SOCK AND BUSKIN CLUB TO PRESENT "DEATH TAKES A HOLIDAY," MARCH 4

Best Dressed Girl To Be Selected By Canopy Staff

The Campus Canopy announces that it is in quest of V.S.C.'s best dressed girl. The selection is in co-operation with Glamour Magazine's contest to choose the "Ten Best-dressed College Girls in America". Only one girl will be chosen to represent V.S.C. She will be chosen by the Canopy staff on the basis of "a beautiful figure — absolute must for a best dressed anybody; good grooming — not just neatness, but an impeccable look; individuality — the ability to be a 'type' without ever breaking the going rules of fashion on her own campus; make-up know-how — the sense to know how much to wear to look her best; pretty hair — and a knack for taking care of it; an overall wardrobe plan — that works off campus as well."

The candidate chosen to represent V.S.C. will be photographed in (1) a campus outfit, (2) a weekend outfit, (3) a party dress. The ten girls chosen by Glamour from all the candidates entered by colleges and universities in America will be the guests of Glamour in New York City for five days.

The Canopy will choose V.S.C.'s candidate before April 1.

Last year's "Ten Best-dressed College Girls" as chosen by Glamour were Carolyn Rice, Oregon State; Gregory Cox, Stephens; Norma Lozier, Eastern New Mexico; Joy Brooks, Barnard; Sally Reilly, Marywood; Linda Williams, Averett; Joy Keller, Western Maryland; Sara Van Weyk, University of North Carolina; Claire Groger, UCLA; Dinah Park, Texas Western.

Homecoming Parade

by JOE PATTERSON

On Friday February 14, Valdosta State College will stage its annual Homecoming Day Parade. The floats will line up in front of the college on Patterson Street, and the parade will begin promptly at 4:00 P.M. This is one of the biggest events of the school year, and it is hoped that as many organizations as possible will participate.

The following are the names of the organizations and the names of the floats which they have entered in the parade: Bearded Boys—Treasure Island; Sports Club—Old Woman Who Lived in a Shoe; TKE Fraternity—Playboy in Fantasy Land; Fili Fortuna Fraternity—Whazit; SGA—Cinderella; Zeta Chi Sorority—Legend of Good Women; SAO Sorority—Wizard of Oz; Delta Xi Sorority—Lion and the Mouse; Sock and Buskin Club—Alice in Wonderland; Math-Science Club—Sputnik; Alumni Association—Fantasy on a Maypole; English Club—Witches' Scene from Macbeth; Education Club—Mary had a Little Lamb; Junior Class—Aladdin and His Lamp; Senior Class—Little Abner.

It is hoped that the following clubs will be able to enter a float in the parade: Sigma Epsilon, Fraternity, Religious Organizations, Fins and Flippers, International Relations Club, Circle K, Business Club, Freshman Class and Sophomore Class. If these organizations should decide to enter a float, they should contact the Parade Marshall, Joe Patterson, by Monday, January 3rd.

At the time this paper goes to press, three bands have accepted invitations to be in the parade. They are the Adel High School Band, Berrien County High School Band and the Valdosta State College Band.

Students Selects Five Girls To Be In Homecoming Court

The election of Homecoming Court was held on January 29. The following girls are among the top five chosen, therefore these girls will appear in the court, Miriam Barnes, Glennie Cooper, Gaye Griffiths, Janet Vaughn, and Penny Williams.

The Queen will be crowned on February 14. A special assembly is to be held at 10:20, until then the name of the Queen will remain a secret. The serenaders will sing at this assembly and the cheerleaders will also have a pep rally. Each student is encouraged to attend since this will be the beginning of the homecoming festivities.

On Tuesday, February 18, at 8 p.m. Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity will present their annual talent competition in the college gymnasium. The two winners, one from each sex, will be given the titles "Miss V.S.C. Talent" and "Mr. V.S.C. Talent." They will receive a gold framed award and will be interviewed or perform on radio station WGAF.

Ballots were placed in each student's mail box so that the student body could choose 10 contestants: five men and five women. No fee will be charged to clubs, classes, sororities and fraternities wishing to sponsor a contestant. Those students, who were not chosen by the student body or sponsored by an organization and wish to enter the contest, will be auditioned. Therefore, everyone will have a chance to exhibit his or her talent. The list of entries and a tentative program will be printed in the next issue of the "Canopy." If there is a demand of variety acts including more than one person, a special prize will be given.

Contestants will be judged on talent, originality, and presentation of the act. Teke Fraternity will supply entertainment during the intermission while the winners are being selected.

Jeanne Connell, "Miss V.S.C. Talent of 1957," will make a special appearance. "Mr. V.S.C. Talent of 1957" was Odd Haugan, a foreign student.

Frater Alan Pendleton of WGAF will be master of ceremonies. Frater Jerome Clegg will direct and all wishing information about the show should contact him within the next week.

News Notes

ALAN'S ALLEY

Alan Pendleton, host for Alan's Alley (formerly known as Alan's Platter Party) states that his program is now heard each Saturday morning from 11:00 to 12:00 A.M. on Radio Station WGAF (910). Requests for music in the pop field are invited. Either deposit your requests in box 168 or mail them to the station. Only written requests are accepted.

A NOTE TO THE STUDENT BODY

As you know, we have signed a contract with a name band for the homecoming dance. The tickets are only $2.00 per couple which is a bargain. However, at this time only a small number of tickets have been sold. If we don't have a good representation (at least 200 couples) from the student body at this dance, there will not be a name band at VSC

It was announced at the last Sock and Buskin meeting that a three act play would definitely be presented in the Pound Hall auditorium at North Campus on March 4 and 5. The title of the production will be "Death Takes a Holiday" by Alberto Casella, rewritten for the American stage by Walter Ferris. The play is a comedy in three acts.

The cast has not yet been chosen and anyone who would like to be in the play should watch the flashboard for the date of try-outs and contact Miss Louise Sawyer, Sock and Buskin advisor. The cast calls for seven men and six women.

Story of the Play

The complete text as acted with great success at the Ethel Barrymore Theatre, New York will be the one used by the cast. This striking drama has established itself among the important plays of our time. It is based on the poetic conception of death suspending all activities for three days during which period he falls in love with a beautiful girl, and through her realizes why mortals fear him. The mood of this play is established with remarkable skill and while it is charged with exciting moments, it is a perfect background for a love-story that is as simple as it is appealing. The character who symbolizes Death is for the most part a very human sort of person, with none of the conventional claptrap that might easily have been dragged in for mere effect. A play that arouses thought, stimulates discussion, and presents a novel and optimistic philosophy on the problems of love and death. "Death Takes a Holiday", in spite of the early restrictions that prevented widespread production at first, has established itself as one of the most popular and successful plays for amateurs. It is one of those combinations that appeals to schools, colleges, churches, Little and Community Theatres.

Real Gone On Those Posts

"Where you see a vehicle parked today, you'll find a post tomorrow." —deduced philosophy of VSC students.

You drive your car to school for the first period class and circle the campus three times or more before you find a parking space. Hurriedly you walk the distance to the administration building, only to find yourself tardy. When the class is over, you hurry to catch the bus for your North Campus class. Too late, it's overflowing, so you decide to drive. You get out there and about thirty to fifty other car owners did the same. Your problem? To find a place to park. You can't go but just so far on the east road of the North Campus. Why? Simple — You might plunge over one of those cliffs in the road down into a deep gorge or canyon. Then you'd have the expense of hiring a wrecker (or crane) to extract your vehicle.

You drive about the few open spaces left (those that do not look like the wall of a fort) and finally find one in which you might deposit your car. You go to class and later your instructor informs you that the grounds supervisor is looking for the person, who parked his car in a certain location. You think twice then conclude it's you! Then you ask yourself how far this can go. Is there a limit? Will the supply of posts be exhausted? Will the VSC campuses soon be enclosed with a combination picket fence of metal and wooden posts?

There is a limit and it has been reached!
 With 100 acres of land, there is certainly room for adequate parking areas.

A parking lot could be constructed immediately south of the administration building for the Main Campus. There are no expensive shrubs on this part of the campus. At North Campus a lot for parking could be constructed immediately behind the auditorium, between the two dormitories. The construction of these lots would no in any way mar the appearance of the campuses. In fact, such a move would improve the campuses appearance. Then comes the convenience of parking lots constructed in these areas. One would not have to walk as far since the lots would be located near the two main buildings on the campuses. Asphalt could be used in the construction and mud holes over the campus would be partially eliminated.

What will be the consequence when someone rips his bumper off on one of these inventions or someone stumbles over one, suffering physical harm?

College Newspapers Analyze Student's Ability of Expression

(ACP) — Fun and games on campus get some editorial consideration. This from the Fresno, Cal., junior college RAMPAGE:
 The youth of today is probably the group which is most heavily attacked by public criticism and censure. The younger college generation is not excluded from this category.
 Looking at the college students of today and making a comparison with those of the past, however, can result in a rather startling conclusion.
 During the 1920's and 30's college campuses in this country saw widespread outbreaks of radical behavior. Communist groups were springing up on various campuses along with the soapbox speakers who voiced their radical opinions. Also, bathtub gin parties and swallowing goldfish were the rage in college life.

 Today's college student is far less apt to express himself or his inner turmoil through such unconventional methods as those practiced 20 and 30 years ago.
 While it may be good that the college student of today has become far less explosive in his mannerisms, the aura of conformity he has assumed may be considered lethal.
 This situation may be considered far more dangerous than a riotous student outbreak over the outcome of a football game.
 With today's stress on social acceptance and security many students have been rendered either fearful or incapable of formulating opinions and ideas of their

AN OLD TIRADE

I'll begin by dwelling on the old, worn tirade — school spirit.

It seems although this intangible force, commonly employed by many schools as a "glue" to hold everyone together and make them put out for ole Alma Mater, is now a dying ember on an ash pile of school apathy here at VSC.

At this point, Homecoming, the top event of the season, enters the picture — It's date is February 14-16.

The fact is, Homecoming, without a little exhilarating school spirit, will be as glum as grandpa with grandma. Plans seem to be going along fairly well, but at the moment, something else is needed. Something else is needed. Some pep.

Last year, VSC's Homecoming gained national acclaim when several industrious students invited Eisenhower to the shindig.

Our good president couldn't make it last year and I doubt if he can make it this year, either. (Golf and federalizing the national guard keeps a man busy, you know!)

So without Ike we need some other catastrophic event to instill the homecoming fever.

At this point, if you think all the lines above are just mushy idealism, you may stop reading if you wish.

THE BEARDS: A BRIGHT LIGHT

However, on the other hand, there is one bright light shining through this utter gloom. This light tells us that some kind of spirit exists.

I am referring to the coming of the beards. Chances are that you have made a casual notice of the young men who are sprouting flourishing beards on campus. If you haven't, stop reading now and look up over your shoulder.

At any rate, these men have undertaken the project of growing these immaculate "gravy-catchers" for the primary purpose of having them in full bloom at Homecoming.

So friend, don't give up. With this beard echelon on the front lines and with Joe Patterson and the student government people working behind the scenes, we may have a good Homecoming yet. Now, how about your part?

OFF CAME HIS SHIRT

This writer was impressed recently by the quick action of L. Haymons in an emergency situation. Haymons, said editor of this paper, was one of the first persons to arrive at the scene of an auto accident in which two students of this school were involved.

One of the students had been cut quite severely on his head by shattering glass and he was bleeding readily.

Haymons immediately, upon reaching him, jerked off his jacket and shirt and used the latter to cover the cuts and slow the bleeding.

He accompanied the victim to the local hospital and stayed there for two hours — he was shirtless and missed two classes.

To top it all, he lost his jacket in the confusion of the wreck.

All in all, was this action heroism or just one human being helping another in time of distress?

Under any definition, I commend Lester.

SHOULD GIRLS WEAR FLOWERS TO THE HOME-COMING DANCE?

SUSAN CHANCE: I think that it should be left up to the boys, but flowers add an awful lot to a dance.

PAM PAULK: Yes, because homecoming is the biggest event on campus.

GAY GRIFFIS: I think flowers are pretty, but are not very practical because they crush so easily.

WILLENA D.: Flowers get in the way.

CAL ABDULLA: Yes, a dance has to be formal all the way.

ARTHUR FOREHAND: Yes! Who ever heard of a formal dance without flowers.

JOE PATTERSON: It should be left up to the individual. No one should dictate to you.

LARRY CRAWFORD: Flowers are nice but expense should be kept to a minimum.

U R I Professor Blames Faculty For "Intellectual Void"

(ACP) — Professors at University of Rhode Island scored that school's "anti-intellectualism" in a recent special seminar on the subject.

The BEACON recorded these comments:

From a speech professor — Blame for the "intellectual void" belongs to faculty, administration, secondary schools, homes and students themselves, with special word for administrators.

"The administration has encouraged social life in fraternities, muscle rather than brain, and a student-controlled campus," said the professor, Dr. Robert E. Will. (BEACON editors disagreed with his view.)

"Most students don't know what an intellectual pursuit is," he continued.

(ACP) — From the OREGONIAN, Colorado School of Mines, comes this name for a party: "Flunk and Forget dance." Sophomores at the Golden, Colo., school are planning it.

"Between The Backs" Features Swedish Best Seller, "Unto A Good Land"

By Dillard Ensley (Unto A Good Land By Vilhelm Moberg)

It was June, 1850, and the sailing vessel CHARLOTTE reached the port of New York carrying some seventy emigrants from Sweden.

A long trip still lay ahead, and the travel-weary immigrants set off in the hot American summer: up the Hudson, across Lake Erie, west to the Mississippi, on into Minnesota. The first winter was hard; but at last spring came, and the Americans began to plow the good earth.
 Like the Israelites of Exodus, they had come at last "unto a good land and large."

When UNTO A GOOD LAND was published in Sweden it sold 90,000 copies in its first few weeks — an equivalent, comparing populations, to two million buyers in this country. Readers of Moberg's earlier book, THE EMIGRANTS, will recognize many of his characters in the present narrative.

Vilhelm Moberg was one of the Swedes left behind by the great wave of migration in the last century. His grandparents had seven children, six of whom — all but his mother — emigrated.

As a boy in Sweden he read letters from America, looked at pictures from America, read American magazines and newspapers. He has more than a hundred American relatives, many of whom he visited while writing this book. All of them left home hoping for a better life: enough land to raise food for their children, a country where there were no rigid classes — in America, anyone could call the President himself "thou," and not take off his cap unless he wished.
 Moberg makes all of this clear in the story of his little band of wanderers, seeking new homes, good land, in a wide, strange, frightening, rich, wonderful country.

Initiation was held in the S.A.O. room of the House-In-the-woods on January 14. Seventeen of the pladges were received as sisters into the sorority.

The next S.A.O. project will be to work on a float for the Homecoming parade on February 14.

Fads and Fashions

by SANDRA STANFIELD

As you stroll through the halls of VSC, let your mind wander back 50, 75, or even 100 years, to the days when the seas were full of pirates, the West was the home of the Indians, and a real gentleman of the old South wore a beard. Yes, these are some of the thoughts that might run through your mind as you look at the more handsome young men on our campus today. You're indeed very much in the Twentieth Century, and the students are very modern even with their beards also very fashion minded.

Every day you see these young gentlemen wearing the latest in fashions and looking very collegiate. They have even acquired a certain manner that goes with their fetching looks, mainly they have started smoking king size cigs so as not to harm a hair of their growing beards.

Many hours must be spent each morning, before they make their public appearance to the social life of VSC, so that they can obtain just the right style to fit each different personality. So until homecoming, I say, good luck to you girls who date boys with beards.

JANE PURVIS AND GEORGE WALLACE, BIG WHEELS

Wallace and Purvis Cop "Big Wheel" Titles...

by Tommy Newsome

In this issue the Canopy reaches into the ranks of the senior and sophomore classes to select the Big Wheels. Pictured above are the honored two — George Wallace, senior, and an all-round V.S.C. student and Jane Purvis, a leader among the sophomores.

JANE
Jane Purvis was born in Savannah, Ga. in 1938. Her present hometown, however, is Pembroke. She graduated from Bryan County High there two years ago.

Now, in her second year at V.S.C., Jane takes a generous hand in the extracurricular activities of the school. She is president of the Sigma Alpha Omega Sorority and the Panhellenic Association on campus.

(Editor's Note: The "Big Wheels" are chosen by staff members on the basis of leadership only. To be eligible, a student must be head of an important organization or hold two minor offices.)

Jane is a member of the Sigma Alpha Chi Honor Society and the Business Club. She belongs to the Methodist Church.

When questioned about her future plans, Jane says she would like to "get her degree, work for about a year and then get married." (Attention all eligible bachelors!!) She is majoring in Secretarial Science and minoring in English.

Among her likes are water skiing, reading and watching good movies. She has a talent for playing the piano, but modestly admits that she doesn't play very well.

Jane admits to only one dislike:

having to wear glasses. Nevertheless, glasses are quite becoming to this popular and versatile co-ed from the sophomore clan. She certainly deserves the title, "Big Wheel."

GEORGE
George Wallace, a personable fellow with an easy-going manner, is well known to the inhabitants of this section.

Although he was born in Stockton, Ga. in '32, he has been living in Valdosta for many years. He is a graduate of VHS where he was pretty notable on the basketball court.

George has moved around a bit since high school days. He is a veteran of four years service in the Navy. This year, he is a senior and completing his Business Ad. major.

He is well established in extra-curricular activities. This year he is president of the International Relations Club on Campus. He is active in this organization — last year he held the post of treasurer. George is also president of the Sigma Alpha Chi and president of the Wesley Foundation. (Pretty active, eh?)

Scholastically, cGeorge is among the leading students on campus. He makes the Dean's list regularly.

Recently he was named as one of the students in the "Who's Who In American Universities and

Glennie Cooper Elected TKE Frat Sweetheart

Glennie Cooper was elected Tau Kappa Epsilon "Sweetheart" to replace Shirley McGowan who did not return this quarter. She will

She will make a special appearance at the "Mr and Miss VSC Talent" Competition and present one of the awards.

George, who plans to go into the banking or insurance business by-the-way, is a married man. Mrs. Wallace is the erstwhile Darlene Sprouse.

Sports of all kinds and reading are listed among his hobbies, but George says he likes the movies and good ole bullsessions, also.

In comenting about V.S.C., George offered some very commendable words. He praised the excellent faculty of the school and said, "I have enjoyed my years at VSC very much and I will always be interested in the growth and progress of this fine school."

George Wallace deserves the accolades of being termed an ideal student. Certainly he is a "Big Wheel" at VSC.

Sporting' Around

by Sidney Futch

I learned last week that VSC may become a member of an eight-team athletic league here in Georgia. Plans are being considered by VSC and seven other senior colleges in Georgia about forming a conference in which the teams of each school could compete against each other in several sports, including basketball and baseball.

Colleges interested in forming the conference other than VSC are Berry College, LaGrange, North Georgia, Oglethorpe, Piedmont, West Georgia, and Shorter College.

If the conference could be worked out, it would save a lot of headaches that VSC's Coach Cottingham and coaches of other schools have when they try to work out a schedule.

According to Dr. Ralph Thaxton, there has already been one meeting held by the officials of the interested schools and all of them seem to be in favor of the proposed conference. If the conference is organized, it will enable VSC to play teams of their class and power.

The organizing of the conference might also help VSC give athletic aid to athletes who show ability. Although this is not definite at all, there is still a good chance that the college might soon could.

It seems that the University of Georgia has really rubbed Tech around in sports during the past few months. If you will recall, Georgia's Bulldogs beat the Tech Yellow Jackets 7-0 last November. I believe this was Georgia's first win since 1948. Then basketball season rolled around and Georgia defeated Tech every time they played them until January 20, when Tech finally beat Georgia.

Massey Clarkston of Georgia Tech has written a poem entitled "The Drought is Over." I was looking through "The Atlanta Constitution" the other day and ran across a copy of it. I thought you readers might like to read it so here it is.

It all started last November
When Tech men from near and far
Saw their team play Georgia
When things were under par.

Dan's Band Wagon was quickly started
All Bulldogs were asked to rally.
For nothing had ever been so great
As the sight of that one tally.

The past was quickly forgotten
Like a bad dream during a nap.
The long drought had been ended
By Fire Marshal Theron Sapp.

The drought had now set in on Tech
Each loyal Bulldog would call
They even got more excited
With their victory in basketball.

But now we start a new year
And things are going great
Two victories over Old Georgia
A fine way to begin '58.

It certainly has been a long wait
To reach the land of clover
But thanks to Hyder and his boys
The terrible Tech drought is over.

VSC Rebels Capture Second Win; Edge NGC 65 to 58, Sat.

The Valdosta State Rebels captured their second win of the season by downing North Georgia in a nip and tuck battle 65 to 58 last Saturday night in the VSC Gym.

The firedup Rebels took the lead in the first few minutes of the game, but were threatened all the way by the North Georgia five.

At half time the Rebels held a slight margin of 28 to 27. The local cakers had a 15 - 6 margin midway the first half.

Coach Cottingham's Rebels have lost twelve games and have won two, thus far, with six games left to play.

Starting forward Jerry Studdard, who has been crowding Georgia Basketeers in point average per game, led the scoring with 19 points.

Other Rebels making the scoring column were Johnny Purvis with 13 points. Doug Parrish hit for 11, Al Stevens sank 10 as did Ed Gandy. Studstill added 2 points to finish out the scoring.

Studdard, who joined the Rebels only recently, has maintained a remarkable 25.5 points per game and is second in the state in average points per game. In first place in Harold Van Metter of North Georgia, who scored only 10 points against the Rebels Saturday night.

The Rebels play two home games here Friday and Saturday nights when they face Piedmont College. Game time is 8:00 p.m.

Study and Sputnik

(ACP) — The college press reacted to the Sputnik story and the look at our educational system that resulted from American worry over the man-made satellite.

Students heard speakers on the subjects and discussed the future themselves. Here are typical examples of the talk.

"When Sputnik passed over Australia it went 'beep, beep'. As it passed over South America and Europe it went 'beep, beep'.

But when it went over the United States it went 'ha, ha'."

So said Countess Alexandra Tolsby, daughter of the Russian writer, in a lecture at Saint Mary-of-the-woods college, Indiana.

She explained, Russian brains have always been great, and the Americans seem to have forgotten that. Scientific development is the only outlet for these people's minds," he said, "for they have no other opportunity to create."

According to FAGOTS, the college's newspaper, Countess Tolsby feels Americans are playing into the Kremlin's hands over Sputnik, not remembering that while the Russians have the first satellite "they have no freedom; their food is scanty; they aren't allowed to create or think for themselves. It is as though they are tied up."
