Congratulations to Jean Hooks on her selection by Dave Garroway as Miss Pine Cone of 1960. Jean is the second Miss Pine in the history of the yearbook. Miss Pine Cone of 1959, Judy Starling, was the first beauty to be given that title and to reign as Miss Pine Cone. The title was created only last year and was the first time the yearbook had a beauty queen to represent it.

As Miss Pine Cone, Jean will act as the yearbook's official ambassadress, and will represent it in the annual Homecoming Parade. Congratulations also to the other members of Jean's court, Kay Domingos, Nancy Rains, Carol Clark, and Leslie Brown.

Congratulations also the retiring queen. It seems we always forget them at this time, but Judy did a wonderful job as the First Miss Pine Cone at Valdosta State.

I see that good old Christmas has almost arrived. Already there are the signs of it about the campus with the Christmas parties, trees, holly and other decorations.

Have you ever wondered what the tradition of the use of Christmas Greens means. I think the idea presented at the "hanging of the Greens" last Thursday is an interesting one and deserves reprinting in part.

"Christmas is a time for remembering. It is a time for calling together friends and loved ones, of assembling them beneath our roof and around our hearthfire, and of speaking with them again about those traditions which make life not only merry but also meaningful.

"It is evident that the use of flowers and green boughs as a means of decoration is almost instinctive in human nature. It is also certain that their use has a much deeper meaning than mere decoration. The ancient Druids hung their mistletoe and green branches of different kinds over their doors to propitiate the woodland sprites. The Romans celebrated a feast in January during which they presented the people with green branches for the sake of good luck in the New Year.

The Jews employed greens in their Feast of the Tabernacles. In fact, we can scarcely find any nation, civilized or savage, with which it has not become familiar.

"Like many other customs of pagan origin, this one has been introduced into and incorporated (Continued on Page 4)

GARROWAY SELECTS JEAN HOOKS

Pine Cone Queen Crowned By Judy Starling

Dave Garroway of the "Today Show" on NBC-TV selected Jean Hooks as the 1960 "Miss Pine Cone". Announcement of the selection was made at the formal Christmas dance, the Holly Hop, on Saturday Night, December 5 in the gymnasium.

Emmett Taylor, Editor of the Pine Cone, acted as Master of Ceremonies for the occasion, and Judy Starling, 1959 Miss Pine Cone" had the honors of announcing the winner and crowning Miss Hooks.

Jean was as beautiful as a picture surrounded by her court and dressed in her queenly attire of a red and black banner with "Miss Pine Cone 1960" written in silver glitter, her crown and a beautiful bouquet of one dozen red roses. Happiness was written on her face as the winner was announced and she realized that she had won. No queen could have had a lovelier court than Kay Domingos of Milner, Georgia who was first runner-up; Nancy Raines of Ashburn who was second runner-up; Carol Clark of Tampa, Florida who was third runner-up; and Leslie Brown of Griffin, Georgia who was fourth runner-up.

Previous to the "Miss Pine Cone Contest", the class sweethearts were presented. Those presented were escorted from the rear of the gym to the stage by an officer of their respective classes. Marian Horne of Doerun was presented as Senior Class Sweetheart escorted by Pres. Jerome Clegg; Jean Hooks was presented as Junior Class Sweetheart escorted by Pres. Tony Corso; Jeanie Posey was presented as Sophomore Class Sweetheart escorted by Pres. George Bennett; and Diane Higginbotham was presented as Freshman Class Sweetheart escorted by Treas. Joe Moses.

From the Campus Canopy, our hats are off to Jean Hooks who captured the "Miss Pine Cone Crown" and the Class Sweetheart Crown all in one night. Congratulations are in order!!

Faculty Fetes Students At Christmas Tea

Members of the VSC faculty entertained the study body Sunday, December 13, at the annual Christmas Tea. Guests were entertained at the dining hall from 5:00 - 6:00.

This event is sponsored each Christmas by the faculty on the Sunday of the closed weekend before Christmas holidays. This gives all students an opportunity to attend this affair which is looked forward to as one of the loveliest events of the year.

All students as well as their husbands, wives, or dates were present to enjoy the occasion with faculty members.

The spirit of Christmas was evident in the decorations. In the foyer was a large gaily decorated tree. The tea tables were covered with an exquisitely hand-worked table cloth. Two silver teas services and candelabras dominated the tables.

During the afternoon soft background music was played. Every faculty member served on a committee and all the work was done by faculty members.

What Does Christmas Mean To You?

By Steve Sevits

What does Christmas mean to you? Does it mean a vacation?, presents?, or does it mean something deeper?

As we see the gay decorations and lights in downtown Valdosta, it makes a person wonder where the real spirit of Christmas is. The holiday season should consist of more than presents and merry-making.

The season of Christmas is and should be a time of reflection upon the past and planning to make the future more fruitful on the basis of past experience.

Once it was said that it is mightier to give than to receive, and this is a tremendous factor that should influence our behavior and thinking at this time of the year. Everyone runs around like a chicken with his head cut off and thinking only of what to give and what they will get in return.

There is a deeper meaning to the Christmas Spirit than all of this. Christmas is spelled with nine letters, just separate the word after the first six and you will see what I am driving at.

With all of the petty stuff that goes on in this world perhaps it is too much to ask the public to calm down and put "THE CHRIST BACK INTO CHRISTMAS". Perhaps it is too much to ask, too late, but I don't think so do you?

Recently there has been some resurfacing work done on the girl's dorms, could it be that the administration is getting soft hearted and giving us a Christmas present en masse?

With what little space that I have left, I wish to express the sincerest Christmas wishes to each and everyone of you from the whole Canopy staff.

Christmas

By Sandra Massey

A well-known Hollywood actress met a friend a few days before Christmas and gushed, "My Dear, I am so thrilled. I have a green Christmas tree this year!?"

"Darling, where in the world did you find a green Christmas tree?," asked her friend.

"Well, I'll tell you what I did, I bought a white one and had them spray it green."

Though this likely never happened, even in Hollywood, it illustrates very well the artificiality of a great deal of presentday Christmas celebration. For too many Americans, Christmas has become a hectic season of feverish shopping for gifts and cards to be exchanged with people equally busy at the same social duty to the end that all will come out even. When the last gift is opened and the last card recorded on the list, a sigh of relief escapes the harassed household. "Well that's over for another year."

The giving of Christmas gifts shouldn't be belittled or criticized because they can be given in the true Christmas spirit. But too often it has become an artificial custom as far removed from the real meaning and spirit of Christmas as a white Christmas tree sprayed green.

Tinsel has become for many people the symbol of Christmas. Tinsel shining in candlelight is gay and pretty. Garnish yellow gold and white shimmering silver can symbolize a happy holiday, but one that has little, if anything, to do with the birth of Jesus which we are supposed to be celebrating each December. Hay is a much better Christmas symbol than tinsel. Hay is natural, it does not flutter but has a scent that sends one's thoughts and memories back to the real and simple things of life. But hay sends us back even farther and deeper into the true Christmas celebration. It was in a manger filled with hay in a shed or barn behind the crowded inn of Bethlehem that they laid the newborn Christ Child during the darkness before the first Christmas dawn.

It is only through the Christmas faith that we find joy and merriment in our Christmas celebration. What specifically is this Christmas faith? It is the belief that God revealed Himself in that birth in Bethlehem; it is the response to God's gift of love which overflows from all Christian hearts; it is a new vision of the wonder of every little child which puts him in the center of the human family and renews in each family circle that love which alone makes life worth the living; it is a hope of peace among all nations despite all darkness, despite the cruelties of all Herods, ancient or modern, and despite the selfishness and greed that begets us all.

Let us as College students and young people set the example for others in this Christmas season, let us keep the spirit of Christ in Christmas!

College Student's First Work Published

A college student's first published story appears in the first issue of the new DIAL, a magazine of fiction, which has just been released. The author, Richard Power, is now in his second year of graduate study at the Writers' Workshop of the State University of Iowa.

His story, called "The Rebels," is about a group of students in an Irish boys' school. Mr. Power is a young Irishman who has had a play produced by the Abbey Theatre.

Volume I, Number 1 of THE DIAL also contains a story by Ellen Currie, a young American writer, whose work has been published on only three previous occasions as well as fiction by Nelson Algren, Vance Bourjaily, Herbert Gold, and Philip Roth.

MYSTERY AND MASTERY OF MOSAICS

The newest hobby of millions of Americans is also one of the oldest art forms: making mosaics. Behind the new fad is an equally new process that can make mosaic "craftsmen" out of even the artistic duffers among us. But few of these eager do-it-yourselfers know the intriguing history behind their hobby. Did you know that some thought the mosaic art was God-given? That the ancient Egyptians built mosaic inlays right into the furniture? That the Vatican maintains a studio today which turns out nothing but mosaic pictures—sometimes taking 20 years on a job?

VSC Art Classes Made Christmas Mosaics

Many beautiful mosaics done by the students in the Fall quarter art classes were used in the decorations for the Christmas Tea. This led the Canopy staff to investigate into the interesting history of this art form.

THE MYSTERY AND MASTERY OF MOSAICS

Making Mosaics is newest hobby of millions of Americans. It is also one of the oldest art forms, with a history few creative fields can match for length and richness.

A new technique of painting pictures directly on mosaic-embossed plastic sheets with the use of a color chart and number guide has done much to popularize the ancient art.

But few of these eager do-it-yourselfers know the fascinating history behind their hobby. Mosaic art - the original inlaid process - was known 3,000 years ago in ancient Egypt. The word itself comes from the Greek mouseos, "of the Muses".

The Muses, in Greek mythology, were the nine goddesses in charge of all the arts. By naming mosaics after them, the Greeks were bestowing the highest possible accolade on this favorite art form.

Mosaic floors of marble of glass were much prized by the Greeks and the Romans; occasionally they decorated marble columns and fountains with mosaic insets. Going them one better, the Egyptians built mosaic designs right into the furniture.

During the Middle Ages (500-1500 A.D.), mosaic pictures were given the place of honor in a church-oriented society, appearing on the arches, floors and ceilings of cathedrals. To this day, the Vatican maintains a studio in which nothing but mosaics are produced. As many as 10,000 colors are used by the artists of this unique studio, and the artists may take from 12 to 20 years to complete a large tableau.

If the picture is to be viewed close up, the craftsman polishes its surface to give it a smooth gloss similar to that of an oil painting; if it will be seen from a distance, the surface is left rough to resemble a fresco (wall) painting.

The translation of master paintings, both secular and religious, into mosaic form is an ancient craft still popular. Mosaic table top, wall and floor designs in both traditional and abstract patterns are widely used for interior decoration in the American home.

Mosaic "craftsmen" are becoming more numerous than ever this year, thanks to the new device called "Transo-Mosaics". Developed in 1958 by Traragram, Transo-Mosaic pictures are the original designs of

The Latest Word

"Sleigh bells ring, are you listening? In the lane snow is glistening These familiar lines of a Christmas song certainly brings to the Christmas season with it's gaiety and merriment. Although we here in the south seldom see the "snow in the lane" we still know when Christmas rolls around. For one thing it is time for finals, and we all know that. People are wondering what to get in the way of a gift to please that special someone or just where in the world is the "green stuff" coming from to buy the gifts. Whatever reminds us of this season we all are aware that this year is almost over and a brand new one is about to begin.

In Thursday night, December 10, the Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity feted the Kappa Delta girls with a party held at the First National Bank lodge. The guests gathered around a large Christmas tree and enjoyed an evening of fun and fellowship. Gifts were exchanged among the ground and between the "little sisters, big sisters" and "little brothers and big brothers". Mrs. Gertrude Odom who acted as a chaperone received a gift from the group also. Flaming baked Alaska and coffee were served to about 50 guests.

The Society staff of the Campus Canopy would like to extend to Miss Jean Hooks their congratulations on being elected Miss Pine Cone of 1960. We would also like to congratulate all the finalists in the contest.

The girls from Alpha Delta Pi are very proud of the renovation which has been done to their sorority rooms in Converse Hall. The former chapter room has been turned into a parlor furnished by Victorian. The pledge room is being painted and re-furnished also.

The fall pledge class of ADPi presented a filing cabinet to the sisters in appreciation of the wonderful work which they feel the sisters have done with them.

Education Club Meeting

The House-in-the-Woods was the scene of the second meeting of the Education Club held Wednesday, Nov. 18. There were approximately forty members present. Becca McGraw reported that posters about the meetings of the club had been placed in the Ad Building and in the Student Center. Peggy Crew gave a report of the projects committee. Several ideas for a money raising project were presented to the club.

Among these were a chili supper, a hay ride, and a car wash. Since time is so short, a definite idea will be decided on after Christmas.

The next meeting of the club was held on Dec. 9 at which time Christmas decorations were made and put in the Ad Building.

Kappa Delta Sorority is holding a bridge dessert for the Valdosta Alumni Association on the morning of December 12. The event is being held to express appreciation for the aid the association has extended the chapter during rush and all during the year. Sue Wright is in charge of the dessert.

An Al Fresco party was held on Monday night, December 7, for the pledges of the three sororities on Campus and was given by the fall pledge class of Kappa Delta. The "get together" was held at the House-in-the-Woods and hot dogs and all the trimmings were served. All the girls seemed to have a wonderful time.

Serenaders Presented Program

The Serenaders directed by Mr. Logan presented an excellent program in assembly on Wednesday, December 2. This was the first time the group had performed for the students.

Among the songs The Serenaders sang were: "Love Walked In", "Thank Heaven for Little Girls", "In the Still of the Night", "Long Ago and far Away", "The Way You Look Tonight", "I Talk to the Trees", and "Yesterdays".

The members of the Serenaders are Kay Domingos, Vivian Veatch, Barbara Walker, Judy Konlor, Bernie Brown, Steve Vaughn, John Baskins, and C. B. O'Neal.

IRC Holds Christmas Meeting

Opening the pre-holiday festivities on the campus of Valdosta State College was the beautiful Christmas party given by the International Relations Club Tuesday night at the House-in-the-Woods.

The theme of the Christmas season was carried out by festive decorations. Two beautiful trees added a note of holiday cheer. Members were greeted on their arrival by Marie Smith and Gene Gravitt.

After a brief business session presided over by the president, Lamar Pearson, the program for the evening was presented by the vice-president Dillard Ensley. Three foreign students spoke on the customs of their native lands. Ricardo Perez told of Christmas in San Salvador. John Boyancee described the observance in Mexico and Bente Mitter contrasted the customs of her country, Norway, with those of America. Bente wore a Norwegian dress for the occasion.

Mr. Philip Dillard closed the program with a discussion of the Christmas season in the United States, emphasizing the influence of foreign lands on our time honored customs.

Following this informative program, a social hour was enjoyed, during which gifts were exchanged by the members. Refreshments were served by the host and hostess.

Beauty Contests At Valdosta State

By Mary Dickey

Valdosta is a city with many interests and places and forms of entertainment. Some of its most notable things, however, are its beauty contests.

Valdosta State College does not take a backseat to anyone in this respect.

Two beauty contests are sponsored annually by the different fraternity groups on campus.

The oldest of the two is the Miss VSC Contest. It is sponsored by the Pi Kappa Phi fraternity. This beauty contest was first initiated in 1954 and has become an annual affair due to the widespread interest.

The contest was first used as just a way to make money for the fraternity but soon it became much more than just that. It is a means for the more talented girls on the campus to display their talent.

Some of the past winners are Mary Shadburn, 1959; Betty Lou Eldridge 1958; Shirley McGowan, 1957; Joann Daniels, 1956. Penny Williams is the current Miss VSC.

The other contest is the Miss Calendar Girl entry sponsored by the Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

Editor Jerome Clegg was the originator of this idea and edited the publication of the first VSC Calendar on which Miss VSC Calendar Girl is featured.

Although the contest is comparatively new, having been in existence since last year, it is already a form of entertainment looked forward to each year.

The purpose of this contest is to provide greater fraternity competition, to make money for the group, to provide entertainment for the students, and to provide a contest for sorority and independent girls to compete in.

The winners are chosen for their photogenic qualities, sex-appeal, beauty, poise and personality.

The other Miss Calendar Girl besides Diane Higginbotham is Sandra Hardin of Valdosta.

A communist is a guy who says everything is perfect in Russia but stays here because he likes to rough it.

TWINS - Twins at VSC are Parramore, McClellan, Young, Ferguson and Norsworthy.

Very Interesting People Of The Week

By Sandra Pattillo

In the United States only one out of eighty-six of the births are twins and only one forth of these are identical.

This week the very interesting people are the twins that attend VSC.

Helen and Hazel Young, identical twins from Rebecca, Georgia, are eighteen year old freshmen. Helen is majoring in Secretarial Science and Hazel's major is math. Hazel enjoys playing the piano and both she and Helen enjoy all types of sports.

Betty Sue and Mary Jean Norsworthy are identical eighteen year old twins from Valdosta. Betty Sue is majoring in art and Mary Jean is majoring in elementary education. They both enjoy sports. Mary Jean is planning to get married in June.

Lyndia and Lyda Ferguson are seventeen year old twins from Austell, Georgia. Their major is secretarial science and they both enjoy sports. Their special field of talent is music, playing the piano, organ and the accordin.

Charlotte and Glenda McClellan are eighteen year old freshmen from Nashville, Georgia. They both are majoring in medical technology. They enjoy playing the piano and sports.

Elizabeth (Itty Bitty) and John Parramore are nineteen year old freshmen from Valdosta.

"Itty Bitty" is majoring in elementary education and John has not decided what he will major in. "Itty Bitty" is a pledge of Alpha Delta Pi Sorority. Both "Itty Bitty" and John enjoy sports of all kinds.

Mosaics-

claimed modern artists, and also copies of centuries-old museum classics. The process is unbelievably simple. The entire picture design is embossed three-dimensional on a sheet of transparent plastic. When hand painted directly on the reverse side of the plastic sheet with the use of a paint-by-number guide, then turned over, the effect is a beautiful, realistic mosaic picture that can be framed and hung in any room.

Transo-Mosaic designs, which vary from seascapes to still lifes to a scene of Nazareth and a portrait of a woman who lived in Jerusalem at the time of Christ, are enhanced, when framed, by a background sheet of gold foil included in each kit.

Prices of Transo-Mosaic kits, including complete painting equipment, range from one to five dollars. An additional Transo-Mosaic series of clown, bird and animal pictures, designed especially for children aged seven to ten, are priced at two dollars, with two pictures in each kit.

Using the Transo-Mosaic process, you may not achieve the genius of long-ago mosaic craftsmen, but even the artistic duffers among us will have a grand time.

FROM THE BENCH

By Lamar Pearson

This is the final appearance of this column for 1959, and I would like to say now, that the Canopy Sports Department is looking for more and better things in 1960. Briefly looking over the year 1959, we can see that it has been, in most aspects, a very good one. The Rebels under the direction of Coach Colson obtained a 13-11 record in basketball and 10-12 record in baseball.

With finals coming up I suspect that most people will be speculating the outcome of test grades rather than think about the possibilities of a basketball score. But for VSC students who live in or around the Atlanta area, there is going to be some good basketball. This year a Christmas Invitational Tournament is to be held in Atlanta on Dec. 31 and Jan. 1 and 2.

The tournament is to be conducted at Cross Keys gymnasium, and the participating teams are to be derived from the G. I. A. C. All teams will play the 31, semifinals will be the 1, and the finals will be played on the 2.

Coach Colson and the Rebels are going all-out for this tournament and the guys are really looking forward to the 31. So try to make it to Atlanta during the holidays and support the Rebs while you're there.

At Random—

(Continued from Page 1) with the ceremonies of Christendom. Recognizing that such customs and ideas were endeared to the people by immemorial usage, the Christian Church, instead of banning them, has directed its efforts toward investing them with new sanctity and meaning.

"A quaint old writer thus spiritualizes our practices of Christmas decorations today: 'So our churches and houses decked with bayes and rosemary, holly and ivy, and other plants which are always green, winter and summer, signify and put us in mind of His Deity, that the Child that now was born of God and man, who should spring up like a tender plant, should always be green and flourishing, and live forevermore.'"

Merry Christmas and a very Happy New Year from AT RANDOM.

Playing in Atlanta on Dec. 4, the Rebels lost a close but hardly fought game by the score of 69-68. The Rebels came down to the wire leading the lads from Ga. State only to have a pass intercepted and to lose the game by one point.

Reasons for the defeat were that it was the first game of the season, and they also succumbed to pressure. In the closing seconds of the first half Jim Melvin, starting guard, severely injured a knee when he crashed to the floor after trying for a rebound. The seriousness of Melvin's injury has not been determined, but the general consensus is that he will be out indefinitely.

All of the guys played a good game and the performance that Gene Peacock turned in was simply tremendous. The big guy garnered twenty points during the evening and was inspirational to his teammates by the hustling spirit that he demonstrated.

Dormitories Undergo 'The Treatment' Here

By Kelsey Kemp and Ben Force

The women's dormitories and the administration building at VSC are getting refinished. This is being done to improve the outside appearance of the building and for maintenance purposes.

New brick, paint, and mortar are being used in remodeling the buildings. The buildings are all steam-cleared to remove all the foreign matter from the old mortar.

Converse Hall, the first to undergo the treatment, has taken on that "New Look". The rest of the buildings should be completed around the first of the year.

According to Mr. McCoy, this is the first time since their construction that these buildings have been completely reconditioned. The cost of the project is $22, 430, and the W. G. Lewis Company of Atlanta has the contract for the work.

If anyone has wondered what the scaffolds are doing around the women's dormitories, now they know that the boys haven't been using them to see their girls, although it is a good idea?

Oglethorpe Downs VSC

An exuberance of team spirit, a band (composed of member of the Oglethorpe student body), and an unusually large turnout of the student body enabled the Rebels of Valdosta State to defeat the Rebels of Valdosta State by the score of 58-29.

Four Faculty Members Honored

Four members of the staff of Valdosta State College have been honored by being included in the nineteenth edition of the publication "Who's Who in American Education".

The VSC faculty members receiving the honor are Dr. J. A. Durrenburger, Academic Dean; Dr. Harold Gulliver, Head, Department of English, Miss Lillian Patterson, Head Librarian, Wallace L. Waites, Director, Public Relations.

"Who's Who in American Education" is an illustrated biographical directory of persons who have attained some eminence in the field of education. It has been published every other year since 1929.

Super Sub!

It's been said that the atomic submarine "Nautilus" stays submerged so long that it only surfaces to let the crew re-enlist.

Perhaps for this reason, the Navy has taken valuable space aboard the "Nautilus" for the only soft-drink vending machine in the entire submarine fleet.

Naturally (or you wouldn't hear about it from us) it's a Coca-Cola machine. And not unexpectedly, re-enlistments are quite respectable.

Rugged lot, those submariners. Great drink, Cokel!
