Dance Club Organized By Mr. Yeomans

The Dance Club, after being inactive on the VSC Campus for the past year, has been reorganized by Mr. Yeomans, local dance instructor and director of some physical education classes on campus. The Club under the leadership of Penny Williams as President has had several meetings for the purpose of organizing and making plans for the on coming year.

Tentative plans include participation by the club in the centennial at Quitman to be held later this year. The members have been working on some simple dance steps for this occasion.

Clifton McDuffie, a Freshman from Valdosta, copped the position of President of the Freshman Class of Valdosta State College, winning over three other candidates for the job.

Sue Wright won over her opponents for the office of Vice-President and number one assistant to Clifton. She also defeated three competitors.

The candidate winning out for the secretary's post was Mary Slade, while Joyce Denson nailed down the position of Freshman class treasurer.

Student Government representatives were also elected. Sandy Stanfield received, by student choice, the position of girl's representative, and Charles Hughes, a freshman from Waycross, will represent the boys.

Sock and Buskin To Present 3-Act Play In Nov.

"George and Margaret", a three act play, will be presented by the members of the Sock and Buskin Club during the first week of November. Try-outs for parts were held last week but names of the cast were not available.

At the club's regular meeting Tuesday night, October 21, Jo Rayburn was chosen to act as historian and to keep up a scrapbook of the club's activities. New members were welcomed and cordially invited to take part in all the Sock and Buskin's activities.

Pine Cone Staff Announces Plans For 59 Annual

Advertising money will be used for adding approximately 4 color pictures to the 1959 annual. More pages will be devoted to campus activities. Plans are that Homecoming will be a big feature. A four page section is being devoted to this event. Other outstanding events will also be on feature pages.

This year the Pine Cone will have its own reigning queen. She will be chosen by Steve Allen of National television and motion picture fame. The staff plans to select a representative group of campus beauties and from them choose 5 finalist. Photographs of these five will be sent to Mr.

Allen in New York and he will pick from them Miss Pine Cone of 1959 and her court. Miss Pine Cone will be presented at the Christmas Holly Hop which the annual staff is sponsoring this year.

Staff members are still needed. The staff meets every Monday morning at activity period in the Publicity office. Any one desiring to work on the 1959 annual contact Jerome Clegg, editor before November 3.

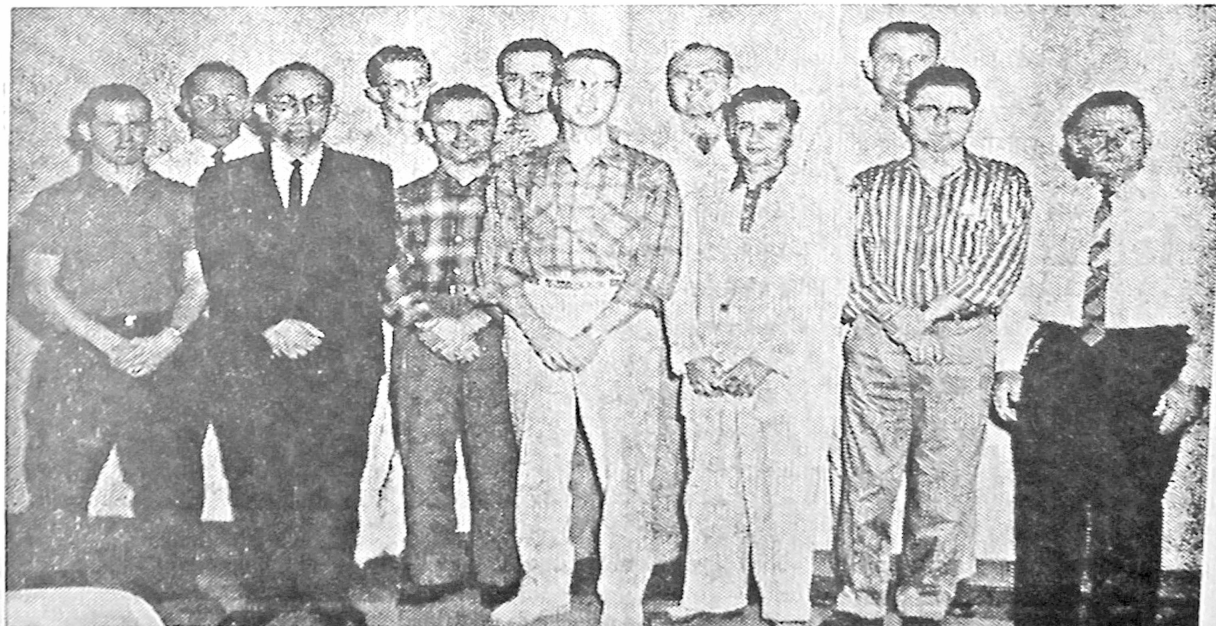

Ministral Association Holds Luncheon Rev. Jack D. Smith Speaks To Group

The Ministerial Association met for a luncheon Thursday, October 23, in the college dining hall. The members present were Mr. William Cabard, sponsor of the association, Vance Mathis, Glenn Hobby, Joe Webb, Robert Sabo, Doyle Wetherington, and Ira Dent. Also present were Fred Foster, Virgil Lee, Gibbs Liggins, and Floyd Berger who were formally received into the organization at the business meeting which followed the luncheon.

The group was especially pleased to have as their guest the Rev. Jack D. Smith, pastor of the Methodist Church in Wadley, Georgia. The Rev. Smith related several humorous and interesting experiences that were his while a student at VSC.

It was decided that there would be a meeting of the Ministerial Association on the first Monday of each month at the activities period. Membership in the organization is open to all pre-ministerial students, or to students who are interested in any phase of full time Christian service. Interested students should contact any of the members for further information regarding membership.

The officers this year are Gleen Hobby, President; Don Powell, Vice-President; Doyle Wetherington, Treasurer; Joe Webb, Secretary; Vance Mathis, Publicity Chairman; and Ira Dent, Program Chairman.

Sandra Hardin Miss Calendar Girl

On Tuesday night, the Brothers of Mu Alpha Colony of Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity presented the first Valdosta State College Calendar Girl Beauty Pageant in the college gym. The highlight of the evening was the crowning of "Miss Calendar Girl of 1959." Among the elaborate settings, twenty-eight girls competed in order to appear on the 1959 V. S. C. Calendar to be printed and sold by the Fraternity in December.

In the first part, the girls were judged on personality and poise. The second part was the photognic competition; and the third, the evening gown competition. Based on three parts, twelve girls were chosen. They are Mary Carrell Smith, Pam Paulk, Katie Schmidt, Judy Starling, Penny Williams, Sandra Hardin, Judy Thraikill, Peggy Thraikill, Joyce Denson, Susan Mitcham, Jean Hooks, and Jacqueline Mullin. AS I SEE IT . . .

I love criticism. Especially do I love criticism of The Campus Canopy for it shows that the paper is at least being read to some degree. Believe as you will of my "to the point" column last issue, it got results — the kind I had hoped for in the beginning.

Students, whether you thought my belief were harsh and radical, it is with the greatest of sincerity that I would like to make the following statement. Several of the faculty members agreed with me 100 per cent. As long as I have their support, I will continue to capitalize upon the weaknesses and shortcomings of this entire student body.

One particular problem on campus, which disgusts me to the utmost, is the fact that $46.00 have been spent to furnish a band for the students, and thus far there have been fewer mouths than horns to blow; this is a problem foreign to all other colleges in the state.

In spite of the fact that we have a very capable band director, the response could better be compared to a singing school directed by Roy Acuff. What more can you ask for? What else will it take to please this student body?

By observing some of the actions at the polls of last week's freshman class election I noted several very representative examples of mass American apathy.

Students often completely miss the vote and fail to grasp the importance of individual voting in any field of society — either in a college or community position.

Would you vote for a candidate for President of the United States merely because he sat once beside you in biology and gave you a stick of chewing gum? Would you vote for a candidate because he or she had the most "darling eyes" you ever saw? Would you vote for a person just because your "steady" said he or she got along well with the "crowd"? Or would you vote for a person who had the qualities of leadership, intelligence, and ability to perform capably the duties of the particular office?

If we are to uphold the strong American tradition and maintain the inheritance of sound thinking given to us by forefathers, then we must realize here and now the importance of being a citizen in this modern world. Let us begin here at Valdosta State College with the desired practices that will condition and mold us into the type of adults we should be.

Gamma Mu Chapter Meets Oct. 23 Group Observe "Founders Day"

Converse Hall was the site of a traditional meeting of the Gamma Mu Chapter of Kappa Delta Sorority October 23. Other than observing Founders Day, the KD pledges felt like it was a "pretty" big day in their life for it was their very first pledge meeting.

Boys, right away the KD's made plans for you in their social life. Big plans are underway for a most exciting weekend in November.

These "gals" are "on the ball"! Other than being strictly socially minded they got right down to business by electing pledge officers. The girls chosen to lead the pledge class in the exciting activities of this year are as follows: Susan Mitchum, President; Louise Wight, Vice-President; Jackie Mullin, Secretary; Carroll Howard, Treasurer. The KD's also proudly boast of offices and positions held by other members of the class. KD's Joyce Denson, Mary Slade, and Sue Wright were chosen to help in leading the freshman class, while Mary and Sue, as newly elected cheerleaders, will be here to boost the Rebel spirit.

"Being a KD is no easy task", says Marilyn Dixon, chairman of the pledges, as she read out the requirements. To keep the KD "ball rolling" is a personal task chosen by the new pledges: Mary Carol Smith, Louise Wright, Judy Elmore, Susan Mitchum, Sue Wright, Bebe Key, Terry Meeks, Mary Slade, Joyce Denson, Paula Vance, Jo Rich, Jackie Mullin, Jan Wells, Jean Twilley, Sandra Massey, Beverly Ann Green, Giner Culpepper, Tutter Webb, Carroll Howard, Sandra Ford, and Ann Covington.

Parade of Opinion

WHAT DO YOU THINK OF THE IDEA OF V. S. C. HAVING A BAND

Sandra Jones — I think a band would really help our school — it would certainly promote spirit among V. S. C. students.

Mary Slade — It's a great idea — let's put it to work. It'd really help V. S. C. spirit.

James David — At last years last basketball game the band appeared for the first time and the effect it had on V. S. C. spirit could easily be seen.

Larry Crawford — It's very good for school moral and I'm looking forward to their first appearance; the students in the band have devoted themselves to a very worthwhile activity.

Ellen Griffin — There isn't anything that arouses more enthusiasm among the students than their own school band.

Bobbie Bryan — It's a great idea if you can get the whole student body behind it.

WHAT IS LIFE

What is life — there is no definite answer agreed upon by any two people in the world yet we all crave it. Life to one person is the day today for most of them while to another it is the relaxation of the mind and body following the Theory "live today for tomorrow you might be dead."

The art of living is one which cannot be taught in any school or college — it is something which each individual has to learn for himself. You can take life serious and accept the knocks and bruises which it will give you and from these learn the lesson of acceptance, or you can take life as one big happy joke swaying and giving with the knocks of life.

The "dead" serious person in life can be easily compared with a long firm bridge or a tall building in which there has been left no room for the sway — it will sooner or later crack and come crashing to the ground — which in the living organism is equaled by a nervous break-down — while at the same time if the bridge or building had been built with the allowance to sway and swing it would forever stand.

I ask of you, look around you and see the finer things in life which will lead you to become like the swaying building. Relax and enjoy life — money, position, and reputation aren't the only things in life.

The ability to reach an utopian life is within each of us yet very few of us ever reach it.

Something of Value

By Lamar Pearson

This week my column is taking a turn toward the sporty field. Let's call it a Support The Rebels Drive. Perhaps some of you will say, why write about such a subject? Well I think that it's high time that someone did.

It's a little early in the season and maybe I am encroaching on Jim Broxson's field, but nevertheless I think that something should be said about the matter. When the Greeks came up with the idea of competitive sports I believe that they fully intended for every able man to participate either physically or verbally. Here at V. S. C. very few men actively participate and the cheering section is pathetic.

Last year Coach Cottingham did a commendable job with the scanty material that he had to work with. All of the boys did an All-American job as far as trying for the ole Alma Mater, but where was Joe Student when the Rebels hit the field. He sure wasn't there to support the team. At most of the home games the faculty came very near to outnumbering the students. Yet you the student's curse the ball team when you haven't even seen them play and have no grounds whatsoever to base your opinions on.

It doesn't cost you, the student, a dime to see a good basketball or baseball game, yet consistently you, the student, fail to turn out in very large numbers. Let's get behind Coach Colson and the Rebs this year. It isn't easy to give your best when you are playing before empty bleachers.

At the Oglethorpe game last year a good deal of enthusiasm was injected into the students attending that game, but if it takes a riot to get the student to support his team, then athletics at Valdosta State have failed to serve their intended purpose.

Last year much to the dismay of the student body of Valdosta State College, over three hundred dollars worth of books were borrowed from the Library and the borrower forgot to return them. My friends, the borrower mentioned was a thief. A person of very little character and no principles whatsoever.

Valdosta State has a fine Library, but if this sort of vandalism is allowed to continue many very valuable pieces of literature will be lost and this loss is not always easily replaced.

Psychologists say that in every group of ten one is a potential thief. Well! If that's so, we have about sixty possibilities on the campus, but probably there are not near that many. If you thieves must steal, please leave public property alone; however, remember this, you may fool all of the people some of the time and some of the people all of the time, but unfortunately you can't fool all of the people all of the time. Be sure your sins don't find you out.

No one ever committed a perfect crime! You can fool the masses, but you can't fool yourself. After all the thief in Dostoyevski's "Crime and Punishment" was very clever, but justice was effected and he paid very handsomely for his offense against society's moral code.

BOOK REVIEW

"Below The Salt . . ."

Perhaps one of the best historical fiction novels that a person could read that still maintains a good deal of true facts is "Below The Salt". The book concerns the mystical life of U. S. Senator Patrick O'Rawn.

Very rapidly the scene changes from the western part of the U. S. to the grassy plains of beautiful Ireland. The Senator O'Rawn believes that he can find the missing link in his life, the mysterious medieval spirit that continues to haunt his 20th century mind. The theory of Reincarnation is implicated very much in the book. The story of the Magna Carta and how it was obtained is the central theme. Once you have read this piece of literature I am sure that you as well as I will become an ardent fan of Mr. Thomas B. Costain.

Plans Are Laid For Regular Vespers

Leaders of religious organizations on campus met recently and planned what promises to be a very interesting and helpful series of vespers programs. The theme, planned to relate Christianity to every day living, is "I am a Christian," and features a doctor, a business man, an educator, and a homemaker. Each has a most worthwhile message, and all students are urged to hear them at the weekly Vespers Service, each Thursday at 6:15 p. m.

Speakers for the series are: October 23, Mrs. John Langdale; October 30, Dr. Richard Winston; November 6, Mr. Harry Lindstrom; and November 20, Mrs. Nan Allen.

CONGRATULATIONS

By Joe Webb

Congratulations to the Freshmen Class for their good sportsmanship and cooperation during "rat week" and "rat court". All but a few complied with the rules, conducted themselves well during court, and had a good time. Last year's Freshman Class was unfortunate in having a few undesirables (of which I was one) spoil it for everyone. These few enticed a few more into rebelling and the results were shameful. However, I must not here that the organization this year was much better than it was last year. Therefore "rating" was accepted easier. Congratulations should also go out to Joe Patterson, and Joe Tarpley who did a fine job.

As long as congratulations are in order, the new Freshmen Officers should be recognized. They make up a fine group that can help make this Freshmen Class the best ever. I sincerely hope that the class will support them all the way. Best of luck, freshmen, and welcome to the student body of Valdosta State College.

Four Foreign Students Attend V. S. C.; State Ideas On American Customs

Valdosta State College has four foreign students this year, each one representing a different country. They are forceful personalities, each with a keen sense of humor, but also a certain sincerity that has won for them the warm friendship of every other student whom they have met at Valdosta State.

Delta Theta Chapter Entertains Forty-five Rushees October 6th

Delta Theta chapter of Alpha Delta Pi entertained forty-five rushees on October 6 at the first rush party of the fall quarter at Valdosta State College.

The party was held at the home of Miss Gayle Luke on White Oak Drive. The predominating theme was illustrated by a large sign with multi-colored letters spelling out "A. D. Pi Soda Shop." After the rushees had been served, some of them participated in a "Hula-Hoop Contest." The winner was rushee Katie Schmidh.

Entertainment was provided by a group of the sorority sisters dressed as waiters. They performed in a skit to demonstrate to the rushees that Alpha Delta "Pie" is the only thing that will satisfy the hunger of a freshman girl. Those acting in the skit were Marie Converse, Palsy Langford, Lucille Helms, Kay Browne, Judy Starling, and Penny Williams.

Mrs. P. M. Prescott of Atlanta, President of Alpha I Province, arrived Monday to assist the Delta Theta chapter during rush week. During the week preceding rush week, Mrs. Howard Haberstadt, Field Counselor of Alpha Delta Pi, came to Valdosta to assist the chapter.

On October 9 the Delta Theta chapter entertained the rushees at a "heaven party" at the home of Mrs. R. B. Whitehead on Georgia Avenue.

The rooms of the home were attractively decorated with various flower arrangements. On the coffee table the letters "A.D.Pi" were spelled out with pink camellias.

Punch, cakes, and sandwiches were served by the alumnae of Alpha Delta Pi.

Entertainment was in the form of two skits presented by the sorority sisters. Those acting in the first skit, were Miriam Barnes, Becca McGraw, Pam Paulk, Kay Brown and Palsy Langford. The second skit, entitled "The Beginning of the Badge" was presented by Elaine Studstill, Chandler Christian, Gayle Luke, Marilyn Hughes, and Penny Williams.

After singing "I Love the Pin" the sisters walked the rushees back to the campus through the Camellia Trail.

Wenche Marie Schanche, an attractive blond-haired, blue-eyed Norwegian, tells of her native country and hometown of Elta, Norway. Elta is a city of 8,000 inhabitants; and it is only a four hour drive from Hammerfest, Norway, the most northern city in the world. The climate in Norway is very much unlike ours. Norway has seven months of deep snow, and from the end of November to the middle of January there is no sun. The days are as dark as our nights and the automobiles have to burn their headlights even at mid-day while traveling. During the summer there are two months of constant sunlight. The sunlight is never harsh or sharp, but it is more like the evening setting sun in Georgia. The sun at midnight is aptly called the "Midnight Sun." Wenche taught the first and fourth grades after finishing high school. She has had no previous College or University training yet she is a junior at V. S. C. She is majoring in elementary education. Wenche speaks the English, French, German, and Norwegian languages. There is a school in Norway, usually ten months in duration, that Wenche attended for five months. At this school the young ladies of Norway learn to cook, sew and to do all the things necessary in managing the home. Wenche pointed out that she especially enjoyed the few days she spent with Mr. Green, a local Rotarian, before beginning her life as a student at V. S. C.

Candita Areceo is from Merida, Yucatan, Mexico. She left Mexico in late August and spent a week in Miami. From there she went to New York to spend several enjoyable days before arriving at Valdosta, September 22. Dr. Thaxton and several other members of the Valdosta Rotary Club met her at the train terminal. Candita says she thoroughly enjoys everything about Valdosta State with, perhaps, the exception of tests. She seems to be impressed by the beauty of Valdosta. Carlos Alvarez is a familiar name around the V. S. C. campus. Carlos has begun the second year of his sojourn here. His sister-in-law encouraged him to attend college in Georgia while his father wanted him to attend one of the Northern institutions. Carlos took his sister-in-law's advice and he has fallen in love with Georgia. He is majoring in history and plans to teach in either Georgia or Cuba. There are four outstanding Universities in Cuba but Carlos prefers to attend college in the United States in order that he may obtain a broader knowledge of the English language. Carlos says, "I shall be eternally grateful to Miss Price and to my roommate, Wayne Fowler, who have helped me so much with my English." Carlos hails from Camaguey, Cuba, a city with a population of 100,000 people. Camaguey represents the oldest architectural style to be found anywhere in the country. It is sometimes called "the city of Churches."

Volker Georg Erwin Sellin comes to us from Ulm, Germany, on the Danube. His hometown has a population of 87,000 inhabitants. Volker is sponsored by the Rotary Clubs of Blackshear, Waycross, and Eastman. When asked how he was impressed with Valdosta, he grinned and jokingly said that he was impressed by the fact that no one met him when he arrived and he had to "order" a taxi. He explained, however, that there was a mix-up in the bus schedule. Volker says that he likes V. S. C. fine but he is frankly homesick for his hometown on the Danube.

YWCA of VSC Makes Plans For Full Activity Schedule

The YWCA of VSC seeks to unite the students in the desire to realize a full and creative life through a growing knowledge of God, and to create a Christian atmosphere on the campus and present religious services for the student body. A Vesper Service is given each Thursday night after supper.

Each year the "Y" presents the Recognition Service, the Hanging-of-the-Greens, the Fireli vice and the Big Sister and Heart Sister selectio

On Monday, October YWCA had their annual P tion Services. The Big Sisters presented their Little Sisters with carnations. All the dormitory girls took part in this service.

All women students are invited to become members of the YWCA.

How Strong Is Our Government?

By Gene Deal

Every college student should ask himself one question: How good and how efficient is the government under which we live? Or perhaps the question should be phrased: How good and how efficient is the government which was created to execute the will of the American people?

It depends mainly upon a person's point of view as to which wording he uses. A person who believes that the individual exists for the state would use the first wording, one who believes in popular sovereignty and makes the government subordinate to the individual would use the latter.

To analyze a government in even the slightest degree one needs some standard of reference. There are many sources from which to choose, but let us use Rousseau's SOCIAL CONTRACT as our standard.

We all like to think of the U. S. as a true democracy. But is it? Not according to Rousseau (who died before the American Revolution). He states that in a democracy everyone would place the welfare of the group above private interests. (Do we?) Because of human self-interests, he calls democracy a government fit only for gods, so great is the perfection it demands.

Ruling out monarchy, we have left only aristocracy. Judging from Rousseau, England is a hereditary aristocracy. The U. S. is classified as an elective aristocracy, in which the most capable men (supposedly) are elected to rule the rest for a specified period. This, say Rousseau, is the best possible form of government for men.

The U. S. government was created by men, to be subordinate to the people. But does this situation exist today? Hardly! Many of our laws were passed well over 100 years ago and are outdated by the surge of progress. With the increasing population and the bureaucratic monstrosity of the federal government, the people have less to say about how they are governed than at any time in our history as a nation.

What can we do to remedy this situation, to give the people a greater voice in the government and to make our laws more responsive to the evolutionary trends in our society? Some suggestions will appear in the next issue of the Canopy. If you have any suggestions of your own, send them to: Campus Canopy Feature Editor, Box 319, VSC. The best suggestions will be printed.

TIME OUT

By Jimmy Broxson

Many people wondered about my title in the last issue of the Canopy. It should have read just "Time Out." The title was not original. I borrowed it from Harley Bowers, former sports editor of The Albany (Ga.) Herald.

There is a lot of interest and enthusiasm about the intramural sports program at Valdosta State College. The program consists of football in the fall and softball in the spring. The participants are the three fraternities on campus, a team from the men's dormitory, and a team of day students. The three fraternities fielding teams are Phi Kappa Phi, Tau Kappa Epsilon, and Sigma Epsilon. Each team is to play eight games each and the first place winner will receive a trophy.

In my first column, I mentioned the fact that Valdosta High School was number one in Class AAA in the state and the next Friday night Albany downed Valdosta in one of the biggest upsets of the year in high school football. People just sat and wondered how it happened. The same thing happened when the New York Yankees crumbled the pretzels in Milwaukee.

Since the ping pong tables have been moved to the porches of the student center, there have been a lot of hot games in progress. I even noticed Coach Colson firing the ball across the net early one evening.

RATTING was a tough grind — but it was fun. Just take a look at the "UNIFORM OF THE DAY."

Coach Gary Colson Speaks About Rebel Cagers; Predicts 58-59 Chances

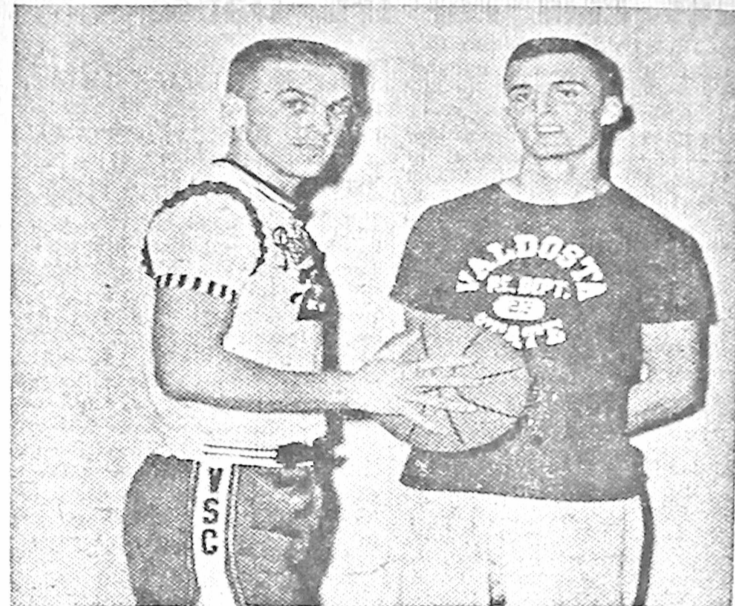

Head Coach Gary Colson has come to VSC with very high aspirations for the coming basketball season.

Coach Colson played his high school basketball at Dasher Bible School. After graduation he attended David Lipscomb College in Nashville, Tennessee. While at Nashville he placed his major emphasis on Physical Education and minored in History. He also holds a Master's degree from George Peabody University.

The new VSC mentor coached two years of Freshman basketball at Lipscomb college before coming to Valdosta. He is very optimistic about the Rebels chances in the newly formed conference.

What do you say students and fellow Valdostians? Lets get out and back our basketball team to the hilt this year. This without a doubt could be VSC's year to roll!
