Dances

This evening the Sock and Buskin club will sponsor the first card dance of the season at the Legion Home. The dance will last from eight to eleven and will include twenty dances.

As their first class entertainment of the year, the freshmen will sponsor a dance in the dining hall Saturday night from eight till eleven.

The program featuring talented members of the class and the general idea of the decorations will be kept a secret until that night. The admission will be fifteen cents per couple.

Carols Begin Day of Christmas Celebration

YULE LOG WILL BE BURNED ON EVENING OF CELEBRATION

Christmas Day at G. S. W. C. will be on Thursday, December 17. The girls are awakened by the voices of the Christmas carolers as they linger in the hallways. The custom is for the Glee Club members of the Freshman Class to serenade the upper classes in the early morning. The Y. W. C. A. has charge of special Vesper service of "The Hanging-of-the-Greens."

The climax of the day—"Ye Olde English Christmas Feaste" held that evening in the dining hall—is one of the most unique customs of southern colleges. As in the days of old, everybody wears an appropriate English costume, and guests, students, and faculty make merry. The burning of the Yule Log will be one of the most important features of the festival. Other features include court jesters, mummers, and clever dancers.

The theme of the whole festival is "Peace on earth and good will toward men." At the beginning merriment and jollity will prevail; but the more serious side of Christmas will be shown at the conclusion when Silent Night is sung by the departing guests.

The out-of-town guests who will be present for the dedication service have been invited to the festival. This occa-

Dr. Reade Announces Dedication of Building

REGENTS OF UNIVERSITY ARE EXPECTED TO ATTEND.

Dr. Frank R. Reade has announced the dedication date for the new dormitory for Thursday, December 17. E. Ormonde Hunter, of Savannah, recently appointed regent to fill the place of the late S. H. Morgan, will preside. Mr. Hunter is a lawyer and a graduate of Yale.

Among the other distinguished guests who will attend the dedication are: S. V. Sanford, Chancellor of the University System, and several members of the board of regents, including Clark Howell, Jr., who is one of the three appointed visiting regents. Mr. and Mrs. Howell will be the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Reade during their visit. Miss Gay B. Shepperson of Atlanta, head of the Georgia department of the National Youth Administration, has also been invited to be present at the dedication. Parents, townspeople, and any others who are interested are invited to attend.

The out-of-town guests will also attend the Christmas Festival on the evening of the seventeenth.

The occasion is usually exclusively a college entertainment, but special invitations have been issued to the university officials who will be in town. Dr. Frank R. Reade, president of the college, will act as Lord of the Manor.

Bazaar

Your Christmas shopping will be brought to the door when the Fine Arts Club completes plans for their annual Christmas Bazaar to be held in the Art studio December 11 and 12. The Bazaar will be open from three to six in the afternoon and from seven to ten in the evenings. A wide selection of gifts may be made from the Japanese booth; glassware, China, pottery, and metal objects; plates of parish figures; plaques; pictures and Japanese prints; and a booth of objects made by the members of the club. Candy and cakes will also be sold at the Bazaar.

Artist Series Opens With Musical Trio

Opening the concert with a musical trio, the Valdosta Cooperative Concert sponsored the first program of the artist series Thursday evening at eight o'clock in the high school auditorium. Frank Kneisel, violinist, John Alden, cellist, and Robert Turner, pianist, were the eminent artists featured. This was the first of a series of concert artists being brought to Valdosta.

Through funds budgeted by the University System and arrangements made by Dr. Frank R. Reade, season tickets for the students have been furnished free of charge.

This series of artists is not a part of the series provided for by the Student Activities Fund. Their first artist will not appear until after the close of the first quarter.

F. S. BEERS, UNIVERSITY EXAMINER, TALKS TO STUDENTS IN CHAPEL

Dr. F. S. Beers, University Examiner, was the chapel speaker for the exercises this morning. He was introduced as the "man and face who compile the survey examination quizzes." He spoke on the expectations of his position.

Winter Registration Begins; No Changes In Curriculum Reported

Registration for the winter quarter is now in progress and will continue until the beginning of the quarter. Freshmen and upperclassmen with the aid of Dr. Hawks and other faculty advisors are selecting subjects in which they are most interested and those which will be most beneficial to them. A number of students interested in dietetics, technician work, journalism or education are mapping out special schedules.

There have been no changes in the curriculum so courses will remain as planned at the fall opening of college.

Archers Enter With Georgia and G. S. C. W. In Telegraphic Contest

By telegraphing the final results, an archery tournament will take place between G. S. W. C. and G. S. C. W. University of Georgia on December the 3, 9, 10.

G. S. C. W. and G. S. W. C. will be the sole competitors in the advanced division of the tournament, while the University of Georgia will join in the beginners division.

Preliminary specifications covering the main points in the tournament have been made out. They represent a compromise between the suggestions of officials of the three schools. More detailed specifications about conduct of tournament, scoring, and anything else that may need standardization will be made out later.

The advanced team will be made up of Lois Hafford, Lorene Johnson, C. J. Morris, Chappie Bragg, Dody Wilson. Any qualified archer who wishes may enter the second team.

The shooting is to be done on the first day that weather permits; however, more than one day may be used if necessary. The returns to be made by wire (Continued on Page Three)

Duncan Speaks On College Religion

"One of the outstanding problems of the day is to establish the proper relation between modern youth and religion." This statement was made by Laura Duncan in the talk she made at Vespers Thursday evening, December 3. She stated that in college, religion is an elective, and its full importance is not realized; religion should be as important as any other subject in the curriculum.

Miss Duncan is president of the Freshman class and the first of her class to speak at Vespers.

Letters Written in Circles and Rolls are sent to College Girls

"Slips that pass in the night" have extracted hearty grins from even the most serious of countenances, yet some odd letters found around G. S. W. C. would make a false face crack.

C. J. Morris, in a letter to her mother before going home for the summer, indicated on the envelope that the letter would be the last one her mother would receive from school. On the outside of the letter in bold-face type, C. J. printed LAST LETTER. Post office officials suspecting sad tidings in the contents of the epistle but unwilling to open the letter, sent a detective to C. J.'s mother to enquire if tragedy had befallen her daughter.

Pauline Brewster was puzzled beyond words a few days ago when the postman handed her an envelope containing a narrow roll. Upon opening the letter, in place of the usual folded sheet, Pauline found yards upon yards of confetti rolled into a disk. By a slow process of unrolling the paper, she read what an admirer had to write.

"So I turned the page around and the letter went round and round, and so did my head and everything, by the time I finished it," explained Dink Lassiter about a letter she once received. The writing began in the middle of the page and took the course of a snail to the very edge of the sheet. 'Twas rather dizzy reading especially if she was in a hurry to get to the last go-round.

Rosalind Lane is carrying on a "continued" correspondence with a friend in Clearwater. One day Rosalind receives a post card or maybe two cards with an undated message on them. A few days later a card will arrive bearing the conclusion she has hoped for.

What would you do if your mother informed you in a letter that your father would meet your train "in the woods?" Elizabeth Green didn't know either, but it all turned out that Elizabeth had misread. Mrs. Green went hunting with Mr. Green. While her husband hunted, Mrs. Green decided to write Elizabeth. She dated the letter "in the woods." After writing on the entire page, she resorted to filling the edges; when she finally ended the letter with "Daddy will meet you Friday," she did not realize that she had stopped next to "in the woods," so Elizabeth was left to figure it out.

Kappas Have Twenty Point Lead On Rival Team Fall Quarter

From six games of the fall quarter including basketball and fistball the Phi Kappa Athletic Club emerges with twenty-five points to their credit, while the Phi Lambda Athletic Club claims only five.

No definite plan as yet has been made out for the games of the next quarter, but they will start soon after the Christmas holidays.

All students planning to stay in the associations must have eighteen practices, and those working for honors should have even more. Initiation of the new members will start at the beginning of the fall quarter.

WORK ON PINE CONE CONTINUES; EDITOR FEELS CONFIDENT

Advertising, feature, and activities editors of the Pine Cone staff began work on the respective sections of the magazine this week.

The members of the advertising staff have begun their drive for advertising from Valdosta's leading business firms. They will complete their work shortly before Christmas.

Class pictures will be completed this week, and work on club and campus activity pictures will begin next week.

Snapshots of campus life are being taken this week and already several rolls of film have been turned in to the editors.

or mail so as to reach Milledgeville Friday, December 11.

The tournament will consist of two separate divisions: Advanced Tournament or First Team Tournament, and Beginners Tournament or Second Team Tournament. The Advanced Tournament will be run first with a team of five.

Two divisions will be considered in the tournament; advanced division or first team and the second team group. The latter will be the first event, running with five archers chosen by the managers. The Columbia round will be used with 48 inch target, 24 arrows at 30, 40, and 50 yards respectively.

Since the beginners tournament will be made up of a team variable in size, the score of the highest six will be the only ones counted. These archers will shoot 18 arrows from the 30 and 40 yards respectively.

European Politics Is Club Discussion

Beginning with a spaghetti supper on Tuesday, December 1, the members of the International Relations Club had a discussion of current international affairs.

Mary Hargreaves gave a summary of the situation in Spain. The points discussed were the aerial bombardment in Madrid, and the alignment of nations, particularly Italy, Russia, and France in regard to the Loyalist and Rebel struggle.

Julia Casey gave a brief discussion concerning the political policies that Germany is now pursuing. Due to the Soviet imperialism and militaristic threat against Germany, Chancellor Hitler has extended the period of army training for two years. Germany has introduced in her new four-year program a policy of self-sufficiency as nearly as possible through the aid of German capability, chemistry, machines, and mining industry.

In a brief survey of certain international affairs, Catherine Wilson discussed the meeting of the Council of the International Chamber of Commerce which was held for the purpose of reducing trade barriers. She also pointed out the result of recent elections in Norway and their effects upon the Norwegian Parliament.

Campus Health Via Metabolism

It is odd how we never realize exactly what we have in the way of interesting experiments until we notice that someone else or some other school has taken up the torch, so to speak.

In the last issue of The Colonnade, weekly publication of the Woman's College at Milledgeville, an article appeared on the metabolism tests being conducted by the health department in connection with a university program. The Colonnade stated that the object of the tests was to correlate the results in energy output with academic work of the students. The article continued with this statement: "The test should prove extremely interesting since it is the first of the kind to be conducted in the university system."

Dr. Marian Farbar, head of the health department on this campus, began a similar experiment in October. She, however, is doing it as a personal problem—giving time, tabulation and use of equipment, to 121 Freshmen at her own expense. The experiment will close December 16, according to Dr. Farbar. She hopes to correlate the metabolic percentage rate with the hemoglobin percentage, food intoxication, acne occurrences, and I.Q. Her paper on Thyro-Pathoies will score the results and draw the conclusions for the test.

Dr. Farbar has been with our Health Department for three years, and is the only woman physician in the University System who heads a department of this kind. Her aid to the students is invaluable, and her intense interest and continuous study of the "Causation of Diseases" should prove equally invaluable to medical science.

BY ROSALIND LANE

ACP—"Old-maidery" is definitely on the upgrade unless Hunter College questionnaires were not answered truthfully a week or so ago. Only one freshman out of the total of 929 has confessed a desire to be married after graduation from college. Which reminds us that only one senior at G. S. W. C. admits that marriage is her ambition.

A pamphleteer of the Nazi pagan movement, Heinrich Reinsch, averred last tweek that Christopher Columbus was no true discoverer. According to Herr Reinsch, the Nordic Kikings made trips to Labrador and New England and Columbus used maps they had made of their journeys. In short, said Reinsch, it was a "plot" to rob the Nordics of historical credit. Historians who have long questioned the identity of America's discoverer can find no actual map left by the Nordics and accuse Germany of condemning Columbus because he was half Spanish and half-Jewish.

ACP—Halls of the buildings at the college of Mount St. Joseph on the Ohio are now equipped with ink filling stations. A penny in the slot will release enough ink for a fountain pen filling. But the fountain pen that entrances us is the new water pen—fill it with water and a self-contained nik cartridge produces ink as you write!

Europe and Asia midst of war scare —nations divide into camps—Germany and Japan form agreement "to combat communism"—Britain declares she will fight if Belgium is invaded—France and England forget quarrels and stand together—Spain appeals to League of Nations against intervention of Germany and Italy in the Civil War—Russie issues declaration that if Germans essay aggression against U. S. S. R. they will be crushed—France asks Russia to halt shipment of arms to Spain—Mussolini and Hitler join hands—Czechoslovakia prepares against Nazi attack—China aroused against Japan—Christians and Moslems battle over Lebanon—. Another November 11 passes—and only in North and South America are there tidings of good will—.

The "400" have become 25,000. Publication of the 1937 Social Register reveals new names that have been added and others that have been dropped. Col. and Mrs. Charles Lindbergh, the Vanderbilt clan (except Cornelius, Jr.), the President and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, and Mrs. Wally Simpson, friend of King Edward, are a few listed in the new edition. Julianna Cutting, specialist in debutante parties and Emily Post, authority on manners, are said to be deciding voices in placing names in the Register.

Cinema Cynic

BY PRISCILLA KELLEY

The old saying that truth is stranger than fiction was borne out the other day when a studio worker came rushing excitedly from the set of the Green Light saying she had found a forgotten man. It seems James Fleming (who has been acting for the past year and a half as Errol Flynn's personal servant), turns out to be the son of a wealthy mining man in Nevada. He disappeared some two years ago and has never been heard from since. Fleming offered no explanation but admitted readily that he was the same man.

Rudy Vallee sent a blanket of orchids to Fay Webb's funeral and an aunt of Fay's dropped dead during the funeral of her niece.

And Anthony Adverse, the picture now showing at the Ritz, is no let down after reading the book. The direction is admirable and since casting was carefully executed, the audience is caught up in a riot of color and action and is swept along on its entertaining current for two hours and a quarter of thrilling entertainment. Truly one of the great pictures of the year.

When Marion Davies travels abroad, she packs about twenty-five wigs along. Marion, it seems, finds it simpler to wear a wig than to have her own hair dressed every day. Anyway, it's an idea, girls

Can you feature Mary Pickford and Buddy Rogers married? It seems they could, so all the newspapers and magazines featured it too. Well, anyway, we pass on our own congratulations.

When Three Men On A Horse hits town, don't dare miss it. But that's needless advice for who would want to stay away from what is concluded to be the greatest comedy hit in ten years, now in its second capacity year on Broadway and being played in four countries, by ten companies, to thousands of hilarious crowds everywhere.

THE PIG

The pig is a simple soul
He doesn't long to be
A star in the sky,
Or a butterfly,
Or a dreaming creature like

His pride and joy is his c
His delight is a puddle big
He doesn't aspire
To climb any higher,
He's happy enough as a pig.

THE FISH

Here's to the lithe little fish
Down in the pool there—swish.
He curves and curves on throu
blue,
Look, little fish, here's to you!

Though sea wonders you may ad
Surely I think you must tire
Of everlasting mud and mire,
And don't you sometimes just as
To take a peek at us up higher?

Here's a bait before your eyes,
A sort of ticket to paradise.
Take a big bite—that's right—swish!
So now, I've caught myself a fish.

THE GRASSHOPPER

Just a hop, skip and jump,
Now isn't he a chump?
Why doesn't he go with a stately air,
Or is it that he doesn't care?
No dignity, no poise, no grace—
Just hopping around all over the place.

THE FLY

Oh you flit, fly and float
Till you really get my goat,
And you zigzag up and down
Like a punch-drunk little clown,
Crazy fly!

Oh you busily buzz by,
Sometimes low, sometimes high,
Till I think I shall go mad,
And that really would be sad,
Silly fly!

Oh why must you always lite
From some far and distant height
On the food I want to eat?
Really you are not discreet,
Nasty fly!

MEETING NOTICE

Emma Ambos, president Student Government Association, announces that there will be no meeting of the organization on Friday, November 15, as previously announced. The next meeting will not be until January 15, 1937. Dean Olivia Dorman of the Florida State Womans College at Tallahassee will be the speaker.
