SENIOR WEEKEND SCHEDULED FOR MARCH 6-8; BIG CROWD EXPECTED

Sock And Buskin Staging Antigone

The Sock and Buskin Club will present Jean Anouilh's play, "Antigone," at 8:15 P.M. on March 4 and 5th, at Pound Hall on North Campus.

Admission will be 50c and $1. "Antigone," written by the Frenchman Jean Anouilh and adopted for the English stage by Lewis Galantiere, is a modern version of Sophocles' great tragedy.

Created in 1943, Anouilh's "Antigone" reflects the opposition of France to her subjugation by Germany. The Germans are reflected through the dictator Creon and France becomes the heroine Antigone, who is martyred by Creon.

This play should be one of the dramatic high lights of the current school year.

Appearing in the Sock and Buskin production under the direction of Miss Louise Sawyer are: Fred McDonald as Chorus, Dixie Lee Weger as Antigone, Jeir Vinson as the nurse, Leslie Harris as Ismene, Wayne Dickson as Haemon, Jerome Clegg as Creon, Benny Mitchum, Allen Pendleton and Gabriel Saliba as the three guards, Wayne Fowler as the messenger, Ed Pike as the page, and Marjorie Brooks as Euridice.

Rebels Close Winning Year Stop Gators

Last Monday night VSC's Rebels brought their regular season to a close by taking the University of Florida Junior Varsity by a score of 87 to 83.

This marked the first time in history that a Rebel team has won more games than it lost. Their record stands at 11 won and ten lost.

In the Georgia Intercollegiate Athletic Conference the Rebels finished with an 8 and 6 record to tie Piedmont for third place.

Without doubt this has been an outstanding year for VSC. In our first game the Rebs beat Brewton-Parker for the first time in history. All season Jerry Studdard has been in a scoring battle for top place in District 25. Buck Ethridge has been pushing the leaders in rebounds. In one game Buck snared the fantastic total of 30. And in Monday night's game with the Baby Gators he scored 22 points in the first half. He finished the night with 26 points, only to be towed out by Jerry Studdard with 27. Gene Peacock also played one of his best games of the season Monday, scoring 15 points.

These were just a few of the outstanding moments of the year, but every member of the team has done a marvelous job, especially the other starters, Wayne Studdard and John Moye, and Doug Parrish until he broke his hand. Fine performances have also been turned in by the subs, John Lewis Carter, Duane Stiles, Julian Williams, and Johnny McIntyre.

One Hundred Fifteen Alumni Return To VSC For Annual Banquet, Making It The Most Successful Ever

MRS. LEE WALSH, Women's editor on the Washington, D. C., Star, speaks to fellow Valdosta State College Alumni at Banquet.

CORRECTION

In the last issue of the Canopy we ascribed the Math-Science feature to Dr. Nevins. In so doing, we were in error. Actually this feature is a project of the entire Math-Science Division, with Dr. Nevins acting as liaison between that division and the Canopy.

Many Activities Planned For Visiting Seniors

Friday, March 6, marks one of the big events of the year at VSC. This is Senior Weekend, which lasts through Sunday, March 8th.

As all "old timers" know, Senior Weekend is the time when high school seniors are invited down to look around the VSC campus and compare it to other campuses they may have visited. At this time they are briefed on the rigors of college life, as well as recreational programs and social activities.

On tap Friday, after check in at 5 p.m., is a 6:30 p.m. "Briefing Session" followed by a performance of the Sock and Buskin play, "Antigone." After the play there will be "House Parties" in the dormitories.

Early Saturday morning (8:30) the seniors will take a guided tour of the campus. At 10:00 a.m. they will meet the VSC professors and discuss their college careers with them. Following this they will be served coffee at the "House in the Woods."

After dinner they will attend a panel discussion presented by the Student Government Association. The topic will be, "What is college really like?"

Saturday night the seniors will be treated to a Student Talent Show at 7:30 and an informal dance in the Student Center at 8:30.

Sunday morning transportation will be provided for those who wish to go to church downtown. At 2 p.m. Sunday the members of the faculty will be in the Rotunda of Ashley Hall to meet those parents who come for their sons and daughters.

This year we hope to have more than the 75 high school students who attended last year's Senior Weekend. When they arrive, let's show them what Southern Hospitality really means.

New Painting Placed In VSC Library

Every few weeks the Art Department places a drawing or painting in the library for the enjoyment of library habitues. These drawings and paintings are changed at regular intervals.

A new drawing has just been placed there. The work of Sandra Stanfield, it is a brush drawing in colored ink. The subject matter is simple, merely some sea grass in a vase designed by Lee Bennett. However, the drawing is outstanding for its delicacy and balance. Sandra is a member of the "Drawing and Composition" class (Art 120).

If you are going to frequent the library in the next few days, remember that this picture is there for your viewing pleasure.

Ministerial Association

Members of the Ministerial Association are reminded that the next regular meeting will be held at activities period on March 3rd. All members are urged to attend. Everyone interested in any phase of the Christian work is invited into the association.

POBOY BLASTS OFF

A Trip To The Moon

By Gene Deal

Soon after his visit to the "Valley of Oysters, PoBoy was offered a job by his uncle, a philanthropist who had given away 286 billion dollars he didn't have. Because his uncle was so insistent, PoBoy took the job despite the low pay and long hours.

After a brief period of training, PoBoy went to work at Cape Canine, where he quickly was elevated to the highest position — polishing the top of some funny looking silos. He wondered what they kept in them, so one day when no one was looking he opened a little door near the top and crawled in.

While he was inside he heard a funny noise and the silo began to shudder. PoBoy was thrown off balance and fell, but it didn't matter, since he landed on his head. PoBoy had a hard time regaining his balance because he seemed to be floating around inside the silo. At last there was a bump and the silo stopped moving.

There was an awful smell, like limburger cheese. Opening the little door, PoBoy got out. About half a mile away was a big building topped with onions, with a sign reading "Lunarski Hiltonski."

When PoBoy walked up to the desk clerk — a moon-faced little Santa Claus who was drinking the biggest glass of milk, PoBoy had ever seen — and asked if he had any vacancies, the clerk said, "Nyet, comrade. But you can share a room with Nick Dixon and Don Foster Bully."

The next morning when PoBoy got up he saw a grinning man named Mike trying to knock a ball into a little hole with a walking cane while yelling "Four!" So PoBoy took him four roses.

Since he had to get back to work, PoBoy caught the Red Star Express out that afternoon. But due to drunken pilot error he ended up on a satellite named Hungry, located next to Thirsty.

Here PoBoy saw many domesticated animals, who looked remarkably like people, being worked by puppets. The puppets in turn had their strings pulled by the Bears, who were obviously the superior race — and told you so!

When the Bears saw PoBoy they thought he was one of their animals and captured him. At last realizing that he didn't belong to them, they accused him of being a "Peeping Leo" and sent him to the Gremlin in Muskox to have his mind bathed.

Now this was a rather difficult task, since even PoBoy's uncle admitted that PoBoy didn't have a mind (that's why he had to polish silo tops in the first place). Discovering this, the Bears sent him to a doctor, named Fraud, who made him lie down on a couch, where he promptly went to sleep.

After this PoBoy was sent to the Big Bear, named Brother. Big Brother decided PoBoy wasn't really a "Peeping Leo" (he was too stupid even for that), and let him go.

PoBoy wandered around Muskox until he came to a square place that was painted red. That's why everyone called

AS I SEE IT . . .

Spring is almost in the air as brief snatches of sun weather appear to the delight of many. It is the season known to sporting enthusiasts as "spring training" for the baseball squad.

If you care to take a stroll out Pendleton Park one of these afternoons you will probably be confronted by a large assortment of sounds. There is the sharp crack of timber meeting horseshoe, the dull thud of a nine ounce sphere slamming into a leather glove, and the usual jubber that is heard in a baseball game, the "chatter" sport. Then again you may see the graceful skill of two infielders practicing a double play, with the shortstop charging a slow grounder, flipping to the second sacker who relays the ball to the firstbaseman, completing the routine.

You can also witness the whistling speed of a screaming line drive, the disgusted look of a batter who "breaks his back" on a change-up, or the precision and timing of a well-placed bunt.

Whether you realize it or not, the Rebel nine has been practicing for two weeks — realizing that the best ball player is the hall player who is in top physical shape. The passing of time will show how well the Rebs do on the field this year, but one thing is certain — they will give it their all and the morale will be second to none.

When the umpire cries "playball," he is sitting in the stands rooting for the boys, and enjoy the nation's greatest athletic pasttime — baseball.

Math-Science Newsletter

We wish to thank Mr. William H. Warwick, 1612 North Patterson Street, for loaning us the truck used by the Math-Science Club and Honor Societies for their float in the Homecoming parade and Bill Warwick, Junior, for driving said truck for us. The committee responsible for the float consisted of Edward Gandy, chairman, Miriam Barnes and Gene Deal. They are to be commended for an effective portrayal of Indian Life as is Hal Worley, the realistic "Indian brave."

Among our "science" homecoming guests were Billy Collins Salerno (Mrs. John Salerno) and family and also her sister Ava (Mrs. Lewis Fussell) and family. Billy is now a registered medical technologist and is employed by Dr. Webster Merritt, Internist in Cardiology, 2093 Oak Street, Jacksonville. She considers medical technology a field in which the need for trained personnel is great and the salaries "fabulous."

Jimmy Stovall (V. S. C. graduate, 1958), a visitor from Fort Jackson for the Homecoming dance, tells us that Mr. Murray Steward (V. S. C. graduate, 1958) is employed as a chemist in the laboratories of Aerojet-General Corporation in Sacramento, California, where he works with rocket propellents.

Della Raulerson (V. S. C. graduate, 1958) who is studying medical technology at Grady Hospital in Atlanta, brought news of other former V. S. C. students in training there, namely, Elizabeth Dean, (1958 graduate), Frances Little, and Glenn Cooper.

Dr. Thaxton chatted with Glenn Dowling at the dance on Saturday night. Glenn was a V. S. C. student in 1950-1951. He has since attended the Chicago School of Chiropractic and is practicing chiropractic in Albany, Georgia.

We congratulate the Homecoming Queen, her court, and all of the Margas and Maes, with special mention for Pam Paulk, whom we claim as our own.

Horace Chitty, a member of the senior class, has been accepted for admission to the September 1959 class of the Kirksville College of Osteopathy and Surgery at Kirksville, Missouri.

In a recent letter, David Mokhtar, who is studying osteopathy at Kirksville, sent his best wishes and regards to all the faculty and students of Valdosta State College. Although his family lives in Baghdad, Iraq, David says, "V. S. always seems to be my home. He is hoping to visit us during his Easter vacation. David sent the following information about some of our former science students: (1) James Seasholtz is a sophomore at the Kirksville College of Osteopathy. (2) Richard Oliver has transferred from Kirksville to the Kansas City Osteopathic College. (3) Jack Weaver, who has been studying chiropractic at Temple University, plans to begin the study of osteopathy at Kansas City in September.

Charles Hancock, June 1958 graduate, is at present an insurance adjuster for the Otis A. Murphy Company, Inc., of Valdosta.

The Chemistry Department is privileged to have the services of Dr. Walter B. Keighton, Head of the Chemistry Department at Swarthmore College in Swarthmore, Pennsylvania, for three days. Dr. Keighton's comments were especially helpful in the planning of future courses and physical facilities required for accreditation of the Chemistry Department. (Continued on Page Four)

Dad, why do you and I want to go to the moon? There's no trouble up there.

Sig Ep Sweetheart, Pam Paulk Elected Homecoming Queen

The Sig Eps are just getting over the havoc of Homecoming Week-end. It was one of the most enjoyable affairs this group has had the pleasure of being associated with. We started our week-end off with a bang by capturing third place in the Float Contest, being the only fraternity on campus to place in that contest. Our float consisted of a covered wagon, in true western fashion equipped with all the western paraphernalia. The climax was an Indian attack in front of the judges stand.

The next thrill the Sig Eps experienced was the announcement of the Homecoming Queen. Queen

Pam Paulk is also the Sweetheart of the Sig Eps, and needless to say, it made us all proud to know she was chosen the school's Queen as well as ours.

The climax came Saturday night at the Homecoming Dance. There the Sig Eps enjoyed the fruits of fraternity life. Amid the glowing lights of the Sig Ep heart, the chatter and laughter of the Sig Eps could be heard. With the crowning of Queen Pam and the presentation of a gift to her by her Sig Ep brothers, we wrote the 1958-59 Homecoming into the pages of History.

Kappa Delta Takes First In Homecoming Float Contest

Sports Club Attendance Up This Term

The Sports Club, which meets every Wednesday afternoon at 4:15, for the past few weeks has had an excellent turn-out. Mrs. Mathis, advisor and instructor for the club, replied that the attendance is better now than it has been since the beginning of the term.

A letter of resignation from Pam Paulk, president, was read at the last meeting. Pam resigned her position because of so many other activities that she felt she couldn't do her best here. A student to take on the presidency will be chosen at a later date.

Tentative plans for the club include continuing the inter-sorority competition in volleyball and basketball and later trying softball. The club is opened to all VSC women students who enjoy working and playing together in physical activity.

Confucius says—"How pleasant it is to repeat constantly what we are learning!"

"How happy we are when some friend returns from a long trip!"

"To remain unconcerned though others do not know of us—that is to be Great Man!"

Gamma Mu Chapter of Kappa Delta Sorority held her initiation of new members at Christ's Episcopal Church. The eighteen initiated were: Leslie Brown, Virginia Culpepper, Joyce Denson, Kay Domingoes, Judy Elmore, Sandra Ford, Beverly Ann Greene, Bebe Key, Carroll Howard, Virginia Lamb, Sandra Massey, Terry Meeks, Susan Mitcham, Mary Carrell Smith, Paula Vance, Jan Wells, Sue Wright, and Mrs. Alton Johnson.

New officers have also been recently elected with Sandra Massey as president, Mary Slade as tentative vice-president, Terry Meeks as treasurer, Beverly Ann Greene as secretary, Marian Horne as editor, Sue Wright as rush chairman, and Ginger Culpepper as assistant vice-president.

Gamma Mu had four members nominated for Marga, the best all-around girl on campus. They were Charlotte Coppage, Kathryn Bell, Sandra Massey, and Marian Horne.

Gamma Mu is also proud to announce that her float in the Homecoming parade rated first place, and that a pledge, Jean Twilley, was a member of the Homecoming Court.

On the scholastic side of college life, Gamma Mu is rated second among the sororities on campus.

Confucius says—"I am not concerned that a man does not know of me; I am concerned that I do not know of him."

Mrs. Lee Bennett and Mr. William Gabard Featured Personalities Of The Week

Canopy Honors Faculty Members

This week's personalities represent the other half of a college group, the faculty. These two faculty members have the kind of leadership and friendship that is vitally important between the student and his instructors.

Attractive Mrs. Lee Bennett has come a long distance from her original home in Oklahoma, where she obtained her B. A. in art at Oklahoma State and taught in the Oklahoma public schools, to V. S. C. where she has taught for the past five years. She also studied art at the Louisville Art Center in Louisville, Kentucky, and is presently working for her Masters in Painting under Carl Zerbe at Florida State University in Tallahassee.

In addition to her work here at school, Mrs. Bennett has three children, two boys and a girl, to keep her busy. For hobbies, she lists first painting but she also enjoys cooking and sewing. Her pet peeve is the misspelling of the word "modernistic" for "modern."

The other personality is quite well known on the campus, even by students who have not had him for an instructor. Originally from Tennessee, Mr. Gabard obtained his B. A. at the University of Tennessee, his M. A. at Northwestern and is a candidate for his PhD at Tulane. He has taught at Tulane and Northwestern and has been an instructor of history here at V. S. C. since 1948.

Very active on campus, he is an advisor to the S. G. A., and Ministerial Association and Senior class sponsor. His activity is not limited to the campus, however, for he engages in a good deal of public speaking to civic and religious groups. At the Episcopal church, he sings in the choir, teaches a Sunday School Class and is a member of the Executive Council for the Diocese of Georgia.

It is easy to see from his association with people that here is a man who likes people and enjoys being with them. In fact, he lists that as the reason he teaches. He states that in addition to having a good time (which covers a good deal) he would say that people were his hobby, especially meeting new people.

MR. CABARD: "It looks nice, MRS. BENNETT. What is it?"

Most people already know his pet peeve, students who cut class or who come in late. Quite often, rather than come into a class late and receive a dose of the well known Gabard sarcasm, a student will just cut.

These two faculty members are genuinely liked and admired by the students they teach, and the students at V. S. C. may consider themselves lucky in having these fine instructors.

Confucius say—"Clever talk and a domineering manner have little to do with being man-at-his-best."

Confucius say—"Learning without thought brings ensnarement. Thought without learning totters."

Confucius say—"Knowledge is to know both what one knows and one does not know."

Confucius say—"If one is not Man-at-his-best, what is the use of knowing the rites? What is the use of knowing about music?"

VSC Band Operating But Needs Your Help

The V. S. C. Band was scheduled to appear at the basketball game February 23, but due to was unable to do so. Their present circumstances beyond their control, once would have done much for school spirit.

Although there are only six active members in the band at present they practice regularly and are continually trying to enlist any student who has ever played a musical instrument or is interested in learning to play one.

Confucius say—"To be Excellent when engaged in administration is to be like the North Star. As it remains in its one position, all the other stars surround it."

LOOK BOYS! REAL FEMININE, girl-type girls! Better than the leotard look, isn't it? And what do you girls think of those old-fashioned He-Men.

From The Bench...

Basketball has almost reached its culmination here at V. S. C. Only two more home games remain on the tab. One is with Shorter and the other with the University of Florida's Freshmen.

Those students who watched the Oglethorpe game saw the Rebels at their best. Their tremendous effort came very near to upsetting Garland Pinholster's "Stormy Petrels." With less than two minutes to go the Rebs had a five point lead. Oglethorpe defeated the Rebels in an overtime.

You could not single out any specific player for an outstanding night, because they were all good. Wayne Studdard led the scoring attack. Perhaps this was the first time in the season that the Rebels demonstrated their potential.

Now the Rebs have a 9-10 won lost record and they are shooting to come out in the 500 percent area.

This year we have not seen necessarily a great team, but we have seen a very good one. It has given the students and fans of this area something to be proud of. These men have jelled into a smooth working unit.

The tournament begins in LeGrange this week. If you can possibly make it, as many fans as possible should attend. Several guys have mentioned the trip and their intentions of going.

Before I wrap this story up lets turn a hopeful eye toward the coming baseball season. Detroit no longer fields a professional baseball team in Valdosta so the Rebels and the High School have the diamond to themselves.

Valdosta State has several returning lettermen this year and several other proven competitors to form the nucleus for the team this year.

This year we have returning Ben Wood, Willard Griffis, Mike Hampton, Joe Tarpley, and Lamar Pearson. Newcomers are Tommy Thomas, Buck Ethridge, James David, Johnny McIntyre, James Hewett, Wayne Studdard, Hansel Faulkner, and others that we do not have the names for.

This year the Rebels should be strong on the mound with Hampton, Ethridge, and Thomas firing the ball and we have depth behind the plate with both Buck and Joe Tarpley donning the pads. Power should be found in abundance! Sonny Hewett hits the long ball, as well as Faulkner and Ethridge.

Most of the teams around the loop have lost most of their players. Under Gary Colson, the Rebels have a better than even chance to win the conference.

Look for more on the Rebels next issue as we shall have a rundown on all the players.

These are the cowhands from the Circle K Ranch, located in these here parts. When this picture was taken they were looking for Outlaws and Indians, because the Circle K hands are the "good guys."

it "Red Square." In the middle of the square was a big coffin which contained two dead Bears, Lean and Stale.

Leaving Muskox, PoBoy went into the country. Here he met a famous poet named Boris Karloff, who wrote about Dr. Frankenstein. Mr. Karloff couldn't make any money from his poems because the Bears said it would make him a Texan.

Going still further into the country PoBoy came at last to a big farm that looked like Cape Canine. Here he saw a lot of big silos. The Bears put a dog in one of the silos, so when no one was looking, PoBoy sneaked a fireplug into the same silo.

PoBoy saw that one of the silos was named "The Gravedigger," so he decided to see what was in it. He found a shovel, which he threw out because the silo was too crowded for it and him too.

Before he knew what was happening this silo, too, began to shudder. When the silo stopped moving PoBoy crawled out. He found that the silo had landed in a small hole behind a big white house owned by Smilin' Mike, the Good Humor man.

Because he had thrown the shovel out of the silo, PoBoy was given the Gobel Pizza Pie. And ever after the whole world called him a hero.

the American Chemical Society.

During his visit, Dr. Keightley addressed the meeting of the Math-Science Club on the subject of making fresh water from salt water. The meeting was well attended by local science teachers and chemists and chemical engineers from the local chemical industries. Following the meeting, the new quantitative analysis laboratory was opened for inspection by the public.

We received recently a copy of the first issue of the Argonne National Laboratory News Bulletin International. Dr. Earl W. Phipps, formerly of the V. S. C. chemistry department, is the editor of this new quarterly. The cover of Volume 1, Number 1, is graced by a photograph of Queen Alexandra of Greece, who visited the laboratory in November and is described as "well versed in the clear physics." As you may know, Argonne National Laboratory (Lemont, Illinois, is operated by the University of Chicago under contract with the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission.

We are happy to learn that Barney Purvis, V. S. C. graduate, 1955, was released from the hospital last Saturday and is now convalescing at home in Ocilla. Barney was selected as "Teacher of the Year" for 1957-1958. We think those of you who are his former pupils for keeping us informed of his progress. Please continue to do so.

Confucius say—"While your parents live, do not wander far. Let your sojourning be only in specified places."

Confucius say—"Great Man seeks to be slow of speech but quick of action."

Now here's a nostalgic sight! Especially for some of the professors, who first came to VSC by this mode of transportation. But for the students it is only familiar through fireside stories and the movies.

Confucius say—"He who is solely Manhood-at-its-best will know which men to like and which ones to hate."
