Glee Club Presents Concert

"Dormitory Hilarities" Is Special Feature

Presenting a program in two parts, the Glee Club of the Georgia State Womens College will appear in the college auditorium Friday evening, March 11, in their first concert of the year. The first part of the program will include selections by the entire Glee Club as well as numbers by Sarah Martha Pyle, Sue Nell Greenlee, Mary Winn Greer, Eleanor Morgan and Edith Bennett.

"Dormitory Hilarities"

Part two of the program is called Dormitory Hilarities. In this part the triple quartet, members of the tap dancing classes, and students in the speech department as well as the whole ensemble will be featured.

The Glee Club, which is directed by Miss Clara Bancroft, has as its officers Carolyn Askew, president; Juanita Sirmans, secretary-treasurer; Camille Rycroft, librarian, and Mary Winn Greer, accompanist.

Members of the club are Edith Bennett, Emily Cumming, Beverly Dougherty, Pardee Greer, Hazel McLeod, Mattie Lou Mims, Mary Heien Pullen, Sarah Martha Pyle, Camille Rycroft, Laura Mae Shinkel, Jacqueline Abrahams, Maxine Cowart, Kathleen Campbell, Eleanor Morgan, Daisy McNeal, Juanita Sirmans, Kathryn Toole.

Sue Nell Greenlee, Frances Middleton, Rosalind Taylor, Kathryn Webb, Beulah Wingate, Carolyn Askew, Montine Cowart, Virginia Claire Fletcher and Louise Stump.

A reading will be given by Anna Richter, "Whisk Broom Blues," a tap dance will be presented by Mary Helen Pullen, Ruth Whisonant, Curtis Whatley and Carolyn Kay. Beverly Dougherty and Montine Cowart will dance "Sophisticate." Clara Mae Sasser will be accompanist in the tap dancing numbers.

Shakespearean Players Give Two Productions

Opening with Hamlet in the afternoon, James Hendrickson, Claire Bruce and company presented two Shakespearean plays Wednesday, March 2, in the auditorium. At the evening performance they played The Merchant of Venice.

English Club Will Publish Literary Issue

In an effort to provide a medium of creative expression for GSWC, the English club is sponsoring a writing and drawing contest from March 4 to May 4, according to plans announced Wednesday by Katherine Moore, president.

Plans for the publication of a booklet composed of the winning selections were discussed and adopted at the meeting of the English club Tuesday evening.

Prizes Will Be Given

Open to all students, the contest will culminate during the last of May when the booklet will come from the press. In the booklet will be the best of all the entries. A prize will be awarded to the best in each field of the pieces chosen for publication.

Poems, Essays, Sketches

Creative work in the form of poems, essays, plays and short stories and sketches will be in-

Virginia Zippies Will Reign At May Festival; Bunn Is Maid Of Honor

Dramatic Club Selects "Fresh Fields"

Announcement has been made of the cast for Fresh Fields, the Sock and Buskin play which will be given in the auditorium on April 8. It is a comedy in three acts by Ivor Novello and will be directed by Miss Louise Sawyer.

Cast of Characters

The following is the cast of characters: Lady Margaret, Anna Richter; Lady Lillian, Ethel Stallings; Mrs. Pidgeon, Curtis Whatley; Tom, Scoots Howell; Una, Louise Blanks; Tim, Wibby Mackey; Miss Swaine, Catherine Wilson; Ludlow, Billy Parmenter, and Lady Strome, Nell Zipperer.

Members of the club who do not have parts in the play, will be assigned to various committees. Eileen Hyland, president, will assist with the direction of the play.

Go To Convention

Dody Wilson, vice president, and Dora Ida Perkins, secretary of the Sports Club, left Friday to represent GSWC at a meeting of the NAAF at Wesleyan College this week end. Miss Elizabeth McRee, instructor of physical education, is also attending the convention.

A regular playday program will be held after which discussions will take place. One of the main topics under discussion will be "Intramural Athletics in Relation to Competition." The delegates will report on the convention at the meeting of the Sports Club Council the following Tuesday.

Each serving as a foil for the beauty of the other, blonde Virginia Zippies and brunette Ruth Bunn, will rule as Queen of the May and Maid of Honor at the annual May Day festivities.

They were overwhelmingly declared winners of the student body election held Wednesday to determine which seniors should receive the prized campus honors.

Gracious Royalty

Charming Virginia Zippies will be a gracious and lovely queen. Through four years she has been one of the popular figures in campus activities; it is only fitting that the four years should be climaxed by the dignified role of May Queen.

Ruth Bunn, one of the most versatile girls at GSWC, also has a long record of achievements at the college. Her dark and vivid loveliness should form a picturesque contrast with the queen's stately blonde appearance.

No Date Yet Decided

No definite plans are available concerning selection of the remainder of the May Court. The exact date of the May Festival is not yet known, but it will be as near May 1 as possible. Arrangements for the festival will be made by Miss Leonora Ivey and Miss Elizabeth McRee, of the Physical Education Department.

Nominations Are Posted

In direct contrast with the nominations for class officers last year, eight candidates have been proposed for the presidency of next year's sophomore, junior and senior classes. The election will be held on Friday morning, March 11, in the lower hall of the Administration Building.

To date, there are four candidates up for the presidency of next year's sophomore class: Emily Cumming, Frances Middleton, Katherine Webb and Frances Hug. All the girls are members of the Sports Club and the Freshman Commission, of which Frances Middleton is secretary. Katherine Webb is also a member of the Philharmonic Club, and Frances is treasurer of the Freshman class, and president of the Freshman Humanities Club.

Freshmen and Juniors Swing Out At Annual Formal Dance To Music of Curtis Davidson's Orchestra

Freshmen and juniors Friday night danced the hours away to the strains of Curtis Davidson's orchestra at their annual formal dance.

The Grand March, led by Margaret Burns, freshman class president, and Billy Kendall, together with Mary Hudson, president of the junior class, and Richard Smith, opened the dance at 8:30 o'clock at the Legion Home. The evening was made festive by the green and white decorations of St. Patrick's Day. Mr. and Mrs. John B. Odum and Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Durrenburger, and Miss Lenora

Ivey were chaperones for the dance.

Date List

Those who attended the formal were: Mary Hudson, Richard Smith; Marion Orr, D. W. Freeman; Aline Lanier, Perry Mullis; June Lawson, M. C. Sikes; Margaret Burns, Billy Kendall; Susie McKey, George Eager; Rosalind Lane, H. J. Lyle; Mixson Davis, Jimmy West; Frances Williams, Pilcher Clark; Pardee Greer, Jack Klinck; Anne Dunbar, Tommy Sumner; C. J. Morris, Joe Dio Guardi.

Bernice Smith, Nookey Pearce;

Sylvia Bell, Leonard Smith; Louise Peeples, Hill Lewis; Sarah Mackey, Billy Jamison; Eileen Cox, Tom Staten; Dorothy Brown, Mitchell Brice; Ruth

From All

... appearances the extent to which our students appreciate the inspirational presentations which have been part of college life this quarter is exceedingly smaller than it should be. We go along from day to day consumed with our littleness and do not bother to lift our eyes for a perspective of happenings.

The more things we experience the richer our lives will be and until we are able to correlate a speaker or an artist series program with our term paper or history lesson, for example, we are not ready to take our place in society.

MUST JUDGE AND EVALUATE

Everything we do or think is relative to a certain extent. It is our business to judge and to evaluate.

This can be accomplished only by keeping as well informed about what goes on around us as possible. After information comes evaluation, but information is essentially first.

If we sit in our rooms and write letters while a concert is being given on the campus we will not be in a position to say whether or not we like it. That childish attitude is just like a person's saying he does not like spinach if he has never tasted it.

INTERESTING PERSONALITIES

This quarter has been filled with things that should enlarge our personalities, and make us like to live with ourselves more.

Summarizing, this quarter has brought the anniversary celebration with the two splendid addresses of Dr. Woolley and Dr. Thompson; the joint recital of Grace Panvini and Conrad Mayo; the Whites' lecture on Chinese Civilization; the series of vesper programs on "What An Intelligent Student Should Think About Religion"; the exhibit of etching and lithographs; the Barrere-Britt Concertino; the inspiring talk by Mr. Eyer at Student Government meeting, the Ted Shawn Dancers; the American Repertory play, and the two Shakespearean plays.

GOOD STUDENT PROGRAMS

In addition there have been good chapel programs, forum discussions, Sunday musicals and studio recitals.

As the end of this quarter approaches, let us resolve that next quarter we will get around to as many of the happenings of the campus as possible. K.M.

Kampus Kaleidoscope

Duncan smashes through the dining hall—have you noticed Bev's exotic eyes?—ask Louise about the itinerant representative—(traveling salesman, to you)—someone should really get after the horses about their teeth—the William's heart is light again and the pin is in its accustomed place.

Ruth wept over the pickled pussy in last Monday's lab—the campus seems to have gone quite conventional lately—what unforseen complications arose at ye formal we'd like to know?—faint rumors reach us of potential June brides—Hardy, for one—

McIntyre was informal about dragging her date to the formal—is this the bathing beauty contest at Atlantic City, or wot?—someone says there's been a slump in Ritcher's fan mail—when and if a certain junior flaunts a grey suede jacket—latest showing of smart spring styles these sunny Sundays.

Elise and Mary Jo went Athens last week end and lived to tell the tale—Daisy headed Florida-wise with a sprained ankle—boy, those dances ought to do it up right—how're your aesthetic ideals today?

Officials Had

... the right idea when they posted the names of candidates for offices as soon as they could be approved instead of waiting for the deadline date for nominees.

Despite the fact that some people thought posting the names early would cause a lot of dirty politicking, students, to date, seem to be frankly discussing qualifications of candidates instead of trying underhand "grape vine" means.

Maybe we only noticed it because we were looking for it, but the last election seemed to us one of the cleanest yet most spirited ones we've witnessed on the campus.

Now, we need some platforms to publish and we'll be happy.

How True

... was the editor of THE WEST GEORGIAN in complacently asserting that they were indulging "a little in the well known human fallacy of patting their own backs" over their streamlining ventures. THE WEST GEORGIAN is under the delusion that we of THE CANOPY and they of THE EMORY WHEEL gathered courage from THE WEST GEORGIAN'S notable success, before trying streamlining for ourselves.

A fallacy it most surely is for the "great school of Genola" to assume the title of "FIRST ON THE FIELD" of all Georgia schools, in streamlining. THE CAMPUS CANOPY did not change to this new form of newspaper makeup in the middle of the year—the change was made with the fourth edition of THE CANOPY, October 23, just after the editor had exchanged opinions concerning it at the ACP National Convention in Chicago.

From the November bulletin of the Georgia Collegiate Press Association, we quote the following statement: "THE CAMPUS CANOPY thus becomes the first college publication in Georgia to take up streamlining."

How the WEST GEORGIAN staff overlooked this fact is beyond our comprehension.—C.J.M.

Jane Withers Practices First Aid Technique On Stuart Erwin

By Carolyn Greene

Try It On Dog technique reversed! When Stuart Erwin suffered a cut finger on the CHECKERS set, Jane Withers begged to be allowed to officiate as first-aid nurse. With a studio nurse watching, Jane's wish was granted and she was given antiseptic and bandage to use on Erwin.

"Thanks, Jane," he said when the job was done, "but why were you so anxious to try out your bandage technique on me? Have you joined the Girl Scouts or something?"

"Oh, no," replied Jane. "I just like to do it. The practice will come in handy some day in case any of the dogs or other pets at home get hurt!"

Craziest Story

The craziest story of the week to me is the plot of I MET MY LOVE AGAIN—that story where Joan Bennett, engaged to Henry Fonda, elopes with Alan Marshall—and it takes a chance meeting years later to make her realize that she loved Fonda all the time—The puzzle is how she could have been so stupid so long!

Thrill of a Lifetime

Dorothy Lamour of the dark tresses is to co-star with blond Leif Ericson (husband of Frances Farmer) in the picture THRILL OF A LIFETIME.

Perhaps You

... read as we did, some time ago that a great many of the improvements made on the railways were accomplished by people who had no connection with that field of work. As well as having foresight, these people knew nothing of the technicalities of that field and were not hampered by thinking that perhaps their ideas might not work out.

"Fools rush in where angels fear to tread, and so, holding our breath, we are about to suggest an improvement in educational technique. We may not be right, but we have the courage to forward a suggestion.

It seems that much valuable time is wasted in class by instructors calling on students who have not prepared the lesson. Taking a long chance that they will not be found out, the victims not infrequently flounder around for a suitable reply which gets neither them nor the class in general anywhere.

Whether through neglect or circumstances, students sometimes have to attend class unprepared. Some instructors accept the fact for what it's worth, while others, horror stricken, indulge in nice bits of sarcasm or protracted reprimanda. Whatever method is used, time is lost.

How do you think it would work, if when a student must attend class without having studied, she left a note signifying this on the instructor's desk? Then she would be able to get something out of the class discussion and not sit through 55 minutes of fear and trembling that her sins would find her out and she would not waste anyone's time.

Don't you think that such a system would also force the student to keep up in her work, for too many unprepared slips would, of course, invite the professor's criticism. Nevertheless, we do feel that some such arrangement is necessary.

When this author wrote an editorial on fire drills, she was immediately given the position of fire chief in her dormitory. This is not a plea for a teaching position. Such an idle thought, however, might materialize into something really worthwhile.—C.J.M.

Dear Editor

A few days ago I was talking to a Dean's List student who was very perturbed about cutting classes. She said that even though she was placed on the honor list at the end of the quarter and was automatically granted the privilege of cutting next quarter, she did not feel free to do so even when she had a good reason.

She complained that the teachers did not approve of purposely skipping classes and did not think as highly of a student nor her work when she cut.

After all, the student has earned the privilege by her outstanding record, she presumably does extra outside work, and teachers should not take her absence as a personal slam.

This problem confronts each one of the Dean's List students. What can be done to lessen the tension in such a situation?

Sincerely,

A STUDENT.

Fine Arts Members Make Trip

Fine Arts Club members left early this morning for a two-day trip to the Ravine Gardens at Palatka, and to St. Augustine, Florida.

The GSWC "tourists" will spend Saturday morning in Jacksonville; Saturday afternoon at the Azalea Gardens and will come back to St. Augustine to spend the night.

Tour of St. Augustine
Sunday will be devoted to an extensive tour of historical St. Augustine. Besides visiting famous spots, the girls plan to "snoop" around in the small antique shops and colorful Spanish sites.

Members on the trip are Ernie Isbell, Carolyn Folsom, Ruth Garbutt, Kathryn Thomason, Yolande Coppage, Martha Powell, Dollie Gannon, Elizabeth Wade, Eugenia Hardy, Wilmot Green, Lois Green, Miss Ruth Carpenter, club adviser, and Miss Evelyn Deariso are also in the group, as are Mrs. Jamie Carrol, Mrs. L. A. Singleton, Mrs. Paul B. Thomason and Miss Margaret Wade.

Lambdas And Kappas Share Honors

Lambdas and the Kappas shared honors in the volleyball and American ball games on Tuesday. The Lambdas easily walked away with both volleyball games, but were out of luck with the American ball games; the Kappas came through with a score of 2-0.

Outstanding Players
Outstanding players in the volleyball games were: Lambdas Margaret Abernathy, Cornelia Coker, Kathleen Campbell, Linda Sumner and Katherine Mundy. Kappas: Ann Parham, Evelyn Brim, Hazel Vickers.

In American ball, the Kappa lineup was supported by Marion Smith, Ruth Reid, Sara Mackey and Lena Strickland, while the Lambdas outstanding teamsters were Dora Ida Perkins, Annie Adams, Frances Hug and Martha Wilkes.

International Situation Is Unpredictable

At the present time the international situation is in such a mess that it is practically impossible to "keep up", besides anticipating coming events. To what extent British prestige has been injured by the events that preceded Eden's resignation as foreign minister cannot be determined for a long while.

At any rate, Hitler has an even firmer grip on Germany at the present time than he has had before and from all appearances he intends to keep it.

Roosevelt is busy trying to keep the recession from getting any worse and stimulate business to overcome the temporary backward slide of the past weeks. A great many people agree with the president's point of view that the main difficulty is psychological.

Senator Ashurst
In a news story last week, an amusing story of Senator Ashurst, of Arizona, is told. The senator was discussing the quantity of complaints that comes to Congress every year in the form of new bills. Commenting upon this, Mr. Ashurst said that a lot of the bills were unnecessary and that there were not so many things wrong fundamentally.

In his opinion, people just like to complain.

Two Students Hold University Scholarship

Chancellor S. V. Sanford, of the University System, announced last week that 162 students are enrolled in Georgia's University System on scholarship awards made possible by the State Board of Regents.

Two of the 162 students are Louise Joiner, Pinehurst, Ga., and Sara Sims, Ousley, Ga., who are enrolled at this college.

The scholarships are for one year, are equivalent to tuition fees and are awarded any freshman who has graduated from an accredited Georgia high school with first honors.

Dr. Sanford said the Board of Regents last June authorized this scholarships to encourage the most promising students to enter college and complete their education.

Tentative Plans Are Announced For Senior Trip

Tentative plans have been made for the annual Senior trip which is scheduled to take place immediately after Spring Holidays. The seniors will leave either March 22 or 23, and remain in New Orleans for the remainder of the week, where they will be registered at the Roosevelt Hotel.

New Orleans has been the holiday city of the last two senior classes. Thus the campus has been steeped with tales of New Orleans and every senior expects high adventure during her stay there.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank Reade will chaperone.

Gregory Deane Plays Leading Role In Play

Mr. Gregory Deane, playing the part of the queen's husband, was a complete evening's entertainment in his characterization in "The Queen's Husband," presented Thursday, February 24, by the Student Artist Series.

American Repertory Theatre
The American Repertory Theatre, of which Mr. Deane is company manager as well as leading actor, gave Robert E. Sherwood's satirical comedy in a pleasing and well cast performance.

The entire supporting cast was excellent and won the approval of the audience. Barbara Benedict who played the part of the queen, and Robert Oberreich, the footman, were exceptionally good.

AAUW Meeting

The AAUW held its regular monthly meeting Thursday afternoon, March 3, at the Valdese Hotel. Dr. Marian Farbar spoke on the subject of "The Regulation of Child Labor Under the NRA and Under the Child Labor Amendment." Miss Gladys Warren and Dr. Nevins acted as hostesses.

Sunday Tea

Sunday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock the Freshman Commission entertained at a tea in the Rotunda. Hostesses were Evelyn Brim, Sarah Gibbs and Louise Joiner. Miss Marjorie Carter and Frances Middleton poured the tea. A delightful program was presented in which Edith Bennett sang "At Dawning," Mary Ann Paulk gave a piano solo, "The Pines," Eleanor Morgan sang "I Love You Truly," and Annie Lee Hardy gave a musical reading entitled "Song of the Market Place."

Freshman Tea Dance

Freshmen gave a tea dance in the Recreation Hall, Friday afternoon. Curtis Davidson's orchestra furnished music from 4:30 to 6:30.

At Educator's Meeting

Dr. Harold H. Punke is attending a National Educator's meeting in Atlantic City, New Jersey.

Wymodausis Meeting

Miss Louise Sawyer and Mrs. John Odum led the discussion of the play "Of Mice and Men" at the Valdosta Wymodausis Club meeting Monday afternoon.

Music Appreciation

The Freshman Honor Society has arranged that a series of Music Appreciation Hours will be given each Sunday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock in the Rotunda. Mr. Gatewood Workman, of Emory Junior, will be in charge. Sunday afternoon, March 6, he will play recordings of a symphony by Cesar French. There will be several additional short selections by great composers.

Vesper Program

The Freshman Commission will be in charge of Vesper service Sunday night. A very interesting and helpful program has been planned. We seem prone to forget that our own girls have religious services on campus and we sometimes forget to help them by giving a few minutes of our time to attend their services.
