

V.S.C. ANNOUNCES TWELVE SENIORS TO APPEAR IN COLLEGE "WHO'S WHO"

Twelve seniors at Valdosta State College have been selected to appear in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities" according to an announcement by Dr. J. Ralph Thaxton, V. S. C. president.

The selection which is made annually, is based on the students' academic record, class standing, and extracurricular activities.

The twelve receiving the honor include Lucille Helms, Valdosta; Gaye Griffis, Homerville; Bennie Ruth Baker, Tifton; Wayne Haire, Colquitt; Carolyn Holton, Thomasville; Joe Patterson, Columbus; Darlene Wallace, Valdosta; Bobby Coleman, Valdosta; Fred McDonald, Valdosta; Lenis Tarpley, Manchester; Billy Moncrief, Manchester; and Kathryn Bell, Doerun.

All the students selected to appear in the college edition of Who's Who have been active in campus activities and have contributed to college life through their leadership. Of the twelve named, four are majoring in chemistry or biology, three are education majors, three are studying in business administration, one is a history major, and the other is an English major.

FOUR FUTURE SCIENTISTS
Three of the outstanding seniors,

Lucille Helms, Gaye Griffis, and Bennie Ruth Baker, are biology majors.

Lucille Helms, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Helms of Valdosta, is past president of Alpha Delta Pi sorority and has served on the Pan Hellenic Council. Her junior year she was elected "Class Sweetheart" and was also chosen Sweetheart of Filii Fortunae fraternity.

For three years she has been a member of the Student Government Association, holding the office of secretary her junior year. She was also president of the junior class and vice-president of the freshman class. She placed third in the '56-'57 Miss V S C contest and during her freshman year she was chosen 'best all-round'. She has also been active in the Fins and Flippers, swimming club at V S C.

Gaye Griffis, daughter of Mrs. Doris Griffis of Homerville, was elected Homecoming Queen for 1958. She is currently serving as representative to the Student Government Association and was vice-president of her junior class. She has been active in the Math-Science Club for the past three years and now holds the office of vice-president of that organization. Her other activities include membership in the English Club and Glee Club.

Bennie Ruth Baker is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben J. Baker of Tifton. She was a member of the Sigma Alpha Chi Honor Society in 1957 and is now a member of the National Alpha Chi Honor Society. Last year she received the Circle K Award for Scholarship. She was elected to the 1956-57 Homecoming Court and this past year acted as sponsor of Filii Fortunae fraternity. Other activities include membership in the Glee Club, Math-Science Club, and International Relations Club.

A transfer student from Georgia Southwestern College in Americus, Wayne Haire is majoring in chemistry with a minor in math. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A.

Sock and Buskin To Present George and Margaret

"George and Margaret" live up to the reputation of current English humor for amiability and mildness. Dedicated to the principle that everything is for the best, it revolves around a crazy but comfortable family of five. Mother Alice is a congenital fussybudget, Father Malcolm's absentmindedness verges on the sublime Daughter Frankie suffers from vestal restlessness, piano-playing Dudley spouts Noel Coward and badgets stuffy Brother Claude, who builds houses and does setting-up exercises. Clouds gather over the breakfast table when GLADYS, the maid, is found crying near the sausages and Frankie reports she saw Claude acting suspiciously. Two acts and a fortnight later, just in time for the arrival of much-discussed and dreaded guests, the domestic weather settles fair.

Gladys will be portrayed by Dixie Weger, Jerome Clegg will act as Malcolm, and Mary Lou Nesmith will be Alice. The warring siblings will be Wayne Diskon as Dudley, Jo Rabun as Frankie, and Fred McDonald as Claude. Others in the cast are George Bennett as Roger, and Sonia Williams as Beer.

The play production class (Speech 300) is in charge of production and all technical problems. From all reports the play will be an enjoyable one, and will prove to be a treat for all those who attend it.

made after which the President, Darlene Wallace presided over the business.

The speaker for the evening was Volker Sellin, an exchange student from Germany. His subject was the school system of Germany and the differences between the German schools and the schools of the United States. An informal discussion followed Volker's talk in which he answered questions asked by various members.

After the meeting was adjourned refreshments were enjoyed by all.

DILLARD ENSLEY

AS I SEE IT . . .

During the past week several of the staff members have been to me and stated that students are complaining about the paper. Some of the complaints have been about definite sections of the paper to meet the needs of the students.

If any student has any complaints, and if it has any significance whatsoever, that student should do one of two things. Either contact me personally or write me a letter. I accept all criticism whatsoever of this paper, and the staff members are not the ones to see. They are merely carrying out the assignments made to them by the executive staff.

First, off the cuff, I would like to say that the Campus Canopy staff is working under very definite hardships. All work is done outside of class and all copy has to be in "one week" in advance. There is no journalism class to aid in the Canopy's publication, and furthermore, the cooperation offered by you, the students, is so slim that the staff hardly realizes that it exists.

If you feel you can do a better job in some department than the staff members doing that work, I'm sure we can arrange for you to fill that capacity. All you have to do is come to me and say, "I can do better than that", and I will surely welcome your services. However, don't complain if you suddenly find yourself without sufficient news materials and with criticism being slung in your face from every angle.

Many men have said that a notable and competent leader is one who stands on his convictions. We, the staff, are striving to stand on "our" convictions, though at times it seems that we stand on pretty shaky grounds.

Last week there were several printing errors in this column, mostly due to misplaced proofs. I would like to say that the sum spent for a student band was not $46 but $4,600 — a far cry from what many students think.

Let me state again, it was you, the students, who wanted a band; it was you, the students, who "talked up" the idea until it sufficiently stimulated the administration, and, it is you, the students, who are completely "letting fall" the whole program. Yes, the students who can ably play a musical instrument — they are the ones who have FAILED.

All students wishing to state their opinions about the paper or any problem at VSC, address your letters to: Editor, Campus Canopy, Box 11, Valdosta State College.

MID-TERM GRADES

"Try, Try Again . . ."

As mid-term grades come out and maybe we're feeling a little "down hearted" about these grades or something else, the old adage, "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again," comes to mind. Often we feel that everyone and everything is "just against us."

There is a story told of a horse and a farmer that brings out a good point. Farmer Jones' horse was real old and no longer capable of doing any work so he knew he might as well do away with the old mare, but because the horse was such a good friend he just couldn't shoot her. After a great deal of deliberation, he decided he'd put her in a hole and just keep putting in dirt until the poor horse suffocated. Down into the hole went the mare and down into the hole dirt was shoveled. Each shovel full of dirt the old horse would stomp and pack, each time the hole grew shallower and he was closer to the top. Finally after many loads of dirt and much stomping, the old mare was close enough to the top to jump out.

This was ambition to get ahead! Don't just give up when things look bad, for "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again."

Parade of Opinion

WHAT CHANGES SHOULD BE MADE TO IMPROVE THE BEAUTY OF THE V. S. C. CAMPUS

Ralph Dorsett—If they would cover up some of the holes and pull up the stobs I think it would look better.

Annette Gee—Paint the buildings and repair the road in back of the dormitories.

Robert Waters—I think by giving the Administration building a onceover by removing the unsightly stains outside. Also the screen around the tennis courts need replacing.

Patsy Shaw—I think the appearance of the campus would be greatly improved if something were done about the discoloration of the walls of dormitories as well as the Administration Building.

Clifton McDuffie—Have a parking lot to prevent parking on the front campus.

Carlos Alvarez—I think the campus looks pretty the way it is. I also think that painting the buildings would ruin the architectural value and take away from that "Spanish" look.

Peggy Thrailkill—The stobs on campus should be uniform instead of some being from iron, some from white wood, others from black wood, and many of these half rotten. Also the "bridle path" on North Campus needs much improvement.

Joy Collier—NORTH CAMPUS, Fill up holes in the driveway. If you don't we're going to lose some cars in all that mud.

Dut Tidmore—I think that the roads in back of the dorms could be improved. Also the cement benches in front of the dorms could be repaired.

Letter to Editor

The Campus Canopy
 Valdosta State College
 Valdosta, Georgia

To the Student Body:

I would like to thank the editor of The Campus Canopy for his recent comments concerning the V. S. C. Band, and would like to have an opportunity herewith to enlarge upon his very timely remarks.

First, I would like to point out that the idea of beginning a band at V. S. C. originated with the students. Not long after this institution became co-educational in 1950, a few students requested the establishment of a band. These requests increased until last year, when upon issuance of a questionnaire to the student body at a weekly assembly, thirty-six students stated that they definitely desired to play in a band at V. S. C. Some sixty-five students indicated interest of varying degrees, with the average playing experience of the group being in excess of four years.

With such student interest being expressed, the administration employed a band director and purchased several hundred dollars worth of new instruments. To date, some four thousand, five hundred dollars have been spent or currently appropriated for the band. Now comes the sixty-four dollar question: Where are the thirty-six students who desired to play in the band last year? A check shows practically all of them are in school this year. Many people

Something of Value

By Lamar Pearson

In the last couple of weeks much has been done in the way of improving the facilities of Valdosta State College. Several deep holes have been dug and one long ditch. This should provide a much better drainage system for the institution.

We as students appreciate these fine improvements, but I think that we would like to see one other improvement made very much. Over at North Campus the roads are in a very deplorable state. The antique paving is broken, and when a rain comes the roads are a sloppy mess. It is very easy to ruin a tire in some of those "chasmotic holes". Our State highway department should take some measure to improve this condition. Its a disgrace that an institution such as Valdosta State should be handicapped by faulty channels of transportation.

The Letterman's Club is going to sponsor pep rallies before home basketball games this year.

In past years I have no record of any organization having ever done this. The question may be asked, why have a "pep rally"? The only way that any student enthusiasm can be aroused is for there to be a dedicated effort on the part of the students to assemble themselves to arouse it. This takes the form of a pep rally.

Most likely this will consist of a few horns and drums, cheerleaders, basketball players and most of all the students. Soon a large bonfire is built casting a serene gaze upon the assembly. The band blares out, the cheerleaders holler, and thus a pep rally is formed. Soon the assembly moves to the gym and a spirit of support for the team is generated through out the evening.

Support the Letterman's Club in their endeavor to play pep rallies. Support your team. Make a joyful noise. Let the world know that the Rebels of 1958-1959 are really on the move.

Apathy On VSC Campus

It has been called to my attention that several organizations on campus have assumed an attitude of apathy. Perhaps it would be more correct to say that it is the members that are apathetic. What do you have to do to make some people realize that there is more to life than just existing and going through a routine. If all members of all organizations would be active and do something besides going to a meeting from time to time, the improvement of campus life would be remarkable. It doesn't seem right to me that some few should have to make up for the incapability and laziness of others. Some students, upon reading this, may say, "So what?" Well, these are the ones I'm referring to. (They won't be interested enough to read the Canopy anyway) Ask yourself, "Am I active in everything I undertake?" If the answer is "yes", you need read no further. If the answer is "no", now is the time to redeem yourself. If you are in no organization at all, you are wasting your time in college, and V. S. C. does not need you. Any senior who has his or her picture in the Annual without any activities listed should be removed from society. I wouldn't give a nickel for all these people put together. If what I have said here helps one person "see the light" I will be happy, so please do something for a change.

"SOBER NICK" CRUSH IT NOW

The Leningrad Address

Two score and one year ago our Three Fathers—Lenin, Stalin, and Myself—brought to the Russian people a new regime, founded in bloody revolution, upon the dialectic fact that we alone were capable of leading our nation to its rightful place in the world—first place.

Now we are engaged in a great war with the United States of America, testing whether that nation, or any capitalistic nation conceived in Democracy, can long endure against us. We have just won a great battle in that war—the Battle of Stockholm. We have come today to honor three of the victors, for their great contribution to the prestige of our society, which may help us to conquer the world without the shedding of Russian blood, it is quite natural for us to do this.

But before the Battle of Stockholm was won, we were betrayed. This traitor, who wrote a book denouncing our perfect Communist society, was used by America as a propaganda weapon. Our three heroes, great and glorious, were nearly disgraced by this. The world must always remember what we say here, for it must know the consequences of treachery and opposition to our cause. It is for us, the faithful, to be here dedicated to the liquidation of all opposition, to the spreading of our cause by heaping dishonor upon the leaders of our foes and the dissemination of distrust among their masses — that like these Honored Three we may be willing to sacrifice ourselves, our honor, our integrity, and our families, and their freedom and ours; that these great victors will not be the last — until the whole world, under me, shall be one totalitarian state — and control of the Earth, by me, and for me, shall be guaranteed for as long as the Sputniks are in orbit.

Patterson, Langford Named Personalities Of The Week

In any group of people there are always some outstanding personalities and the group of students at VSC is no exception. This week Palsy Langford and Joe Patterson are in the spotlight.

Palsy is a blond senior from Waycross, Georgia, who is majoring in elementary education. Her activities on campus include participation in the education club, serving as secretary for the S. G. A., and acting as activities chairman for the WRHC. She is also Vice-president of Alpha Delta Pi sorority. Due to her sparkling per-

Gamma Mu Hold Al Fresco Party At Cherry Lake

Gamma Mu Chapter of Kappa has taken a forward step in getting ready for a successful year.

On November 1, 1958, the sisters and pledges enjoyed an Al Fresco Party at Virginia Webb's family cabin on Cherry Lake. After a delicious hamburger supper, the girls returned to Virginia's home for a spend-the-night party and returned to college on the following day.

Kappa Delta had its first formal meeting on November 6, 1958, at which a chilli supper was planned to be given on November 23, by the members and alumni.

Gamma Mu Chapter has gained recognition this year by receiving several honors. Among those contributing these honors were Jean Twilley and Jackie Mullin, who are to participate in the coming Miss V. S. C. contest, Virginia Lamb and Jean Twilley who were among the five finalists in the Miss Pine Cone Contest, and Kathryn Bell, who was among the seniors chosen for Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

sonality and attractiveness, she has been chosen Senior Sweetheart.

Music is a major interest of Palsy's, particularly piano. She is an avid bridge player and is interested in all sports.

Joe Patterson is a familiar figure to almost all on campus. A senior from Columbus, Georgia, he is a secondary education major.

Joe is President of the S. G. A., on the Board of Directors of the Circle K Club, a member of the education club and a reporter for the Campus Canopy. He has been elected to Who's Who in Colleges and Universities.

These two people would be a credit to any campus and VSC is proud to claim them as her own.

BSU Convention At Rock Eagle Near Eatonton

It was a retreat by a lake — blue skies, autumn colored dogwoods, and a campfire on a cool winter's night — on and on I could go telling you about the wonderful time that 18 V. S. C. students had at the Georgia Baptist Student Convention on the week-end of October 31st. This retreat, which was held at Rock Eagle near Eatonton, Georgia, was an inconceivably beautiful location for this B. S. U. convention.

The general theme for the convention, "Disciplined for Today's Demands", was subdivided into various aspects and discussed by talented speakers, who gave us many good illustrations of ways to obtain this all important self-discipline.

With an atmosphere of high Christian spirit, genuine fun, and divine surroundings, everyone had a wonderful time and received a blessing that will be kept forever.

Alpha Xi Sports Seven New Pledges

The Alpha Xi Delta Sorority has pledged seven new members during the recent rush season. New pledges are Carolyn Knight, Susan Newham, Charlotte Chapman, Connie Jones, Betty Gibson, and Eleanor Leonard.

After the pledging last Thursday, cokes and brownies were served during a social hour. On this Thursday the associate members are giving a spaghetti supper honoring the new pledges, with a spend-the-night party to follow on Friday night.

Sandra Hardin Cops "Miss VSC Calendar Girl of 1959"

Instead of being Miss Sandra Hardin these days, they call her "Miss Valdosta State College Calendar Girl of 1959." Sandra was winner of the Valdosta State College Calendar Girl Beauty Pageant, presented by the Brothers of Mu Alpha Colony of Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity. As an independent contestant, she was sponsored by Martha's Dress Shop.

From a short interview with Sandra we find that her hobbies are: Collecting stuffed animals, swimming, and dancing. She likes football, "flirty boyyyyyys", D. P., and eating. She dislikes snooty people.

This year at Valdosta State College, Sandra is majoring in Secretarial Science. Gee, what a lucky boss. She plans to transfer to the University of Florida her last two years of college and graduate.

Being a native of Valdosta, Sandra attended the Valdosta High School where she rated as one of the top fifteen beautiful girls in school. She is also a member of the First Methodist Church here.

When Sandra was asked how she felt when she won "Miss Calendar Girl", she replied that she was quite surprised and indeed happy. At that moment she was speechless and BREATHELESS.

This winning beauty isn't altogether a new thing with the pretty blonde, she has competed in other contests and won first place in a bathing suit pageant.

Our many "Congratulations" are extended to Sandra Hardin, "Miss Valdosta State College Calendar Girl of 1959."

Plans For Year For Business Club

Plans are now being made for the local Business Club to become affiliated with the Future Business Leaders of America, a National organization. This will be a very good opportunity for members to get a lot of help from the club, and make F B L A an outstanding club on Campus organization. Other interesting projects are

Can The Government Be Improved?

How can our government be improved? In the last issue of the Canopy we saw that U. S. is hampered by an overlarge bureaucracy (the inevitable result in both monarchies and aristocracies) and by outdated laws. The problem then is to find some means of eliminating bureaucracy and of keeping our laws updated.

Again we will use Rousseau's SOCIAL CONTRACT as our guide.

In a true democracy there could exist no bureaucracy, for there would be no need for it. So it follows that we can decrease the size of our bureaucracy by making our government more democratic. How? Well, Rousseau claims that the legislative power rightfully belongs to the people, why not take the power to pass laws from Congress and give it back to the people!

Of course, in the U. S. it would be impossible for everyone to assemble at one place to discuss issues and pass laws. But Congress would be allowed to draft laws and present them to the American people for approval at regular intervals—say every two or three months.

Of the many advantages to this, not the least is that there would be fewer laws, for in a mass vote small pressure groups would be useless, and it would be impossible to corrupt the majority of the people. The passing of localized laws as "sops to the voters back home" would also be eliminated. Every law passed would accurately reflect the will of the majority — not of a small group delegated to rule.

But what can be done about outdated laws? Simply place a time limit — say 25 years — upon the validity of every law passed. At the end of this time it must either expire or be renewed. If it were still needed it could be renewed. Otherwise it would be allowed to expire. At least it would not become a forgotten law that would return to haunt future generations, with the increased reverence that comes with age. Of course this time limit would not apply to Constitutional Amendments.

The adoption of just these two principles would allow each generation to determine what laws it would live under, and would encourage education, for increased participation in government would require a good, broad education to ensure an understanding of the issues to be voted upon. An the voting would be upon issues — not for people who were capable of deciding issues. Every voter would have the status now enjoyed only by Congressmen — the opportunity to have a direct voice in the affairs of state.

This is a great responsibility and would require more of the individual than is now necessary. If the citizens of the U. S. are not willing to sacrifice the time and effort necessary to improve and strengthen our government, in accordance with our American heritage and ideals, then there is no hope for us as a nation. When the interests of a people become too self-centered to permit them to take an active interest in their government, that people declines. If the American people are no longer interested in the kind of government they live under we might as well surrender to Russia now. It would save a lot of wear and tear on both sides.

TIME OUT

By Jimmy Brozson

This is a column devoted to sports but this week I am compelled to write an editorial. It has been brought to my attention that some high schools have better newspapers than the Canopy. A lot of high schools have journalism classes and the school newspaper is part of their project. Valdosta State College has no journalism classes. Now I am not blaming the college but merely stating the fact that a bunch of amateurs work on the staff and none are professionals. Some have criticized my article. This is fine because there is always room for improvement. I like criticism but I despise unjust criticism. First of all I am not a professional sports writer writing for some metropolitan newspaper. I am an amateur and write a small column for a student newspaper published twice each month for a small senior college in South Georgia called Valdosta State College.

The first basketball game of the season begins on December 1 in the Valdosta State College gymnasium. The Rebels take on Brewton-Parker on that date.

Every name on the roster of players is practically a new one. Four returned from last year's squad. Al Stevens and Ed Gandy return and the team's two Co-captains, Douglas Parrish and Jerry Studdard. Studdard made All-State last year and averaged 27 points per game.

When the Rebels meet Brewton-Parker on December 1 let's go and yell. If we support the Rebels I am sure they will do their part. We need to support and encourage each Rebel player because the Rebels need the backing of the student body.

feel that college students don't know what they want, but think they want what they don't have. I'm beginning to wonder. You students asked for a band. We are now offering it to you. We have fine new instruments and the best band director in the area. We have a core of some ten students who know that they want a band and are willing to play for college athletic events, parades, and concerts. They are willing to practice two afternoons a week to see V. S. C. benefit from the enthusiasm and spirit that a band can generate. All facilities, music, conduction personnel, instruments and faculty efforts necessary for the accomplishments of your expressed desires are now available. Do you really want the band or not? A great many people will watch your answer with interest.

Rebels To Open Season Against Brewton Parker Dec 1

Coach Gary Colson's Rebels will embark in the season's opener against Brewton Parker on December 1 at the Valdosta State College Gymnasium. Coach Colson is looking forward to the new experience of being a bonified (conference) member.

This year's Rebel roster has a group of stalwarts who can and will do the job necessary to live up to pre-season expectation. The Rebel roster is as follows:

Al Stevens, age 20, 6' 3", 178 pounds, who hails from Bainbridge, Georgia. Ed Gandy, big six footer, weighs 165 pounds from McRae, Georgia and is 22 years old. Jerry Studdard, this year's team's co-captain and All-State last season, stands 6' 2" weighs 150 is a Senior this year. Doug Parish, the other Rebel co-captain is 6' 2", weighs 185 pounds, comes out of Morven. Gene Peacock, tall 6' 5" in count from Sycamore. Another member of the squad is Buck Etheredge 6' 5" from Newton, Georgia. Peacock and Etheredge are the two tallest members of the Rebel squad and going to make opponents of the team remember them for quite awhile. Wayne Studdard, the brother of Jerry Studdard, is 5' 9" and weighs 135 pounds. Hansel Faulkner is a 6 footer out of Cook High of Adel. Jan Rogers is 6' 1", 160 lbs. Sophomore. Julian Williams is 6' 1" from Jacksonville, Florida. Pat Tomlinson 6' 1", 190 pounds is from Valdosta and John McIntyre 5' 9", 135 lbs. also of Valdosta.

Both Tomlinson and McIntyre are Freshman.

This year's rebel squad is going to be tough to handle on the courts. So let's get out and follow our team with college support and we'll go a long way and be high up in the conference standings.

Certain moments come so seldom, why not enjoy them now?

Most of us know precisely what we want, but can't afford it.

Wouldn't it be grand to wake up in the morning and like to get up

If it will please her at her age, why not tell her she's beautiful? But don't yawn when you say it.
