Margas Chosen At Assembly; Pine Cone To Feature Them

Elected by their classmates in Assembly February 16 as the "Most All Round Girls" Miss Betty Buckner Sophomore Class, Miss Jo Ann Story, Junior Class, and Miss Mary Elinore Crea, Senior Class.

"Marga" is well on the way to becoming a tradition at GSWC. Sponsored by the Freshman and Senior Honor Societies, this is the second year "Margas" have been chosen.

The basis for selection are dependability, leadership, cooperation, and scholarship.

Dance Is Planned By Philharmonic

A conflict in the social calendar has necessitated the Philharmonic Club to change their dance plans. Formerly scheduling a barn dance, the Club now will sponsor an informal dance immediately following the Emory Junior Glee Club Concert, Saturday night, March 5. The dance will be held in the dining hall and admission price will be twenty cents stag and thirty-five couple.

Proceeds from the dance will be used by the Club to sponsor the appearance of Miss Frances Lehnertz, mezzo-contralto, here next quarter.

Widely travelled, Miss Lehnertz has sung in oratorio, concert, and opera, both in the States and abroad. She has given command performances for the Crown Prince of Sweden and for Jan Sibelius at his hon in Finland.

The program will include a thirty minute music appreciation lecture by Mr. Edward Byron, noted organist and lecturer of Jacksonville, Florida, and Miss Lehnertz' selections will include works of Schubert, Schumann, and Brahms.

Miss Lehnertz' accompanist will be Mr. George Kennedy, who is a professional accompanist and organist in Jacksonville, Florida.

Miss Annolene Bone, president of the Philharmonic Club, has appointed the members of the club on the decorating, advertising, and refreshment committees for the dance.

Miss Roberts, from Columbus and president of her class, is active in the Sports Club, BSU, and the Sock and Buskin Club. As president she serves as head of the House Councilors in Converse Hall.

Miss Betty Buckner is president of her class also. From Montezuma, Miss Buckner is a member of the Math-Science Club, Freshman Honor Society, and Sociology Club. She is the recently elected Vice President of the Y. W. C. A. and has served on the "Y" Cabinet for the past year as cochairman of Morning Watch.

Miss Jo Ann Story, Junior Class "Marga," is treasurer of the Sports Club, secretary of the Business Club, and a member of the Math-Science Club and Chapel Choir. Albany is her home town.

Publications have been Miss Crea's strongest extra-curricular interest at G. S. W. C. From College Park, she is editor of the CAMPUS CANOPY, was Associate Editor of the CANOPY last year, and has been a member of the paper's staff since she entered college. Last year she was a Lay-out Editor of the PINE CONE and this year she is a Copy (Continued on Page Three)

First Meet Held By Language Club

The Romance Language Club held its first meeting of this school year Thursday night, February 24. Inactive since Spring Quarter of last year, the Club has reorganized and will hold regular monthly meetings.

The officers of the Club, Miss Irene Wilson, president, and Miss Margaret Smith, secretary-treasurer, have announced that the programs for the remainder of this year will include a study of France and Spain—customs, habits, and other interesting phases of French and Spanish life.

The qualifications for becoming a member of the Romance Language Club are a "C" average and an active interest in the Romance Languages.

Concert Planned By Emory Junior Glee Club Mar. 5

The Glee Club of Emory Junior College, Valdosta, will present its annual concert in the GSWC auditorium Saturday night, March 5. The concert this year is sponsored by the Business Club and admission price will be fifty and seventy-five cents. Starting time is set for 8:15 p. m.

Martin Daniel, president of the organization has announced that the program will be divided into three parts: Folk and semi-classical music; a section containing solos, quartets, and the sextet; and the popular "Club Emory." Mrs. Persis Clark is to be the guest soloist and Mr. James Dasher is Director of the group.

In the first section will be included "The Liberty Bell," "The Soldier's Chorus," "The Blacksmith" and "Dance the Cachucha."

As soloists Martin Daniel, George Smith, and Botie Chitty will sing; Billy Cook will play the saxophone; and Jimmy Tucker, the accordionist.

The quartet will sing "Chewing Gum," and the sextet will sing the "Sextet from Lucia De Lammermoor."

Class Displays Literary Ability

"Watch Those Curves!" is the name of the play the Health Class will present at Assembly, March 2. An original script, written by members of the Class, has as its directors Misses Betty Bishop and Jean Rackley.

The Health Class, under the supervision of Mrs. Frances Hopkins, will enact the play. Included in the cast are Misses Betty Withrow, Jean Stewart, Doris Gothard, Sarah Parker, Margaret Looper, Bobbie Watson, Dorothy Stover, and Margaret Fiveash.

Sock And Buskin Will Present 'Our Town' Mar. 9-10 At GSWC

"Our Town," a serious comedy by Thornton Wilder, will be presented by the Sock and Buskin Club and the Emory Guild Players on March 9 and 10 in the GSWC auditorium at 8:15 p. m. The play is being directed by Miss Louise Sawyer.

Included in the cast are: Stage Manager, Mr. Frederick Wilson; Dr. Gibbs, Mr. Linton Cox; Joe Crowell, Tommy Musgrove; Howie Newsome, Ralph Calhoun; Mrs. Gibbs, Miss Ann Smith; Mrs. Webb, Miss Gloria Johnson; George Gibbs, Gerald Wadsworth; Rebecca Gibbs, Miss Kathryn Hill; Wally Webb, Harold Gulliver, Jr.; Emith Webb, Miss Mary John Rodgers; Professor Willard, Mr. A. E. Erwin; Mr. Webb, Bill Parmenter.

Woman In Balcony, Miss Gwen Taylor; Lady in Box, Miss Mary Holder; Simon Stimson, George Smith; Mrs. Soames, Miss Jean Tucker; Constable Warren, Ralph Thompson; Joe Stoddard, Jack Humphreys; First Dead Woman, Miss Ruth Dinkins; Second Dead Woman, Miss Mary Kate Morgan;

Student Government Association officers were chosen by the student body at GSWC in an election held on Thursday, February 24. They are Miss Polly Mann, first vice-president; Miss Edwina Ford, second vice-president; Miss Mary Brand, secretary-treasurer; and Miss Sue Belloft, extra-curricular activities chairman.

The election was conducted by members of the Student Council. Nominations for SGA officers were made by the students and were approved by Dr. Ralph Thaxton, Acting President of GSWC, and by the Student Council.

Miss Mary Owen, president-elect, has been an active member of the Student Government Association at GSWC, having served on the dormitory House Council her Sophomore year and as first vice-president of SGA this year. She is also a member of the Senior Honor Society, the International Relations Club, the League of Women Voters, the Fine Arts Club, the Sock and Buskin Club, and the PINE CONE staff. Miss Owen has been particularly outstanding in the work of the Sock and Buskin Club and played one of the leading roles in their Fall quarter

June 13 Is Date Of Summer Term

Plans for the 1949 Summer Session at GSWC have been announced by Dr. J. Ralph Thaxton, Acting President.

The Summer Session offers teachers an excellent opportunity to work toward higher certificates or, if certificates have lapsed, to reinstate them.

Dormitory housing will be available for women students. Men will be admitted as day students only.

Courses to be offered this Summer include: Survey of Art; Field Biology; Educational Psychology; Elementary Curriculum Methods; Visual Aide in Education; Literary England; Southern Literature; Biography; American National Government; Recent History of the United States; Reference and Bibliography (Library Science); Administrative Practices (Library Science); Contemporary Georgia; and Marriage and the Family.

Room, board, laundry, and academic fee for the summer session will be $96.00. Non-boarding students will be charged the academic fee only, $25.00. Out-of-state students pay an additional fee of $50.00. All payments must be (Continued on Page Three) production, "Brief Music." She has also been elected Junior Class Beauty and her picture will be featured in the 1949 PINE CONE.

Chosen as first vice-president is Miss Polly Mann. An outstanding member of the Sophomore Class, Miss Mann holds membership in the YWCA Cabinet, the B. S. U. Council, the Freshman Honor Society, and the Sports Club Council. Last year Miss Mann served as secretary-treasurer of her Freshman Class.

Miss Edwina Ford, selected second vice president, is a member of the YWCA Cabinet, the Home Economics Club, the B. S. U. Council, and the Sports Club. Miss Mary Brand, secretary-treasurer, is chairman of the Sophomore Council of the YWCA and has recently been elected secretary-treasurer of the YWCA for the coming year. She is also a member of the Math-Science Club and the Sports Club.

MISS MARY OWEN

Elected chairman of extra-curricular activities, Miss Sue Belloft, a Junior, is president of the Glee Club, a member of the Sereaders, vice-president of the Sociology Club, and a member of the YWCA Cabinet and the Sock and Buskin Club.

The new SGA officers will be installed at a student body meeting on Thursday, March 24.

Do You Have An Average Average?

Some interesting facts have been revealed through a survey made in the registrar's office of the academic average for last quarter of members of various campus clubs.

Do we have too many clubs? Does the number of clubs and their time-consuming activities have anything to do with the quality of academic work done by club members? And—the question can be reversed—does the academic standing of the members have an effect on the quality of the club? Of course, here we must remember that academic standing is the point of consideration for membership in some clubs. The Freshman and Senior Honor Societies and the Math-Science Club chose their members on a scholarship basis. The scholastic average for members of these clubs for last quarter are respectively 2.2, 2.5, and 1.8.

For the other clubs, those whose membership depend on a major or on an interest or talent, the averages are lower. Each of these clubs has several members who are in Group III, since students in Group III can still hold three club memberships. Perhaps the advisability of this rule may be questioned. Three club memberships for a person with an average below "C," if the clubs are especially demanding on a member's time, may be too many.

An interesting point in the survey was that clubs with a large Freshman membership had averages lower than those composed of upperclassmen. The Business Club and Home Economics Club, which invite majors to membership when they are Freshmen, have averages of 1.1 and 1.3, while the Sociology Club—open to Junior and Senior majors has an average of 1.6, as does the I. R. C.—open to history majors who are upperclassmen. The reason for this is not difficult to discern. The students in the Freshman class who have the lowest averages as a rule either drop out of school before reaching Senior College, or they drop club memberships (voluntarily or because of the point system) which require time needed for studying.

There is no great difference in the average of clubs in which a special talent is required for membership and in the departmental clubs. For example, the averages for the Fine Arts Club, the Dance Club, the Sock and Buskin Club, and the Philharmonic Club are 1.4, 1.6, 1.4, and 1.5.

SHANNON'S WAY

By A. J. Cronin

Shannon's Way is the story of Robert Shannon, a doctor in his twenties, who put his keen interest in medical research ahead of anything else in life.

Robert was able to secure a medical education only because his great-grandfather left him just enough money for the purpose. With the help of a fellowship award, he secured his degree at the age of twenty-four. He became one of the three assistants of Professor Usher in the Department of Experimental Pathology at the University. With his burning ambition of a silent and retiring nature, he hoped to find by research the explanation for current epidemics in the British Isles and elsewhere loosely classified as influenza. He was to face many obstacles, for some of which he himself would be to blame, beginning with selfish and opportunist viewpoint of his superior in the department.

There is Jean Law, first his student, later his inspiration, but separated from him by a gulf relating to religion and wide as eternity. The crisis in their lives carry the reader from the heights of ecstasy to the pit of despair.

Robert's aim was to isolate the bacillus causing the epidemics, to check its relation to undulant fever, and to develop a preventive vaccine. He was hampered on every side by countless difficulties, unfair treatment, outmoded equipment and even by the lack of the necessities of life. He was content merely to exist so that he might continue his glorious experiments.

Again Dr. Cronin shows his extraordinary ability as a story teller and his sympathetic understanding of human emotions and weaknesses. The excellent novel is heart-stirring and gives a richly rewarding experience.

PEONY

By Pearl S. Buck

Pearl Buck has added another beautiful and notable woman to her gallery of heroines. Peony, a handmaid, one who is more than a servant, less than a daughter, was sold as a child into the rich house of the Jew, Ezra ben Israel, in China. She grows into a lovely child and falls in love with her master's son, David, who is the only son of the house. Tradition forbids her to be his wife. She and David have been constant companions and playmates since her arrival at the age of eight when he was ten. When the two have reached the age of seventeen and nineteen, the mistress realizes she must make Peony understand her position and forbids her to enter David's room again and does not allow David to enter Peony's. The story is built upon Peony's attempts to deal with her love and to control her destiny.

Much of what happens is taken from actual occurrences in China about a hundred years ago. But history is enriched by the quick wit, delicate perceptions, the warmth of an exquisite Chinese girl, who in her own fashion chose love above all the other gifts life might have given her.

Ten Years Ago In The Canopy

By MARGARET SMITH

Author On Campus

Mrs. Marjorie Kinnan Rawlings, author of the best seller, THE YEARLING, was entertained at a tea in the Rotunda.

Special At Carl's

Carl's Grill, now Jack's—and has been King's, offered strawberry shortcake with ice cream and whipped cream on top during one week, for the price of one nickel and an ad in the Canopy.

Only One

In a recent survey, only one Sophomore indicated a preference for marriage as a career.

Some hungry students took all the Carl's ad from the extra copies of the CANOPY in the CANOPY office.

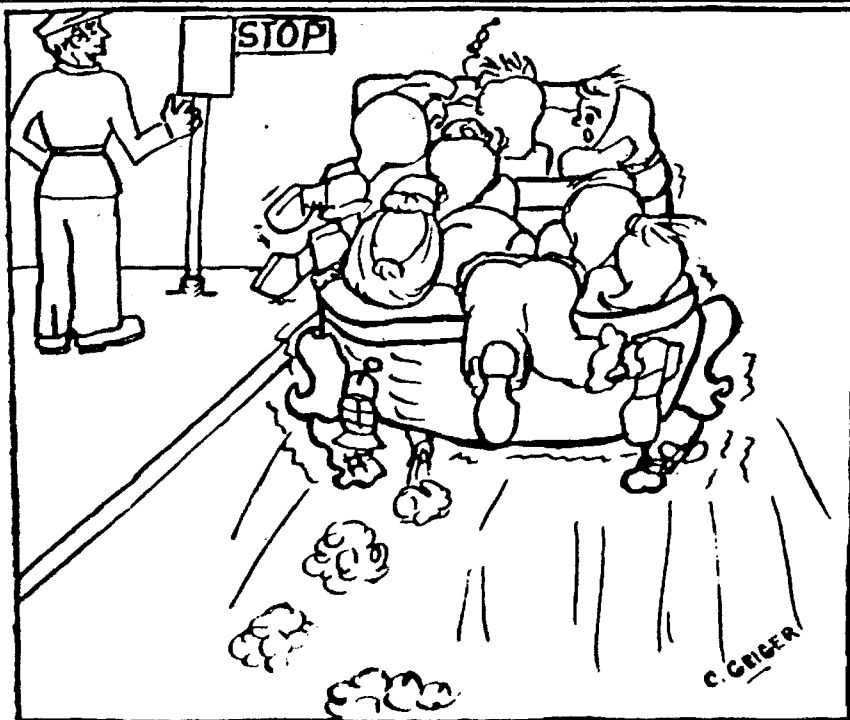

Inflation Is Here

Ten years ago the prices at the Ritz were ten and twenty-five cents for the matinee and evening performances. Student tickets were only fifteen cents until 6 p. m.

Bowling was only ten cents a game, too.

More Shortcake

A careful study of the "shortcake for an ad" situation in town disclosed that the reason Carl's could afford to offer the "free" shortcake was that they had many other ads for shortcake in town.

"I Pledge"

I really don't know how I happened to get on this subject. It just came to me as I was reading my little "Pocketbook of Verse" and stumbled across -

"Breathes there a man with soul so dead,
Who never to himself hath said,
'This is my own, my native land!'"

You know how the remainder of the poem is written, I guess all of us have an idea of the gist of it.

Today is not Flag Day or even any general's birthday but nevertheless let us have a little thought about the state of our patriotism.

The economists and Well Streeters attempt to frighten us with "DEFLATION," "INFLATION," and even "DISFLATION." They would like for us to get on that "Slow Boat to China" but I ask you, WHY? After all, manufacturing has finally caught up with consumers, even prices are down to what they were in '46, however, some pessimistic folks want to instill in us one idea, "DEPRESSION." Don't you believe them!!

If we allow ourselves to be swept along in the crowd that never seems to think about the many debts they owe their country, the heritage, freedom, glory, the fact that it IS their country and their native land, then what difference does it make if we have a depression or even another war? Be thankful for the home and claim that we have on these United States. I admonish you to think!!!

As children, we grew up not knowing that there was any kind of government other than democracy. Now we know differently. We have seen what dictatorship can do. We were taught the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag, now as you read this, I dare you to say that Pledge, word for word . . . I thought so, that's how much it meant to us as children. Now, when it ought to mean more than ever, we have forgotten it.

During the recent war we wrote, "V for Victory" . . . was printed everywhere, we displayed patriotism beyond bounds—tell me—where is it now? The war is over, life is not, let us get our mouldy "love for our country" out and brush it off, give it a spring cleaning and USE it. Our country needs us and assuredly we need her. We can give her our devotion, loyalty, love and honor and in return she will give us love, protection, better living, and heritage for our children.

Sir Walter Scott was right—

"This is my own, my native land!"

"Sugar and Spice and . . ."

What does it mean to be a Marga? What are the qualifications that go into the making of this all-round person? You probably asked yourself these questions when you voted for your Marga and the girl you chose is a living example of what you consider Marga to be.

First of all, perhaps, she is liked by her fellow classmates, not passively, but actively. She is respected. She is a leader. She is dependable, cooperative. She has learned the fine art of living with people, of giving and taking in just the right amounts. She doesn't stick with her own little group and its activities, but is active in all groups and is there to help whenever help is needed. She doesn't play all the time, neither does she work to the exclusion of all the fun in life. She is an all-round person.

The institution of Marga is relatively new here at GSWC, being initiated only last year. It is new, but we hope that it has awakened you to the importance of Marga qualifications in your life here at school and in your life in your community. Let's have more people striving toward the Marga goal! Let's have more Margas!

Uppers Trough Freshmen 2-1

With Referee Doris Bateman sounding the whistle, the Freshmen-Upperclassmen Soccer game began. When the teams got into position and the ball was in play, the Frosh took charge of the game and moved the ball steadily down the field.

Sister Griffin scored the one Frosh point on a forfeit kick. Both teams had one aim in mind—make a goal or keep the other team from making one. Fancy passing—sideways, headlong—saw the ball passed from Alderman to Briggs to Bennet to Tuten to score even though the Freshmen backfield fought mightily.

The Freshmen gave the Upper backfield a fight with Goalie Heisler on the lookout to see that no other points were scored.

As the game ended, the score showed Uppers, 2 and Frosh, 1.

The various averages compiled in this survey bring to mind more forcibly questions that have been discussed before.

What do these clubs contribute to their members? Are they worth the time they require? If we had fewer clubs—either through combining clubs or eliminating some—would we possibly have more profitable organizations? If more clubs emphasized scholastic standing might this also be of help in encouraging students to improve their academic average?

Students interested in improving campus organizations should consider these questions carefully. Spring quarter is election time at GSWC and offers an excellent opportunity for introducing new ideas into club work as the organization begins its new year.

Frosh - Uppers Tie In Basketball

Much speculation preceded the Freshman-Upperclassman basketball game last Wednesday and the two teams, evenly matched, played a thrilling game which ended in a tie.

The uppers started the game with the toss to center and the game began. In the first quarters of the game the Frosh took the lead with Ruth Miller and June Pitman driving the score upward, while the Freshman guards skillfully kept the Upper forwards from scoring.

After the half there was a change in line up and the game continued. Here the Uppers began to fight around, below, and over the heads of the Freshmen guards evening up the score. Ansley scored 11 points while McDonald and Sherla Miller tossed in seven points.

As the final whistle blew, the game ended with a score of 18-18.

SPORTS SIDELIGHTS

By BETTY WATERS

Tennis Tourney

The tennis tournament schedule is posted and some of the brackets have already been completed. It's a good idea to get the games played off while this good weather is keeping the courts dry. Be sure to play off your match as soon as possible. And those who aren't playing ought to get out and watch some of those hard-fought battles.

"T" Shirts

Speaking of the weather—it's gettin' kinda warm, isn't it? Think you'd like a "T" shirt, huh? Well, yes ma'am, you can have one—for the price of only one cabbage leaf (and don't some intelligent person bring us the vegetable variety!) Dormitory representatives are in charge of the sale of the shirts and they will be around to your nook in the near future to sell you one.

The shirts have "G. S. W. C." stamped on them in red ink. They're really pretty, so get out your allowance and see if it will stand the price of one shirt.

It sure does get warm around lian Patterson, Miss Mildred Price, and Mr. Clifton H. White.

The Session will be for one term only, beginning on June 13 and terminating on July 22. During this time a maximum of ten quarter hours may be earned, or a student may register for one course only.

Golf Tournament

The golf tournament seems to be heading for the finals. The Sports Club is hoping to get it completed by the end of February so that means that all of the dangling matches must be played off as soon as possible.

To put in a plug for Golf—it really is a good game, not too strenuous or tiring. Anyone can play it with a little practice, and, after all, you only have to put a little ball in a little cup. Sounds simple to me.

Frosh-Upper Games

We really got a treat Wednesday . . . the Frosh-Upper Games. Everyone seemed to be having a lot of fun. Write-ups of the games are elsewhere on this page . . . look and see your name in print, maybe.

Calendars

Remember to keep you Sports Club Calendars up to date. The end of the quarter is fast a comin' and you don't want to be left behind on chances of getting a letter this year. Someone will be around to take up the calendars all to soon so chalk up those hours!

Trip Called Off

We sure do hate to say it, but the Tallahassee trip has been cancelled. Many conflicts have come up which will prevent the "Sports Day" from being held as planned this year. They're planning on an event for next year, though, so keep your fingers crossed!

Fashion Editor Wanted

DO YOU LIKE AND WEAR CLOTHES WELL?

HAVE YOU A PLEASING PERSONALITY?

ARE YOU MAJORING IN JOURNALISM?

HAVE YOU A FLAIR FOR WRITING?

ARE YOU ACTIVE SOCIALLY?

If you possess any or all of these qualifications, Luke Bros. will be interested in you and your part time services.

The person qualifying will write editorials of fashions as she sees them in her periodical visits to Luke Bros. newly created department for women, misses, juniors and teen-agers, to be opened soon.

The person or writer selected will be given in way of recompense, a completely co-ordinated outfit for sportswear, including hosiery and shoes. She will also from time to time be supplied with fashion importants as befitting a fashion editor representing Luke Bros. ladies apparel department, destined, we believe to be Valdosta's foremost fashion center for all feminine Valdosta.

Applicants to qualify must first write her personal reactions and views, as she sees them after visiting Luke Bros. NEW FASHION FLOOR for women on its opening days.

Applicants will be judged by their journalistic ability . . . descriptiveness, a certain fashion sense evidenced in her editorial.

Who knows, perhaps this may bring out your latent talents and have an important bearing on your future . . . Regardless, you'll have fun writing of Valdosta's smartest fashions.

"Wish Book" Ramblings

By MAMIE BELLE JORDAN

Every morning immediately after Spanish class, I make a mad rush for the dormitory to see what the mail carrier has left for me. I get a letter every day—well, almost every day. All right, so I get one once a week! But that doesn't keep me from EXPECTING one every day.

Yesterday morning I had a thrill even greater than a letter. The catalog came! My roommate and I agreed that the coming of the "wish book" was the most outstanding mail of the week.

We always use the catalog to order our little necessities, and so last night we wasted no time in thumbing through this one to decide what we need most. Above all else, we wanted to order some things to improve the looks of our room.

Just as I reached for a pencil to start filling in the order blank, the lights went out. After a futile search for the flashlight, we resumed our perusal of the catalog by the faint glow of a cigarette lighter, and promptly decided on a beautiful revolving chandelier, equipped with its own generator.

Next, we turned to the Venetian blinds. The sun has never had a chance to peep into our window, since the room is on the "dark" side of the world, but a few people have. Then too, a Venetian blind makes a wonderful clothes drier, hanging just above the radiator.

That reminded us of the tiring task of washing clothes, so we had a look at the washing machines. There was a cute one which we figured would fit nicely between the dresser and the wash bowl. We couldn't figure out what it meant by "manually operated" but I suppose we'll find out when it comes.

The ironing board that we chose can be used for two purposes; when we are through ironing, we can use it for a dining table on the days we prepare our own meals. I insisted that we get one of those compact kitchen units, but my roommate refused. She was afraid I'd install it in HER closet.

The only other item that seemed to be a necessity was a folding bath tub. We get tired of going to the other end of the hall for a bath. With a folding bath tub, Saturday night will be no problem at all.

Very few people make out an order for necessities only, and we were no exception. There were several little luxuries that we simply could not resist.

So many people have told us we sing well together that we decided on some musical instruments to enhance our vocals. My roommate ordered a steel guitar, and I, a five-string banjo. "Music hath charms to soothe the savage beast," you know. I still wonder if it will work in Senior Hall.

Since our chairs are all "shot," we had to decide on an easy chair that would go well with the other furniture. The one we liked best was a No-Sag platform rocker. Its washable, cherry-red, plastic upholstery will stand a lot of wear and tear, stain and strain.

I can hardly wait for our things to come! I'd go out right now and mail the order, but neither of us can afford a three-cent stamp!

HESTITATION

By JINN SMITH

I was really just walking in the park, minding my own business. In fact, I was actually enjoying my stroll until I was approached by this man.

No, I wouldn't exactly call it a direct advance, but one could tell he was out to "sell" something. But I was determined it was not going to be me who did the paying. Of course, with a certain amount of persuasion, no matter how strong the fortitude of the victim, a girl's head can be turned. What I did was something any other girl, under the same circumstances would have done. No, I don't regret it in the least.

I'm sure you would agree with me. Well, to illustrate my point, it went something like this:

I said, "No!"
He said, "Yes!"
I said, "Indeed not, sir."
He said, "Oh, please."
I said, "Definitely not!"
He replied, "Why not?"
I answered, "I haven't the time."
He said, "Don't spurn me, Madam."

I said, "Well, not today—tomorrow, maybe."

He said, "Tomorrow—why not now?"

I said, "Well . . ."

He said, "You'll never understand how much this means to me."

So . . . at last, I admit I said, "Yes, yes, yes!"

And that's how I subscribed to the National Horseman Magazine!

Concert Planned

Song." Hamp Watson will sing "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp," Jimmy Tucker will add spice to the evening with a dance, and Jesse Jones will sing the "The Gay Caballero."

The program will be ended with the chorus singing the Emory Alma Mater and the Star Spangled Banner.

GUESS WHO?

By GLORIA JOHNSON

This one will be quite easy: This senior is known by all. With hair of brown and eyes of blue, She's somewhat slender and tall.

She uses the paint brush very well, She's as smart as you ever saw, She seems to be liked by everyone, And what she says is law!

This junior is also rather tall, And pretty as she can be, Her hair is black, her eyes are brown, And she's friendly, as you can see.

It seems that she uses her vocal cords For something enjoyed by all, And this you can look out for: She has no "Southern drawl."

Answer to "Guess Who" in last issue: Thad Pitt and Melba Moon.

Y. W. C. A. Installs Officers, Cabinet

Thursday night, March 3 marks the date of the "Y" installation. Recently elected by the student body, the new officers will officially begin their terms of office.

The ceremony will begin at 6:45 in the Rotunda. Both the new and the old members of the Cabinet will take part in the service.

The new officers to be installed are Miss Eloise Yancey, president; Miss Betty Buckner, vice-president; Miss Sylvia Johnson, associate vice-president; Miss Mary Brand, secretary; and Miss Jackie Norton, treasurer.
