Band, Chorus Present Combined Yule Concert

The band and chorus of Valdosta State College will present a combined Christmas concert on Thursday, December 8, at 8:15 p.m. in Pound Hall.

With a total of sixty members, the VSC chorus, under the direction of Webster Teague, head of the music department, will perform a variety of Christmas music in both modern and traditional styles and including carols from other countries. One of the features of the concert will be Two Kings, by Clokey in which the chorus will be accompanied by a brass ensemble from VSC's band.

Soloists from the choruses will also perform in certain selections. Gail Culpepper, Cordele, will sing the soprano solo in a A Christmas Roundelay, by Young. Larry Adams, Valdosta will be featured in the carol, Open Wide the Stable Door. Jeannie Priest, Quitman, will perform the soprano solo in The Holy Child Sleeps, by Rogers.

Under the direction of Sanford Campbell, the newly formed VSC band will be appearing in its first public concert on the Christmas program. The band will perform Pergolesi's Glory to God in the Highest, Cantique de Noel, which will feature a coronet solo, and A Christmas Festival, which is a medley of well known Christmas carols arranged by Leroy Anderson.

Scholars Chosen Among Freshmen

Eleven freshmen have been chosen by the Scholarship and Honors Committees as the President's Freshmen Scholars.

These freshmen include Diane Bruke, Leesburg; Merry Herrington, Albany; Richard Webb, Westhampton Beach, New York; Glenda Pyles, Macon; and Nadeen Wanatka, and Mary Beth Moore, Atlanta.

Other members of the group are Thomas Brown, Moultrie; and Mac McVey, Peggy Riggle, Theresa Cullen, and David Deutscher, all of Valdosta.

Colonel Ren Christie, co-chairman of the Honors Committee, said that these students were chosen on the basis of their College Board scores and their high school performance. He said the idea of a freshman scholar group was conceived by President Martin to honor outstanding freshmen, and provide an incentive for work and study.

These freshmen will be recognized at a convocation to be held in the Valdosta State gym December 5 at 2:00 p.m. Speaker for the assembly program will be Dr. Fred C. Davison, Vice-Chancellor of the University System of Georgia.

Members of the Scholarship and Honors Committee are Colonel Ren Christie, and Lamar Pearson co-chairman; Maurice Lindauer, Lavan Robinson, Mrs. Homer Morgenthaler, and Mrs. Martha McKey. Other committee members are Wayne Fairecloth, Dr. Raymond Cook, Alex McFadden, Dr. Harry Duval, and Bill Bennett.

The VSC Serenaders, directed by Lavan Robinson, will give their first program on November 28 for the Kiwanis Club of Albany, Georgia. On December 5, the Serenaders will appear on the program honoring the President's Freshmen. On December 7, Serenaders will sing for the Rotary Club's luncheon, and they will present a program at the Live Oak Methodist Church that evening. On December 9, VSC's Serenaders will perform for the Women's Clubs at Jasper, Florida.

Pafford Plans Registration

Pre-registration week for winter quarter has been scheduled for the week of November 28 through December 2, announced Dr. Ward Pafford, Dean of the College.

Dr. Pafford said that it is important that students make appointments with their advisors during this period. "Pre-registration will be confined to this week," he stressed.

Overstreet Adds Life To VSC Production

by GERALD BOYD

Wayne Overstreet's interpretation of Reverend T. Lawrence Shannon in Tennessee William's play, "Night of the Iguana," came alive on the Pound Hall stage last week. The somewhat comic interpretation of the serious play was overdramatic at times but Overstreet's characterization remained consistent. Overstreet is a senior from Hahira, and the role of Shannon was his first acting role at VSC.

Maxine Faulk was portrayed by Millie Hendry, a senior from Lake City, Florida. Miss Hendry took a difficult lead role for her first college acting experience, but she maintained good characterization and presented a fluid stage appearance.

The characterization of Hannah Jelkes by Becky Lee, Waycross, progressed during the course of the play. The role was Miss Lee's first as a freshman in college but she did some good acting toward the end.

A bit of excellent acting in projection and characterization was done by Sandra Belote, a senior speech major from Valdosta. Miss Belote played the part of Miss Fellows, and her fine acting increased the tempo and the pace of the play while

VSC Names Thirteen Seniors To Who's Who Among Students

Thirteen seniors at Valdosta State have been named to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

Among those named to Who's Who representing VSC is Larry Adams, a music major from Valdosta. Larry is serving as Men's Day Student Representative to the Student Government Association, president of the Euterpe Society, and is a member of Black Key. In addition, he sings in the Glee Club and is a member of the Serenaders. A member of Pi Kappa Phi social fraternity, Larry has served as social chairman, and was the Phi Mu Sweetheart for 1965-66.

Niel Bell, Macon, sings with the Serenaders and the Glee Club, and is Choir Director at the Live Oak Methodist Church, Live Oak, Florida. Niel, a sociology major, is serving as president of the Sociology Club, and is a member of Black Key and the Euterpe Society.

Another senior named to Who's Who is Lucille Dawson, Valdosta, who is majoring in the field of elementary education. Lucille was a cheerleader in 1964 and 1965, was freshman class sweetheart, and vice-president of her sophomore class. She served as junior class representative to the SGA, and was chosen to the Pine Cone Court in 1965. As a sophomore, Lucille was picked as one of the ten best-dressed on campus. A member of Alpha Delta Pi, Lucille has served as Guard and Parliamentarian, and was chosen as the outstanding pledge of her pledge class.

Another education major from Valdosta named to Who's Who is Suzanne Evans. Suzanne is a past president of the Creative Writing Club, and was editor of the Pine Branch last year. She worked on the Campus Canopy, and is serving as secretary-treasurer of Sigma Alpha Chi. Treasurer of Kappa Delta sorority, Suzanne was vice-president of her pledge class.

A speech major from Lake Park, Terry Carter, was also named to Who's Who. A member of Alpha Psi Omega, Terry is president of the Sock and Buskin Club, a member of the Wesley Players and Black Key. He is in the Creative Writing Club, and is business manager of the Campus Canopy.

Gail Hutchinson, Tifton, is vice-president of the SGA, and is on the Women's Residence Hall Council. An English major, Gail is on the Pine Cone staff, and is a member of Alpha Delta Pi sorority. In ADPi, she served as standards chairman and is the membership chairman.

Scott Cohen, also named to Who's Who, is a French major from Albany who holds membership in Sigma Alpha Chi and Alpha Chi. Scott, who is president of the Creative Writing Club, is editor of the Pine Branch, and won the second prize in the Poetry Contest in both 1965 and 1966.

Another senior in Who's Who is sociology major Angie Jarrett, of Blakely. Angie served as secretary of the SGA for 1965-66, was a runner-up for Miss VSC in 1964 and 1965, was Homecoming Queen in 1965, fourth runner-up in the Tau Kappa Epsilon Calendar Girl Contest, and was a member of the Miss Pine Cone Court. She is the president of Kappa Delta and has been on the Panhellenic Council for two years.

Sheila McCoy, a French major from Valdosta, was also named to this honor group. Sheila is editor of the Campus Canopy, and is vice-president of Sigma Alpha Chi. She is a member of the Creative Writing Club and served on the ETV Committee. Sheila is a member of Alpha Delta Pi.

Bill Wright, president of the SGA, has also been included in Who's Who. A psychology major from Valdosta, Bill is in Black Key and the Psychology Club. He is president of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity.

The best-dressed coed on campus for 1965-66 and president of Alpha Chi honor society, Lou Ann McLeod, has been named as one of the Who's. Lou Ann, a French major from Quitman, was second vice-president of Sigma Alpha Chi in 1964, and is a member of Alpha Delta Pi sorority, where she is corresponding secretary and rush chairman.

With a double major in English and sociology, Nancy Smith of Valdosta has been a representative to the SGA for two years. She was a TKE Calendar Girl in 1964, and a sponsor of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity. Nancy is a member of Kappa Delta.

Margaret Ann Parsons Barrow, past editor of the Pine Cone is also in Who's Who. She is a member of Alpha Delta Pi, and served on the ETV Committee.

Requirements for students being nominated for Who's Who honors are a senior standing good academic standing, and participation in extracurricular activities. They are selected by a faculty-student committee, headed by the Dean of Students.

Campus Briefs

The Creative Writing Club will meet Wednesday, November 30, at 4:15 p.m. in Room 102 in West Hall. Material may be submitted to Mr. James C. Wilkerson, advisor; Scot Cohen, president; or members Tim Teasley, Gerald Boyd, Lynn Smith, or Mary Crew.

John C. Huxford, new associate professor of music at VSC, has been listed in the 1967-68 edition of Who's Who in the West. Before coming to VSC, Mr. Huxford was director of the nationally known Pacific Music Camp and was assistant dean of music at the University of the Pacific.

A formal Christmas Dance will be held at the Mathis City Auditorium December 9, from 8:00 p.m. until midnight.

she was on stage.

Stage neophyte, Joel Epstein, a freshman from Ft. Lauderdale, Florida, credited the play an excellent stage personality in the part of Nonno. The character role presented difficulties because of its lengthy stage silences, but Epstein handled the part commendably.

Sophomore Angie Thompson, Blakely, is to be commended for her representation of Charlotte Goodall. Although her appearances on stage were brief, the role supporting Reverend Shannon was difficult.

Minor roles of Jake Latta and Hank were done well by Tony Chastain and Allen Van Brown, respectively.

The brief appearances of two Mexicans, played by Larry Green and Letson Plant, and of a group of Germans, played by Bill Gable, Elice Passmore, Jessica Mayne, and Bradley Ne-Smith added color and gaiety to the stage.

The set, designed by Joel Boatwright of the speech department, combined with the lighting effects by Hoyt Crosby and the sound effects by Marcia Owens to produce an atmosphere characteristic of the Puerto Rican hotel setting.

The play went over rather smoothly although the pace lagged at times and the cues were sometimes slow.

John Rudy, head of the speech department, deserves credit for directing the contemporary play. The training of inexperienced actors and actresses for such a difficult play required time and hard work, and the play was certainly a credit to VSC as well as the Speech department.

Students Respond To Ceremonies; Leave Visitors Good Impression

A remark from two elderly ladies after the inaugural ceremonies symbolizes the gratifying response of many adults toward student identification in the dedication and inaugural ceremonies "Are those college students?" She said. "Yes" Her friend replied. "Can you believe it?"

Most adults would not have believed it, unless they had seen the transformation for themselves. These unbelievers came to the campus in curiosity expecting perhaps to see slovenly dressed students carrying placards proclaiming defiance. Instead, to their astonishment, they found discipline and harmony within the campus.

Students at Valdosta State College reacted to the occasion and presented an ideal situation where adults and dignitaries could remember the campus in good favor.

On Monday, students filed to West Hall long before the Governor and his party arrived and waited patiently—standing. The apprehension the faculty might have at once felt was denied as the group of students grew, far surpassing the number of invited guests present.

Early on Tuesday morning students cleared and cleaned the dining hall, covering the tables with cloths and silverware. At the same time Student Government members were guiding guests about the campus and serving as hosts and hostesses. All of these students were volunteers.

Impressive was the showing of students at the inauguration itself. Hundreds of students filled the auditorium to capacity as Dr. Walter Martin was inaugurated.

A second impressive showing was made by the newly formed Valdosta State College band. Their first performance together, they did credit to the school. Even more gratifying than the student response for the ceremonies was that of the towns people, the city officials, and the Chamber of Commerce who gave their time, donations, and energy for the ceremonies.

The elderly ladies were typical in their reproach of college students. They had decided prior to their visit that college students were nasty little upstarts who not only were ragged but ungrateful as well. They came only to pass judgement, but found none to be judged.

Instead, they found well mannered adults on campus who took pride in their school and its faculty. They found a unified student body—unified to present the VSC campus, faculty, and student body transformation that has come about and that will continue to grow in the next few years.

DENISE CROSS

Crowd Passes By Lost Stray; Has No Time For Friendliness

Dirty and disenchanted he sat in the middle of a crowd of people on a sidewalk down town. Once in a while he would get up and bark at a passerby, maybe follow him a few steps, but not a single person gave him a second glance. Once he lifted his paw to suggest shaking hands. Even then people were too rushed to notice a puppy—just an old stray. The dog wandered off. No one missed him. Who had time to be friendly, especially to a lost dog.

People are like that, too. Many times they go through life existing—lost. They may be in the middle of a crowd but yet are never noticed. They smile, sometimes wave, maybe even wag, just as the little pup wagged his tail and lifted his paw, but their friendliness is never noticed. Maybe they are strays, too, because they have no special friends. By no means, however, should this make them untouchable or undesirable. Nor does it necessarily mean they do not want friends. Some do not have that extra zip which makes them outstanding. They need a little encouragement, a little support, maybe just friendliness.

Friendliness is a common courtesy and a definite Southern tradition. But how many times is this courtesy ignored at Valdosta State College.

A bumped tray in the cafeteria, pencil points jammed into arms and back without an "excuse me" spoken—these are tangible examples of the discourtesy of students. Not one of these, however, is as convincing proof as is the boy or girl who goes from class to class unnoticed and neglected.

Just an old stray, but maybe the befriended student would be a talented addition to the school drama group, to the newspaper, or a social club.

Many Letters Wear On Nerves; Postal Service Too Efficient

Letters, I get letters! I get so sick and tired of letters.

Dear editor,

Would you be so kind to fill a request and use the gripe I love best?

Or even more exciting:

Dear editor,

Please notify your women students that the annual competition for Miss Outer-Mongolian Bamboo Shoots will be held in two weeks in Pakistan.

Or that letter from a government agency marked RUSH AIRMAIL.

Dear editor,

Please note that the asparagus harvest is down 3.115% over last year's crop.

Or the letter that reeks of international intrigue:

Dear comrade,

The American Communist Party sends you the official minutes of its last convention. Please notify us if you wish to be put on our permanent mailing list. (I should be so lucky.)

Then I spend the remainder of my days in a state of latent hysteria awaiting the companion letter from the House Committee on Un-American Activities:

Dear editor,

We have been advised that you are in direct communication with the Communist Party.

Or that most enlightening of all letters: Dear editor,

I thought yur last editoriel stunk. It wuz a insult to any inteligunt human bean. In my opinyun you have a warped mine.

Sincere,
A freind

Wistfully I remember those days when I believed the United States Postal Service was involved in an underworld plot to sabotage my mail. Now I am overwhelmed, if not appalled, by their efficiency. Upon opening my mail box, I am immediately engulfed by a ridiculous number of tightly sealed envelopes requiring nothing short of guerrilla tactics to open them. I can hardly look a postage stamp in the face anymore. I am losing my identity; I think of myself as Dear Editor. The solution to my dilemma seems obvious—hire a censor. However, seasoned censors who are not easily unnerved by five pounds of stamped trivia are difficult to find.

Perhaps, after all, my mail will become more exciting. One day I shall find a letter from the President, the governor, or a really profound or controversial letter from my classmates. Perhaps this one—

Dear editor,

This is to inform you that your box rent is due.

No Rigid Calendar

Now near the long year's close what shall we stress?
What shall we single out for gratitude—
Material provision, shelter, food?
Our glutted granaries, our high success
In shop and countinghouse? Due measures, yes,
Of thanks for these but let our praise include
The intimate common benefits renewed
With every dawn, earth's beautiful largess,
That daily miracle, a flower; the far
Sky pagentry of piled and painted mist;
Night's brilliant muster, star by glowing star;
Beauty, and man's response to it. The list
Grows long; with life's best blessing it shall end.
Love—the rich fellowship of friend with friend

Summons To Praise

Never too often can our lips recite
The sweet recurrent blessings of our days.
No rigid calendar should fix our praises—
Rather the whole round planet should unite
In glad diurnal paean; just the light—
The punctual sun—might fill us with amazement;
The night's dark spender; children's lovely ways;
June's fragrant charm. These offer us no trite,
No outworn pageant—nor does summer rain
In silver baptism, nor the scarlet stain
Illuminating Autumn's royal trail
With transient glory not the diamond mail
Frost-forged for winter tree. Praise asks no date,
It mounts unsummoned, warm, alive, elate.

Rebels Face Armstrong In First Game Nov. 28

The Valdosta State College Rebels, defending GIAC basketball champions, open their 1966-67 season in Valdosta on November 28. The Rebels' first opponents will be the teams from Armstrong College of Savannah. Armstrong, a recent entry into the GIAC conference, had a season record of 15-0 last year.

Coach Colson's charges will be handicapped by the loss of five lettermen. Among those missing will be Bobby Ritch, Ray McCully, Tommy Johnson, and Leston Plant.

Aiding the Rebels this year will be a new video-tape machine recently purchased by the Rebel Booster Club. Coach Colson says the machine will be a definite improvement. "In the past we took motion pictures of our games. This was a problem because it took four or five days for us to get the film back. With the video tape machine, we can tape the first half of a ball game and then review the plays during the half."

Other games will be against Florida State University on December 1 at Tallahassee, and the second annual Valdosta Invitational Tournament to be played December 2-3. Four teams will be entered.

Last year the Rebels lost to the Seminoles by a single point. News out of FSU this year, however, indicates that the Seminoles will have one of their strongest teams in recent years.

VSC students with ID cards will be admitted free to all home games.

Study Reveals Fete's Origin Not With American Pilgrims

by BUNNY BRIDGES

Contrary to popular belief, recent studies have brought into light some evidence that the Thanksgiving holiday celebration did not originate with the American pilgrims.

This new evidence seems to indicate that the traditional holiday was begun in Europe by desperate college students, who were so sick of school that they were ready to bring a halt in classes before final studies for exams.

Records indicate that one Luigi Lorenzo Alfredo Piacere, known by his friends as "Al," began the movement at Rome State University, early in the 16th century. "Al" got together a group of about 500 students and for three consecutive days they all boycotted classes at RSU. Their professors were so thankful to be rid of them, that they, too, left the university. The only hitch was that the professors never came back. Al and his friends never graduated, but were immediately drafted into the Royal Renaissance Regiment.

The holiday evolved in a slightly different manner in Spain. There, disgruntled students merely decided to prolong their usual afternoon siesta on the last Thursday in November to three days.

French students were slightly more sophisticated in bringing about their celebration of the holiday. They argued with faculty and administration that at least two or three days were needed in which a student could deeply meditate and give thanks for the wonderful wine which would flow in even greater abundance during the upcoming Christmas season. It seems that the faculty and administration made little protest to this demand from the students, since they themselves had been meditating and giving thanks for wine for about a week.

Campus Scenes

Expression of extreme chagrin on the face of a VSC student, who had been absent-mindedly tossing his car keys up and down, as the keys catch on the ceiling lights, thus forcing him to "blow his cool" by climbing up on a chair to retrieve them.

A VSC history instructor, not wanting to disappoint his eight o'clock class by his absence because of car trouble, received aid from the head of the History Department, who, clad in robe and slippers, deposited the instructor on campus in the nick of time, proving once again that "the show must go on."

Flustered VSC coed, who, having boarded the bus at North Campus before class was over, was seen sporadically jumping from seat to seat in a desperate attempt to elude attack by a "humongus" bug, and finally resorting to walking to main campus, instead of riding on the same bus with that bug!

Sororities Help Needy Families

Sororities on the campus of VSC are undertaking numerous service projects for the Thanksgiving season.

Alpha Delta Pi Sorority will collect food for a needy family as a special Thanksgiving project. The ADPi's have also pledged Barbara Williams from Albany.

The sisters and pledges of Phi Mu Sorority are selling chocolate candy which may be purchased for $1.00 a can. The Phi Mu's will begin giving their annual fraternity teas winter quarter. The sorority has taken a new pledge, Shirley Geiger, sophomore. Pledge Julie Johnson has been chosen a pledge sponsor of Pi Kappa Phi.

Members of Kappa Delta Sorority are also collecting food and clothing for a needy family for Thanksgiving. KD's will visit Crestwood as their monthly service project.

Examining produce in an open-air marketplace in Lisbon is one way to broaden one's knowledge of the ways of the Portuguese people. These girls found exploring the markets of cities around the world a relaxing change from studies undertaken last year during a semester at sea on Chapman College's floating campus.

Alzada Knickerbocker of Knoxville, Tennessee, — in the plaid dress — returned from the study-travel semester to complete her senior year in English at Radcliffe College.

Jan Knippers of Lawrenceburg, Tennessee, a graduate of the University of Tennessee, and a former Peace Corps Volunteer, first pursued graduate studies in International Relations and returned a second semester as a teaching assistant in Spanish on the world-circling campus.

The fall semester voyage of discovery, aboard the s.s. RYNDAM, for which Holland-America Line acts as General Passenger Agents, is carrying 450 other students to ports around the world as you read this.

Still another 450 will leave from Los Angeles in February for the spring 1967 semester set to transit Panama Canal and call at ports in Venezuela, Brazil, Argentina, Nigeria, Senegal, Morocco, Spain, Portugal, The Netherlands, Denmark and Great Britain, returning to New York.

Financial Aids Announced; Work-Study Program Set

Financial aid in the total sum of $38,700 has been awarded to students, said Dr. A. Louie Sosebee, Assistant Dean of Student Personnel and Director of Financial Aid.

"No money is available for winter or spring quarter. We're out," said Sosebee. He went on to say that students wishing financial help for next fall quarter should submit applications in January.

National Defense Education Act loans in the amount of $22,000 were awarded, and $7,100 in Regents' Scholarships was given to students. Tuition scholarships amounting to $9,600 were awarded through the Valdosta Chamber of Commerce.

Sosebee said the major qualifications for any student loan or scholarship is financial need. The Regents' Scholarship requires a B average, while the Chamber of Commerce and the NDEA loans require a C average of the student.

The NDEA loan is a money-matching one, where the national government pays ninety per cent of the total and the school supplies the other ten per cent, which must be raised locally, Sosebee said. He pointed out that Valdosta State is looking forward hopefully to larger local sums being available next year. Regents' Scholarship donations are based on the enrollment of the college.

Dean Sosebee also announced that next year VSC plans to enter a work study program. Students in the program will be assigned jobs on campus and will be paid $1.25 an hour. This program will also be a matching money plan between the school and the government.

Students Talk While Eating

Foreign language students now have an opportunity to practice conversation somewhere besides in class or the language lab. Language tables now meet in the cafeteria for students to practice.

Mr. Charles McKinley, who teaches German and initiated the idea of language tables, meets with a group of interested students in the cafeteria every day at 1:10 pm to speak German.

Every Wednesday at 1:10, French teachers, Mr. David King and Mrs. Daniel Haight, are at the French table to speak with any hungry students who also want experience in conversation.

For Spanish students, Dr. Jose Fernandez and Mr. Hiram Crespo, who teach Spanish, have organized a coffee for every Tuesday at two o'clock and every Thursday at ten o'clock upstairs in the College Union.

Students To Go To Toccoa Meet

Cecelia Ringvold of Norway, Cecelia Trope of Sweden, and Itsuka Miyajima of Japan, will attend an International Students' Conference over the Thanksgiving holidays. The convention at Toccoa, is held annually for all foreign exchange students in Georgia.

Joey Davis and Danice Odum, both of Valdosta, will accompany the foreign students to the convention.

Games Near End

Intramural flag football is nearing the end of its season. Each team will have played seven games at the end of the season.

Games remaining are:

November 28—Tau Kappa Epsilon vs. West Lowndes.

November 29—West Brown vs. Tau Kappa Epsilon, Sigma Phi Epsilon vs. Town.

December 5—Top two teams.

Faculty Nominates Students For Graduate Fellowships

Eight nominations have been made by the faculty of Valdosta State for the Woodrow Wilson Fellowship and the Danforth Fellowship.

Those nominated for the Woodrow Wilson Fellowship and their fields of study are William E. Bailey of Nashville, physics; Caroline Bozeman, a sociology major from Sylvester; Bunny Bridges of Valdosta, music; and Scott Cohen, a foreign language major from Albany.

Other nominees for the Woodrow Wilson Fellowship are Sheila McCoy and Mrs. Annette Stricklen Martinez, both foreign language majors from Valdosta.

William E. Bailey and Sheila McCoy were the faculty's nominees for the Danforth Fellowship.

Dr. Ward Pafford, Dean of the College, said that these students will be screened and will have personal conferences with foundation officials before final selections are made.

Dr. Pafford said the purpose of these fellowship foundations are "to help outstanding students go to graduate school and prepare for college teaching." Providing full support for one academic year, the Woodrow Wilson Fellowship Foundation awards 1,000 fellowships each year.

The Danforth Fellowship provides full support to the recipient for four years of graduate study.

OBITUARY

Airman third class Gary I. Stricklen, stationed at Tyndall AFB, Florida, died November 9, 1966, from injuries received in a motorcycle accident near Panama City, Florida, October 29.

Stricklen was the son of Mr. Lester L. Stricklen, a biology professor at VSC.

Joe N. Buff III, a junior at VSC, died following an automobile accident on Nov. 19. A native of Unadilla, Georgia, he transferred to VSC this fall quarter from Middle Georgia College. He lived in Brown Hall.
