

REBELS HOST TAMPA TONIGHT

Team Plays Tough Competitor For First Season Home Game

by David Stroupe

In their first regular season home game, the Rebels of VSC will take on University of Tampa's Spartans tonight at 8 p.m. in the VSC gymnasium.

Coach Jim Melvin, former assistant coach, is beginning his first year at the helm. Also new to the Rebel staff is assistant Coach James Dominey.

There is a new look to VSC's cagers this season. Lack of height will force the Rebels to run the ball more and to employ full and half court presses often-all of which makes for a more exciting brand of basketball play.

Probably Rebel starters for the Tampa game are: Pete Smith, 6' 4 1/2" sophomore from Albany; Paul O'Brien, 6' 1" junior from Riviera Beach, Fla.; John Trimmell, 6' 1" junior from Columbus, Ind.; Jim Dorsett, 6' 2 1/2" senior from Byron; John Jones, 6' 4" senior from East Gary, Ind.; Dale Croft, 6' 4" junior from Jeffersonville, Ind.; and Joe Brogdon, 6' freshmen from Stockton.

Last year the Rebels won one game and lost one to Tampa, both by one point margins.

Tampa promises to offer strong opposition to Melvin's legions. Tampa will have the most experienced and the tallest team in several years. Bob Stevens, a top rebounder last season and a strong candidate for Little All America honors this year, will provide a stiff test for the Rebel defense.

Filling out the home game slate will be contests with Georgia Southern College on Dec. 9 and Columbus College on Dec. 14.

President Addresses Sociology Members

By Ed McGinnis

VSC President Dr. Martin, attending the Nov. 19 meeting of the Sociology Club, answered questions from members of the club.

Concerning the dining hall, he said that students who live in the dorms must buy meal tickets, because it would be more expensive per meal to eat in the dining hall if everyone was not required to buy a meal ticket. "In order to save the students' money, the food must be bought in bulk," said Dr. Martin, "and the quality of the food is very good." A committee has been formed to advise Mrs. Keaton, the dietitian, on types of food the students want. The first meeting of the committee was held Thursday, November 21.

Future plans include a five day meal ticket for the students who go home on the weekends, and a decrease in the cost of the meal ticket for students who do not eat breakfast.

President Martin

Another major issue, the student health fee, was also discussed. Dr. Martin said that state law declares that an infirmary must be maintained on every campus.

Grad Program Adds Masters In English

A third graduate degree, the Master of Arts with a major in English, will be implemented at Valdosta State College, beginning summer quarter, 1969, according to VSC President S. Walter Martin.

Dr. Martin expressed great pleasure in announcing the go-ahead for this new graduate major, saying, "We are delighted that the Board has seen fit to approve our request for an M.A. in English. We have a department that is well qualified to offer this new major and we expect a good enrollment in this area within the next year or two."

The VSC President pointed to the increasing demand for staffing high schools and junior colleges with qualified holders of the master's degree in English, and the English department as one of the largest and strongest at VSC, as other factors which led to the Board's agreement to the proposal for offering this work. Dr. Raymond Cook is head of the VSC English Department.

The English department, in offering this new work, will provide a wide variety of courses, from the early periods of English and American literature to the current forces at work in our culture, according to President Martin. Some of the courses will be designated "senior-graduate," with additional research required of graduate students, while others will be designated specialized courses and seminars strictly at the graduate level.

Prospective students interested in enrolling for the new program should contact either Dr. Ramond Hunter, chairman of the Graduate Council, or James Martin, VSC's director of admissions.

Candymen To Appear At Christmas Dance

Contributed by Ronny Gilliard

The annual Christmas Dance, featuring the Candymen, will be held December 6th at Mathis City Auditorium, beginning at 8:00 p.m. For the first time in several years, the dance, sponsored by the College Union Board, will be semi-formal rather than formal.

Chairman Bill Moore reported, "The Board decided to make it semi-formal and to obtain a popular band rather than hire an orchestra, in order to entice more students to attend."

The Candymen are former members of Roy Orbinson's band, and have released several hits of their own.

Class Sweethearts will be announced at the dance, for which no admission will be charged. The dance will admit only Valdosta State students and their dates.

Nominees for the honor of class sweetheart are: Seniors: Diane Bagget, Reba Baker, Linda Bass, Jackie Bierman, Anne Cox, Nona Free, Cheryl Glenn, Anita Harris, Angela Ragan, Janice Ragan, Suzanne Schefelbein, and Gloria Thompson; Juniors: Cindy Black, Mary Ann Broome, Cricket Burgess, Gail Culpepper, Charlotte Cunningham, Brunel Phillips, Shirley Phillips, Nance Scruggs, Jayne Spell, Rosemary Stapleton, Elizabeth Thompson, and Kathy Westbrook; Sophomores: Toni Bellew, Carolyn Bennett, Patsy Branch, Ann Bullard, Sue Cato, Claire Culpepper, Beth Dixon, Gail Harris, Nancy Lee, Amanda Morrison, Becky Rushin, and Eleanor White; Freshmen: Diane Couey, Mary Edith Gleaton, Gail King, Fluff Kirkland, Denisse Lang, Nancy Washburn, Vickie Mustari, Susan Nelson, Gail Pike, Jane Strickland, Leigh Thompson, and Kathy Wood.

MOVIE TO BE SHOWN

"On the waterfront," starring Marlon Brando and Eva Marie Saint, will be shown tonight at the Wesley Foundation at 8:30 p.m.

Admission will not be charged.

Serenaders, Band Slate Joint Christmas Concert

by Clifton Young

The Valdosta State College Concert Band, under the direction of Mr. Sanford B. Campbell, and the Serenaders, under the direction of Mr. Lavan Robinson, will present a joint Christmas concert Tuesday, December 10, at 8:15 p.m., in the Pound Hall Auditorium.

The Band's program will include "Overture to the Messiah" by Handel, "Slavonic Folk Suite," a composition taken from the work entitled "Russian Christmas Music." This selection contains melodies from the ancient liturgical music of the Eastern Orthodox (Slavonic and Russian) Church.

Included also will be several compositions, such as the familiar Christmas songs: Adeste Fideles, Silent Night, Jolly Old St. Nicholas, O Little Town of Bethlehem, Away in a Manger, The Twelve Days of Christmas, Angles We Have Heard On High, and others.

Silver Bells by Livingston, The Mother Mary by Fenimore, Sing Noel by Wright, and He is Born, a French Carol will highlight the Serenaders portion of the program.

The Band and the Serenaders will combine for the following numbers: Quiet Christmas by Grundman, and Hodie Christus Notus Est. by Young.

There is no admission charge, and all students are urged to attend.

Group Sings December 8

The Valdosta State College Glee Club, under the direction of Mr. Webster Teague, will present its annual Christmas concert Sunday, December 8, at 3:00 p.m. in the Mathis City Auditorium.

This year the Glee Club will be joined by several members of the music department at VSC and a group of vocalists from the community. The soloists will be Mrs. Joe Haas, soprano; Mrs. Webster Teague, soprano; Mrs. Robert Spell, contralto; Dr. Joe Hass, tenor; and Mr. Lavan Robinson, baritone.

Accompanying will be Miss Nita Boyle at the organ, Miss Angela Ragan at the piano, and a small orchestra.

The public and all VSC students are cordially invited to attend.

Ron Fortner, in the Black Key sponsored movie, "Nightmare," dreams that he kills the same girl over and over. Right, Angie Thompson.

Black Key Club Sponsors Horror Movie At VSC

In anticipation of final exams, the Black Key, an honorary society for men at VSC, is sponsoring a horror film entitled "Nightmare."

The 25 minute film is being shown in the projection room, upstairs College Union, at 6:30 p.m., December 2-5. Admission is 25¢. All proceeds will be deposited in a student loan fund for male students at VSC.

Filed and directed by Mr. Stan DeHart of the VSC Speech Department, "Nightmare" stars two former VSC students: Angie Thompson and Ron Fortner. The movie is complete with sound track.

In the film Fortner dreams that he is killing the same girl over and over, or so it seems until the surprise ending.

Harrison Announces Peace Corps Tests

The office of continuing education, headed by Mr. Walter Harrison, is making available a Peace Corps placement test for any interested students.

Students must first complete application forms obtainable from the department. Upon returning the completed form, students will be scheduled for a testing date.

Further information can be obtained from Mr. Harrison, Room 13 in West Hall.

First Negro On Squad

James Becomes Cheerleader

By Clifton Young

Sam James, a 19 year old sophomore from Statenville, became the first Negro to join the cheering squad at Valdosta State College. Sam is a 1967 graduate of Herctoma High in Statenville, where he was valedictorian of his class.

The son of an Echols County Social Worker, Mrs. Miami James, he is majoring in sociology.

Playing basketball in high school, he planned to become a member of the basketball team; however, he felt that 5'6" was not enough height. After being asked by one of the cheerleaders to join the squad, he figured that he could "kill two birds with one stone."

First of all, he demonstrated that blacks and whites could work or play together in peace and enjoy it, and secondly could give the cheering squad a little more "soul."

Concerning the VSC student body, he stated, "most of the students seem to be indifferent toward the Negro students on campus; the spirit of the students, both white and black, is very low in regard to athletics. This low spirit is one of the things that spurred me to accept the offer to become a cheerleader."

Sam feels that this year's team has a good chance of going to Kansas City and coming back with a victory; he intends to put forth every effort to boost the morale of the team. He also added that he plans to go out for the team in '69 and that "it will surely go to Kansas City and win."

"On the more serious side," commented Sam, "I think that every student who comes here and receives a degree misses out on something if he does not work to improve his social relationships with all the people (including the hippies if there are any on this campus)."

He thinks the team will perform better if they feel that the students are behind them all the way, and he has enough confidence in the students to say that there will be an upsurge in the spirit of VSC students.

"So," he stated, "Please try to attend all the basketball games possible and LET'S GO TO KANSAS CITY AND WINI WINI WINI!"

Summer Jobs Open Now for Students

Federal jobs for the summer of 1969 are now being offered to college students. Because there is only a relatively small number of these selective jobs open, it is necessary to obtain an application for tests as soon as possible from the Placement Office.

The deadline date for application is January 30, 1969.

Door Checkers Help Library

At the beginning of winter quarter, a new system will be incorporated in the VSC library. A book checker will be stationed at the front door of the library to inspect all out-going materials, to insure proper charge procedure. "This new service is an effort to prevent the loss of books and periodicals by straying, accidentally or otherwise," says Miss Thera Hambrick, head librarian, "and is in accord with the trend in all larger libraries."

At times, particularly during the period between classes, traffic through the library door will be heavy. Students should leave the library before this period, because the checking process takes time and students must wait their turn.

"Both faculty and attitudes as expressed in committee meetings and the Campus Canopy last year indicate a ready acceptance of the

ALBANY PROFESSOR TO LECTURE AT VSC TOMORROW

Dr. Israel E. Glover, professor and chairman of the mathematics department at Albany State College, will be a lecturer in mathematics at Valdosta State College tomorrow.

The subject of the lecture is "Field Structure and Prof." It will be delivered in Room 22a, Nevins Hall, at 4.30 p.m.

Duval Joins Black Key

Dr. Harry M. Duval, head of the VSC Chemistry Department, received an honorary membership into the Black Key at the Parent's Weekend assembly, November 16.

The Black Key also tapped two students. They are Frank McElroy, a senior psychology major from Valdosta, and David Stroupe, a junior biology major from Miami, Fla.

Forum To Be Held In Pound Auditorium

By Kay Williams

VSC's tenth quarterly speech forum will be held December 5, at 8:00 p.m. in Pound Hall Auditorium.

The speech forum is sponsored three times each year by Sock and Buskin, Valdosta State's drama club.

Speeches will be divided into two categories, entertaining and persuasive. Awards will be presented to the first, second, and third place winners in each category.

The speech forum is open to all VSC students' students in Speech 105 are required to attend the forum.

Steve Seyfried, a sophomore from Valdosta, will be the master of ceremonies for the event.

Sharon Costello and Earl Stromoski are in charge of arrangements for the speech forum.

—Letters to the Editor—

VSC Cafeteria Insults Students

Dear Editor:

In a past years the Campus Canopy has been in the vanguard of efforts to propose and bring about changes for the better of Valdosta State College. I feel that this year's staff is somewhat lacking in this area. Perhaps a better way to express this is to say that your efforts have been less sincere and diligent than your predecessors.

I think that a situation exists on our campus which should be discussed and aired completely. And I feel that the campus paper is the only means of doing this effectively. That problem is the food served in the cafeteria. It is an age old problem here at VSC and don't kid yourself it is a problem.

Not long ago, I was invited by a friend to eat with him there. What was intended to be a kindly gesture turned into a crude insult. The problem is not with the staff in the dining hall. After research, I have come to believe that they do the best they can with what they have. Therefore, the problem rests with the administration of this college. For years students have complained with little results accomplished.

I think that the Administration is "defenseless" in their actions which govern the food program. Having lived on campus at one time, I know the empty feeling which comes from paying over one hundred dollars for nothing. I know that there are fiscal matters and problems which require money and this money has to come from somewhere. But aren't we sacrificing too much for it to be served in the wrong place when we serve meals like is presently being served? I think that food is the wrong place to cut when deficits occur.

I would like to suggest that the "Campus Canopy" I begin to take the leadership of protest in this area; 2. ask guest editorialists write on problems relating to campus situations instead of chasing stars in Southeast Asia; 3. Ask editorial staff to make a sincere effort to acquire information and facts about food service at VSC to be published in articles.

Jimmy Womack

Editor's Note: Campus problems have not been ignored by the editorial staff; the majority of editorials have focused on VSC. A movement to improve dining hall service has already been initiated by S. Walter Martin, president of VSC (Refer to Nov. 18 issue of CANOPY).
Dear Editor,

I was deeply grieved when I learned of Mr. Grigsby's death and I am sure that those who knew him at the College also share my loss.

There are many people who acknowledge the fact that the young people of our country are basically good, yet there are few people who are willing to spend their lives trying to make them better. Mr. Grigsby was such a man.

Since I worked in the Student Personnel Office as a Student Assistant, I feel that I was more closely associated with him than most of the students. I was aware of the deep concern he had for those of us who needed financial aid to attend college. But his concern went farther than that, for he was interested in each student as an individual and concerned himself with other aspects of their lives. Many times I saw him give advice to students who were ready to drop out of school—not for financial reasons alone but also because of depression and mental fatigue. His concern did not stop when the students left his office, because later he would check to see how they were doing.

These students appreciated his interest and would often come back just to sit and chat with him. Mr. Grigsby always enjoyed having the students come and never seemed to tire of their questions and requests.

While in high school, Iris was a member of the Beta Club, the annual staff, cheerleaders, and vice-president of Tri-Hi-Y. She was elected "Senior Favorite," and was a member of the Blakely High School homecoming court.

At VSC she is a member of Kappa Delta, Delta Chi Fraternity's Chi Delphi, and the Sociology Club.

1984 is just around the corner.

And in Chicago, you get the feeling it might be the next corner.

For now we've reached the point where we answer dissent with a billyclub and mace and tear gas.

For God's sake, for America's sake, when are we going to realize that you can't destroy someone else's freedom without damaging your own?

For God's sake, for America's sake, when are we going to realize that the greatness of America is the ability to accommodate dissent—not to brutally extinguish it?

For God's sake, for America's sake, when are we going to realize that the kids (be they immature, impractical, intemperate, idealistic, even antagonistic) are our last, best hope for a better tomorrow?

If we don't we're well on our way toward a society in which the honorable mayor of Chicago will be replaced by a nameless, soulless dictator called Big Brother. (Or has it already happened?)

It be sure, it's only 1968.

But unless someone becomes concerned, then tomorrow might be 1984.

Infirmary Endangers Health With Faulty Diagnosis

A serious problem exists within Valdosta State College's infirmary.

Although most students seeking medical aid are given the necessary treatment for the common ills which plague them, many students do not receive the attention required for the more acute illnesses.

This editorial is not written to make a mockery of VSC's medical staff, but to indicate that certain clinical tests should be performed on more serious cases before a correct diagnosis is made.

Before any student from Valdosta State can be admitted to the local hospital, he must, according to medical regulations, have a written release from the college infirmary.

As of this writing, a VSC co-ed from Maine is receiving treatment in the Nashville Hospital, recovering from bronchial pneumonia. She could not gain admittance to Pineview General Hospital because this release was not issued.

Without the aid of the clinical tests previously mentioned, the fact that she had bronchial pneumonia was not discovered by the VSC infirmary staff. Fortunately, her roommate was able, through a family doctor, to admit this coed to the Nashville Hospital.

Another case is that of a coed who was told that her ankle was sprained; she was sent away with no other treatment than an Ace bandage.

After an X-ray of her ankle was taken and observed at Moody Air Force Base, a breakage was shown in three places, requiring a cast to be worn for approximately five weeks.

It should be apparent from these examples that clinical tests and X-rays are an integral part of a complete diagnosis. The presence of a small hematology laboratory on campus and frequent use of the X-ray facilities at Pineview General would be instrumental in the making of correct diagnoses.

It is imperative that the administration investigate and rectify this existing problem without delay.

Guest Editorial

Students Confront Dissension Between Diploma & Education

I have been asked to write a guest editorial for the Campus Canopy. Naturally my ego welcomed the invitation, but I was later at a loss for a topic which you would find interesting and pertinent. Then I read a little poem which had helped to compose many years earlier--and which I hope the editor of this newspaper will print.

Coupled with this romantic origin of an idea, I read an article entitled: "Do you want to Teach?" Believe me when I say it was a caustic challenge thrown out to members of my profession. Is it not amazing how many people want to be cooks to stir the educational broth?

A third incident occurred about two weeks ago during pre-registration when, as I walked through the halls, I began to hear the same questions I had asked when I was an under-graduate: "Is he easy?" "He's too tough. I don't want to write term papers." "Him for a course? You're nuts." (I hope they weren't talking about me) So, there you have the origin of my guest editorial.

The article I have mentioned above raised only part of the problem prevalent in our educational system. To be sure, there is a lot of dead wood on a number of faculties. Some "teachers" merely wish to be by themselves to research and write, and growl when a lowly student enters the sanctuary of their office. They are the unfortunate few who have never known the joy of seeing a student's eyes light up after he suddenly realized what the instructor was trying to say.

But on the other hand, these scholars supply the material for others to teach. Certainly, there are a number of instructors--and full professors--who cannot teach at all and cannot communicate with the student. They, however, only illuminate that fact that--believe it or not--we members of the faculty are human.

There are some who are interested in their work, some who are disinterested, and others who are uninterested. There are some who are able, some who are mediocre, some who are unfit for their tasks. Naturally, since we are not god-like, the whole profession is asked to shoulder the blame for the ills of education.

I, for one, am not that strong. I said that article only raised part of the problem. The other part, which is often ignored, deals with the student and society in general. To you the student: Do you want to learn? Did you ever ask yourself why you are in college? Did you ever think of the value of your degree?

I will bet you never realized that an education and a diploma are two different animals. Well, they are. Let's take the diploma first. It is nothing more than a piece of paper. It is possibly an entrance card into some pre-professional training, or a union card for a business. But that is all it is. It may get you in, but you yourself have to stay there. It is your ability, not your piece of paper that gives you advancement.

What is an education? In strict terms it is a process of disciplining the mind and character through study. It is a process of training, of dealing with principles, and of learning. In short, it is the act of thinking.

What do I mean by education being a disciplining of the mind? Let's put it this way. How many times have you shunned the hard courses? How many times will you take the path of ease and comfort when you get out of college as a result of this bad habit?

Why not train yourselves to endure stress and strain, and let yourselves be spurred on by the difficulty and challenge of a tough but worthwhile course? Why not admit to yourself that you are afraid to take this professor for fear of performing poorly?

If you have performed to your utmost, you can be unbending and proud in such honest defeat. How else would you start to learn to get off your knees when life grovels you? If you can solve a problem in class, or can answer a question on an exam, or pass a course, be kind to those who cannot as you must be compassionate to those who fail later on.

For it is in college that you can begin to master yourself, and to know yourself is the corner stone of knowledge and a prerequisite to leadership. If you find a contradiction in a class room, learn to be critical and analytical. Be of an open mind in all things, for that is the past to true wisdom.

Isn't it amazing how much you can learn in a class room in spite of yourself, your professor and your friends? It is even more amazing how much you can learn with their help--if you want to learn.

Which Among Them Will Thee Be

And it came to pass,
Early in the morning toward the last day of the Quarter,
There arose a great multitude smiting the books and walls

And there was much weeping and gnashing of teeth,
For the day of judgment was at hand.
And they were sore afraid, for they had left undone
Those things which they ought to have done,
And they had done
Those things which they ought not to have done
And there was no help for it.

And there were many abiding in the dorm
Who had kept watch over their books at night,
But it availed them naught.

But some were who rose peacefully,
For they had prepared themselves the way
And made straight paths of knowledge.
And those were known
As wise burners of the midnight oil.
And toothersthey were known as "curve raisers."

And the multitude arose
And ate a hearty breakfast.
And they came unto the appointed place
And their hearts were heavy within them.

And they had come to pass,
But some to pass out.

And some of them
Repented of their riotous living and bemoaned their fate,
But they had not a prayer.

And at the last hour there came among them
One known as the instructor; and they feared exceedingly.
He was of the disbo
He was of the diabolical smile,
And passed papers among them and went his way.

And many and varled
Were the answers that were given,
For some of his teachings had fallen among fertile minds.

And some there were who wrote for one hour,
Others for two;
But some turned away sorrowful, and many of these
Offered up a little bull
In hopes of pacifying the instructor.
And these were the ones who had not a prayer.

And when they finished,
They gathered their belongings
And went their way quietly, each in his own direction,
And each one vowing unto himself in this manner;

I shall not pass this way again."

Four Blue Jays Debate In Alabama Tournament

By Kay Williams

The Blue Jays, VSC's debate team, traveled to the University of Alabama in Tuscaloosa, Nov. 20-23 to participate in the Sigma Delta Rho-Tau Kappa Alpha tournament.

Thirty-eight southern universities and colleges participated in the debate, with Vanderbilt University taking top honors. The Blue Jays showed an overall record of four wins and eight losses.

Elissa Landey, Karen Luke, Riley Wade, and Lynn Hodge represented VSC at the tournament. Dr. Helen Thornton, acting head of the speech and drama department, is the debate coach.

Ping Pong Battle

The Ping Pong Tournament, sponsored by the Student Union Board, was held recently. The Billiards Tournament is now being held.

Group Sponsors Career Interview

The Georgia State Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a "Careers in Georgia Placement Program" for seniors and graduate students. Career interviews will be held during the Christmas holidays. Representatives from nearly one hundred companies will be in attendance.

The program is to be in the Exhibit Hall of the Marriott Motor Hotel in Atlanta on Friday, December 27.

Students interested in the interview program should either contact the Placement Office or write "Careers in Georgia Placement Committee," Georgia Chamber of Commerce, 1200 Commerce Building, Atlanta, Georgia 30303.

Beyond the Horizon

Southern College Uses Slave Labor

"The Kappa Delta Theta Sorority "slaves" seemed to make great cheerleaders, so say the boys who bought them at a slave auction, which was held on the night of November 6. The slaves were sold to work five hours during the week of November 11 through 15. Some of the other slave duties included washing and ironing shirts, polishing shoes, and washing cars. The project was sponsored by the current pledge class as one of their money-making projects. In all, nearly $80 was made."

--The Southern

sented a "Playboy Party," with 35 Bunnies "performing assorted acts."

Since some students mouths went dry from looking at the beauties, refreshments were available. The drinks were far different than those usually found on campus."

--The South Georgian South Ga. College

"A new committee has been formed, called the Student-Information Council. The purpose of the council is to "form an effective link between the student body, the faculty, and the administration." It is hoped that students will form questions, to be brought before this group, which are of interest to all members and to publish the answers to these questions in the Stormy Petrel so that the information is available to every member of Oglethorpe College."

--The Stormy Petrel Oglethorpe College

A new group has arisen on the Hofstra University campus at Hempstead, N.Y., according to its campus newspaper. The group is dedicated to the concept that a college education should not merely culminate in a collection of facts, but rather "in a system of thinking capable of interpreting these so-called facts," as indicated by Paul Schiffman. The movement offered nine recommendations designed to create a more inquiring attitude on campus. Among these were: the right for students to hold spontaneous demonstrations, the right for students to have a voice in courses offered, the right for students to hold a weekly public forum at which any topic may be discussed and that students be allowed to have some say in the selection and dismissal of faculty and administration members.

Two VSC Professors Recieve Ph. D. Degree

by David Stroupe

Pondering the many years of work required to gain the Ph. D., Dr. Evans quipped, "and if it (the dissertation paper) makes the grocery store paperback shelves, I might even make a couple of bucks off of it."

For two members of the English Department at VSC, the long hours of work have ended in success. Dr. Marvin Evans and Dr. David Stubbs have both received their Ph. D.'s from Florida State University.

Dr. Stubbs recently successfully defended his doctoral dissertation and will officially receive the Ph. D. from FSU this month.

The subject of Dr. Stubbs dissertation was, "Love in the Writings of C. S. Lewis."

Dr. Stubbs, a native of Savannah, Ga., was professor of education at Kwansai Gakuin University in Nishinomiya, Japan from 1951 to 1966. He holds B.A. and B.D. degrees from Emory University, Ed. D. degree from Columbia University, and M.A. degree from FSU.

For his doctorate, Dr. Evans wrote an introduction to and edited Thomas Heywood's THE IRON AGE. This five act play, which deals with the Trojan War, had never been edited before. Though the play was published in 1632, it was written in 1592, which makes Heywood a contemporary playwright with Shakespeare.

Dr. Evans successfully defended his doctoral dissertation at FSU this summer.

He graduated from Berry College at Rome and holds the M.A. degree from Emory University. He has been a member of the English faculty at VSC since 1957 and is a native of Moreland.

Palace Theatre
VFW
Drum Room
The Oasis
Metcalf's
All Package Stores.

On December 16, 1953, the Canopy reported on the Filii Fortunate Fraternity initiation: "On Monday pledges were required to wear red and black ties and a red and black shoe. They carried a brick with F.F. on it. Tuesday clothes were worn inside out.

Wednesday everyone was dodging guns carried by the cowboys.
Thursday all pledges were required to wear pajama shirts and a fish all day."

From the March 25, 1954 issue: "VALDOSTA STATE TO RECEIVE BEAUTIFUL NEW DINING HALL - Before many months, VSC will be eating in style, in one of the most impressive dining halls ever to grace any campus, anywhere...
Inside, there will be a spacious lobby with a flagstone floor...the dining room, which will seat 500 at once, will be in three parts...
The kitchen will be furnished with stainless steel appliances, which will be the most efficient money can buy."

In the May 4, 1956 issue, this poem was published:

INTRO Conference Meets In Atlanta

By Glen Breland

At the beginning of next year, the Fifth Atlanta INTRO Conference will be held for all interested seniors and graduate level students.

INTRO's purpose is to offer the opportunity to students to meet with some of the nation's largest and best known firms.

The sponsor is the Atlanta Chapter of the American Marketing Association. However, these companies do not limit their interviews to marketing opportunities, and marketing or business degrees are not required.

More information can be obtained from the Placement Office.

Although the meeting is scheduled for February 20 and 21, registration must be filed in the Placement Office as soon as possible.

Mrs. Maddox, head of the placement office, announces

1. Seniors who have not contacted the Placement Office about setting up a permanent file for interviews should do so immediately.

2. During November there were over fifteen companies, both local and national, and various branches of the government interviewing on campus. Be sure you don't miss any of these opportunities next month.

3. A film for students interested in some assistance in the planning of their careers will be shown on campus. Entitled "Where Do I Go From Here?" the film covers the full spectrum of facilities and personnel being made available by modern educational institutions to assist college students in career planning. The specific date of the presentation will be announced.
