Bob Dixon And Rose Head Student Publications

The Student Publications Committee of the S. G. A. announced today that Bob Dixon of Albany was elected editor of the Pine Cone for next year. Bob is Vice-President of the S. G. A. and will be a senator next year. The two associates appointed to serve with him are Jane Ledford of Valdosta and Bill Almonrode of McRae. Dan LaHood of Valdosta will fill the important position on the staff as Business Manager. It is expected that more returns can be expected from advertisements next year. To be in charge of photography is Frankie Powell, from Fitzgerald.

The new staff announced that it hopes to adopt a new style and form for the next annual. Bob announces that plans are being worked on so that individual pictures can be made during registration fall quarter next year.

The staff for the Campus Canopy has been appointed for next school year by the Publications Committee. The committee announced today that Kay Rose, a sophomore next year, will be the

The beautiful new wayside park at Twin Lakes off Highway 41 is the site for the Business Club meeting Wednesday afternoon, May

The members of the club and their guests left V.S.C. at five o'clock Wednesday afternoon and went to Twin Lakes. At the Wayside Park they enjoyed one of the most enjoyable events of the year. Delicious hamburgers were cooked on the outside grill by that famous connoisseur of fine foods Professor James E. Spear. Mrs. Deavenport, one of the advisors for the club, was present also to help in the preparation of the hamburgers and other delicacies.

Janice Ross, President of the Business Club, was in charge of the arrangements for the afternoon. The members and guests returned to the college at seven-thirty.

Home-Coming

The festival of festivals at Valdosta State College began on the thirtieth of April and lasted into the second day of May.

On Friday night before the Saturday May Day program, there was a very successful informal dance in the Valdosta Woman's Club building. This was attended by students, faculty, and delighted alumnae and alumni.

After a sumptuous barbecue the next day, the crowning of the May Queen, Susan Tullis, was the order of activity. Queen's Maid of Honor was May May Porter, and her attendants were Reda Blackwell, Babs Threatte, Katherine Milhouse, Ann Kirby, Lovey Godwin, Jackie Green, Carolyn Gaines, Pat Carson, Jane Burdette, and Dot Barineau.

It is a fact, not an opinion, that there has never been a lovelier May Queen at Valdosta, or anywhere else on the planet for that matter. The same superlatives can be applied to her attendants.

The program accompanying the Queen's Coronation was arranged by Miss Ivey and directed by Mrs. Valente. Mrs. Valente's dance group presented a program of exotic and colorful dances.

On Saturday night of May Day, there was held in the Valdosta Country Club a simply smashing success of a formal dance. The decorations, the lights, and especially the music, made this into one of the finest dances the college has ever seen. A breakfast followed at the House-in-the-Woods.

CO-OP PLANS STARTED

Freshmen To Wear Beanies

The S.G.A. voted at its last meeting on Monday night, May 10, to require all freshmen, fall quarter of next school year to wear beanies. The beanies will be bought by the freshmen during their first week of school, and they will be required to wear them at all times and at all places except on dates and in the classroom, through Rat Day.

The S.G.A. also voted to require all students to have post office boxes, beginning fall quarter of next year. This will apply to day students, town students, and all students living in the dormitory. This is being done in an effort to make better contact with the students with student publications.

Emily Jobe of Waycross, Georgia, has been elected to be Social Chairman for the social calendar for next year. The S.G.A. has voted to give her full assistance in requiring all students social events and meeting to be placed on the social calendar.

Mr. McCoy brought to the meeting a report of the disbursement of student activities funds this school year. He also reported to the Council that plans were being drawn up to present to the Board of Regents for a student Co-op.

SGA Elections

V. L. Daughtery was elected president in a four-way race. His opponents were Al Griffis, Fargo; Clarence Roland, Cedartown, and Barney Purvis, Ocilla.

Bob Dixon, Albany, won the vice-presidency over Jack Weaver, Hahira, and Claire Wiggins, Valdosta, defeated Jack Carter, also of Valdosta, for the post of secretary.

Omer McLean of Folkston was elected treasurer over Floyd Davis of Doerun.

Named to serve with the four SGA officers on the Student Council were: Harold Carter, Meigs, and Patsy Allen, Moultrie, dormitory representatives; Herman Parramore, Jr., Valdosta, and Geneva Sheffield, Valdosta, day student representatives; Norman Lahood, Valdosta, and Barbara Crew, Cairo, seniors; Jack Knight, Ray City, and Wanda Bishop, Waycross, juniors; and Maurice Whiddon, Valdosta, and Lee Graybeal, Jacksonville, Florida,

DOMESTIC VIEWS
By THE EDITOR

This is the last of the Domestic Views by me. It has been a great deal of fun to work and write for the paper this year. The others on the Campus Canopy staff have enjoyed their work, too. We say thank you for reading and helping us have a paper this year.

The recent political campaign was a good boost for school spirit. Nearly three-fourths of the student body voted in the election. I hope that this is the beginning of interest in our school and that people will no longer have to be drafted to run for office.

Have you heard about it? Plans are being drawn up and are to be presented to the University Board of Regents for a Student Co-op here on the campus. The old gym is to be the site, after a wing has been added. It will have a soda fountain, booths, a place for dancing and two patios.

The Homecoming Weekend was a success. Babs Threatte did a wonderful job in planning for it, and Bob Dixon did a good job of directing decorations. Also, the S.A.O. Sorority and the fraternities did a good job of assisting the event. Perhaps some method or plan can be worked out to encourage the interest of more students in this affair in the future.

The fraternities on the campus plan to approach the Board of Regents next year with a petition to join a national fraternity. This will be a big help to our school in making our college name known. I hope that this petition is granted and that they can meet the requirements of the national fraternity which they wish to join. The student body supports this move by these organizations.

All evidence points to next year being a big year at V.S.C. We will have our own basketball team playing in our own gymnasium. We will have another baseball team. This year's team has made a good record to be our first in the baseball sport. Let's not slow down; we are making progress.

To the seniors that are graduating in June let me say we will miss you. We wish that you could be with us for another year, but we can't. Wherever you go and whatever you do, we hope you will use all you have gained at V.S.C. And remember that we wish for you all the luck and happiness that life can bring.

IRC Adopts German Child

The International Relations Club has undertaken the sponsorship of little nine year old Dagmar Gunther of Rendsburg, Germany. She calls herself our "patenkind". The little pigtailed blonde came to us through the agency Save The Children Federation, Inc.

Before the war, her family lived in East Germany. During the war, the father was called for military service. After his release from war prison, he could not return home since the Russians were there. His wife and two children were expelled from their home by the invading Russians. After a dreadful flight they found primitive refuge in Schleswig-Holstein in the north of Germany. A few days after their arrival, Dagmar was born. Some weeks later, the second child died because of the hardship of the flight.

When the father was released he took up work as an interpreter with the British Military Government. In 1948 he decided to become an actor. After his professional training he was fortunate to find employment for a while, but now he has been without work already for a long time. In order to support the family, the mother has taken up work as a typist in the city administration. But her wages are only very low and do not pay even for the basic necessities of the family.

The International Relations Club makes it possible at the cost of ninety-six dollars a year for the Federation to send a complete outfit of warm clothing, sewing materials, household linen, soap, and other personal hygiene supplies, plus writing materials. These items are delivered in four packages throughout the year.

In undertaking this project, the IRC has begun a work which will continue throughout the summer as well as the school year.

Math-Science Club

The Math-Science Club met at the House-in-the-Woods on Wednesday evening, April 14, at 7:30 p.m.

The Math division, in charge of the program, presented Mr. Ralph Finney, a former Federal employee and income tax expert, who gave a talk concerning income tax in general. Following the talk, the new Club officers were announced. They are: President Lamer Allen, Valdosta; Vice-President Russell Acree, Twin Lakes; Secretary/Treasurer Barbara Crew, Cairo; and Reporter/Historian Omer McLean, Polkston.

"WHAT IT WUZ, WUZ EXAMS"

(With Apologizes to Andy Griffith)

It was back last January we wuz goin' to Greensboro to the tobacccy market. We hit the city about 8:30 one mornin', and as we wuz agoin' down some street called West Market we seen this warehouse lookin' buildin' sittin' up on a hill, so we figgered this was it and we stopped. We did.

We wuz awailin' up the yard carrin' our tobacccy, when all of a sudden this whole raft of maniacs cum a-rushing out of this here warehouse and wuz a-heading for this other little storehouse across the way. They wuz hysterical and a-shakin' something fierce, and they looked like they's in trouble of some sort. They did. And I tell you, friends, a-fore that we knew it, we wuz caught up in the mob and swept inside this little storehouse and we dropped our tobacccy. We did.

When we got inside the mob divided and chose up little groups what went in separate little rooms the people what wuz around me pushed in this little room, where it looked like we wuz a-going to play gussin' game. Some person who looked as if he knew what he was a-talking about told me to "get scarce, please," and I said, Friends I would like to, but it is that I don't even know where it is that I am."

Everybody had these cute little blue books what they wuz a-startin' at like as if they wished they'd fill up right quick. I punched a gal settin' next to me, and I says, "What is it that we are a-playin'?" and she says, "Buddy, have an aspirin."

A couple of girls were a-settin' there a-waitin' at the gentlemen so's I thought I'd be friendly, too and I waved at him, and I says to him, "Friend, have another blue book."

They all seemed to know each other, "cause he kept a-callin' their names and they kept answerin' right cheer."

Well, so, we all started playin' the game, and one gal, she musta liked it, 'cause she wuz a-writin' somethin' fierce. Ther other girls looked as if they'd bored, cause they set there for the longest time and just sighted and sighted. And one gal, even commenced to odd man right there on some question marked "True and false."

One time I tried to get out the door, but this man askt me for my blue book and I said, "friend, I'd be glad to give you a blue book but it is that I don't even have a plan book."

Well, he just looked at me hard and I set back down. I did. We set there for the longest kinda' time, and when, Friend, bells started everybody started runnin' like their lives wuz in danger. They wuz all pale and shook up, and one gal even dropped her blue book. She did. I thought she would expire right there.

Well, friends, purity soon I figgered out I was not at the tobaccy market, but I been wonderin' what it was. I been a-studyin' on it for a long time now, and I have decided, friends, that it is a kindly-of-a contest between the gentlemen and the gals where they trys to see who can decorate the blue books the purtiest and get out the door the quickest with out knockin' over a cheer, a table, or gettin' tromped on.

New Organization

On April 28, the Methodists of V.S.C. met and formed a Wesley Foundation. This group has formerly been known as the M. S. M. and has been meeting monthly in the House-in-the-Woods. The name was changed, however, when the state director of the Methodist Student Movement, Mr. Sam Laird, visited the campus and helped to set up an organized Wesley Foundation. The meetings include the monthly meetings on campus, as well as Sunday night at First Methodist Church. The officers of this organization are president, Lee Graybeal; first vice-president, Morris Livingood; second vice-president, Nan Tyler, and secretary-treasurer, Margie Glenn. A campus-church relationship committee was also set up, and this includes Mrs. Joe Wisenbaker, Mrs. Gertrude Odom, Mrs. J. A. Sconyers, V. L. Daughtery, Emily Jobe, Mr. Mack Anthony, Mrs. Comer Cherry, Mrs. Bennett Owens, and Lee Graybeal. Everyone is cordially invited to attend the next meeting which will be held on May 20 in the House-in-the-Woods.

Eighteen—Voting Age?

By GARY PHILLIPS

Should a citizen of the United States, eighteen years of age, be denied the privilege of casting a vote in a public election? Since the War of 1812, when the Army began calling into service men 18 years old, this question has been asked. And the answer has been given. "If he's old enough to fight, he's old enough to vote," was the general opinion in many quarters.

The reaction in our state to the idea of allowing a boy to fight in war, but denying him the right to vote, was so strong that in 1943 the General Assembly passed a resolution which lowered the legal voting age from 21 to 18. So successful has this actment been, that today you hardly find a person in Georgia who would prefer to see the voting age raised. The fear that young people would use "ballot voting" has been dissolved by a statement by Governor Brantley, who says that they usually "voted along family and local interests, and have refused to be herded into any group or faction."

But today, on Capitol Hill where the question of "to lower or not to lower" has been kicked around for several years, congressmen are full of indecision and doubt. They are deeply concerned over the proposed amendment to reduce the voting age to include eighteen-year-olds. The Constitution and Fourteenth Amendment imply that the voting age shall be twenty-one. Congress may be ready to change all that with passage of amendment now before it.

Ten years have passed since the first eighteen-year-old voted in Georgia. It seems strange that after ten years, Georgia remains the only state in the Union which has a voting age lower than twenty-one. Ten years have passed, and not a single state, other than Georgia, has ratified resolutions made by assemblies in many of the other states to lower the voting age. All have been defeated.

Yet Congress is considering an amendment which would go directly against the voiced opinion of the people in these states. An amendment forced upon them which they have already publicly vetoed!

With these facts before us, this is the stand I take: Congress should not lower the voting age, leave the decision up to the states. Why, I ask you, should a state be forced to abide by a law which is contrary to the one it prefers? When Georgia lowered its voting age, it did so independently; the issue was not forced upon the people. Why, then, should other states be denied the same privilege which Georgia possessed? Why should an enactment which was voluntarily accepted by the people of Georgia, be mandatory to the citizens of other states?

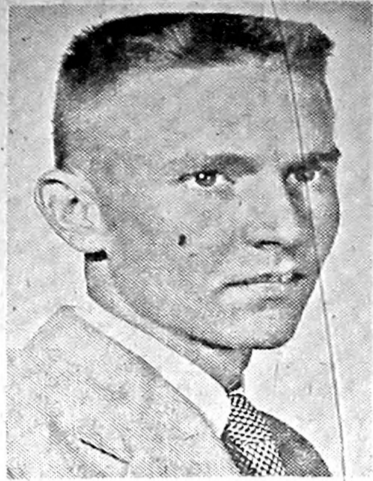

To pass such a law as this would be an infringement upon states' rights. Our own Senator Russell has indicated that he would rather see the states act independently than to have a question answered for them by act of Congress. What happened to our pompous democratic system when an issue such as this is forced upon the people? By all means, let eighteen-year-olds vote, but let the decision be made by the individual states rather than by Congress.

It is great, and there is no other greatness—to make one noble God's creation more fruitful, better, more worthy of God; to make some human heart a little warmer, happier—more blessed—less accursed.—Curlye.

Personalities of the Month

JO PARROTT

OMER McLEAN

The young lady elected personality of the month for May is Jo Parrott of Nashville, Georgia. Jo is a freshman here at V.S.C. She has a winning smile and personality that makes all who know her like her. While here at V.S.C. she plans to take the two year pre-natal science course. When she was asked if she planned to make a career out of secretarial work she said no. "I plan to become a housewife just as soon as my Navy permits," she stated. Of course everyone knows why. She has a beautiful diamond ring on one of her fingers that was given her by Bob who is now serving with the U. S. Navy.

Jo is very active in extra-curricular activities. She is a member of the Glee Club, Business Club, Key Foundation, and the Sigma Alpha Chi.

What does Jo think should go into a well-rounded personality. When asked this question she replied, "I think friendliness, sincerity, and dependability are all important qualities that make up a good personality. She also related that to her academic and social activities are both important parts of college life.

Jo will surely be a successful housewife and a contributor to community life wherever she lives. She continues to be as charming as she is here at V.S.C.

The outstanding personality of the month is Omer McLean, of Folkston, Georgia. Having attended the Abraham Baldwin Agricultural College, Mr. McLean is a sophomore at Valdosta State, where he is majoring in biology and minoring in chemistry. At present, he is a member of the Math-Science Club; the honor society Sigma Alpha Chi; the Student Government Association; and the Dormitory Council of the men's dormitory, Senior Hall.

Mr. McLean believes that the ingredients of a good personality may be summarized in the attributes of friendliness, a good disposition, strong character, and a sincere effort, as he says, "to get along with others."

According to him, a combination of both curricular and extra-curricular activities is necessary to any successful college student; and this combination will, he believes, lead ultimately to success in life. Accordingly, his philosophy is the embodiment of three "things": time, talent, and possessions, which he believes to be common possessions among all people. Mr. McLean believes that it is the utilization of all three that determines success in life.

IRC Highlights

Elections for the year 1954-55 were held for President, Vice-President, and Treasurer, of the International Relations Club on April 21st. Those elected to these positions were as follows: Miss Billie Wages of Valdosta, President; Mr. Edwin Griffis of Fargo, Vice-President; Mr. W. J. Bennett of Greenville, Florida, Treasurer. A Secretary and Member-at-Large will be chosen in the Fall of 1954.

Out-going officers of the club are: Mr. Norman Lahood, President; Mrs. Helen Abel, Vice-President; Miss Majorie Glenn, Treasurer; Mr. V. L. Daughtery, Member-at-Large; and Miss Martha Rai Wright, acting Secretary in the absence of Miss Jane Keen who did not return for the Spring quarter.

The IRC is looking forward to another prosperous year under the leadership of its new officers.

The International Relations Club had its annual and traditional picnic-swim party at the 4-H Club Camp at Twin Lakes, Tuesday, May fourth. Although the wind was a little brisk, the water was delightfully warm and those who ventured to take a pre-dinner swim found it invigorating and refreshing.

Members who chose not to swim quickly found refuge in one of the various card games, canasta, bridge, rummy, or that other game which was in progress at the west end of the building. Besides the card games were individual interests, such as wandering from group to group and in short, having a good time.

When an enormous appetite had been worked up out came the chicken, ham, salad, deviled eggs, macaroni and cheese, pickles, olives, and cake (all different kinds!); and this was besides all the other food.

The IRC was honored with several visitors, among whom were the family of Mr. W. J. Bennett, Mr. Jimmie Abel, Miss Aspasia Panos, Mr. Jimmie Mancil, Miss Babs Threate, and Miss Lee Graybeal.

Although the club will have no other meetings this year the projects began earlier in the year will still continue. Included in the projects which are still in progress is the radio program over WGAF each Monday night from 8:15-8:30. These programs are both interesting and informative, and would be well worth your time if you have not been listening. To tune in next Monday night.

Nothing is easier than fault-finding; no talent, no self-denial, no brains, no character are required to set up in the grumbling business.—Robert West.

The committee has endeavored to select each month the outstanding members of the student body of Valdosta State College in order that their qualities of leadership, achievement, and character might be recognized. The feature editors of the Canopy express appreciation to members of the committee whose judgment has been the basis of each article; to the editor, V. L. Daughtery, whose leadership has been admirable; and to Mrs. Gertrude Gilmer Odum, whose cooperation has been essential.

MU ALPHA EVENTS

Panama City was the site for the annual house party of the Mu Alpha Fraternity, according to an announcement made by Price Strong, president of the organization. The date for the big spring social event was the weekend of May 7, 8, and 9. All the brothers and their dates, along with the faculty advisor, James Spear, left Valdosta on Friday afternoon and returned to the college Sunday evening. Housing facilities for the group were arranged at the Old Dutch Hotel.

Arrangements for the purchasing of a steel flagpole to be erected on the school campus have been completed, and its arrival is expected soon. The flagpole, costing over $100, stands 40 feet high, and is being presented as a gift to the college from the Brothers of Mu Alpha.

The fraternity wishes to announce the induction of four new brothers into its society. Although the students have been brothers since the beginning of the spring quarter, this is the first opportunity an announcement in the school paper has been possible. The new brothers are: Bill Register and Eddie Laws, Valdosta; Billy Brumlow, Habira; and Bill Jackson, Sylvester.

A great deal of discussion has been carried on recently by the brothers over the possibility of tying up with a national fraternity within the next year or two. Representatives from two fraternities, Tau Kappa Epsilon and Delta Sigma Phi, have visited the college during the past month to talk with the members about its chances of affiliating with their groups. Both representatives feel confident that Mu Alpha could easily fulfill the qualifications required to become a chapter in their national organizations.

The brothers appear to be deeply interested in joining a national fraternity, but, because of a rul-

Nancy Lovett Heads Y Cabinet

The old and the Y. W. C. A. Cabinet held its annual installation service in the Rotunda. At this service, the new officers were announced as: President, Nancy Lovett; Vice-president, Barbara Little; Associate Vice-president, Emily Jobe; Secretary, Lee Graybeal; Treasurer, Iris Croll.

While the old and new cabinet stood in a triangle formation, the candles of the new members were lit as the old cabinet member's were extinguished. The service was closed with a prayer.

ing made last winter by the State Board of Regents, will be unable to petition for a national charter until next winter quarter. The Board specified that no petition by a local fraternity or sorority on this campus to obtain national affiliation will be considered until the expiration of one year. Preparations are being rapidly made however, to secure permission to join a national group as soon as the probational period has ended.

At the end of winter quarter, election of new officers who will serve the remainder of this school year, and the fall and winter quarters of next year, was held. The newly-elected officers are: Price Strong, president; Brother Parramore, 1st vice-president; Leo Helms, 2nd vice-president; Jack Carter, secretary; Maurice Whiddon, treasurer; and Jack Weaver, sergeant-at-arms.

Recent S.G.A. elections revealed that three Mu Alpha Brothers, and one of its sponsors had won positions on the Student Council and as class officers. Wanda Bishop, sponsor for the fraternity, was elected Junior Class Vice-President, and also girl representative on the Student Council for the Junior Class. Bill Jackson was elected Vice-President of the Sophomore Class, and Maurice Whiddon was named as boy representative on the Council for the Sophomore Class. The town representative for the boys on the Council will be filled by Brother Parramore. The Brothers of Mu Alpha are proud of the achievement of these persons, and offer them their wholehearted congratulations.

Math-Science News

The Math-Science Club held its last meeting of the year Wednesday, May 12, 1954. The guest speaker was Mr. James D. Strange, program supervisor of the Forestry Conservation Service. Mr. Strange gave an interesting talk on the development of woodlands for pulpwood. After Mr. Stranges' talk and a discussion of old and new business, refreshments were served. The meeting was then adjourned.

Women's Sports Club Highlights

By BILLIE WAGES

The Woman's Sports Club held its election of officers for 1954-55 on March 31. All women students who had made a team winter quarter were eligible to vote.

Carianne Gothard, Thomasville, was elected President. She has been on Sports Council since her first quarter at VSC, and has proven to be a valuable and cooperative member. She is a member of the Home Economics and Art Club, is now serving on "Y" Cabinet, and is corresponding secretary of the BSU.

Jane Ledford, Valdosta, was elected to serve as Vice-President for the second consecutive year. Jane has been a very active member of the Sports Club, serving on Council since her freshman year. She is also a member of the Fins and Flippers swimming group, Pine Cone staff, Glee Club, and Sigma Alpha Omega Sorority.

The 1954-55 secretary will be the dependable Rosalyn Rouse from Waycross. Rosalyn, a sophomore, has served on Council for the past two years. She is also a member of the Fins and Flippers, Sock and Buskin, and was a member of the Glee Club her freshman year. Rosalyn was elected MARGA (Most all-round girl) of her freshman class.

Nan Starling, freshman from Thomasville, is the newly elected treasurer. From her interest and outstanding ability in sports, Nan has more than shown that she would be an asset to the Council. She is also a member of the Glee Club and the SAO sorority.

Beverly Marshall, Brunswick, was elected as Historian. Beverly was one of the first of her classmates to be elected to serve on the sports council this year and has proven to be a determined worker and a most cooperative member. She is also a member of the Fins and Flippers, Education Club, Pine Cone Staff, Glee Club, and SAO sorority.

All these girls are all-round girls on the VSC campus, and the Woman's Sports Club is fortunate to have them as their leaders. Other candidates for offices were Kay Rose, Peggy Stewart, Claire Wiggins, and Bobbie Frederick, all valuable members of the Sports Club.

Tuesday afternoon, April 6, the Sports Council presented its annual installation of new officers at the college swimming pool. Members of the council were dressed in white and sat together at one end of the pool. Onlookers, composed of faculty and students, lined both sides of the pool to watch this gala event.

Highlights of the afternoon included a speech by the out-going president of the Sports Club, Rheda Blackwell, in which she welcomed the spectators and extended her best wishes and good luck to the new officers. She also expressed her sincere thanks to Miss Ivey, faculty advisor for the Sports Council, and her regret that this is to be Miss Ivey's last year at VSC.

Following Rheda's speech, the customary lighting of the wishboats was performed and numerous candles were set afloat in the pool.

The final event was characterized by the members of the Sports Council taking a brief swim. The member to hit the water, helped by members of the council was the newly installed president, Carianne Gothard. Shortly, the rest of the council members followed "Casey" into the pool, all except those few fortunate ones who ran frantically to the safety of the dormitory when the pushing began. This event ended the service leaving "Casey" to remove all the wishboats from the pool.

The Kappas now have 38 points and the Lambdas have 33, so each team is determined to win in softball this quarter in order to increase their number of points toward the plaque. It is too close for comfort, and the time is drawing nigh!

The Kappas and Lambdas had a swim meet on April 21 at the VSC pool. The meet featured form swimming, relays, and diving. The form swimming was made up of competition in the front crawl, back crawl, side stroke, and breast stroke. Points made by each team went toward the plaque which will be presented at the annual aquacade to the team having the greater number of points.

By now, you have probably noticed a poster down at the swimming pool, scattered with funny looking little fish. Well, this is just an easy way to make a team this quarter, so those of you who have not made but one team this year, be sure to go down and write your name on one of the fish. All you have to do is swim ten hours. That's all there is to it!

Seven new members were added to the Sports Council at the council meeting April 7. They were as follows: Janice Fussell, Jo Williams, Janie Tillie, Doris Law, Margaret Ragin, Kay Ferguson, and Pat Massey.

New SAC Officers

New officers were elected at a meeting of the Sigma Alpha Chi Honor Society held on April 21, at 7:30 at the House-in-the-Woods. They are: President, Barbara Crew; First Vice-President, Russell Aree; Second Vice-President, Nan Starling; and Secretary-Treasurer, Ginger House.

Plans were made for Honors Day. Awards will be given on Honors Day to the Seniors who have been members of the Sigma Alpha Chi for four years! The guest speaker for the program will be Dr. Lucien Roberts of Middle Georgia College. Parents of the members of the Honor Society will be the guests of the college.

Jackie Greene, Ann Kirby, and Barbara Crew served refreshments and the meeting was adjourned.

Home Ec-Art Club

The Home Economic-Art Club held their monthly meeting Wednesday, April 14th, in the Home Economic lab with Susan Tullis as president.

Following Susan Tullis' talk on Career Day, which she attended in Atlanta April 1st and 2nd, the new officers were installed.

Both old and new members were dressed in white for this occasion, and the services were by candle light.

The officers elected for the new term are: Jannell Connell, President; Carianne Gothard, Vice-President; Jean Ammons, Secretary; Ksena Champion, Treasurer; Margie Smith, Historian; Geneva
