Miss Sawyer in a black dress.
- To get a check from home—then to Brookwood.

We wish that everyone would quit holding our friend Leonora responsible for this column. If your name appears in this column you get mad and if it doesn't you don't think it's a good paper. After all, the only way to keep your name out is to write the column yourself.

Slanguage as Used On Our Campus

By HULDA SUMMER

G. S. W. C. excels in many things, but her most unusual superlative is the colorful slanguage of her students.

First on the list come abbreviations, those convenient and snappy bits so baffling to a D. B. R. (door bell ringer—denoting a stranger on the campus). All S. Y. T.s (sweet young things) have O.A.O.'s (one and only's) who fondly think them S. S. & G. (sweet, simple and girlish). And when L. B. M. (life's big moment) begins to pall, the S. Y. T. sends him O. T. B. (over the border) and here goes on the N R. A. (puts on another man). Who'd guess that Bwd meant Brookwood Pharmacy. It sounds like Greek unless you're in the know.

The names for dear enemies are startling — Pineapple, flat-foot and black-ant being favorites, while for that height of adjectives there's nothing like eating up a breeze or talking up a storm. Gabble-feasts were once bull-sessions and the hand-out is the former breakfast, lunch or dinner.
