Freshmen Elect Graham And Culpepper

Election for Freshmen Class Vice-president and Secretary was held at the Freshman Assembly on Tuesday morning, November 29. Catherine Young Graham, Valdosta, was elected vice-president and Jane Culpepper, Cordele, secretary-treasurer.

Catherine Young was salutatorian of her class in high school. She is a Kappa pledge.

Jane served as editor of the Cordele High School paper, "The Hub". She is also a Kappa pledge.

May Howard, presided at the election. She was assisted by Mary Hudson, President of S.G.A.

Following the election, Miss Annie P. Hopper made a talk. She stressed the importance of the remaining two weeks of this quarter and urged everyone to make the most of them.

Sports Council Schedules Dates For Tournaments

Archery Tournament Friday, Tennis Slated For Winter.

According to the Sports Club Council which met on Tuesday, November 29, a tennis tournament will be held during the first week after Christmas. The tournament was originally scheduled to take place before Thanksgiving, but because of various conflicting campus activities it has been postponed.

On Friday afternoon an archery meet will be held. Laura Duncan, Montine Cowart, and C. J. Morris are in charge of arrangements. Two competitors have been chosen from each class. The scores will be tallied to determine class champions.

To determine team championship the scores of the top-ranking Lambda and Kappa participants will be added.

Wilson Heads Math Club Meeting

Edith Wilson, head of the Math division of the Math-Science Club, presided at a meeting of the group on Tuesday morning. Members of the club inspected a recently purchased construction kit. Its use was later demonstrated in the construction of a pyramid.

A motion was put forward for the club to join a National Scientific Sorority, the only one of its kind in existence. Plans were discussed for using surveying as the project for the next meeting, which will be held early in the winter quarter.

NOTICE SENIORS

All seniors who will graduate by Christmas, who want positions as teachers, or in other fields, will please file application blanks with Miss Mildred Teasley immediately.

Hanging Of The Green Will Take Place Sunday

Kraft Will Present Last Recital Sunday

On Sunday afternoon, Mr. Herbert Kraft of the Music Department, will give the last in his series of weekly recitals. Notes on each of the compositions will accompany each of the selections.

The first group includes: Prelude and Fugue on Bach-Bach, Pastorale, Scarlatti, Rocokzy-Listz.

In the second group there are selections by Weber, Gluck-Brahms and Rubenstein. Perpetuum Moto, Govatte in A and Staccate Etude will be included in this group.

Tuesday Lecture Outlined

Concluding the series of discussions on music, Mr. Kraft will speak in the auditorium on Tuesday evening. The topic chosen for this discussion is "Illusion of Music". In this talk Mr. Kraft will discuss the nature of experiences of those listening to music, and the implications of music.

Rev. Thompson Speaks At Chapel On Right & Wrong

In chapel on Wednesday, November 30, Reverend Cecil Thompson pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Valdosta, spoke to the assembled student body. Dr. Thompson chose as his subjects, "Is It Right or Wrong" and "How to Live Rightly".

To determine whether or not an action is right, Dr. Thompson proposed these questions for one to ask himself: First—What effect will it have on me; second—How will it effect my relationship with my fellowman and third, It it the will of God?

Thanks For The Memories

Memories are being torn down along with the House in the Woods. Prevailing sentiment of the students are that they hate to see it torn down. There was always something doing there—club meetings, stag parties, dates—anything—if the walls could talk. (We hear some silent prayers of thanks because they can't).

Some girls have dated their future husbands there, maybe for the first time. What an unromantic looking old building to hold such secrets of heart-throbs and heartbreaks.

Margaret Weir said, "You could cook the nicest, toughest steaks there." It seems that the girls didn't know how to cook, so their dates had to don aprons, roll up sleeves and get to work. But the worst part was cleaning up the day after.

Those Candy Parties

Sylvia Bell said, "I'm glad they're tearing the old house down—memories and all." She is a candy making enthusiast and

With the Traditional Hanging of the Greens Thursday evening, December 8, the Y. W. C. A. officially opens the Yuletide season on the campus. Each year at this time, the senior class follows the practice of glorifying the Rotunda with holly and good will.

Robed in white, the class will enter the Rotunda, carrying wreaths and lighted tapers. After the invocation by the Spirit of Christmas, each senior hangs her wreath. They are left through the holiday season in the windows and doors.

As President of the Y. W. C. A., Elizabeth Garbutt will represent the Spirit of Christmas. Anna Richter is in charge of the program.

Other programs carrying out the theme of Christmas will follow for the remainder of the quarter. The campus takes on an increasingly festive air as plans for the festival and the holidays progress.

Another annual event, praised by old girls and faculty alike, as being one of the most impressive of the year, is the Christmas Pageant. This will be given in the auditorium on the evening of December 13. Members of the student body will participate in portraying the Christmas story of the Birth of the Christ Child.

Climaxing this series is the Festival, scheduled for December sixteenth. It starts out on a jolly note and progresses to the stately, with the minuet, and then, to the symbolical, closing as the entire assembly leaves the feast hall singing Holy Night.

So it is that the Hanging of the Greens, opens the Christmas season on this campus. It sets the tone of the subsequent programs and activities.

claims that the best candy she ever made was in the little green house. However, sometimes the candy boiled over and made a grand mess.

The killjoy of House parties was the ditch. Dora Ida says that she fell into it coming and going. Many is the pair of hose to be torn up around the house Sprained ankles and outbursts of temper signify the wiles of the ditch. Imagine the embarrassment of the Romeos who toppled in—strong men that they thought themselves!

Helen Joiner expressed her regrets at the "death" of the house. "Oh for the old fireplace, with the blazing logs and that dreamy atmosphere," she sighed.

Many times the girls got scared stiff on stag parties, but they could defend themselves. Even demure Macfie got a butcher knife to a suspected "ghost."

Eight Students Receive Mention

Miss Evelyn Deariso, librarian, has announced, with the completion of the Library Science Course, required of all freshmen the names of the following students who have done outstanding work. The list includes: Frances Ashley, Ruthann Belloff, Mary Brundrick, Marjorie Clay, Leecy Ann Goodloe, Mary Hardy, Mary Jean Rockwell and Kathryn Scott.

Each year this course is offered in connection with other college orientation courses. The library stated that the course is given in order to familiarize the new students with the use of the library. In this way they save time both for themselves and the librarians.

Durrenburger Named President

Meeting for the first time this year on Thursday, December 1, the G. S. W. C. chapter of the American Association of University Professors, elected Dr. Joseph A. Durrenburger president for the ensuing year. Other officers named at this meeting were Miss Lenora Ivey, secretary and Dr. Earl Phelan, Membership Committee Chairman.

The association is one exclusively for University Professors, and is mainly a professional organization. The outgoing president is Dr. Harold Punke. Other officers of last year, have been reelected either to the same position or to new ones.

IRC Will Feature Magazine Articles At Monday Forum

On Monday, December 5, the last of the series of Open Forums on International Affairs sponsored by the I. R. C. will be held. Current magazine articles of world interest will be discussed. Penelope Tullis, Rosalind Lane and Mary Lovett will take part in the program.

President Ora Kate Wisenbaker announced that the forums would be resumed after Christmas. She stated that from the standpoint of attendance the forums have been highly successful, and therefore would be continued as long as they were in demand.

Seven Receive Alpha Delta Bids

At a short business meeting this morning, Rosalind Lane and C. J. Morris, charter members of the Beta Chapter of Alpha Delta Journalism Fraternity, and the only members now on campus, decided to admit seven new members to the organization. Invitations to join have been extended to Ora Kate Wisenbaker, Rosemary Baker, Louise Bell, Opal Brown, Carolyn Folsom, Eileen Hyland and Curtis Whatley.

Membership is extended to those who have been engaged in publications work for two or more years and who have shown both interest and ability in their work. Activities of this year will be directed by Rosalind Lane, president and C. J. Morris, secretary-treasurer.

So Near

... and yet so far"—and we should do something about it. We are not being very intelligent when we just come to Valdosta for four years, and just sit here.

We are fortunate in being situated just where we are. There are any number of places—Savannah, Boke Tower, St. Augustine, Atlanta—that are within reasonable traveling distance of the college. Traveling, even to so small a degree is broadening, especially when it can be correlated with the arts, sciences and history that we study.

College Bus Is Answer

Say that the idea of having a college bus for the purpose of taking such trips, is an idle dream, if you will. Nevertheless, it is a pleasant dream, and with thought and cooperation, it might be realized.

We don't say that the students are the ones to buy themselves a bus—because we don't know that that's the case—or that it isn't. But perhaps if more enthusiasm were shown over the idea, administration and students might get together and evolve some way of getting a bus.

There are as many advantages in having a bus as there are baseball players who autograph bats. If you are convinced of this, express yourself. Let it be known to the proper persons, and we'll see if we can't find a fairy god-mother, or at least wave a wand.

Fourteen Days

... 'till the close of school and twenty four days until Christmas. No, we're not trying to sell you anything—this is just a reminder.

Christmas is coming and so is the Festival and exams. Between them, you'll perhaps be as rushed as you ever were before.

The period just before the holidays is never an especially easy one. Everyone has filled schedules and most people don't see how they'll live to hang their stockings up in front of the fireplace. Everyone is in the same boat, and if we rock it to much, we'll all go overboard.

The Chinese had a way of doing it—"Make haste slowly." It has been handed down to us through the ages so it must have value.

If we are to have peace on each good will to men, we'll have to consciously slow down. Fluttering and worrying will get us no where. Here's to a safe and sane two weeks, and may we all live through them.

Marguriete Arnold still carries the torch for Cecil—and did he brighten the holidays!

With Mildred Wilson, it's a matter of keeping up with the Joneses—talking like a turkey gobbler ever since she dated a tobacco auctioneer.

Perhaps June is getting resigned to her fate. Another ex.-is taking the fatal step. When is Arthur's turn, or will you give him a chance to escape from you?

And Daisy Jones with a football sweater. Evidently she hasn't been kicking Mutt around.

Wiggins wrote for her ring because she has another interest. It is the hand of destiny that their Way(s) cross.

You might ask Miss Teasley if anything fishy happened during the holidays and what she thinks about pink uns.

Twinkle, twinkle light in Bobo's eyes. Perhaps not the letter but surely the complimentary (and it was that) close, did the trick.

M. C. and Lamar are just the cutest ones, and did Hazel sport Bruce before all the agoging Moultrie fems!

We hear that the "haunted" house was really haunted the other night, but fortunately the "ghosts" came down.

Was Nell the gal during Thanksgiving? She entertained royally—four of 'em.

Was Larisey's face red when her feet got stuck? Honest, she literally had to be cut from the floor.

The I. R. C.'s are really cute—honored at a tea in town.

Clara Mae reports a wonderful time in Atlanta — exchanged Convention memories with Henrietta Green, Atlanta, and Ida Lipmann, Brenau.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

I wish to get something off my chest that has been bothering me for a long time. Every week we, the disheartened, hear this remark: "Oh, goodness, here it is Wednesday and we haven't got half enough copy for the Campus Canopy." If this just happened occasionally, I could better understand it, but it happens every week without fail. It is the theme song of the Canopy staff. Now, I want to know why this is necessary. Why don't you have enough copy for the paper? It is my opinion that if you would print some of the articles handed in by non-staff students you might have a better paper. It is not fair to print only the pieces of the staff members.

I have heard the students say that the editorials are dry and uninteresting. Maybe if they had one published once in a while, their attitude would change.

Why can't some of the snappy, original articles written by the students be used? This sort of material makes the paper more interesting.

On behalf of the students and myself, I appeal to your sense of fairness. Give us an equal chance. Won't you?

—A Student.

Here And There

— By Eileen Hyland —

In Filmland the stars have their own names for the roles they play. Shirley Temple calls herself a "backwards Cinderella" in her new attempt—"The Little Princess". — Flash! — Cooper's not a brat—he's regular. * * * so what . . . as long as he does all right on the screen, who cares if he's a Comanche Indian off. — Melvyn Douglas, after reading the first installment of a recent biography was heard to remark—"The plot is a masterpiece, I can hardly wait to read the second installment, and find out more about this guy Douglas."

Before and after—the dinner party—Pola Negri tore a bill in half and gave one piece before and the other after to the wondering waiter. We wonder if she supplied the glue to mend it. Did you know—they borrow from the fruit growers' union for a dusky effect on the screen?—smudge pots—am I disillusioned!—Latest thing in movie roles—to be a picture of an illustrious ancestor.

Dick Powell objected once to the "single" roles he is usually saddled with—what happened? in his next he has thirty-eight ditties to cope with—we wonder what would happen if he demanded bigger and better singing arts—we hope we skips this idea. . . . Franciska Gaal's mother was a grandmother when Frannie was born—hows that for an example for the Physiology class?

Latest in interviews—Fred Allen performed a wonderful job on the "man who collects cheeses from old moustraps and the farmer who grows corn in red, white, and blue kernals".

In Defense

... the staff rises up to reply to the scathing and obviously ill-informed "Letter to the Editor" appearing this issue of the Canopy.

We maintain that a college newspaper should serve as a sort of announcement sheet of college news, and its Editorial page should serve as a clearing house for student opinion. It is our aim to fill these requirements as well as we can.

It Isn't Play

Yes, we do have something of a struggle, but news on any campus of our size is at a premium. Neither are we blessed with an over-supply of good and interested writers.

You cannot expect the perfection of a metropolitan paper from an organization in which the key positions are filled each year by different people. You cannot expect finished stories from reporters who have had no previous experience in journalism.

What Snappy Articles

These snappy and original articles you speak of—ours is not an organ for the publication of literary gems. If any timely and well-written feature stories come to the desk, we are always delighted to publish them. We are sorry to announce however, that very few have been contributed.

Another significant point seems to have been overlooked. If non-staff members are so much interested in the paper, why didn't they try out for the staff?

If they did but were not appointed, it should have been obvious that they did not met the requirements and that subsequently submitted articles might also fall short of our needs.

Could It Be Jealousy

It seems to be a case of hurt pride that we, the staff, have gotten out a paper every Friday night, without your invaluable assistance.

Our paper isn't perfect. We realize that more perhaps than anyone else on campus. Nevertheless, it is absolutely the best we can do under the existing conditions.

It is not our purpose, herewith, to discourage Letters to the Editor. We welcome them. This is your paper — we only work for you — and these letters are the most effective way to express yourselves.

Let's Be Fair

What has aroused our feeling is the tone of this letter. That such an attitude should exist on our campus, written or otherwise!

We invite constructive criticism, but we do demand that criticism be built on facts more than fancy. It is easy to sit on the side lines and call out false plays. Which of us now, is really being unfair?

France Is

... now going through a crisis. Wednesday was the day of the scheduled nation-wide twenty-four hour strike which was to bring to a head the feelings between Premier Daladier and the French Labor Party.

Daladier has been given power by decree to rule France by practically dictatorial powers. He has begun an intensive program to raise France's standards equal to Italy, Germany, and Great Britain. Labor had just received in legal form its long awaited eight-hour day. Consequently when Daladier, in his effort to build up France ordered the eight-hour day to be extended to ten, twelve, and fourteen hours days in a great many industries Labor objected.

Effort Made To Avert Strikes

In order to avert the strikes called by railroads and other utilities Daladier immediately put the workers under military rule and forced them to work. Others he merely replaced with state employed officers.

The twenty-four strike is supposed to paralyze French business and bring matters between labor and Premier Daladier to a head.

Devil's Island Reestablished

Also main among Daladier's decrees was the re-establishment of Devil's Island and the other French Guinea colonies as penal colonies once more. Last year, through the efforts of Leon Blum the last tropical penal settlement of the world was abolished. Because France was "unable to support the convicts on French seven hundred thirty-eight men sailed this for the penal settlements. Over a thousand will be sent to the settlement within the two years.

This week and next week will mark the ing point for France's governmental policie

Dont Wait Until Xmas To Get That Holiday Spirit

Just nineteen more shopping days 'til Christmas! Do your shopping early!

Students! Just 10 more cramming days 'till Xmas — Do your studying early! But remember that all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy; the same goes for each student as well.

If you want to arrive home with that Christmasy feeling — to decorate 'n make candy, 'n wrap packages 'n everything — and you do—if you want to go to the dances and parties and be the life of the party—not dead on your feet and a wall-flower as well—take time out from studies to get "that holiday spirit" and take part in the festivities going on around you.

Keep in the swing of campus activities and begin by having an elegant time at the barn dance on Saturday night — It's gonna be fun—and incidentally, this is the last dance of the year.

Conversation should be especially interesting at Christmas time. There are aunts, uncles, cousins, grandmothers and "friends" to be entertained. Of course they enjoy hearing about dances and boy friends, but they are interested also in music and current happenings. Make a good impression by conversing intelligently about their interests. Mr. Kraft's Music Appreciation Hours, Sunday afternoon and "Outstanding Women" to be discussed by the Honor Societies at chapel, December seventh. About what could you talk more entertainingly?

Belle Of Ball To Be Chosen At Club's Barn Dance

At a call meeting of the Fine Arts Club Monday at chapel period, plans were made for a Barn Dance Saturday, December 3rd in the recreation hall. A Belle of the Ball Contest will be held during the dance. A special table will be placed in the hall where the dancers may vote, and the winner will be announced at 10 o'clock. Cold drinks will be sold. A floor show will begin at 9:00. The following committee chairmen were appointed: Decoration — Irwin Smith, Publicity, Evelyn Woodward, and tickets, Wilmot Green.

Further plans for the Christmas Bazaar to be held in the art studio on December 8th and 9th were made and will be announced in the near future.

Vesper Service Centered Around Picture Of Jesus

Vespers on Thursday evening, December 1st, consisted of a worship program centering around the original picture of Jesus Christ by Haufmann. The picture belongs to Mrs. W. G. Eager, of Valdosta. There were selections from Kabil Gibran's "The Story of Jesus" by Anna Richter, Martha Sue Griffin, Ann Parham, Curtis Whatley, and Marguerite Norton. Special music was given by the Y choir, now directed by Mr. Herbert Kraft.

Sunday evening, December 4, Mr. W. G. Workman, professor of psychology and Bible at Emory Junior, will talk at the Vesper hour.

Williams Is On Church Program

Hazel Muggridge, chairman of the Deputation Team, announces that the Team will give a program at the Presbyterian church of Valdosta on Sunday evening, December 4th. Mary Virginia Williams will talk on the subject, "Toward a More Christian Democracy." Margaret Carter will sing "Just For Today" as a special number. The "Y" choir will also participate in the program.

On Sunday evening, December 11, the program will be repeated at the First Methodist Church in Quitman, Georgia.

FOLSOM

Unique—she's one in a million. Carolyn Folsom thinks and acts uniquely—ranging all the way from wanting to ride down Patterson Street in a white convertible Packard wearing dark glasses and gnawing on a carrot to think a perfect Utopia would be a place to pull off shoes, get under a shady tree, read, and eat a dozen apples.

At the tender age of fourteen Carolyn was graduated from high school, not only finishing in three years, but also walking away with honors. At the present Carolyn is just seventeen, but will reach the mature age of eighteen in December. Seniors, boast of having a baby in a high chair—but the baby has wanted at one time to get a Ph. D. — has a burning ambition to play Scarlett, stands five feet nine, and not ashamed — what a baby!

Carolyn is this year president of the Fine Arts Club, last year secretary and treasurer; this year Feature Editor of the Campus Canopy, last year a reporter; this year Art Editor of the Pine Cone, and last year Junior Art Editor — Aghast, I add that Carolyn is also a member of the Sock and Buskin Club and Glee Club.

The only regret of Carolyn's about college is in missing dormitory life. She commutes from Hahira.

Carolyn's hobby is art—preference is painting portraits, drawing caricatures, and modeling clay. She wants to go to art school in Atlanta next year — likes symphonic music. Come down out of the high chair, child, you have arrived.

DUNBAR

Gay, lighthearted, Anne Dunbar is also a capable and dependable person. She is this year secretary of the Senior Honor Society, reporter to the Canopy for the Valdosta Club, member of the French club, English Club, and Sports Club.

Anne has had several nicknames, but the most interesting one is that bestowed upon her by Dr. Reade. It is "unconscious" and she's called that by him because she consistently fails to see important notices on the bulletin board. Her twin brothers call her "Diddy".

Characteristic of Anne, she thinks she's in love but isn't sure. However to friends she is rated as a good love-doctor.

Anne maintains that environment is more important to an individual if the heredity isn't too poor — that she would like to fish, but never has — that she will own a sailboat someday.

A good dancer — Anne's green eyes sparkle when she tells of her experiences with little children—thinks the best course she ever had in college has been "Problems of the Family".

For six years Anne was a Girl Scout, lacking only two badges of being a Golden Eaglet — is president of her Sunday School Class, Bible drill leader in B. Y. P. U. — would like to play a violin.

People tell Anne not to teach school as she'll lack in maintaining discipline, but Ann stoutly, small that she is, insists she'll have plenty. Her favorite pets have been a Belgian Shepherd dog and a Persian kitty.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Ottimier of Fargo, announce the birth of a son, Bill Jr. on November 11. Mrs. Ottimier was before her marriage Miss Mildred Williams.

Miss Vanille Kendall of Valdosta is spending some time in Miami recuperating from a recent illness.

Miss Nellie and Nettie Johnson who are teaching in Chiefland, Fla. and Miss Louise and Noland Johnson who are teaching in Cordele, spent the week end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Johnson of Valdosta.

Students who have not met their appointments with Vernan Blackburn for annual pictures, are expected to make their own arrangements. All pictures must be completed before the holidays.

All/Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors who are not registered by the end of this week will be charged a late registration fee upon returning next quarter.

Address books of faculty members and students are being compiled by the seniors and will be on sale next week. The price will be 15c per copy.

A University of Minnesota survey indicates that college graduates may expect to be earning between $2,000 and $3,000 annually eight years after commencement.

Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute students recently cornered the faculty experts with student-written technical questions in a program of the "Information Please" variety.

Pleas Hull, official University of Georgia bell ringer, estimates he has rung the instrument 250,000 times in six years.

DON'T MISS "Belle Of Ball"

She will be chosen — at — FINE ARTS CLUB Barn Dance Saturday Night

Thanks

More than anything else, Martha Wilkes will miss the little alcove of the house. Ruby Lilly said, "I'm sorry they tore it down because now we can't have any more water fights.

The best evenings were those when girls met for True Confessions. Truth was the vogue of the night. My, what secrets they pulled from each other. But the worst times were those when they would gather up stairs and tell weird stories, so bad that not even the bravest would venture into the great unknown of the lower floor.

Memories unforgettable? Yes, and thanks for them. May they carry over into the new building, is the prayer of each and every little college girl.
