

Students Elect Frosh, Dorm Representatives

Student Government elections were held October 11, for freshmen and dormitory representatives. The freshmen boys' representative is David Conine of Lakeland. The freshmen girls' representative is Virginia Albritton of Jesup.

Representatives were elected from Lowndes, Hopper, Converse, and Brown halls. B. J. Wells of Augusta was elected from Hopper, and Jackie Williams of Cordele from Lowndes. Sara Tillman of Alma will represent Converse. Representing Brown will be Vince Settle of Waycross.

Also elected were House Officers of Brown Hall. Alex Griffin of Inverness, Florida, was chosen president. Vice-President is Stan Jackson of Dawson, and Secretary is George Adams of Tampa, Florida. Officers-at-large are Tommy Collier of Meigs and Ronnie Moore of Fernandina Beach, Florida.

DeHart Picks "Dream" Cast

The Wesley Players, now in their third year, have completed casting for their major play. Under the direction of Mr. Stan DeHart, this year's play will be Shakespeare's A Midsummer Night's Dream, to be produced sometime in January.

After opening at home, the Wesley players then tour the play to other Wesleyan Foundations in South Georgia. "After two successful years doing one-act plays, I thought it was time we really tested ourselves," says DeHart. "I was afraid we had set our goal a bit high, but the response has been tremendous and the new people are more than filling the gaps left through graduation."

The Wesley Players is a student drama group sponsored by the Methodist Student Union, The Wesleyan Foundation. The only requirement for membership is an interest in drama. The cast for A Midsummer Night's Dream is as follows: Thesus, Jack Crouse; Hippolyra, Mary Rawls; Titinia, Nadeen Wanatka; Oberon, Alan Garrison; Hermia, Glenda Lunsford; Helena, Debby Mulkey; Bottom, Jimmy Womack; Puck, Sharon Costello; Lysander, Richard Armellini; Demetrius, Rick Malone; Quince, Mark Darden; Mrs. Flute, Carol Clay; Miss Starveling, Margaret DeVane; Smug, George Adams, and Mrs. Snout, Sonja Friis.

The technical staff are: company and stage manager, Sonja Friis; lighting and sound, Jack Crouse; props, Durrett Bradford; musical director, Barbara Burnett; costumes, Bobbie Harris; and make-up, Niawathia Sapp.

The new SGA members are: Vince Settle, Jackie Williams, David Conine, Virginia Albritton, Sara Tillman, and B. J. Wells.

Vocalists Plan Full Schedule

Seventeen vocalists have been chosen as the 1967-1968 Serenaders by Lavan Robinson, director. Sopranos are Julia Brooks, Edison; Shirley Brown, Quitman; Angela Copeland, Ochlocknee; Chlo Nichols, Jesup; and Jeanne Priest, Quitman.

Altos are Sammie Baker, Pavo; Lynn Moran, Valdosta; Susan Nagle, Glen St. Mary's, Fla.; Birgitta Olsson, Haessleholme, Sweden; and Dale Tillman, Barwick.

Tenors are Mark Camp, Ocala, Fla.; Leon Cardwell, Moultrie; Ronny Davis, Albany; William Floyd, Thomasville; and Michael Holden, Atlanta.

Basses include Reggie Driggs from Waycross and Bill Wake, Chamblee. James Goras also a selected bass but unable to participate because of a recent operation.

Serenaders are now in process of blending and harmonizing voices. On their future agenda, however, the Serenaders plan to perform on a television show in Albany and possibly a show in Thomasville. A Christmas program in Albany is definitely scheduled, and other commitments are in the planning.

Arts Center Hosts Exhibit Of Irene Dodd

Recent paintings and drawings by Miss Irene Dodd, professor of art at Valdosta State College, will constitute an opening show for The Arts Center at 412 West Central Avenue. The show opens the evening of October 24 in conjunction with a concert by Campbell Giddens of Valdosta.

Miss Dodd is the daughter of Lamar Dodd, head of the Department of Art at the University of Georgia. Although she drew at the early age of 2½, she was not preoccupied with art as a profession until she entered graduate school. She received her Bachelor of Arts in 1964 at Duke University in psychology, with minors in history and voice. She entered graduate school at the University of Georgia as a history major. However, upon renewed interests in her art abilities, she quickly changed to art as a major. She received her Master of Fine Arts last spring with a double major—one in painting and drawing, and another in history of art.

Miss Dodd's interests have usually tended towards things creative. With her father constantly providing a background of art, Miss Dodd and her parents spent ten months in Europe in 1953-1954. This opportunity afforded an excellent foundation in art, for the family studied art works in the world's greatest museums. Her continuing interest in the arts also manifested itself through her studies of voice and piano for a number of years.

Mrs. Jones Receives Honor For New Book

Mrs. Edna Jones, of Adel, assistant professor of education at Valdosta State College, was honored as an outstanding Georgia writer at the 17th Annual Georgia Writers Conference at the Atlanta Woman's Club, October 6.

Mrs. Jones has written a book entitled, Harps in the Willows, which has been published by the Pageant Press of New York. Written to satisfy part of the requirements of the six-year education program at the University of Georgia, the book deals with elementary education in the Macon, Ga., school system.

A former curriculum director of the Brooks County school system, Mrs. Jones is presently in her first quarter as a mem-

FRANCIS W. CARPENTER

Carpenter To Speak At Next Convocation

Francis W. Carpenter, of the U. S. Department of State, Washington, D. C., will speak at a convocation, Friday, October 27.

Mr. Carpenter is Chief of the Public Affairs Projects Activity, Viet Nam Bureau of the Agency for International Development. He recently returned from Viet Nam where he observed first-hand work of the Bureau in that country.

The convocation will be held at 10:15 a.m. in the gymnasium. The public is invited to attend. Also, Mr. Carpenter will speak to several classes and meet for an informal coffee hour with the college faculty. At noon on the same day, he will address members of the Valdosta Kiwanis Club.

He has served on the personal staffs of four United States ambassadors to the United Nations. During his last year on the United States Mission to the U.N., Mr. Carpenter served as Senior Adviser in charge of Public Affairs to Ambassador Goldberg.

He is a veteran news correspondent, having served with the Associated Press for 28 years.

Before entering government service, he reported U.N. happenings for the Associated Press from the first meetings of the U.N. at Hunter College in 1946.

A native of Decherd, Tenn., Mr. Carpenter attended schools in Georgia and was graduated from Emory University in 1928 with a Bachelor of Arts degree.

He is the author of a human interest book on the United Nations entitled, "Men in Glass Houses."

Goal Set For Drive

The VSC Foundation Drive has set its goal at $32,000. During the first successful days of its drive, $5450 has been received.

According to Ed Locke, head of the fund-raising drive, this money is to be used for scholarships, an endowment fund, and other means of expanding educational opportunities at VSC.

Half of the amount, $16,000, will be combined with aid from the federal government and other sources for scholarships to yield approximately $150,000 in scholarship money. The remaining portion will be used in an endowment to the college for future development of special projects and scholarships.

To open the drive, Georgia Power Company and the Langdale Foundation contributed $1000 each. The Citizens and Southern Bank has donated $950, and Metal Products - Division of Thompson Industries, Inc., of Valdosta has made a gift of $500.

A group of Hahira residents and firms has given $525, and $250 was contributed by the Harvard Club of Valdosta.

Baptists Meet

The annual BSU Convention will be held at Rock Eagle Camp on October 27-29. The theme of this year's Convention is "Unto the Least of These."

Featured speaker at this year's convention will be Dr. William Pinson, Jr., teacher of Christian ethics at Southwestern Seminary. Dr. Joe Estes of the Home Mission Board will also speak on the theme and lead discussions. John V. Norwood, a US-2 Volunteer to Montana, will emphasize the theme for America. Finally, a group of students from Tift College will present a 20th century commentary on the theme, "Unto the Least of These."

Annicc Whatley will contribute her experiences as a missionary journeyman to Ailoun, Jordan, as an additive feature to the theme discussions.

Registration for the Convention should be made at the BSU on Oak Street. President Randy Pennington will have detailed information and registration registration forms.

Campus Beauties Vie For Calendar Honors

"Psychedelic" will be the theme of this year's Calendar Contest. Presented by Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity annually, the pageant is an area social highlight. Representing the sororities and independents on campus, 26 lovelies will vie for the coveted honors. Each contestant will represent a merchant or business in town attempting to be crowned one of the months from Miss January, carrying top honors, to Miss December.

The contestants and their campus affiliation are:

Independents: Charlotte Cunningham, Linda Hornsby, Leilani Stiele, Sis Watson, Kathy Worthington, Janice Yarborough;

Alpha Delta Pi: Patsy Branch, Laura Brown, Jan James, Sher-

ron McDaniel, Linda Reddick; Alpha Xi Delta: Toni Bellew, Vivian Davidson, Julie Gentry, Shirley Robinette, Debbie Wright;

Kappa Delta: Kitty Gamble, Nancy Lee, Martha Massey, Rena Scoggins, Gloria Thompson;

Phi Mu: Kay Bryant, Ellen Campbell, Shirley Geiger, Sharon Licoln, Shirley Phillips.

The Calendar Girl Contest will be an event of Wednesday, November 1, at 8:15 in Mathis Auditorium. Admission will be $1.00.

Board Asks Suggestions

The College Union Board is sponsoring a suggestion box to find what students would like to see in their College Union. The "red and black" suggestion box is to be located somewhere in the College Union.

Ju Ju Hutchinson, chairman of the Union Board, says, "The Board meets each Wednesday and will be happy to read and consider all suggestions."

The Union Board will show movies in the projection room on designated Sunday evenings at 5:00 p.m. and 9:00 p.m. These movies are free to all students. They include the following: October 22, "Search for Birdie Murphy"; November 5, "Joy in the Morning"; and November 19, "Maltese Falcon."

Says Miss Hutchinson, "Remember to give us your suggestions — we're here to help you".

Campus Scenes

In geography 200, Coach Bennett gave out of room on his chalk board. Finding that he had no room to finish the map he was drawing, he simply closed the door and finished drawing on the wooden door.

The Brown Hall residents cheered as Dr. George Young risked his life for them during the recent bomb scare. The men were wearing pajamas, towels, and other unmentionables.

The Student Government Association and the Union Board sponsored a concert dance, Saturday evening, October 21, at the Mathis Auditorium. The program, featuring Dr. Feelgood and the interns, a nationally known dance band, began at 8:00. Admission for all Valdosta State College students was free.

WAYNE STEPHENS

Rules Of Victorian Age Die Long Live Code Of Ethics

Victorian Age, this is my salute to you. You are passing and I want to say good-bye, for I am glad to see you go. You put up a strong fight at VSC, but now you must go. There is no place for you in the 20th century.

The administration has seen fit to allow the students some authority in ruling themselves. O Victorian! That was the deepest cut of them all. Students are allowed to vote for dormitory officers who will handle cases of disobedience which occur in the dormitories. No longer must students abide by your Victorian rules. VSC is much happier with the new code of ethics.

Students are not so immature after all, are they Victorian? They can judge one another better than you can. Can't they? You are too old Victorian. You do not know the standards by which the younger generation judge right and wrong. Times have changed since your generation.

It is more meaningful for a peer to say, "You have done wrong," than it is for an older person to say the same. The older the person is, the farther he is removed from our ideas and beliefs.

You say that students will take advantage of their new responsibilities? No, Victorian.

We will support the new code of ethics. We will abide by the decisions of the new courts. True, there will be some who will try to take advantage of the new freedoms. They will not succeed. There will be some corrupt politicians. They will not succeed, for we will not let them.

We are living in an adult world, and should be treated like adults. You ask why can't we act like adults? I'll tell you. We have been treated like children and we have rebelled against authority. We are unruly at times because we need to get rid of some of the tensions caused by college life. You must admit, little harm has resulted in the past from these incidents of revolt.

We are glad to be free from the iron clad rules on dress, the court warnings, and the early hours that women students had to be in their dorms. Victorian, we are glad to be free of all the passing Victorian rules. Our new responsibilities are welcomed.

Success can only result from our venture into self-rule. We have our values and our morals and we will support the student courts in judging those students of corrupt values and morals. Victorian Age you are dead!

Freshmen Adjust To Lowndes Hall

by CHERRI COLLINS

Now that the squeals of disappointment, anguish, and awe have faded away from the halls of Lowndes Hall, let us examine the thoughts and emotions of the participants involved.

Since most of the females housed in this male building have never been deep inside the caverns of a men's dorm before, they were faced with an unfamiliar environment. Therefore, most of the residents experienced the same reactions which are here reported.

If you are a member of Lowndes Hall, then you will agree with the following statements. If you are a former member of Lowndes, roused to give the girls a place to reside, please do not snicker.

"I think our rooms were misplaced in the basement."
"Ecchh!"
"Where are the bathtubs?"
"Let's give it back to the boys."

Where are the curtain rods?
"Mother, could you send me wall-to-wall carpet?"

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

I have been one of the most obscure and underrated members of the Valdosta State College lot for many years rendering invaluable services to the administration, faculty, and student body for no compensation at all. Oh, maybe a greasy french fry thrown on the floor every now and then, but nothing which actually equals the tasks and services I have performed.

I was wounded in battle a couple of years back and a couple of philanthropists took me to one of the local docs. But no one ever stopped in on me to say, "Kid, how's it going," or "See ya got injured, old boy. Hope it gets well soon!"

I didn't expect to receive workmen's compensation from the state for being hurt on the job, but the least I could have expected was maybe some flowers or a nice basket of milk bones or the like. I'm sorry to say that this didn't come through either.

I didn't become disillusioned with the apathy of the administration, faculty, or student body toward my impairment; I stuck it out! I kept getting up at wee hours and plugging it out till dusk. I thought at least somebody would bring by a cat for me to chase in appreciation for my contributions.

Every American male needs a little pussy cat to chase every now and then. It sorta lets off the pressures and emotions which come from the day's toil. But alas and alack, again I overrated the consciences of the VSC flock. No pussy cat to chase; that is hell!

Well, the situation has grown to a new height, and I cannot permit the continuation of this apathetic attitude of appreciation for my services. Thus, I take pen in hand to publicly notify the VSC herd that I shall attempt once more to bring my value to light and give them a together with somebody and come up with a book exchange system.

The idea is not new. It has been proposed and promised before. But perhaps now the SGA itself or the book store or any organization that has the backing of the administration, should get the ball rolling toward the initiation of a book exchange system.

If a student had a book he wanted to sell, he could take it to the operators of the Book Exchange. He would tell them what price he wanted for the book and leave it with them. The books would be marked to identify them with their owner and, after a sell, the money would be forwarded to the previous owner.

Where the facilities for this system would be located is anybody's guess, but it is certain that someplace could be found for a project as worthy as this. Other colleges have book exchanges. Why shouldn't VSC follow suit?

Until then, is there anyone who would like to buy an out of date, but still in great condition, math . . . ?

chance to redeem themselves for their gross iniquity. Therefore, I shall ask permission of you to start a column of my own, entitled, "Dear Sam Canis."

I shall attempt to deal with the problems faced by the students, administration, and faculty, giving them my expert and wise opinion on how to solve their problems and how to answer baffling questions. Thus, one more of my great services is brought to notice: Sam the Confidant.

I think that the administration and faculty will find this of particular value in making decisions and dealing with the students. And vice versa. Hence, any problems arising which are found confusing should be submitted in the mail to "Dear Sam" in care of The Campus Canopy, VSC, box 207.

Sincerely,
SAM CANIS

Mrs. Keaton Reports No Nitrate In Food

"Is there potassium nitrate (saltpeter) in our tea?" This question was asked as the result of a rumor currently circulating on campus. Mrs. Geraldine Keaton, VSC's new dietician, emphatically answered, "No!" "Why do you need it?" retorted the calm efficient woman behind the complex organization of the cafeteria. She further added that such gossip circulates every year in every college.

Mrs. Keaton, a native of Waycross succeeds Mrs. Mary Thornon who resigned after nine years, to enter private business in Albany.

Having arrived here from Berard Jr. College in North Carolina, where students were required to wear heels or ties on Wednesday nights, Mrs. Keaton finds that a larger college is more restricting. She would like to vary the recipes and meals, but because VSC is not on a government surplus program, all food must be bought commercially. The $120 board per quarter permits each student "to get his money's worth."

She wryly observed that there are more people enjoying the dining room meals as their allowances from home dwindle. There is a corresponding decrease in the number of students eating at the Student Center.

Mrs. Keaton went on to explain that problems also arise as to the fluctuating number of students eating on the weekends. Meals are planned two weeks in advance. The cafeteria's weekly grocery list includes: 500 loaves (14,000 slices) of bread; 600 dozen rolls; 125 dozen sweet rolls; 3,000 pounds of meat; 2,400 pounds of vegetables; 250 gallons of milk; 6,000 gallons of tea; and 95 gallons of coffee.

"Plans have already been started to increase the capacity of the dining area, and students should appreciate this and help the kitchen staff," said Mrs. Keaton. "One of the disgusting nuisances is that students, mostly at the evening meals, tend to leave their trays on the tables."

Greeks Pledge

Sixteen male students have accepted bids from the four fraternities on the Valdosta State College campus. The sixteen men are all at least second quarter freshmen or above. Twenty-one men went out for fraternity rush.

The Sigma Phi Epsilon pledges are: Fred Bennett and Lee Hutchens, Valdosta; Mike Dunkin, Palatka, Florida; Jim Harwell, Atlanta; and Dickson Lester, Albany.

Pi Kappa Phi pledged: Dale Blackburn, Jacksonville, Florida, and Mike Ackerman, Waycross.

Tau Kappa Epsilon has three new pledges. They are Wayne Jenkins, Macon; Jimmy Tool, Colquitt; and Kenyon Wells, Valdosta.

The newest fraternity on campus, Delta Chi, received as pledges: Bobby Downing, Donaldsonville; Bob Suggs, Ft. Pierce, Florida; Denny McLaughlin, Ft. Pierce, Florida; Larry Meredith, Tampa, Florida; Paul Brien, Riviera Beach, Florida; and James Hill, Marietta.

Until the summer before she entered graduate school, she had not considered following the profession of her father. "That summer, after doing several worthwhile watercolors and a number of paintings in Maine, I decided that perhaps art should be my profession," said Miss Dodd.

Her paintings are usually abstract expressions of forms in nature; her drawings are loose interpretations of people and places which inspire her.

"I did over three hundred drawings of New York's people and places," stated Miss Dodd, "and I also took many notes and sketches of works in the large museums. These will aid me in teaching history of art at Valdosta State." Miss Dodd will teach a course in Renaissance art winter quarter, and a course in ancient art next spring.

Miss Dodd explains painting

"Because I am people-oriented, I enjoy teaching very much," Miss Dodd mentioned, and I feel that teaching is as important a method of self-expression as painting. Therefore, I enjoy both, for they provide an expression of my identity as well as self-fulfillment." The Dodd Exhibit will open at 7:30 Tuesday night, and also each Wednesday, Saturday, and Sunday afternoons between 2 and 6 p.m. through Nov. 19.

James Lineberger, a VSC student, is director of the gallery.

BERGITA OLSSON

Exchange Student Likes American College Life

By SUE STROUPE

Bergita Olsson, 20, is one of our foreign exchange students at VSC this year and hails from Hassleholm, Sweden. She is sponsored by the Thomasville Rotary Club. She has just completed high school in Sweden where she majored in math and physics, however, at VSC she is studying sociology and speech.

Miss Olsson speaks English and German fluently and has some knowledge of French due to the fact that the Swedish educational system requires language study beginning in the grade.

When she returns to Sweden during spring quarter, she will attend Sweden University. However, the credits she earns here are not transferable since their educational system is set up differently from ours.

When asked how she liked dormitory life, Miss Olsson replied that it was quite different from "dorm" life in Sweden. There the students live in a complex of apartments without resident counselors or house rules.

This seems to work very well since Swedish students do not graduate from high school until age 20 and in most cases are more mature.

Contrary to popular belief, the Swedish people do not believe in "free love." There is a small group of radicals who say that marriage should be abolished.

However, Miss Olsson assures us that this is the opinion of a very small group and not a consensus of the Swedish people. She pointed out that the average age for marriage for girls is 22 and for boys about 23.

Miss Olsson will pursue a career in international work, which she hopes will someday include diplomatic service or perhaps work in the foreign department in Sweden.

"I would like to learn as much as possible about Americans and America, as it is one of the world powers. Also, I want to travel while here," she says.

"I would especially like to see the West Coast, New York, and Washington, D. C.," says Miss Olsson. "I think the United States is so varied; I want to see as many different parts as possible."

Dr. Cosneck Teaches Judo To Police Force

Bernard J. Cosneck, associate professor of sociology and a judo expert, will conduct a comprehensive "Police Judo" self-defense training program for members of the Valdosta Police Department and other units within a 50 mile radius of Valdosta.

The announcement was made by Valdosta Police Chief Wilbur Perkerson, who said that the training program would be held at the Valdosta National Guard Armory every Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons from 1:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. The program began October 17.

"Dr. Cosneck is a well-trained Judo expert with many years of experience, having taught police departments all over the world, as his personal interest. Dr. Cosneck has taught police departments in Israel and India as well as in Missouri and Florida. We are satisfied that as a result of his excellent teaching, our men will become better policemen — capable of properly handling any situation that calls for physical skills in a way that is safest for both the policeman and for the arrestee," Chief Perkerson said.

Dr. Cosneck outlined objectives in the program: "To make the Valdosta Police Department one of the best Judo-trained police units in the nation, to have the Valdosta Police Department serve as a model for police departments, and have the Valdosta Police Department offer its training staff and facilities to the police of other areas who are free to come here for specialized training."

Dr. Cosneck said he felt that as a result of this training program the police recruiting problem could possibly be eased, and the department might be able to attract a higher type of individual into police work when it is realized the policeman is given an unusual method for his self-protection.

"Judo leaders and instructors will be trained and they, in turn, will train lower personnel. All graduates of the special course will form an "Elite Corps," comparable to that of the commandos and paratroopers. Specially gifted individuals may be taught the more serious and higher levels of this work and perhaps trained to be permanent instructors," said Dr. Cosneck.

Also, Dr. Cosneck pointed out that much of the "Police Judo" to be used in this training program will involve techniques of his own origination.

A native of St. Louis, Mo., Dr. Cosneck holds the Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Illinois, the Master of Arts degree from California Western University, and the Ph.D. from the University of Florida.

Dr. Cosneck was a psychotherapist and counselor from 1934 until 1963. He served with the U.S. Coast Guard from 1942 until 1944. He came to VSC this fall from Lamar State College of Technology in Beaumont, Tex.

Debate Elects Club Officers

Peggy Riggle, a sophomore from Valdosta, was elected president of the Valdosta State College Debating Society at the regular Tuesday night meeting.

Other officers include Vice-president, Alan Garrison, a freshman from Ray City; Secretary, Sandra Wheaton, a senior from Valdosta; Treasurer, Cullen Meredith, a freshman from Kingsland; and Reporter-Scribe, Elissa Landey, a freshman from Valdosta.

Dr. Helen Thornton, professor of speech, will direct the happenings of the forensic group.

Fees Due For Seniors

Seniors should go by and pick up applications for a degree at the registrar's office. These applications must be completed three quarters before graduation.

Students should fill out the applications and take them to their academic adviser's approval and the adviser's signature.

The application should then be returned to the registrar. There will be a charge of $10, payable at the business office.

Mrs. W. M. Thomas, registrar, says that she will leave each Thursday open for seniors who wish to see her concerning graduation any time during the day.

Library Wants Old Material

The library presently has a small group of material which it hopes will be the beginnings of a large collection of old data. The library is especially interested in securing gifts from interested citizens such as old letters, scrapbooks, manuscripts, or other documents which might have some biographical or literary value.

The library has six personal letters, written from 1939 to 1941, of Medora Field Perker-son, author of The White Columns in Georgia, and former editor of the Journal's Sunday Magazine. These letters were given by Mrs. R. J. McClenny of Valdosta.

A young boy, while working with a construction crew here in Valdosta, found a large group of personal letters of United States Representative J. Randall Walker. These letters are dated from 1912 to 1915. They deal primarily with some of the main problems which a Congressman and his constituents face.

An old scrapbook containing largely social matters was donated by Mrs. Walter Williams of Valdosta. Family plantation journals, important as an economic history of their time, were given by Miss Fredeva Ogletree. Dr. Sidney Walter Martin gave a personal manuscript of his book Florida's Flag-ler.

Colson, Melvin Pick New Roundball Roster

Under the leadership of Head Coach Gary Colson and Assistant Coach Jim Melvin, the VSC Rebels are looking forward to an exciting basketball season. Headed by All-American candidate Brian Phillips, this year's Rebels have four returning starters — Brian Phillips, Ron Fortner, Bob Lamphier and Mike Terry. All of these are seniors.

The five outstanding returnees from last year's freshmen team are: Dale Croft, John Trimnell, Robert McKenney, Paul O'Brien and Tommy Morrell. The team also has two freshmen, Marty Lehmann and Don Ward. The one junior on the squad is Jack Hart.

In height, the players range from 5'10" to 6'10". The average height of the team is 6'3", and the average weight is 193 pounds. Six of the players hail from the "Hoosier State" of Indiana, while four come from Georgia and one from New Jersey and one from Florida.

The Rebels will be making their debut in the Azalea City Tournament here at VSC. The dates for that tournament are December 1-2.

Co-captains for the 1967-68 basketball season were elected. Brian "Big Un" Phillips, a 6 foot 6 inch, 240 pound senior center from R. L. Osborne High School in Marietta, and Mike Terry, a 6'4", 200 pound senior forward from Hammond, Indiana, were elected team co-captains.

The Rebels are defending

Georgia Intercollegiate Athletic Conference champs, having won the title six of the last seven years. Last year, they made the coveted trip to Kansas City to participate in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics. Thirty-two of the nation's outstanding small college teams competed in the tournament, and the Rebels were ranked 13th in the nation at the end of the tourney.

Couch Colson and his "Fabulous Five Horsemen of the Hardwood" represented the 25th District in the Kansas City tourney.

Cagers prepare for upcoming season.
