Sigma Alpha Omega Sorority

By PEGGY STEWART

We feel sure that you have been asked and undoubtedly have asked yourself, "Why join a sorority?" To help you answer this question we want to tell you the purposes, aims and short history of the Sigma Alpha Omega sorority.

It is realized that sororities are not necessary to guarantee either success or happiness in college; but for those who feel that they would like a closer relationship with congenial friends this sorority was formed.

The Sigma Alpha Omega sorority was founded during the month of December 1953, the founding members being the students pictured above. The sorority was organized not to form cliques or to create an undemocratic atmosphere, but to aid the college in every way in maintaining high scholastic and social standards, promote a greater interest in the college and to give each member fuller and richer experiences during her college days.

May we say that a sorority is not merely a social organization, but one that stands for high ideals. All sororities have one common purpose—to lend genuine aid to the members.

Rush week is now being planned for the benefit of those who are interested in the sorority. It will be an opportunity to enjoy yourself and to decide whether or not you would like to become a member. Talk it over with friends—Think about it carefully—and remember rush week is going to be fun, enjoy it and don't forget—you—and only you—can make your final decision.

The founding officers are:
 President—May May Porter
 Vice-Pres.—Jane Ledford
 Secretary—Leland Branch
 Treasurer—Betty Harvey
 Sergeant-at-Arms — Peggy Stewart
 Historian—Ksena Champion
 Chaplain—Ann Kirby
 Member-at-Large — Babs Thre-atte

We hope that this has given you a clearer picture of the purpose of a sorority on the campus of Valdosta State College. Only through your cooperation can this sorority be a success.

Shipwreck Dance

On February 27, 1954 the Junior Class sponsored a Shipwreck Dance. The fun began at 7:30 for the few who were there at that time. However, the majority of the guests did not arrive until about 8:30.

The dining hall was the setting for the occasion. It was decorated in a unique manner. A fish net made of crepe paper and entangled with paper fish was hung above the entrance. Below the net, the visitors entered the dance floor via a gang plank. Fish nets and life bouys were used for decoration on both sides. The posts were neatly decorated as palm trees. The north end of the room was adorned by a picture of a man aboard a raft of logs. There was also a picture at the south end of the same man on an island with a beautiful girl.

Chaperones were Dr. and Mrs. Durrenberger, Mrs. Odum, and Mr. Gabard. We are ever grate-

Delegates Report On I.R.C. Convention

The March meeting of the I.R.C. was held March 2 in the House-in-the-Woods with the president, Norman LaHood, presiding.

The roll was called and the minutes approved as read.

The officers were informed that a meeting of the executive board is to be held in April to consider officers for next year.

The I.R.C. convention in New York, April 19-24, was discussed and the president urged a large attendance, if possible.

The I.R.C. is sponsoring a Time magazine sale with the proceeds going to the war orphan in Europe sponsored by the club.

For the program, talks were given by the members who attended the I.R.C. convention in Statesboro. They were: Billie Wages, Marjorie Glenn, Bill Armonrode, Bob Dixon, Jaan Tief, E. J. Griner, Mrs. Sellers

Baptist Students Union Reorganizes

The Baptist Student Union held its reorganization meeting Monday night, March 1, at the House-in-the-Woods, with 31 people present.

The meeting was opened with a prayer by Rev. Jimmy Rodgers, pastor of First Baptist Church. Plans were discussed for a Hamburger fry at the next monthly meeting, which will be April 1. Susan Tullis is in charge of arrangements for this social. An interesting devotion was presented by Susan Bridges followed by a very inspiring talk by the guest speaker, Rev. Douglas Dillard from Atlanta. The topic of his talk was "Christian Living."

Recreation was led by Miss Barbara McElvey from Lee Street Church, after which punch and cookies were served in dining

CONSTRUCTION TO BEGIN SOON

Valdosta State To Receive Beautiful New Dining Hall

Before many months, V.S.C. will be eating in style, in one of the most impressive dining halls ever to grace any campus anywhere. Approximately 210 feet long, by 160 feet, this new building will be located directly behind Ashley Hall, and over seventy feet from the House-in-the-Woods. The architecture will be Spanish Mission. There will be one main front entrance and two smaller side entrances. Inside, there will be a spacious lobby with a flagstone floor. Two lounges will adjoin. The main dining room, which will seat 500 at once, will be in three parts: center, and side off-set sections, paralleling the center part. The kitchen will be furnished with stainless steel appliances which will be the most efficient money can buy. There will be other rooms such as the staff dining room, the employees dining room, not to mention cold-storage rooms, a bakery, and boiler rooms. Partitions will be built with proper methods of sound-proofing in mind. Decorations and furnishings will be of the latest and from the best possible.

Cost—approximately $200,000. Construction beginning, Spring, 1954. Construction ending, Summer 1955.

Home Ec-Art Club Elect New Officers

The monthly meeting of the Home Ec-Art Club was held on Wednesday, March 3, at the House-in-the-Woods, with President Susan Tullis presiding.

Plans were announced for the State Home Ec Convention, the 26th and 27th of March, to be held in Macon. Frankie Powell was chosen as official delegate and Nan Tyler, Ksena Champion, and Geneva Sheffield will also represent the Club.

The schedule for Career Day, which is being held April 1 and 2 in Atlanta, was announced and juniors and seniors will be able to attend this informative meeting which will help girls to secure their careers.

New officers were elected for new term which will be installed at April meeting. The officers are: Jannell Connell, President; Bob Dixon, Vice-President; Jean Ammons, Secretary; Ksena Champion, Treasurer, and Margie Smith, Historian.

A most enjoyable and informative program followed with a panel discussion on courtship and marriage. Nan Tyler was moderator and introduced members of the panel, who were: Dr. Dur-

English Club Kernels

At the sixth meeting of the English Club held Tuesday, March the ninth, John Nossick claimed the headlines by winning a book of poems for his dialogue, "Tent No. 5." If you are curious to judge the judges, who were the non-contestant members of the club, we suggest you read John's entry: it's published elsewhere in this issue, and deservedly. The votes were not unanimous, however, but sprinkled among five other entries: "The Hitchhiker," written and delivered by Verlon Grincer; "The Yellow Blouse," by May May Porter; "Nell Gets a Proposal," written by Ruth Clifton, absent, so read by Lovie Godwin, who was in the running herself with "This Is Life?"; and lastly, a "Characterization of Smaller Sister," by Wanda Bishop. Oh yes, Bob Greene was also slated to compete with his "Hitchhiker's Peril," but he must not have gotten a ride.

All of the stories were decidedly different, yet all of the try-outs got their gymnastics from Mrs. Odum's "Creative Writing Class", which was responsible for the program. Margie Glynn presided for the judgement and presentation of prizes.

DOME VIEWS

By THE EDITOR

The faculty minstrel was something. There was more life and spirit among the students that were present than at any other time this year. The Education Club is to be congratulated most highly for sponsoring it.

The Pine Cone Day has been suggested and recommended to the Faculty. It will be up to them to decide whether the plan can be worked out or not. If you are an officer in any of the clubs, fraternities, or classes on the campus, I ask that you discuss it with your group and sponsor and see how they think on the subject.

If you read this view, it will perhaps save your organization some money. The different classes on the campus this year have been paying out money to rent an amplifying system at their dances. I have found out from Mr. McCoy that the school owns a perfectly good one. It has been in storage, collecting dust, all this year. Any organization that wishes to use it can do so by signing and taking the responsibility for its care. This should add more profits to the class treasury from a dance. Let's not be bashful, let's USE it.

Plans are being made by the S.G.A. for the Home-Coming Week-end. The tentative plans now call for an informal dance on Friday night, a "bar-b-cue" on Saturday and a formal dance on Saturday. If any of the students have suggestions they would like to offer Susan Tullis or Claire Wiggins would appreciate hearing from you.

I am going to ask the Coca-Cola Company to give a bowling alley to V.S.C. You think that is an absurd idea? Well, I have it figured this way: A few of us in Senior Hall think that part of our college education is breaking and rolling coke bottles up and down the hall after twelve o'clock at night. By the looks of the floors the morning after, there must be one or two cases of bottles lost a week in this fashion. In a year's time, look at all the money that goes for bottles! Now if the Coca-Cola Company would give us a bowling alley for these people to do their rolling in, think of all the money they would save, and bottles, too. If we can't get the bowling alley, perhaps they would give some road maps and train tickets in behalf of the faculty so these young men could return home until they counseled themselves to act like gentlemen and not as children.

Letters To The Editor

Mr. V. L. Daughtery
 Editor, Campus Canopy
 Valdosta State College
 Dear Sir:

I wish to write in behalf of the speakers we have in assembly. The speakers stand on the stage is of such construction that it sounds like a singing bird when ever it is leaned upon or moved by the speaker. This causes embarrassment to the speaker because he feels that the students might think it is his shoes. To the students in the audience it is distracting.

May I suggest that one of two things be done. I suggest first that the present speaker's stand that is used in assembly be repaired or, second I suggest that the stand from North Campus be moved to our auditorium. It is of such heavy construction that it will not "squeek"

Sincerely yours,

LOST ALL TO GAIN MORE

By BUFORD M. FULFORD

It is necessary to lose the inferior things that we hold to in life if we are to gain the more profitable and the superior things. Things that are secondary have often been made the primary. There was a man of long ago, Paul, that tried to walk according to the law, he was attached to the law and to the traditions of the elders; he felt that the letter of the law had to be carried out, he gained much wealth and respect for himself for the obedience of the law, but these things did not last and did not bring satisfaction.

Paul was a man that tried the ways of the law and of men, and he found them both to be unprofitable; although he contented himself for a long time doing those things that men counted valuable or gainful he was never truly happy. "What things were gain to me those I counted liss for Christ." The things for which he had had respect, he found impossible to hold to; Paul parted with what men called the best, that of being highly esteemed of others, having a place of dignity, and having authority to do whatsoever he desired. "These things I count but dung." I lay them aside that I might have Christ; these things are insignificant and unavailing to the better and higher things of life. Paul's life should be an example to anyone that the way of men is vanity, that men seek for power and for titles for themselves. Paul had come to realize that Christ was the sum and substance of what man needed most in life, and he freely parted with all else that he might have Him; for everything worldly that he parted with he felt sure that there was coming to him blessings tenfold.

When we are willing to part with all that the world has to offer that is vile and dross; and accept Christ voluntarily as Paul did, we will find power for living. We will then have the best resource for life that there is, we will have learned with Paul, that popularity with the masses is not a necessary element in life. Paul found in Christ a power, greater than his own and greater than that which he had found to exist in the law, that made for righteousness, grace, and love; and it caused him to be lifted above self.

"Godliness is profitable in all things," but for us to get the benefit of the profits we must respond to the demands that are made by Christ, the unique demand is to love the Lord with all thy heart, soul, and strength, to do this we can not compromise with men in any of their desires. We must always be like a man traveling in a strange land who has a guide, and rely upon him to carry us through even the most difficult situations. We reveal to the world the value of our life, and the good things that we have gained from life by the contributions that we make to the world. By losing all that the world calls excellent, Paul gained Christ, and an endless inheritance.

Miss Weems—"I wonder if you remember me? Years ago you asked me to marry you."
 Mr. Gabard absent-mindedly—"Ah, yes. And did you?"

Definition of a VSC wolf: He is the sort of man with whom you should eat, drink, and be wary.

The dentist married a manicurist—now they're fighting tooth and nail.

Dr. Gulliver—Are you trying to make a fool of me?

Ben W.—Why should I take the credit for it.

Honey—Do you file your fingernails?

Jack W.—No I throw them away after I cut them.

Emory C.—So you're marrying that rich doll Joann. I suppose you'll have to cut out playing poker and drinking now.

Harold A.—Yes, but if I don't marry her, I'd have to cut out eating.

A good definition of the VSC Quartet: Four people who think the other three can't sing.

FILII NEWS

By EMORY COOK

The Filii Fortunac has initiated several programs—one to promote activities on the campus and the other as an informative organ for the school.

The former consists of the opening of the House-in-the-Woods for the students who are here over the week-end. Anything from bridge, to dancing, to juke, downright gossiping goes. So you have no plans for the Saturday afternoons, get on down to the House-in-the-Woods and spend a nenjoyable afternoon. It begins at 2:00 p.m. and the door arc closed at 5:00 p.m.

The latter is a radio program featured over radio station WGOV from 12:45 p.m. to 1:01 p.m. each Sunday afternoon. Our first program was last Sunday and it featured lesser known facts about V. S. C., plus the music of the Collegiates (Phil Jones, piano; Jimmy Hathaway, drums; Bob Yeomans on bass). Elaine Leverette treated the program with one of her very striking vocals. We hope in future weeks to have the Serenaders, the Glee Club, several faculty members, in addition to interviewing a different student each week.

The 27th of this month we are having a dance with a bit of new included. That being "a pie throwing". For instance, all the Filii's (me included) will be standing around minding our own business, but if anyone bids and gets a pie he or she may choose the face upon which his is to be placed. It should prove to be a lot of fun, so come out, purchase a pie, and I'll see you at the dance—(probably between pies)!

CAMPUS CAPERS

Imagine the embarrassment of two visiting girls when they discovered that they had gone into the boys' dormitory by mistake! The boys were a little astonished to see them, also.

Some students have been having some very exciting adventures, or so I hear. Seems it has to do with off-limit places.

The starry look in the eyes of one of the sophomore girls is caused by the coming to Valdosta of the famous "Jimmy," NO LESS!

To anyone who thinks boys' basketball is a rough game: Kid, you just ought to watch the VSC girls murder the game and each other, incidentally!

Personalities of the Month

JUDY TYRE

CHARLES HILL

Anyone who does not know Judy Tyre is really missing something, or that is the report of more than a few individuals at V.S.C. and elsewhere. Miss Tyre is an Elementary Education major from Coffee, Georgia, near Alma. Very active in constructive extra-curricular activities, Judy made her Sports Club letter simply years ago. She was Secretary to the Sophomore class, a member of the Sophomore Council, and has been on the "Y" cabinet since her freshman year. Currently, she is a valuable asset to the Glee Club and the Education Club.

Miss Tyre has this to say for men: "They're just wonderful!" She considers most of them to be more understanding and fair in their judgments than girls are. "We have some very cute boys at V.S.C.," says she, "but I guess I'm sort of partial to Georgia Tech men."

Judy's philosophy for living is that you don't get something for nothing. "Anything which is worth a hill of beans is worth working for." She adds that she has received more of life's easy breaks than it's difficult knocks, and just plain enjoys living. Not incidentally, she believes, sincerely, in the equality of all men, in the sight of God.

Miss Tyre plans to graduate in August, 1954. Thereafter she hopes to teach. Other future plans include a Master's degree and a marriage—"Sometime."

Here's to you and a happy fu-

The outstanding personality of the month is Mr. Charles Hill, of Valdosta. He is distinguished on the campus of Valdosta State because of his potentialities and abilities for leadership. With a minor in mathematics, Mr. Hill intends to major in industrial management, with the B.S. degree. As one of the founding brother of the Mu Alpha Fraternity, at present he is president of that organization. During his freshman year, he was a member of the Valdosta Club, the Math-Science Club on the campus, and a member of the Student Government Association. Today he is an outstanding athlete on the Valdosta State basketball and tennis teams.

When we questioned Mr. Hill with regard to his opinion of the basic ingredients of a well-rounded personality, he replied, "A well-rounded personality should include a friendly attitude, an ability to carry on a friendly conversation, and thoughtfulness of other people." He continued, "of course, there are other important factors of a good personality, but to me these are essential." He ranked friendliness and sincerity highest. "In conversation," he stated, "there should be no 'mean' sarcasm; a little sarcasm is fun; however, there is a place to draw the line."

How, we asked him, may one acquire traits essential to a well-rounded personality? He remarked, "In my way of thinking, it is necessary to mix with people, carry on a friendly conversation, and resist any sarcasm that might hurt or embarrass the person to whom the remark is aimed."

As regards education—the college education—of young Americans, Mr. Hill believes that the value of a college education is inestimable. "It gives," as he says, "a person a chance to have fun, to meet people, and to learn things that, if he had not attended college, would never have known. It makes you understand the peoples of the world better; it makes you understand the need of higher learning; and it helps, also, when you have to 'bring home the bacon' for a family. To be sure, Judy. And, indeed, what future could resist?"

Mu Alpha To Purchase Flag Pole

The Mu Alpha Fraternity, having recently completed one of the most successful musical shows ever presented at VSC, has announced that it will purchase a steel flagpole for the college.

The gift, a gesture of school pride on the part of the brothers and pledges of the fraternity, will be erected on the campus at a site to be determined by the administration officials.

During the past month, the fraternity has been extremely active. Plans have been made toward the completion of its shack on a lot south of Valdosta off the Madison highway. The brothers are eagerly looking forward to concluding work on the house by the end of the school year. When completed, the shack will include a dance floor, booths and tables, a barbecue pit, and juke box.

Also on the agenda of fraternity business is the planning of the annual house party. The location for the big spring social has not yet been decided upon, but the forthcoming announcement is expected soon. Last year's house party was held at Jacksonville Beach.

It appears as if "New Orleans," the musical show sponsored by the fraternity, is due for holdover engagements. On Friday evening, portions of the show are to be presented for a charity organization in Boston, Ga. Tentative plans have also been made to produce the show at Moody Air Force Base.

By the end of this quarter, examinations covering the constitution of Mu Alpha, its organizational procedures, and the objects of the fraternity will have been given to the members of the pledge class. Those pledges who successfully complete this test and maintain a G average in scholastic work for the quarter shall become eligible for initiation into the Mu Alpha brotherhood. The initiation of the pledges will be one of recognition rather than reprobation. Hazing of the pledges, in any form, during their initiation period is strictly frowned upon by the Mu Alpha brothers.

With the ending of winter quarter, new officers are to be elected to the fraternity. These newly-elected students will serve out the remainder of the school term, as well as the fall and winter quarters of next year. Outgoing fraternity officers are Charlie Hill, sure, there are many, many values of a college education."

Mr. Hill states that, in his personal way of thinking, the two most valuable things to a college student are "his subjects and, furthermore, his association with other people." Then, too, he commented, "I think that a student should participate in only as many extra-curricular activities as his subjects will allow him. But on the other hand, I don't think that any student has to completely shut out extra-curricular activities, because college subjects, on the whole, simply aren't that difficult."

The Quite Little Angels

By JOHN NOSSICK

"Say, Joe, did you fill up my canteen this afternoon when the water truck came by?" asked Nort.

"No," replied Joe. "I didn't take you to raise."

"I know that," answered Nort, "but that squirt of a Sergeant sent you to fill up all the canteens. Just wait. It'll be my turn in a couple of days; then watch out."

"Hey, Fergie, don't you think I look like Clark Gable with my mustache?" asked Barrett.

"I don't know. I can't tell if it's dirt or honest-to-goodness whiskers," replied Fergie.

"I sure wish we were back on the rock," said Nos. "Where we at least had a decent bed and a place to wash."

"Let's see," said Durant. "This makes the fifth week without a bath."

"Boy, the Arrid Company could get rich in a hurry in this place," said Joe.

About this time, in popped Sergeant Bemiss.

"Okay you guys, let's check all the ropes on your tents; we're expecting a little wind tonight," bellowed the little Sergeant with a big voice.

"I wish that guy would step in a hole about two hundred feet deep!" said Barrett in an angry voice.

"Hey, Joe, you take one side and I'll take the other," yelled Noss as he went out the flap.

"Okay, but we wouldn't be anything out if this damn thing blew away," answered Joe.

"They had their nerve, putting us Air Force mechanics in a tent!" spoke up Honeycutt.

"It wouldn't have been so bad if we even had a floor of some kind in this thing. As it is, all we have is dirt and Korean dirt at that," said Singleton.

"Oh, you guys complain all the time," said Nort. "It could be a lot worse. You could be up on the front lines, sleeping in a ditch."

"A ditch would be more than likely be a lot warmer than this dang thing," answered Nos.

"Hey, which one of you guys got my can of Spam?" yelled Durant, as he looked in his field pack. "Come on, one of you rascals took it."

"Honest, Durant, I haven't seen it," said Nos. "But I wouldn't blame anyone for taking it after eating beef stew for five weeks." "I haven't seen it either," said Honeycutt.

"Ah one of you guys would tell something and the other would swear to it," answered Durant.

"No sweat," said Joe. "we'll pay you for the can of spam." "A lot of good that will do."

"How in the heck did it spoil in a can?" asked Durant.

"Whose turn was it to take gas for the truck?" asked Fergie.

"I don't know, but I don't get some gas and get it to death," said Singleton.

"Hey, Durant, you owe me to the gas dump. I'll give you borrow fifty gas dollars if you gasted Nort."

"Don't you worry, I'll pay you shot. You owe me fifty gas dollars first and then I'll pay you back. No."

About this time, in popped Sergeant Bemiss.

Susan Tullis Elected May Queen

A Valdosta senior has been chosen to reign as Queen of the May at Valdosta State College's 37th annual May Festival this year.

Susan Tullis, home economics major from Valdosta, will rule over the May Court at festivities scheduled for May 1 in Drexel Park on VSC's main campus.

Selected as the queen's maid of honor was Mary Florence Porter, Ashburn, secretarial science major.

Ten ladies-in-waiting will attend the queen. They are: Marion Godwin and Kathryn Milhouse, Valdosta; Ann Kirby, Clyattville; Babs Threatte, Lakeland; Jackie Greene, Alma; Carolyn Gaines, Fitzgerald; Patti Carson, Boston; Jane Burdette, Moultrie; Dot Barnicau, Cario; and Rheda Blackwell, Monticello.

The queen and her court were chosen in a recent election held among the entire student body.

Miss Tullis, who is the third member of her family to serve in the VSC May Court, has been prominent in student activities. She is the daughter of Mrs. E. W. Tullis. This year she was included in Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and serves as president of the Home Economics Art Club. Formerly, she was a member of the Student Council and currently serves as social chairman.

The May Queen is a member of the Woman's Sports Council and is vice-president of Fins and Flippers, aquatic group. She is a member of the YWCA cabinet, the Baptist Student Union, and the ad staff of the Pine Cone, student yearbook.

In her junior year Miss Tullis was chosen class beauty.

Miss Porter has been active in the Business Club, of which she has served as vice-president, and the Sock and Buskin Club, dramatic organization, in which she has held several offices.

She is a member of the Clee Club and English Club, and secretary of the YWCA. As a junior she was chosen class sweetheart.

The main of honor was elected to Who's Who this year.

General faculty chairman for the VSC May Festival is Miss Lenora Ivey.

WOMAN'S SPORTS CLUB HIGHLIGHTS

By BILLIE WAGES

Another quarter of active participation in sports by members of the Womans Sports Club is almost ended. The Kappas and Lambdas have had a "do or die" attitude the entire quarter and have made the race for points close and exciting. Before the last match game, which cannot be covered in this issue, the Kappas lead the basketball race 10-0. In volleyball, the Lambdas lead 10-0. By these statistics one can readily see the importance of that third match game.

The tennis singles tournament is also well under way. Jane Burdette, Lambda, and Rheda Blackwell, Kappa are to play for first place. Two Lambdas, Janice Fussell and Susan Tullis are left to compete for third place. First place winner will receive 5 points, second place 3 points, and third place 1 point. These points count toward the plaque awarded at the end of the year to the team with most points for the year. The Kappas are leading at present with a total of 33 points; the Lambdas have 20.

Softball is to be played spring quarter, and of course there will be swimming for everyone to enjoy. If you like to swim or play softball come on out and help your team win the plaque.

A new slate of officers has been drawn up by the nominating committee. Those who have been nominated are: President, Casey Gothard; Vice-President, Jane Ledford, Peggy Stuart; Secretary, Claire Wiggins, Roslyn Rouse; Treasurer, Kay Rose, Nan Starling; Historian, Beverly Marshall, Bobby Frederic. These officers will be elected in the spring quarter and all those who have made a team winter quarter will be eligible to vote.

VSC was well represented at Tallahassee for the Sports Day on the week-end of February 19th. On Friday afternoon of the 19th Miss Ivey and twenty-five of VSC's eager beavers boarded a bus and were on their way to FSU with the energy and will to win.

Upon arrival at the campus they were shown to the swimming pool where the FSU Tarpon Club presented an enjoyable water show. A lot of new ideas were gathered for our water show to be given in the spring. A definite date will be announced later by the Fins and Flippers Club.

After the swimming show they were carried to the FSU cabins where they spent the night in the cabins. At six o'clock the next morning they rose with smiling faces(?) and boarded a bus for the FSU dining hall. After breakfast they registered for the activities scheduled for the day and attended a general assembly of the four colleges represented: GSCW, U of Fla., FSU, and VSC.

VSC's first victory was in badminton doubles played by Janice Fussell and Betty Harvey against the University of Florida. They came the volleyball against the University of Florida which was lost, but put up a good fight and made a good showing.

After the volleyball game they were served a chicken dinner in boxes, and with a full stomach went head on into the battle of basketball with FSU. VSC ran up the score and won another victory.

Tennis singles were played by VSC's Susan Tullis and Janice Fussell against FSU and GSCW. Both made good showings, but not quite good enough to beat their opponents.

In table tennis Peggy Burn represented us and put up a good fight with the University of Florida's national competitor.

After the scheduled sports some of the girls toured Tallahassee while others watched the softball games.

At seven o'clock the bus was loaded and headed home with a couple of victories, twenty five tired girls, and a well-spent week-end of exercised good sportsmanship, which was the particular purpose of the Sports Day Meet personality. The election was conducted by the Sigma Alpha Chi Honor Society.

Those receiving the honor were Clyde Connell, Jackie Greene, seniors; Bob Dixon, Nancy Lovett, juniors; Russell Acree, Freddie Flournoy, sophomores; and Herman Parramore, Susan Bridges freshmen.

Recipients of the recognition program sponsored by the honor society will be presented awards at Honors Day to be held April 30.
