Panhellenic and IFC Plan Rush Week

Rush Week is in full progress here on our Valdosta State campus. The week of fall rush is October 3-9, as was decided upon by the Panhellenic Council and the Interfraternity Council last spring.

The annual Panhellenic Tea was held in the Rotunda of Ashley Hall on Wednesday, September 29. At this time, girls interested in going out for sorority rush were given the 1960 Rush Booklets and also additional information concerning the three national sororities on VSC campus. In the receiving line at the tea were Miss Fredeva Ogletree, Dean of Women; Mrs. Joe Wisenbaker, Dean Emeritus; Mrs. Pat Smith, president of City Panhellenic; Sandra Pattillo, president of the campus Panhellenic; Jean Hooks, president of Alpha Xi Delta; Patricia Luke, president of Alpha Delta Pi; and, Sandra Massey, president of Kappa Delta. The refreshment tables were decorated with flower arrangements done in pastel colors with greenery twined around the punch bowl.

Sorority rush week officially got underway Monday morning at seven o'clock a. m. when the period of silence began. During this time, Monday through Saturday, no affiliated sorority woman may carry on any type of conversation with rushees except at rush parties. The Alpha Xi Delta Sorority held their theme party on Monday, Kappa Delta on Tuesday, and Alpha Delta Pi on Wednesday. The formal parties were held in the same sequence Thursday through Saturday. On the afternoon of Sunday, October 9, the rushees will receive their bids.

The Interfraternity Council met on Tuesday night, September 27, to discuss plans for fraternity rush and procedures to be followed. An IFC Smoker will be held on Monday night, October 3, at which time all men who are going out for rush must be present. Rush parties begin on Tuesday night when Sigma Phi Epsilon will entertain the rushees. The Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity will hold their party Wednesday night with the Tau Kappa Epsilon holding theirs on Thursday evening. Bids will be mailed out Friday, October 7. On Monday following rush week, all fraternity men will meet in front of the dining hall with their respective groups and the rushees will come and join the fraternity of their choice.

Clubs Plan Chapel Programs For Future

"Prospects for interesting chapel programs seem good with one half of the schedule already filled for the year," stated Miss Thera Hambrick, co-chairman with Mr. Maurice Lindauer of the Assembly planning committee.

Student-sponsored programs are being encouraged with the various clubs on campus participating. This is evident in the October 5th chapel program which features the Student Government Association. A program has been planned which will be of interest to both students and faculty.

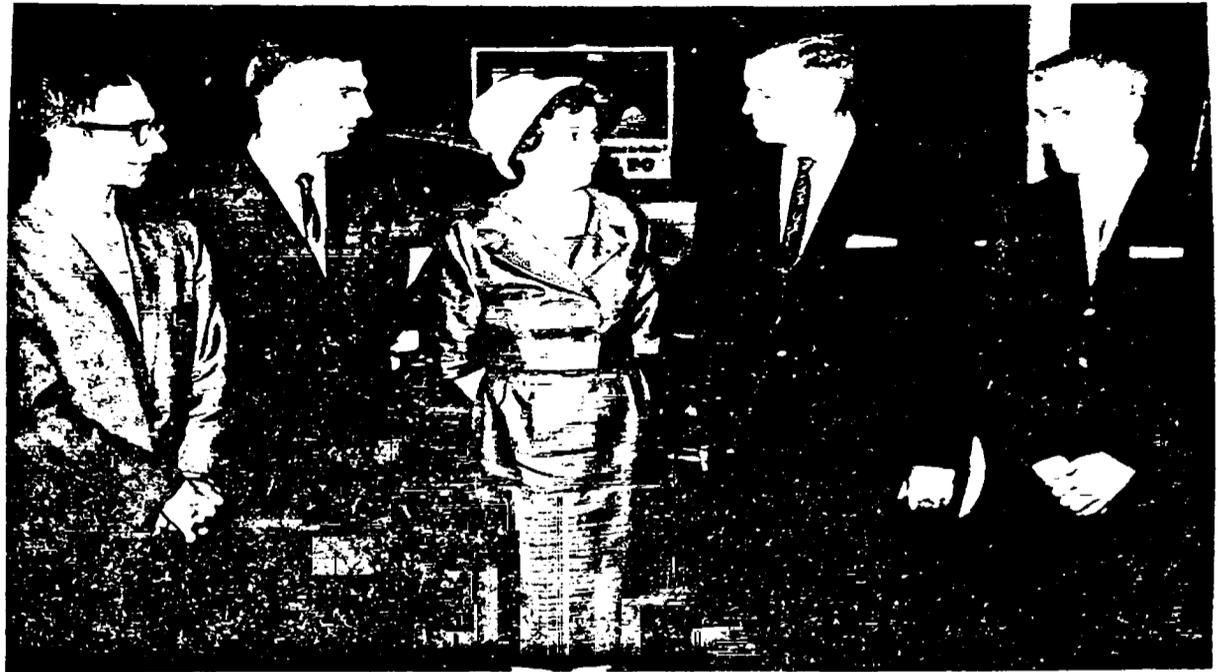

October 12th will bring Mr. H. M. Chester from the State Department of Health. Having specialized in the communicable diseases, his talk holds promise of being highly informative.

The Baptist Student Union, in accord with the club participation program, will be in charge of assembly October 19th. Albreys Hawkins, evangelist, will talk on the religious aspects of life.

An interesting and entertaining program for November is the Air Training Command Band. More news of this will appear at a later date.

All VSC clubs will be contacted at their first business meetings and asked to participate in future assembly programs. Clubs already agreeing to conduct assembly include the YMCA, Panhellenic Council and Interfraternity Council.

"Students and faculty members are urged to support these well-planned programs," commented Miss Hambrick.

VSC Students Listen, Talk to Sen. Talmadge

Some 600 people crowded in and around a little red brick church Sunday, Sept. 25, 1960 to listen to Senator Herman Talmadge speak.

The church was the Fellowship Baptist Church in Cook County, between Adel and Cecil.

People from miles around slipped and slid over the muddy roads which led to the little church off the beaten path. The roads and the adverse weather undoubtedly kept many people away.

The occasion was the Fellowship Baptist Church's homecoming and many of Georgia's political notables were present. Lt. Gov. Garland Bird, State Rep. Wilkes, State Rep. Jernigan, Home Nelson, ex-solicitor general, and Congresswoman Iris Blich were among the guests.

Few, if any, thought that Senator Talmadge, the main speaker, would have anything to say of political significance, and they were not disappointed. His speech, while at times smacking of the political, could have been given to a crowd in Worcester, Mass. with as favorable a reception as it received in South Georgia.

The Senator began by listing what he considered the three most important factors contributing to the great success of the United States. The first of these, he said, was our belief in God; the opportunity which all Americans have to worship God in the manner that they choose. Secondly, said the Senator, is the great capitalistic economic system in this country which affords each and every citizen the opportunity of success if he is willing to work hard. Thirdly, he said, the Constitution of the United States has done much in making this country great by guaranteeing human dignity and liberty to all Americans.

The Senator then went on to say that while this country is without doubt the greatest power in the world, he warned that even America is not assured of its role as the world's leading nation. Sen. Talmadge pointed out that all great powers, from Rome to Germany and England, have eventually fallen. The reason they

Faculties Expanded To Meet Enrollment

Over 200 freshmen have been smoothly absorbed into the VSC student body; a new annex is being erected behind West Hall; enrollment has boomed to an all time high of over 800; and money has been appropriated for a new infirmary with any new additions and developments.

These facts and figures highlight the many signs of growth and development evident on the campus as students and faculty assembled to begin the 54th year of the school's existence.

"If the enthusiasm displayed during Freshmen Week is any indication, then school spirit at VSC will make tremendous strides in '60", stated David Melton, SGA president.

The week for orientation was full of activities planned especially to welcome the new students and give them a colorful picture of college life. The welcome was naturally accompanied by the usual hazards that befall Rats.

Most of the freshmen are resigned to their fate. One fledgling student, Ginger Anderson, sums it up this way. "Look at it like this. You have only one chance in a lifetime to be a Rat, so make the most of it!"

The annex to West Hall, the latest addition to the campus, is due to open sometime in March. It will be completely air-conditioned and will house 14 faculty offices. The first two floors will be occupied by the physics and secretarial science departments. The third floor is for general classrooms.

The crowded classrooms, observed everywhere on the campus, show evidence of the largest enrollment in the history of the college.

Due largely to the increasing enrollment, the need of the new infirmary has been pressing the past several years, but the appropriation by the State Board of Regents has only recently been granted.

This new building will soon be under construction behind the dormitories, facing Oak Street.

Woodrow Wilson Scholarship Test Set

In announcing the opening of the competition for the academic year 1961-1962, Dr. Hugh Taylor, President of the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation estimated that well over 9,000 students will be nominated by the closing date of October, 31.

Designed to reduce a nationwide shortage of qualified college teachers, the program annually awards 1,000 fellowships for first year graduate study at any university of the recipients choice in United States or Canada.

The Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation does not accept applications directly from students. Every candidate for the award must be nominated by a faculty member. Nominated students are invited to declare themselves active candidates for the award by sending the necessary application forms to the chairman of the selection committee for the region in which the prospective candidate is now located. A list of the fifteen regions and the names of the regional chairman may be obtained from the Foundation's national headquarters, Box 642, Princeton, New Jersey, or from the Woodrow Wilson representative, Dean J. A. Durrenburger. Names of fellowship winners will be made known by March 15, 1961.

EDITORIALS

Something of Value

By Lamar Pearson

On September the twenty-fifth I spent a most enjoyable day attending a Homecoming celebration at a Baptist church in Cook County.

The particular reason that my day was so good, was the fact that many of Georgia's top politicians were on hand for the occasion, and I had an excellent time interviewing Senator Herman E. Talmadge and Congresswoman Iris Blitch from the Eighth Congressional District. Doug Calhoun is writing a first page story on the Senator; so I shall restrict my remarks to Representative Blitch.

The first question that I directed to Mrs. Blitch was, "Do you expect to have a tough civil rights battle when the Eighty-Third Congress convenes in January?" Congresswoman Blitch replied, "since I have been in congress the civil rights issue has been tough, and I expect the trend to continue."

When I asked her if she would actively campaign for the Kennedy-Johnson ticket; she replied, "I expect to use the time I have to go around and visit my constituents." The Representative ended her remarks by saying, "as long as the people of the Eighth District keep me in Congress I shall fight for civil rights and liberties for everybody and not for so called civil rights for a select 'few'."

I suppose that most of you have been giving your undivided attention to the looming presidential election. I wish that there was some way that a poll of the campus could be taken to see what the percentage of Kennedy and Nixon supporters would be.

In a recent poll taken among college campus Student Government presidents fifty-eight percent were for Nixon and thirty percent were for Kennedy. This poll was not too representative, however, because it only represented a token amount of colleges and universities.

If any students are vitally interested in the fascinating field of politics I would appreciate your sage remarks and candid opinions in the form of letters to the editor. The best way for a college student to express himself is through his campus newspaper, and seriously; we are interested in what you have to say.

The first issue of the Canopy may appear to be a bit dry in places, the reason being that so-called events were not operating full steam when we went to press. We have a young valiant staff this year. It will take much cooperation and hard work, but we are willing to expend the necessary effort to make the Canopy as good as the school it serves.

We welcome any suggestions or criticisms that you may have to make in regards to the Canopy. We sincerely hope that the paper will be free of all bias and prejudice, and this paper as long as I am editor will not be a fraternity or club mouthpiece, but will be the servant of the student body as it rightfully should be.

Math-Science News Letter

C. B. O'Neal, Jr. and Larry Waters both derived a great deal of personal satisfaction as well as present and future benefits from their investigations this summer as members of Undergraduate Research Participation Programs. Under the direction of Dr. L. C. Ellias of the bacteriology division of Florida State University and in collaboration with Mr. R. E. Megraw, a graduate student at Tallahassee, Larry succeeded in further purification of ascorbic acid oxidase, secured from bacterial cultures, and established some of the properties of this enzyme. C. B. O'Neal working under the direction of Dr. J. N. Couch, chairman of the Botany Department at the University of North Carolina, and with Mr. Clyde Umphlett, a graduate student at Chapel Hill, searched for and found a fungus that parasitizes and destroys mosquito larvae. Using one of the VSC biology laboratories as their workshop, Mr. Umphlett and C. B. found the parasite in Georgia mosquitoes; later they discovered it in North Carolina, where it had not been encountered previously. Dr. Bernard Bettman, Professor of Chemistry at VSC from September 1953 to June 1959, visited the campus on July 21 and 22. He was enroute to Florida where he is to be a member of the faculty of the University of Tampa this year.

Dr. Elsie Quarterman, VSC alumna, has been promoted recently. She is now Head of the Botany Department and Chairman of the Division of Bacteriology, Botany, and Zoology at Vanderbilt University.

During the summer, under a National Science Foundation grant, Mr. Lindauer was engaged in research under Dr. Innes at Vanderbilt University.

Valdosta State College has received, under an Atomic Energy Commission grant, valuable equipment and radioactive chemicals. Messrs. Lindauer and Martin will use the equipment and chemicals in their advanced courses in chemistry and physics during the present school year.

The curriculum in the Chemistry Department has been expanded again. This year a new course is being offered in the spring quarter, Instrumental Quantitative Analysis.

At its July meeting, the Board of Regents granted Valdosta State College the privilege of awarding the degree of "Bachelor of Science in Chemistry". This degree will be awarded to those students who satisfactorily complete the curriculum described in the 1960-61 VSC Bulletin as "Professional Major in Chemistry".

Please give us information relative to your recent activities (positions, travels, etc.) and those of former Math-Science students.

Tired of Responsibility

By Doug Calhoun

We often hear the word responsibility. Responsibility for this. Responsibility for that. Responsibility for just about everything. It has gotten to the point where the word responsibility has lost much of its fervor and vigor.

However, there was a time, not too many years ago, when the people of the United States felt strongly and believed firmly in responsibility. These people, our parents and grandparents, felt that it was each Americans responsibility to make America great.

They felt so strongly this feeling of responsibility that they tamed the raw frontiers and made America whole. They built great factories and ships and skyscrapers and railroads and schools because they believed in what the Constitution told them was their privilege and their responsibility. In this century they felt this responsibility so deeply that twice they went to war - and twice they won.

So sincere was this feeling that they cast aside the shackles of the great depression and rebuilt the economic structure of the United States out of chaos.

So responsible were they, that they made the United States of America an oasis of freedom, liberty and equality in a world of tyranny and fear; a beacon for all mankind to follow with the hope that perhaps some day the world might have the same opportunity to live in such freedom.

America may not survive. America may fall as have all other great powers. But those ideals, those principles for which Americans have felt such a great responsibility shall last forever.

But America need not fall. And only if those responsibilities so eagerly accepted by past generations are denied by the present generation will she fall. The privileges and the responsibilities that are intrinsic in the American concept of democracy are inseparable.

Now is the time to keep America great. Now is the time to accept responsibility.

It's Your Choice

A woman tourist in Florida was admiring an Indian's necklace. "What are those things?" she asked.

"Alligator teeth, ma'am," replied the Indian.

"Oh, I see. I suppose they have the same value for your people that pearls do for us."

"Not quite," he answered gravely. "Anybody can open an oyster."

A simple illustration, but how simple is the point it illustrates? As a new school year begins are you going to be satisfied with the record you have previously made or are you striving for something a littler higher? Few students who plan to come to college are coerced into doing so, usually it is of their own accord - a road to something better.

Artists put down their paint, brush, and pallet only when they are satisfied with their piece of work. Should students be any different? Satisfaction comes from doing the best possible. So many young men and women in institutions of higher learning make their goals too low - they are satisfied with being mediocre. Anybody is capable of making a passing grade with just a little effort, but it takes somebody to push that extra mile toward a higher goal. Dare to be different, show the world that you are capable, do that task that you always put off.

Remember, anybody can open an oyster, but it takes a little more effort to secure alligator teeth!

Canopy Policy

It has been customary for the Campus Canopy to publish what its policy will be for the coming year.

The editorial policy will be confined to comment on the local scene and on the college level.

We believe the purpose of the college newspaper is to comment and report editorially on issues vital to the college.

All material presented objectively and impartially with the exception of the editorial page where opinions and comments will be presented.

Two types of articles will be presented here those signed columns written by staff members or individuals and unsigned editorials. Signed columns will reflect individual opinions not necessarily the same as the views of the Campus Canopy Staff.

The Editor, associate editors, and business manager were selected by a student faculty committee. All other staff members are appointed by the editor.

In conclusion we will at all times try to keep the doors of the Canopy open, the mental as well as the physical doors, so that all will have a right to express themselves to an open mind.

We will try to improve school spirit by getting behind the student activities program and supporting it.

We will at all times strive to keep the student body informed and aware of the needs and the accomplishments of the college.

Letters To Editor

All letters to the editor must be typewritten. Two copies made. One copy is to be signed by the writer using his correct name. This copy is for the Canopy files and will only be seen by the editor who will not reveal to anyone whom the writer is unless the writer must be called in to answer to the administration for what he has written.

The other copy of a letter may be signed anyway the writer wishes, with any pen name he or she chooses to use. In the event

The Latest Word

I welcome to VSC! I say new welcome to all of you new students and to those olders, welcome back. If you have heard so many times they're probably coming out of your ears, but I just get my two cents' worth in. Campus Canopy has started a policy about the society. After this issue this column will contain social items of interest and Greek world will appear in a separate column. Please send us any item of interest to the student body offices, marriages, parties, or plain gossip. You can give information to me personally or put it into the Public Relations office in the Ad Building.

would like to give a personal message to all the new members of the faculty. We hope you will like VSC.

Mrs. Harrell, who is the new house director in Converse, recently acquired a new addition to her family. Yes, Martha and Ashley took that fateful walk down the aisle. Remember, Mrs. Harrell, you haven't lost a daughter, just an income tax exemption!

In the past couple of weeks since I've been back to school, I happened to see some of the old graduates around town. Becca McGraw is teaching here in Valdosta and living right across the street from the school. During a visit to the laundromat the other night, I say another newly married couple, Jim and Jo Stevens. Jo is teaching here also. Dot Harrell visited the dear alma mater last week-end. Hear she had to pull herself away from the big city of Atlanta and her job-or was it someone named Paul? News from Kathryn Bell ('59) came across the wires too. Kathryn is working as secretary to the president of a school for retarded children down Texas way (in her spare time is taking an interior decorating course).

If you've seen a little girl walking around campus weighted down with a Sig Ep pin, I think you might be looking at Jeannie Posey. Martha Price came to visit during orientation week sporting a diamond. It seems that Paul liked Moultrie better than Pennsylvania. Laura Ann Brown returned to campus with a diamond too. It seems like it was a big summer!

Fulbright Contest Announced

Only two months remain to apply for some 800 Fulbright scholarships for graduate study or research in 30 countries, the Institute of International Education reminded prospective applicants today. Applications are being accepted until November 1.

Inter-American Cultural Convention awards for study in 17 Latin American countries have the same filing deadline.

Recipients of Fulbright awards for study in Europe, Latin America, and the Asia-Pacific area will receive tuition, maintenance and roundtrip travel. IACC scholarships cover transportation, tuition, and partial maintenance costs. IIE administers both of these student programs for the U. S. Department of State.

General eligibility requirements for both categories of awards are: 1) U. S. citizenship at time of application; 2) a bachelor's degree or its equivalent by 1961; 3) knowledge of the language of the host country; and 4) good health. A demonstrated capacity for independent study and a good academic record are also expected. Preference is given to applicants under 35 years of age who have not previously lived or studied abroad.

Applicants will be required to submit a plan of proposed study that can be carried out profitably within the year abroad. Successful candidates are required to be affiliated with approved institutions of higher learning abroad.

Enrolled students at a college or university should consult the campus Fulbright adviser for information and applications. Others may write to the Information and Counseling Division, Institute of International Education, 1 East 67th Street, New York 21, New York or to any of IIE's regional offices (see letterhead).

Competitions for the 1961-62 academic year close November 1, 1960. Requests for application forms must be postmarked before October 15. Completed applications must be submitted by November 1.

The Institute of International Education, founded in 1919, seeks to foster international understanding through exchange of students and scholars, and to further the exchange of ideas and knowledge among all nations. It administers two-way scholarship programs between the United States and 83 foreign countries, and is an information center on all aspects of international education.

U. S. State Department Announces Examinations

The United States Department of State will hold its next written Foreign Service Officer Examination on December 10, 1960, in approximately 65 cities throughout the United States and at Foreign Service posts abroad. In announcing the examination the Department is seeking to interest undergraduate and graduate students who have studied in such fields as economics, public and business administration, language, and area studies, history and political science.

years' standing. Although a candidate's spouse need not be a citizen on the date of the examination, citizenship must have been obtained prior to the date of appointment.

Application forms and other information may be obtained immediately by writing to the Board of Examiners for the Foreign Service, Department of State, Washington 25, D. C. The closing date for filing the application is October 24th.

Rats, Rats Everywhere

Ratting on campus seems to be going pretty slow. Some Rats seem to forget to wear their rat caps, and many forget the rules of ratting. The Chairman of the Rat Committee wishes to remind you Rats that all Freshmen are to take active part in ratting. The more you participate in campus activities, the more fun you will have while at VSC.

The official Rat Week will begin on Monday 10. Rat Court will be held Wednesday night, Oct. 12, in the gymnasium. All Rats who do not obey all upperclassmen and all Rat rules will be "presented" to the Judge of the Rat Court and the sentences may not be pleasant.

By way of introduction to the student body, CAMPUS CANOPY spotlights a few "rats".

"Choo-Choo" Germano, from Waycross, Georgia, is one of the more ambitious of these lowly animals, since he wants to be president of the freshman class. "Choo-Choo" is eighteen years old, about five feet, six inches tall, and has green eyes and brown hair. He likes swimming and water skiing, and one upperclassman reports that he certainly does dance well. His MG is already well-known and admired on the campus, but oddly enough, "Choo-Choo" says that he does not like sports cars. When asked if he likes girls, "Choo-Choo" replies, "Huh, I mean I'm a boy, ain't I?"

We gather by his repeated request, "Don't put anything down there", that he is either modest or prefers to remain rather mysterious. The biggest mystery about him seems to be his name. What is it.

Deana Dorough is an eighteen year old "rat" from Bainbridge, Georgia, who has already become well known to upperclassmen as a girl who takes "ratting" goodnaturedly. Her ready smile and willingness to laugh at any situation makes her a constant target. Deana, it is rumored, is on the list for Rat Court.

An honor graduate who was everything from center forward on the basketball team to president of the Beta Club in high school, Deana plans to major in medical technology at Valdosta State.

George Gray, on being asked how he likes being a rat, replies, "Being a rat? Well... It's great", but his answer lacks conviction. George is seventeen years old and a native of Jacksonville, Florida. He came to Valdosta State at the recommendation of three aunts who attended school here, and he likes it "fine". George's favorite pastimes are swimming and weight lifting.

George plans to major in mathematics, probably because he wants a million dollars. And what would he do with a million dollars? "Put it in the bank and live off the interest", he says.

To be eligible to take this examination, candidates must be at least 21 and under 31 years of age as of October 24, 1960. Persons 20 years of age may also apply if a college graduate or a senior in college. They must be American citizens of at least 9

The student assistants for the Chemistry Department this year are Miss Martha McElroy of the senior class for Dr. Duvall, and Miss Angela Terry of the sophomore class for Mr. Lindauer.

Maid of Cotton Contest Underway

A college campus is a good place to look for Maid of Cotton candidates.

That's the belief of the National Cotton Council, which conducts an annual search for a young beauty to represent a great agricultural industry on an international fashion and good will tour.

The contest is now officially open, the Council announces, for the 1961 Maid of Cotton, who will be the American cotton industry's 22nd representative. Of the 21 former Maids, all but one have been college coeds or recent graduates at the time of their selection.

It's also a widely accepted fact that the majority of college coeds rate high in personality, intelligence, beauty, and background. These are the qualities the cotton industry looks for in its Maid of Cotton.

Twenty finalists will be named to compete in Memphis, Tennessee, December 28 and 29. Four state Maid of Cotton winners from Alabama, California, New Mexico, and the South Plains area of Texas will automatically be included in the group. Other finalists will be selected from individual applications mailed to the Council's Memphis office.

To be eligible to enter the contest, a girl must have been born in one of the 18 cotton-producing states, must be between 18 and 25 years old, must be at least five feet, five inches tall, and must never have been married.

The girl who wins the 1961 Maid of Cotton title will succeed Sandra Lee Jennings of Riverside, California. Sandra has returned to her studies as a sophomore at the University of California. She plans to follow a career in fashion designing.

The 1961 Maid of Cotton will travel coast to coast in the United States and also will visit key Canadian and European cities. Everywhere she goes, she'll meet high government officials, cotton industry leaders, and other dignitaries. Wearing the latest cotton fashions, she'll pose for newspaper and magazine photographs and appear on radio and television.

Official entry blanks may be obtained from the National Cotton Council, Box 9905, Memphis 12, Tennessee.

Many of the boys on the team have two years Junior College experience behind them. For this reason, experience will not be lacking.

Hopes are high that this year's edition will be vastly improved over last year's team.

Entertainment Foundation Opens Campaigns

The Thomasville Entertainment Foundation opens its Fall membership campaign October 8-15 with a popular orchestra, a symphony with a piano soloist, a dazzling soprano star and a hilarious comedy on its program.

Opening the series on November 8 will be Mantovani and his New Music, a byword in the record world and on the concert stage. An orchestra of forty-five players will present an evening of matchless arrangements, superb musicianship and wonderful program.

November 28 the famed Barter Theatre will present the 1959 Broadway comedy "The Golden Fleecing", or how to win at roulette via the United States Navy. Fabulous Venice, beautiful women, and farce make up the plot.

The Jacksonville Symphony with guest pianist Grant Johannesen make their appearance January 27. The Symphony, composed of professionals and carefully selected brilliant students with conductor Dr. James Christian Pfohl, is in its ninth season. Soloist Grant Johannesen, proclaimed in this country and abroad, is described as a "wizard in technique", expressing great depth and grandeur.

Beauty, charm, poise and ability describe Mary Costa, Huron's illustrious soprano of opera, television, concert, and movies. She will end the season on March 17.

Season tickets for 1960-61 may be secured by writing Thomasville Entertainment Foundation, P. O. Box 162, Thomasville, Georgia. Prices remain the same. $10 for orchestra, $8.50 for orchestra side and rear sections, $7 for balcony seats and $5 for students and teachers.

VSC Adds Another Gulliver to Faculty

By Sandra Pattillo

"Learned men are men who have traveled". These words describe Mr. Harold S. Gulliver who has joined the faculty of Valdosta State College as Director of Public Relations and assistant professor of German.

Before coming to VSC, Mr. Gulliver was employed as a staff writer with the Macon Telegraph.

Mr. Gulliver is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Harold Gulliver Sr. and is a native of Valdosta. He was graduated from Valdosta High School with honors. While in high school he served as editor of the Valdosta Outlook.

In 1957, Mr. Gulliver was graduated magna cum laude from Yale University, where he majored in English. At Yale he served as an editor of the Yale News and made contributions to Literary Magazine and Ivy Magazine.

During his senior year he was chosen Scholar of the House and was elected to the Manuscript and Elizabethan Club.

Under the sponsorship of the Valdosta Rotary Club Mr. Gulliver was named a Rotary Fellow in 1957 and spent a year at the Free University in Berlin, Germany. While here he was awarded an additional scholarship to attend an international conference at the University of Lund in Sweden.

In his new position Mr. Gulliver says he expects to enjoy teaching and working in public relations. He states further that Valdosta is one of the best schools in the Georgia University System and any program which is taught at VSC offers standards and quality as high, or higher, as any other of the schools in the university system.

fell, said he, was because of moral deterioration within the country itself, and not solely because of external pressure. Furthermore, he said, there are systems of this same type of moral deterioration in the United States today; more juvenile delinquency, more divorces, more crime and the trend towards stronger and stronger central government.

The Senator said that we must combat this weakening of the moral fiber of our country. He said that we must guard against big government and return control to the state and local level.

It was a safe speech to make during this election year.

In a personal interview with Senator Talmadge by this reporter, the Senator confirmed the position he took in The Atlantic Journal and Constitution on Sept. 25, 1960 concerning the presidential election this Fall. He said, "Georgians have three choices in the presidential election on Nov. 8: 1. Stay at home and let others decide the issue for you. 2. Vote for the Republican presidential electors. 3. Vote for the Democratic presidential electors. I shall vote for Georgia's Democratic presidential electors."

Many political writers feel that Senator Talmadge's failure to mention the names of Kennedy and Johnson is indicative of his lukewarm attitude toward the Senator from Massachusetts.

Miss Barbara Evans, June, 1960 graduate, is teaching General Science in Melbourne, Florida.

Freshmen Find First Week Fun

By Pat Hunter

Welcome, new students, to Valdosta State College. This school year got off to a very good start, and 1960-61 is sure to be the most successful year in the history of our Alma Mater.

To head the many events of the first week, Freshman Orientation Week, was the meeting of the Student Government Association on Monday, September 19. Thirty-five members were present to make plans for the activities of Orientation Week and the Presidents Reception and Dance.

Tuesday was a busy day on campus, for the many Freshmen arrived and began the very busy routine of college life. On Tuesday night the Freshmen were introduced to the SGA President, David Melton, and to the presidents of other campus organizations.

Wednesday night, after a day filled with examinations and meetings for the new arrivals on campus, the YWCA presented its annual play, Pygmalion.

The Fins and Flippers entertained the students Thursday night with a water show. Some of the numbers presented were: "Me and My Shadow", "I've Lost My Prime", and "On the Street Where You Live." Friday night the Freshmen, now better known as FATS, enjoyed a free movie, 13 Ghosts, at the Ritz theater.

Many thanks, from the entire student body, go to SGA for the dance Saturday night, Sept. 24. It was the best dance at VSC in many, many moons! After meeting the faculty the students went into the beautifully decorated gymnasium and danced to the music of the Collegians. This was certainly a night for all of us to remember.

*Big Man On Campus—yee man! He treats the gals to Coke. Who can compete with charm like that. So if you're 5'0" and a little underweight, remember—you don't have to be a football hero to be popular. Just rely on the good taste of Coke. Put in a big supply today!
