

Student Reigns At Mrs. Valdosta

Mrs. Valdosta 1968, the pert, brown-eyed, brownnette, Frances Witherington Brown, 34, is a sophomore English major at Valdosta State College.

The wife of Major James nearby Moody Air Force Base. Mrs. Brown will compete in the Mrs. Golden Isles competition at Brunswick April 5.

Mrs. Brown represented the Moody Air Force Base Officers Wives Club in the Mrs. Valdosta contest in March.

Winner of the Mrs. Golden Isles competition will compete in the Mrs. Georgia contest in Atlanta, May 8-11. The contest is sponsored by the Georgia Natural Gas Company.

Winner of the Mrs. Georgia contest will qualify for the Mrs. America contest to be held in August at St. Paul, Minn.

Major Brown is a student at VSC also. He is enrolled in the College's Continuing Education program and is a junior physics major.

"The courses at VSC have a greater depth and meaning than they would have had earlier in life," she commented. Mrs. Brown is preparing to be an English teacher.

Street to Hill Avenue and then down Patterson Street to the college, the float parade will sport something over ten floats. The parade will launch itself from the National Guard Armory at 2 p.m.

Four social fraternities and the four sororities have entered floats in the parade. In addition the Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity and the Alumni Association will represent themselves through floats in the parade. Five Atlanta Falcons will ride in the motorcade.

Tommy Nobis, who will be here Friday night, will be unable to stay for the parade as Grand Marshall.

Several local bands and a color guard will participate in the parade. In addition, the Sturchio Baton Corps will march. On arriving back at the college, the floats will be circles up on the front lawn for public viewing.

At 3 p.m. the Rebel baseball team will play another college team at the North Campus field.

Two more entertainments cap the Homecoming Program. A concert, featuring the "Impression," will begin at Mathis City Auditorium at 8 p.m.

Later that evening, at 10 p.m., also at Mathis Auditorium, the Homecoming dance revs up to the music of "Soul Incorporated." Trophies for lawn displays and floats will be awarded at the dance. Dress is semi-formal.

Phelps Manages Rebs; Gains "Molasses" Title

Editor's note: Inadvertently, the interview with Glen Phelps was omitted from last issue. The following is that interview.

Glen said he was interested in all sports but especially the sport of "girl watching". In regard to this area, Glen said his ideal girl was: good-looking, but, more important, a girl who thinks along the same lines and has a similar background. Glen believes that a good personality and versatility are especially important. "A good personality is especially important in order to put up with me," he said.

Glen is majoring in biology and hopes to return to Camilla where he would like to teach and coach. Concerning TV programs, Glen said that he enjoyed Star Trek and Mission Impossible, the latter one mainly because of his identification with Mr. Phelps in the show.

Glen is a member of the SGA and a brother in Delta Chi fraternity. In high school Glen played football, tennis, basketball and track.

Glen was born in Bowling Green, Ky., raised in High Point, N.C., and moved to Camilla, Ga., at the age of 15.

We learned that Glen's nickname is "Molasses". He told us that last year the mascot was named Syrup so he decided that his nickname this year would be Molasses.

College Editors Register Feelings On Viet Nam

In the first state-wide college editors' poll conducted by the Georgia College Press Association, student editors eagerly responded to the controversial subject of the war in Viet Nam. Thirty-five of fifty Georgia college editors in a high 70% participation in the referendum, replied to the question: "Which of the following alternatives to the United States' policy in Viet Nam do you prefer?"

A. Increase the U.S. present commitment to South Viet Nam.

B. De-escalation on the part of the United States.

C. Continue the present U.S. administrative policy.

The results of the referendum are:

22.875% favored (A.) Increase the U.S. present commitment to South Viet Nam.

40.000% favored (B.) De-escalation on the part of the United States.

37.142% favored (C.) Continue the present U.S. administrative policy.

Of those editors favoring (A.) Increase the U.S. present commitment to South Vietnam, the following alternatives were offered:

A. Increase the bombing of North Viet Nam.

B. Blockade of Haiphong Harbor.

C. Land invasion of North Viet Nam.

D. Invasion of China

E. Use of nuclear weapons.

- 69.23% favored (a.) Increase the bombing of North Viet Nam.
- 30.76% favored (b.) Blockade of Haiphong Harbor

Of those editors favoring (B.) Deescalation on the part of the United States, the following alternatives were offered:

A. Immediate withdrawal by the U.S. unilaterally.

B. Arbitration by the United Nations.

C. Pause in the bombing seeking further peace negotiations.

D. Begin de-escalation with eventual goal of withdrawal

E. United Nations take over the war in Viet Nam as it did in Korea.

28.57% favored (B.) Arbitration by the United Nations

50.00% favored (C.) Pause in the bombing seeking further peace negotiations.

21.42% favored (D.) Begin de-escalation with the eventual goal of withdrawal.

Letter To The Editor

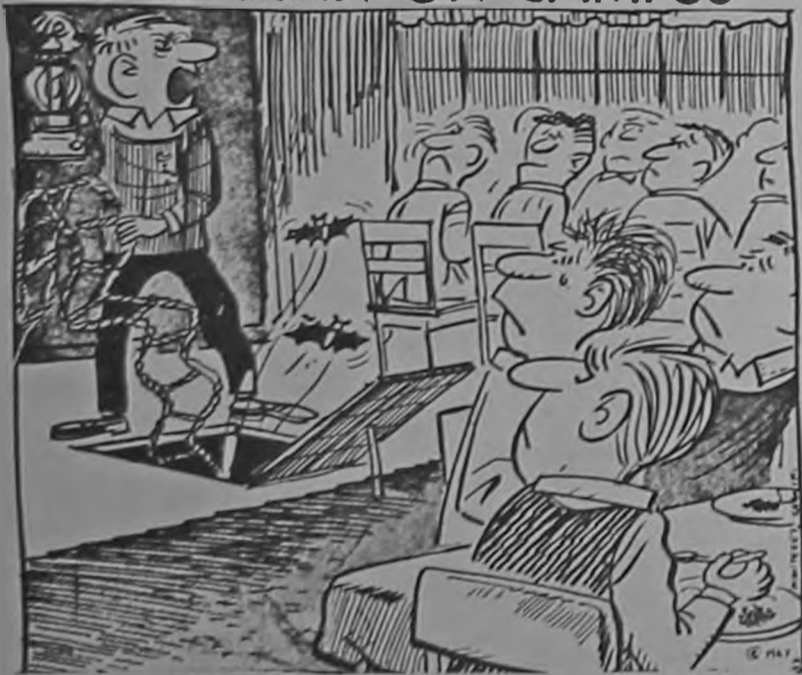

Dear Editor,

In the last issue of the Campus Canopy re. the article by the State Director of Selective Service, Brig. Gen. I found that I am essential. To be essential and obtain deferment from a course of graduate study, I must be essential in medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, osteopathy, or optometry, or in such other subjects necessary to the maintenance of the national health, safety, or interest as are identified by the Director of Selective Service upon the advice of the National Safety Council."

Naturally this came as a blow, after a lifetime of considering myself as essential as the next man. Obviously I was laboring under an illusion. In as much as I am only an Art Major, a laughable profession, I should joyously run to a battlefield to lay down my life for essential Doctors, Lawyers, Scientists. I suppose I should feel almost apologetic for living the nonessential, tawdry life of an artist.

I refuse to feel this way. I will not let the government decide if I am essential or not. I am a human being. I am important. I am Essential!

Gerlock Attends Seminars On European Education

Don E. Gerlock, chairman of the Education Department at Valdosta State College, is among 90 educators from the United States and Canada visiting several European cities and participating in the 12th Annual Comparative Education Society's Seminar and Field Study.

The seminar and field study, entitled "Contrasts in European Secondary and Higher Education," was conducted in London, Moscow, Prague, East Berlin, and Copenhagen, March 12 through April 2.

Dr. Gerlock pointed out that because of the rapid expansion and many new experimental arrangements in higher and secondary education in both the U.S.A. and in Europe, as well as the widespread interest in education under Communism, The Comparative Education Society and The Commission on International Relations in Education of Phi Delta Kappa believe that university and public school administrators and their lay boards will benefit from a series of seminars and field studies designed specifically for them.

"Previous seminars over the past eleven years have been enthusiastically received by American and Canadian educators," Dr. Gerlock said.

Dr. Gerlock pointed out that the success of the seminars and field studies over the past years has depended upon first-hand contracts with committee members and a large enough delegation to make an all-out program worthwhile.

"One year prior to the seminars, Dr. Read, director of the seminars, visits the various countries, names committees, and explores a variety of possibilities for programs. Once the committee is appointed, it accepts the responsibility for planning and directing the seminars and other activities. Dr. Read has directed socialist delegations of educators on their many visits to the U.S.," Dr. Gerlock said.

Dr. Gerlock departed from New York, March 12. He attended seminars at Cambridge University and Reading University in London, the University of Moscow, Charles University, Prague, Humboldt University in East Berlin, and the University of Copenhagen. Tomorrow he will arrive back in New York.

FSU Presents Play For VSC

"The Passionate Woman of Glen," sponsored by the Valdosta State College Cultural Committee, will be presented in Pound Hall on North Campus Wednesday, April 3, at 8:15 p.m.

The announcement was made by Miss Joy Trulock, Cultural Committee chairman.

The drama will be presented by the Florida State University drama group.

Arrangements for the performance are being handled by Stan DeHart of the VSC Speech and Drama Department.

According to Mr. DeHart, the drama concerns post-Civil War reaction.

The public is invited, and there is no admission charge, but seats will be reserved for persons having bought season tickets to the College's three theater productions.

Those holding season tickets, however, should call the VSC Speech Department on Tuesday, April 2, between 2 p.m. and 4 p.m., at 242-8103 to confirm their reservations.

Sumerford Visits Japan

Dr. Taylor Sumerford, professor of Chemistry at VSC, delivered a series of lectures on the chemistry of medicinal products at Kyoto University, Japan, during the Winter Quarter. His invitation to join the faculty at Kyoto University resulted from a series of trips he, as a representative of an American drug concern, made in Asia in the early 1960's in search of research products of possible application in the drug field.

On an informal basis, he also taught classes in English conversation designed for Japanese graduate students who were preparing to come to the United States during the coming year to carry out research in governmental, academic, and industrial laboratories.

Just before leaving Japan, Dr. Sumerford held a seminar for the research staff of Nippon Shinyaku -- a pharmaceutical manufacturer located in Kyoto.

Dr. Sumerford observed that one of the major things which distinguishes the Japanese as a race is their willingness and capacity to exert a sustained effort to achieve whatever goal is before them. This trait carries one into the classroom, which, coupled with the fact that Kyoto and other imperial universities in Japan accept only one out of some twenty applicants who apply for admission, a very satisfying

"Stars" Slates Tryouts For Singers, Dancers

Auditions for the 16th Season of THEATER UNDER THE STARS will be held in Atlanta on April 13th, announced Eric Mattson, Production Director for the Summer series.

"With the move of THEATER UNDER THE STARS into the new Civic Center, we hope this year to assemble the finest Singing and Dancing Chorus in our 16 year history," stated Mr. Mattson.

The schedule for auditions is SINGERS at 10:30 A.M., with finalists being called back in the afternoon, and DANCE auditions at 5:00 P.M. All Auditions will be held in the "Star Room" of the GEORGIAN TERRACE HOTEL.

"It is important that the people auditioning be at least 16 years of age and available for the Summer beginning June 25th through August 20th" stated Mr. Mattson.

All Singers trying out for the Chorus must bring their own music, and this music must be in English. Although an accompanist will be provided, singers may bring their own if they wish. Singers will be selected on their ability to read music at sight and their appearance.

The Dancers will be selected on their ability to execute modern dance routines, their previous training and experience, and their appearance. Dancers are asked to bring some clothes that they can wear in.

"In its 16 year history THEATER UNDER THE STARS has been a springboard for many aspiring actors and actresses, and it has proved an invaluable training ground in exposing good talent to the rigors of professional theater," Mr. Mattson added.

All members of the Chorus will be paid $110.00 per week and will become a member of Actors Equity Association, the American professional actors union.

Evanson Avoids Draft By Posing As Teacher

It is reported that an increasing number of American males are fleeing to Canada in order to escape induction into the armed services. However, one 20-year-old, a little more original than the others perhaps, found refuge at Valdosta State College, where he posed as a 52 year old English teacher.

The draft-dodger, Mervin Evanson (alias "Two-face Eason," "Grandpa" Everett, and Mervin Evans), was apprehended during spring break when he was spotted surfing at Daytona by an off-duty campus security officer. Evanson was rushed immediately to Fort Benning where he is now in basic training for jungle survival.

His ex-sergeant was constantly having trouble finding him during work hours as Evanson was always changing his face and hiding in the Officer's Club. The sergeant was court-martialed for forcing a visiting general, whom he thought was Evanson, to do KP duty.

Evanson commented to the press, "I didn't dodge the draft because I don't want to serve my country; it's just that I feel naked without a moustache."

Any credits given for a class taught by Evanson will be dropped, and all courses must be repeated. Students are urged to re-register for these classes as soon as possible. They should consult their advisors for details.

"Alias"

Evanson had no equals when it came to disguises; his friends called him "The Chameleon."

Parking Sees Bright Future

Congested traffic problems at VSC are being eased as ruts in the unpaved sections are allowed to erode deeper.

After these ruts become top-less tunnels, only Volkswagens with sun tops, allowing a look-out passenger to navigate, will be able to travel through them. The traffic will be further lessened when it rains, thus turning the ruts into canals, where only students with aqua-cars will be able to pass through them.

Thus, after the roads become un-navigable, the cars will have to park on Patterson and in the shopping center, and so leave the campus open for pedestrians.

Ladybird Praises Plans To Beautify Campus Area

Valdosta, "The Azalea City" has long been noted for its beauty and grace. VSC recently engaged in expansive beautification projects of its own.

After many requests for funds to aid in the beautification of the campus, our pleas were finally recognized. As part of her "Help Beautify America" program, Ladybird herself answered our call for help. Trees and plants of every specie are invading VSC daily.

In October Ladybird sent a representative to VSC to look over the campus and tell her what improvements were needed to make the grounds more beautiful. Mrs. Jay studied the problem carefully and sent her suggestions for getting our own beautification program started. Since then the Campus Beautification Committee has regularly sent detailed reports to the Bird's Nest, outlining the progress being made.

She was so pleased at what was being accomplished, that on March 28, Ladybird arrived at VSC to inspect the grounds. (It was reported that upon her arrival, all the pigeons and birds usually found around campus were seen flying south. They apparently could not stand the competition.)

While at VSC, Ladybird spoke at the site of the newly planted jungle outside the gymnasium. "I am thrilled with the progress which has been made at Valdosta State College," she chirped.

Mrs. Jay went on to describe the landscaping technique being used at VSC as "Early College," and expressed this desire: "Before I leave Valdosta, you students can look forward to having a little bit of Texas in each of your rooms. It is my wish that you all have a cactus plant of your own."

Approximately 5000 students were on hand for the ceremony. Their acceptance of Mrs. Jay's speech was overwhelming. In order to make her feel more at home, all the boys present wore cowboy boots and ten-gallon hats, and the girls all wore "Ladybird Classics."

After her departure, each student ran to his dorm room clutching his own private cactus plant, and wrote a letter-while thoughts of the great Bird's visit were still fresh in his memory--to his parents, telling them of the latest happening on campus.

VSC has finally hit the Big Time.

Havoc Lessens In Registration

Valdosta State College has given its students a view of the amazing feats that can be accomplished through careful planning. Registration is usually a tiring process for both students and professors, but this quarter the many weeks of work and planning on the registration process proved their worth.

Registration in the past has been compared with a slaughter house, the sophomores being the prime beef, but careful planning has improved the program.

One of the most obvious improvements was the weather. Everyone knows that it usually rains on registration day. This quarter there was a bright shiny sun to bake under while waiting in front of the gym.

Usually there is nothing for a student to do while waiting patiently for admittance to the gym, but this quarter there was plenty of action. Several students were almost trampled while the crowd fought for registration cards.

Once the student succeeded in passing through Security at the gym door, the improvements in the registration process became less evident. Aside from someone opening the transits to relieve the stuffiness, registration proceeded just as it does every quarter.

The immortal words, "Sorry, that class is closed," rang through the air. If a student happened to need his adviser, he knew just where to find him, West Hall.

In spite of all, most students succeeded in obtaining some courses. Just ask the students and they will tell you. "There is nothing like a good workout in the gym to start a quarter."

Maddox Hunts For Stills

President Martini regretfully announced today that Senator Robert F. Kennedy, political hopeful, will not visit the college because he cannot find it. However, Governor Maddox, who has recently been aiding police in a search for stills in this area, has said that he will gladly come. His speech is entitled, "Is VSC Wet?" According to recent intelligence reports from "little birds" sent out by the Campus Security Force, one apparent location of a still has been in the displaced toilet from Brown Hall.
