Grandpappy Connell

the Biology Prof explained. According to research done by the Canopy staff, Tuesday's "appointment" in Dr. Connell's office must be unique for two reasons: it was a distinct "first ever" such shower and probably the shortest shower ever given anywhere.

Grandpappy Connell? He's still grinning over Daniel Tyrone Connell's arrival and forgot to tell us how much the grandson weighed in at! Only Philip, the Connell bulldog that guards Grandpappy Connell's fishing truck each day in the faculty parking lot in front of Nevins Hall seems unimpressed, totally, at the news from Athens and by the partying by VSC's Biology Department. Philip was not invited!

Dr. Clyde Eugene Connell, Chairman of the VSC Biology Department, considers it a duty to make several appointments for incoming students or for committee meetings or deadline commitments concerning a list of problems do not crowd his calendar. So Tuesday, October 26, he was not surprised that Mrs. Norworthy, department secretary, had scheduled an "appointment" for the fifteen minute change-of-classes appointment turned out to be the most unusual of his years: a surprise grandfather shower given by seven members of the Biology Department — with cake and coffee for the guests and gifts for Grandpappy Connell to take to Athens to Daniel Tyrone Connell, the Connell's grandson who was born October 21.

"Did Dr. Connell and all the Canopy staff member make a member of the Biology Department

No. But he was visibly surprised. The grandfatherly shower was made him though."

Airmen Enter VSC Through Boot-strap Aid

By FRANK VIEUX

For many years the United Air Force and many other branches of the National Defense have been offering to their members the opportunity to reach a higher educational level. "Boot-strap" through which many airmen of Moody Air Force Base have been attending regular courses at VSC, is one of those systems.

This is an off-duty program and is purely on a voluntary basis. Many of the servicemen carry a full load of credit hours though they sometimes stay on duty up to 12 hours a day.

This year at VSC the "Boot-strap" program from Moody was incorporated into the night class program. Previous to fall quarter, the educational programs were taught at Moody and accredited through Florida State University. Transfer of the system to VSC has greatly improved both the courses offered for base personnel and the expansion of the College's night class program.

Expansion of the program encourages more military personnel to work toward a college education while at Moody. Said one airman, "The atmosphere of the college seems to be more conducive to study than the aura at Moody."

"Boot-strap" provides financial aid to military participants. Three-fourths of the student's tuition is paid by the U.S.A.F. education office—books and the rest of his dues left at his own expense.

Yet this is not the only figure of scholarship offered by the program. Depending on the final grade obtained in each course and also the Central Base Fund, up to ninety per cent of the airman's participation could be reimbursed.

Is it not a good way to remind the youth of the day the importance and benefit of education? Let's hope that such a group of daring and exemplary young men will keep increasing at VSC.

The VSC baseball team has begun practice for the baseball season which will begin in March.

Baseball Action Begins With Pre-season Play

Spear headed by Coach Bill Grant, pre-season baseball began four weeks ago. At the present time, there are thirty players vying for the top positions, however, Coach Grant may cut the final number to twenty five.

Due to graduation, this year's lineup will miss center-fielder Ben Bates, and All American first baseman Dennis Fike.

Eddie Fischer, a junior this year received an All American Honorable Mention in his freshman year. Because of injury, he sat out most of last year's season. Claude Speck will also be back this year. Clause was second in the nation for stolen bases. He stole 36. The entire pitching staff will return along with some new pitchers.

According to Coach Grant, this year's pre-season group is the best he has seen here at VSC. Assisting in the baseball practice is Coach Jim Thomas, a new physical education teacher.

He's reported to be doing "a fine job." The regular baseball season opens in mid-March.

The library now opens at 7:45 a.m. and closes at 10:00 p.m., Monday through Thursday. It closes at 5:00 p.m. on Friday. Saturday hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday hours are 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.

SGEA Meets

The S.G.E.A. will meet Nov. 7 at 7:00 p.m. upstairs in the Student Union. All education majors are asked to attend.

Martin, Young, Pannell Break Ground For New Dormitory

A new $803,315 residence hall for women was officially dedicated in groundbreaking ceremonies on October 25.

The three-story, 200-bed residence hall will be located by the Jewell Whitehead Camellia Trail on the north end of Main Campus, bordering Georgia Avenue.

Taking part in the ceremonies were President Martin, Dean Young, and SGA President Bill Pannell.

President Martin commented on the growing rate of VSC, and stated that a 500-bed residence hall for women would be needed shortly.

Bill Pannell spoke of the growth of the student body and the growth of academic achievement. He told of the 3-R's of life in attaining academic success. They are: a sense of responsibility, respect of others and their ideals, and restraint. Dean Young said that the new dormitory would be a living-learning center.

A small crowd of faculty and students witnessed the symbolic "breaking of the ground" by Dr. Martin, Dr. Young, and Bill Pannell.

The new residence hall was designed by Thomson and Sanders Architects of Valdosta.

Howard Ray of Nashville, Ga is the contractor for the structure. The residence hall is scheduled for occupancy in December, 1968.

The building design is Spanish Mission architecture, in keeping with the design of all other buildings on the VSC campus.

SGA Plans Activities For Parent Week-end

The Student Government Association is sponsoring Parents' Week-end November 18 and 19. Headed by Richard Nijem and Gloria Thompson, activities have been planned to give the parents a view of the campus and its activities.

Letters of invitation have been sent to the parents of all VSC students to attend this event. Richard Nijem urges that the students begin talking to their parents and encouraging them to come.

The week-end officially begins with registration at 8:00 Saturday morning. Following this a faculty coffee will be held in the College Union.

An assembly will be held in the gymnasium with SGA President Bill Pannell presiding. Dr. Martin will speak and introduce the department heads. Afterwards the parents will have an opportunity to visit with faculty members and tour the campus.

Activities Week-end

planetarium, and residence halls.

Lunch will be served for parents in the cafeteria. That afternoon the IFC and Panhellenic Council will hold a cook-out. Also, that afternoon President and Mrs. Martin will have a reception in their home for the parents.

Saturday night parents and students are invited to attend the play After the Fall or special entertainment in the gymnasium provided by the various organizations on campus. From 9:30 to 12, a dance will be held in the College Union.

Sunday, parents will visit in the various churches in the community and have lunch in the cafeteria.

IFC Conducts Fund Project

The Interfraternity Council is sponsoring two projects aimed at raising money for the United Fund.

Under the chairmanship of Jimmy Boland, Cordele, tickets are being sold for the Georgia Tech vs Florida State University freshmen football game. The game will be played at Cleveland Field on November 10 at 8:00 p.m.

The fraternities on campus have alternated selling the tickets. Also, each fraternity has been made responsible for securing donations from certain specified business establishments in the Valdosta area. This drive ends November 6.

The IFC wishes to make it clear that all proceeds go to the United Fund only.

ner up Laura Brown, freshman from Blakely and Alpha Delta Pi pledge; third runner up Toni Bellew, sophomore from Covington and Alpha Xi Delta sister; and fourth runner up Ellen Campbell, sophomore from Atlanta and Phi Mu sister.

In order these girls were designated Miss February, Miss March, Miss April, and Miss May.

Women Form Faculty Club

Women associated with the faculty of VSC have formed a club consisting of wives of faculty members and women of the faculty at VSC. On October 25, this club was initiated.

The informal gathering was called together by President Martin who, after initial pleasantries, proceeded with the main order of business for the organizational meeting — the election of officers.

There was no election, however. A committee of men faculty members had given Dr. Martin a list of appointees to the various offices.

Officers for the club are Mrs. Webster Teague, president; Mrs. Robert Stump, vice-president; Mrs. Raymond Cook, secretary; and Mrs. William Gabard, treasurer.

An executive committee was also appointed. Its members are Mrs. Ren Christie, Mrs. Clyde Connell, Mrs. Mac Grigsby, Mrs. Shealy McCoy, Mrs. Thomas Renfro, Mrs. James Thornton, and Mrs. Graham Wall.

One purpose of this club is to help the approximately 140 faculty members and those associated with the faculty to get to know each other.

Juniors Take College Board

In cooperation with a system-wide program of the University System Board of Regents, College Entrance Examination Board tests will be given to all juniors at Valdosta State College on Tuesday and Wednesday, November 7 and 8.

The announcement was made by George W. Young, VSC's dean of students.

Dr. Young pointed out that more than 550 juniors at VSC will participate. The tests will be given to all juniors enrolled in units of the University System.

Mrs. Valencia, Mr. Lewis Earn Degrees Of Highest Merit

Two members of the faculty at VSC have received their Ph.D. degrees. Mrs. Willa Valencia has obtained a doctorate in English, and Mr. David Lewis received a Ph.D. in business administration-economics.

Dr. Valencia, a native of Palatka, Fla., earned her degree at the University of Illinois where she taught for five years before coming to VSC. She was a student at Bob Jones University where she received her B.A. She then attended the University of Chattanooga and obtained her M.Ed. At the University of Tennessee the Masters degree was conferred upon her.

Dr. Valencia is a member of Phi Kappa Phi National Honor Society and the Modern Language Association. She has one daughter, age three.

A native of Johnson City, Tennessee, Dr. Lewis joined the faculty of VSC in 1960. He studied at Duke University where he received his A.B. in 1958. In 1959 he received his M.S. at the University of Tennessee, which now has awarded him his Ph.D. While at the University of Tennessee, Dr. Lewis served as research associate and instructor in the Department of Economics.

In conjunction with two co-authors, he is working on a book dealing with the topic of regional economics. He hopes to do further research in this area and in the field of monetary economics. He is married and has one child, age eleven.

Library Needs Improvement; Editor Suggests More Variety

I was very pleased to learn that the library has a $99,000 budget for this year. If the library is to receive this much money, the students should expect many improvements in their library.

The library needs many, many more books. Any student who has written a research paper probably knows that our library is inadequate.

I have noticed that two or three copies of the same book can be found for a single issue of a book in the library. There are several of these books which have more than one copy. Many of these books are not used frequently enough to require more than one. It would be better to increase the variety rather than buying several editions of the same book.

The library needs to be less severe on the late charges. Last year a student returned four reference books three minutes late according to the library clock. The student's watch said that he was on time. A librarian was waiting and told the student that he would have to pay an overdue charge for an hour's time.

The student asked why there was an hour's charge for three minutes. The librarian replied, "Well, we just don't have time to break it down into minutes."

I wonder how many times this librarian has been late for work in the past seven weeks.

A complaint which the library has is that students steal over 800 books in a year's time. Over 90% of this could be stopped. There are only two entrances to the library. It would be very simple to have a student helper or one of the librarians check each student as he leaves to see if he is stealing books.

I refuse to believe that students will throw books out windows and then go outside to get them. Many of the books are taken from the library unintentionally and then are never returned. It is easy to forget to go by and check books out. As for those who steal intentionally; they can be stopped.

$99,000! That's a lot of money. Books are very expensive, but $99,000 will buy a many books.

Letters To Sam

Dear Sam Canis:

This letter is a bit intimate and I have reservations about writing it. But I am at Wit's End and I need help. You see, for two years I have been dating a man who is considerably older than I and as you would suspect, our relationship has materialized into a pretty close but healthy one. He has a thriving business back home and could easily support a family. But every time I mention marriage to him he sorta shrinks back and insists that he's too busy for a family and that his business occupies most of his time.

Not ripe in age but not getting any younger, I want to start thinking about somebody to buy my groceries and it appears hopeless that I'll ever be able to compete with this man's business interest. What should I do? Should I look for another potential grocery-buyer or should I stick it out and compete with the business.

Sincerely,
Epzibah P. Thortlestip

Dear Eppie,

Truly you are in "de toal hole." First off, if you are looking for groceries you might apply at the local welfare agency. I am told that a fellow named Johnson there has tremendous food-stamp and grocery bargains which cannot be overlooked by the economic minded woman of our day. The only stipulations are you can't work and must endeavor to increase our population. Certain rumors are going around that they're going for an all time high this coming census. But if you're looking for companionship as well as groceries, I suggest that you go to another pasture. After two years and with a name like yours, if he hasn't convinced himself of matrimonial procedures, you've got no time to waste.

You ought to wise up after two years of hearing of the business. Incidentally, that appears to be what he's giving you—the business.
Helpfully,
Sam Canis.

Dear Sam Canis:

I read in your column where someone was extremely upset about the shortness of girls' skirt lengths. I agree agree with them. They are too short. They are deplorable and ridiculous. I think something should be done about it. A movement should be started. A petition should be circulated. A stand should be made against this. To start a movement of this sort who do you suggest I go to first?

Monster In Parking Lot Attacks Unwary Motorists

There is a dastardly object that stands at the entrance to the parking lot next to Brown Hall. It can be easily recognized by the multi-color of paints which it displays. Each color of paint represents one damaged car and one driver who is mad enough to chew nails. Another pronounced characteristic is the very marked angle at which it leans.

Surely by now you have realized that the object described is the 12 by 12 wooden post that marks the narrow entrance to the parking lot. Nobody seems to know why a 12 by 12 wooden post was erected in this place when something which inflicts less damage to an automobile would have sufficed.

Many cars on campus now bear the mark of this beast. Probably many more will be damaged before someone takes action. The post should be removed and replaced by a rubber marker like, perhaps, a partially buried tire or anything that would not permanently damage an automobile. Maybe it need not be replaced by anything at all.

This post is not choosy about whose car it smashes up—the careless driver's or the careful driver's. But when the decision comes as to whether to sideswipe the post or another car, the post usually comes out with a new coat of paint to add to its collection.

Is VSC ready to make this daring stride forward by removing this car-wrecking monster, or will VSC continue its present trend and add such monsters to the entrances of the Hopper Hall parking lot?

Caught In A Bubble

By JIMMY WOMACK

Not long ago I sat in science class and was prepared again to be dwarfed by the lecturing of knowledge I knew nothing about. But this time it was a little different. Though I knew nothing about what was being said, I found myself enjoying the substance and the presentation of the material. I was apprehensive over the enthusiasm of the professor's attitudes toward the possibilities in the scientific present. How his anxiety shone through, as he talked about the developments and predicted developments. I was, with the entirety of the class, caught up in this bubble as he spoke admiringly of the accomplishments of the men of his cloth across history.

I was particularly intrigued with the mention of a world-wide television station and instant universal communication. As he continued, I thought that he had a right to boast about the world-wide scientific order. I came to believe that these men of science see more clearly than any common order of humanity, never in terms of locality but a realm where all men basically evolve as peers in the collect. No doubt, I assumed, this is of religious nature.

Be it as it may, "Satan" sneaked an evil thought in on me. I pondered with all these valuable developments which really lend toward making us one, with the practical possibility of being a common order and of being a united world rather than having some United Nations—with all these things so clearly attaching man to man and piercing barriers of nationalism and race, we are still feudally divided against our own selves.

Leaving the professor momentarily, I proposed to my thinking passions and prejudices. I ventured that we have reneged on ourselves by allowing social vanity, racial pride and material drive to occupy full centrality in our lives. And that while we supposedly give support to the religious foreign policy "Go Ye" our actions and attitudes give different witness.

Then came to mind the inscription on the statue of the American Eagle at the Air Force Academy: "Man's flight through life is sustained by the power of his knowledge." Aha thought I, ne'er were truer words spoken. And I concluded that man's flight and knowledge through life are impeded by the degree of his separation.

Company Offers Editorial Award

Plans are now being made for the third annual Jack McDonough Editorial Award competition, sponsored each year by the Georgia Power Company for Georgia college students.

The contest, named in honor of Georgia Power's retired board chairman, seeks to recognize the Georgia college student who writes the best editorial on free enterprise in America and has the editorial published in his school newspaper during 1967.

The contest winner will receive a $500 scholarship for two years' tuition to the Henry W. Grady School of Journalism at the University of Georgia. He will also receive a plaque of recognition and an electric typewriter.

No limit is set on the number of articles an individual or college may submit or on the length of the editorials.

Entries should be sent to Dean John E. Drewery, Henry W. Grady School of Journalism, University of Georgia, Athens. A special faculty committee will judge the editorials.

The award will be presented at the next meeting of the Georgia Collegiate Press Association in February, 1968. Deadline for entries is Jan. 9, 1968.

Angie Thompson — Miss "See Georgia"

Senior Receives Title Miss "See Georgia"

This summer senior Angie Thompson, Miss VSC, was crowned Miss See Georgia of 1967. The contest, which took place June 19 and 20 at Calloway Gardens, consisted of evening gown and swim suit competition and the delivery of extemporaneous speeches about Georgia.

Along with the coveted title, Miss Thompson received a $500 savings bond, luggage, and $300 for a wardrobe from the chamber of commerce of her home town Blakely, Georgia.

As the "Tourism Queen of Georgia," Miss Thompson works with the Tourism Division of the Georgia Department of Industry and Trade. She must always be prepared to make public appearances and give speeches which promote Georgia. This summer her duties took her to Toronto, Canada, where she went to the Canadian National Exhibition and worked in the Georgia booth.

Endowed with beautiful brown eyes, shining brown hair, and a pleasant smile, Miss Thompson is also a VSC Calendar Girl and one of the ten best dressed girls on campus. Last year she was chosen best supporting actress for her performance in Middle of the Night.

Miss Thompson is a member of Kappa Delta sorority, Alpha Psi Omega, and president of Sock and Buskin. After graduation Miss Thompson, who is majoring in secondary education, plans to teach English and speech.

BSU Welcomes All Country "Bumpkins"

"Y'all come." This invitation is extended to all students of VSC by Bonnie Foister, who is in charge of the BSU Social on Friday, November 10 at 7:30 P.M.

To support the country theme of the party, there will be corn-stalks, hay, hayseeds, and pecans scattered over the BSU. Bonnie asks that everyone who comes dress and act country. She describes country dress as dungarees or overalls.

The pecans are the main reason for the party. They will be shelled and later sold, and the profits will be used for summer missions.

After shelling the pecans, there will be games, relays, and folk singing by the entire group. Musical instruments are also welcomed. Refreshments will be served — home made ice cream and hot chocolate.

Athletes Form Letter Club

VSC's newly organized Letter Club, made up of varsity athletes of the 66-67 season, elected officers Tuesday, October 24.

All students who lettered in either baseball, basketball, golf, or tennis are eligible for membership.

Officers of the club are David Coley, president; Mike Terry, vice president; Bob Anderson, secretary; Eddie Fisher, treasurer; and Bryan Phillips, sergeant-at-arms. Advising the club are Mr. Stan DeHart, Mr. Gary Bass, and Coach Bill Grant.

In the future the Letter Club plans to promote varsity athletics, provide scholarships for deserving athletes, and obtain a trophy case for the school and stands for the tennis courts.

Director John Rudy runs through a scene with leading actors, Larry Long and Myra Roundtree in the Speech and Drama Department's production of "After the Fall" by Arthur Miller. The play is scheduled to run November 15-18, at Pound Hall Auditorium on North Campus.

Dorm Gets House Daddy

Part of the "changing scene" at VSC is the innovation of a "house-daddy" for the men's residence hall on North Campus. The job of instilling the virtues of law and order in the men of Barrow Hall falls upon Mr. Wayne Foster.

Mr. Foster comes from Memphis, Tennessee. He obtained his Masters Degree in economics from Memphis State where he also did his undergraduate work and taught on a graduate assistantship. He is considering the University of Missouri or the University of Illinois for later study toward his doctorate.

Mr. Foster likes VSC. He also likes living in Valdosta. However, he is "used to a large city." "There is a little more activity in Memphis," he commented. This feeling is understandable since Mr. Foster is 24 and single.

Living in a dormitory is a new experience for Mr. Foster. He lived off campus during his years in college. His only complaint against Barrow Hall is that "the lack of air-conditioning presents some study problems." The "house-daddy" thinks the men at Barrow are a "pretty great bunch of guys."

APO Selects New Pledges

Alpha Phi Omega, a service fraternity at VSC, has attracted fourteen new pledges and initiated three brothers this year.

Officers of the pledge class are David Stola, president, Valdosta; Abe Kalil, vice president, Valdosta; Bill Kell, secretary, Swainsboro; and Tommy Collier, treasurer, Meigs.

Remainder of the pledge class includes Joe Coutu, West Warwick, R. I.; Ron Lavoie, Woonsocket, R. I.; Larry Hayslip, Albany; Bob Douglas, Tallahassee, Fla.; Charles Joiner, Valdosta; Terry Day, Quitman; Neil McGahee, Decatur; Kenneth Norton, Valdosta; Pete D'Ambrosio, Bethlehem, Pa.; and Perry Baskins, Valdosta.

Three brothers were initiated on October 25. They are Ron Paris, Atlanta; Larry North, Hahira; and Gary Hicks, Thomasville.

APO's will run the old Student Center from 10 to 10 daily.

Student Takes "Trip" To Discover "Truth"

EDITOR'S NOTE: This article is the first of a three part series on the experiences of a VSC student with LSD which was tried not at VSC, but elsewhere.

By ED LIGHTSEY

Recently, a VSC student took 500 milligrams of lysergic acid diethylamide and tripped out. In any other part of the country this would hardly raise an eyebrow, but in southeast Georgia it seems a major event. One wonders why anyone would want to use drugs for anything, except medicinal purposes, especially LSD. Let us find out.

"I've read so much about acid—the good and the bad—that I had to find out the truth for myself. After taking it, I can honestly say I found out the truth about the drug, but more important, I unearthed some truths about myself."

In discussing LSD and his trip (the first one for him) you immediately notice the sincerity of his conversation and realize that he did not use the acid for "kicks."

"Anyone who takes LSD for kicks is running the risk of a 'freak out' (bad trip). I firmly believe that acid should be used only by those who are concerned with the truth; about themselves, their moral values, even their destinies. I took LSD because I wanted to clear away all the physical aspects of my mind and body, and I did just that. I found that while on my trip, I freed my mind to concentrate on my spiritual self, soul if you will. It was the closest I ever came to a true understanding of Me. Even cell in my body was distinct and singular, and I could feel them moving toward my mind."

When asked if he thought he would trip out at every opportunity, he replied, "Definitely not. I would only use it when I felt a need. If maybe my mind became cluttered and I become confused again . . . I don't want to lead a chemical life."

What are these truths he spoke of and how did their discovery affect him?

"I found that there is more to life than money and the status it brings. I found myself in a world that was created without my knowledge but which I now control and that is the world of my mind."

"I also came to the sudden realization that war in any form is absurd and created by men who place material values on everything. It is not beautiful, the only beautiful death is a natural one."

"And this is the only conflict I had while I was up. I feared all the natural or god-made things I saw but felt comfortable around all the man-made things. When a tree frightened me, I just changed it into plastic, and it became man-made and therefore friendly. I feel little more at home in the world now. It seems a little more harmonious. Say, isn't that what Plato was after?"
