SARA GARBUTT ELECTED MAY QUEEN

Burns, Williams, Martin Win Class Offices

Sara Garbutt And Louise Bell To Reign At May Day, Play Day Festivities May 4

SPECIAL TO CAMPUS CANOPY—

Sara Garbutt, of Valdosta, and a day student, was elected Queen of the May to rule on Play Day—May Day, May 4. The final election was held this morning, members of the student body casting their ballots in the Ad Building. Runner-up for May Queen was Louise Bell, Arlington, who will be Maid of Honor.

In a straw ballot on Tuesday, March 5, the student body elected five Seniors as final nominees for May Queen. Thirty seniors were represented in the ballot!

The five seniors obtaining the highest number of votes on the straw ballot, and thus becoming nominees, were Jacqueline Abrahams, Louise Bell, Molly Fountain, Sara Garbutt and Marguerite Norton.

Miss Garbutt is Photographic editor of the Pine Cone, vice-president of the Math-Science Club, and the treasurer of the Senior Honor Society. As a freshman she was treasurer of her class and when a junior she held the class vice-presidency and was on the Sports Council. She has been a student here her four college years, and during that time has been closely allied with all campus activities. Majoring in English and minoring in Biology, she is a member of the English Club and the Math-Science Club and will appear in the feature section of the yearbook.

Miss Bell is the present Editor of the Campus Canopy. Vice-president of the Georgia Collegiate Press Association, she is Vice-president of the Alpha Delta Journalistic Fraternity and literary editor of the Pine Cone for this year. Not (See SARA Page 4)

“Little Willie” Will Become A Medium Of Luck

Do you knock on wood, throw kisses at hay-wagons, “stamp” grey mules, carry a rabbit's foot or otherwise bow down at the feet of Lady Luck? Soon you will have opportunity to dispense with all these ceremonies and completely charm the much sought after Lady with one thing!

What? You don't need any luck! With final exams coming all too soon how could you say such a thing! Think again and surely you will want to charm not only Lady Luck but your teachers too.

Other colleges have “institutions” of luck—at one college students throw pennies in the well for luck; at another, you are bound to make good on that certain exam if you only shine the nose of a bronze bust of a past dean; at another good luck will certainly come to you if you carry a little “Saint Joseph”—but we have nothing on our campus to fill this need, which is great despite the fact that our students range slightly above the state average on exams.

But what to do about it? Your worries are over! The problem has been solved by our own campus brain-child and co-ed, “Little Willie”!

Margaret Burns, Grace Williams And Sara Martin Will Be Class Presidents

SPECIAL TO CAMPUS CANOPY—

Margaret Burns, Grace Williams, and Sara Catherine Martin were victorious in today's election for next year's class officers. Miss Burns, who will be Senior Class president, will succeed herself, Miss Williams, president-elect of the Junior Class will succeed Maxwell Williams, while Miss Martin who will be Sophomore Class president, will replace Jane Ellen Smith.

Margaret Burns has been head of her class for two years, having been president of her Freshman and Junior years. She is a Biology major and is a member of the Math-Science Club, Phi Kappa Sports Club, and Fine Arts Club. She was Art chairman of the Sports Council, and a member of the “Y” Choir her Sophomore year, and was a member of the Freshman Honor Society.

Grace Williams is a member of the Freshman Honor Society, Phi Lambda Sports Club, and last year was a member of Freshman Council. She is majoring in English, and is a Dean's list student.

Sara Catherine Martin is a member of the Sock and Buskin Club, and is appearing in this year's production of “First Lady.” She is a member of the Phi Kappa Sports Club, and is in line for an athletic award. Miss Martin is also a member of the editorial staff of the CANOPY.

Punke Attends NE A Convention

“In spite of the tiresome train ride and cloudy weather, the N. E. A. Convention proved to be entertaining, inspiring, and instructive,” stated Dr. Harold Punke upon his return. Dr. Punke, professor of Education left Valdosta on Saturday, February 24, for St. Louis, Missouri, to attend the meeting of the National Educational Association. He returned the following Saturday.

The convention was opened Sunday evening with an elaborate musical pageant. “The History of American Music,” showing all of the stages and developments of music from the hum drum of the early Indian war drums to the hottest swing of the modern jitter-bugs.

Meetings which Dr. Punke attended fell into three categories: the nature of the intelligence and environment of the individual; the problem of youth in relation to unemployment, and development of a program for better educational and social adjustment needs of youth; and the history and philosophy of education.

NOTICE!

THERE WILL BE NO “BATTLE OF THE SEXES” THIS SUNDAY.

Do You Hunt Short Cuts In Making “A” Average?

Are you one of the many students who would rather spend their time hunting short-cuts to making an “A” average than use that time in studying? If you are, you need no longer waste your time. Just heed the following nine-point program to scholastic success—a program formulated for you by the ever-helpful editors of the MIDLAND of Midland College:

- (1). Don't give your prof apples. Too obvious.
- (2). Find out his hobby and follow this up with well-planned questions to draw him out.
- (3). If the entire class walks out of the classroom when the prof is 10 minutes late, be the only one to wait, even if its half an hour. This procedure is good for a B-plus any day.
- (4). Always greet an instructor pleasantly, never using his first name, but a cheery “Good morning, professor.”
- (5). When sitting at the faculty table in the dining hall or walking about the Administration building, always walk with your head down as if in deep thought, pondering some weighty problems in math or philosophy, for instance. This is highly recommended to get on the honor roll.

(6). Offer to wash the professor's car, put up his storm windows or do any little job around the house, but don't accept any money for the work.

(7). Apple polishing procedure in classrooms includes sitting in the front row, responding to professional humor with loud, hearty guffaws and liberal use of big words. This is important—never use a two-syllable word where a five-syllable word will do.

(8). Carry a lot of big reference books around. This is tremendously impressive and is worth an A minus in any class.

(9). If you must close your eyes while in deep thought, wrinkle your forehead and otherwise look worried or the professor may get the wrong impression . . . and grade accordingly.

N. Y. A. Students Strike High Point As Scholars

Some years ago the National Youth Administration was begun by the leading educators of our country. It's purpose is to aid those girls and boys who earnestly desire an education and who find themselves unable financially to support this otherwise thwarted ambition.

The success and progress that the national movement is making may be cited on our own campus. It is true that N. Y. A. is lending financial aid to students who formerly would have been denied the privilege of a college education, but it is also helping the student to develop his intellectual powers and capabilities. The following statistical report which was issued from the Georgia State Woman's College during the Spring quarter of 1939 may help to verify these facts:

Pts. or Pct.	No. of Stud.
Scholastic average of all students.....	C 324

Scholastic average of N. Y. A. students .....	B 53
Scholastic average of non-N. Y. A. students .....	C 271

Percentage of N. Y. A. students above average of general student body—79.24 per cent.

Percentage of N. Y. A. students below average of general student body—5.66 per cent.

From this report we may see that the grades of N. Y. A. students are relatively high when compared with those of non-N. Y. A. students. In fact 42 of the 53 N. Y. A. students had above C scholastic averages; 8 had C averages; and 3 had below C averages.

This report may prove startling to the majority of our readers, but nevertheless these facts remain. It all goes to prove that those who have the largest amount of work to do accomplish more in comparison with what is accomplished by those who have less responsibility.

Dress Up The Parlor

In a LETTER TO THE EDITOR last week a glaring eyesore on campus was brought to readers' attention. The notice came from the freshman class, which in itself disproves that freshmen are merely cogs-in-the-wheel of the educational scheme of the college.

The CANOPY heartily endorses the suggestion of beautifying the Freshman Parlor. It is true that it is one of the most uninteresting spots on campus, and definitely without charm, yet a place which, by all rights, should be pleasing. There are no books, magazines, newspapers, or games for students to entertain their guests.

One has only to look at the Freshman Parlor—then, after a shudder, grant its need for improvement. Steps have been taken to remedy the situation, but these plans need support, by both students and faculty alike. If you are approached to aid the cause, remember the time when you as a freshman, endured the "bare parlor"; therefore prevent it for others.

So our hats are off to the freshmen! It is a worthwhile project, and when you pull through—you'll have distinguished yourself.

To The New Officers

First of all, congratulations. Secondly, you have been elected in the quietest election that the "oldies" can remember. With or without "Drum and trumpet" for your election—that has nothing to do with your ability or capacity to execute plans for your class. Since you are in the market for good, sound advice, turn a pink ear in this direction.

After this year's roar and rush—resulting from the mad, money-making schemes of everyone—you'll be wise to select admirable and worthwhile goals for your class, and present them early in the fall to class members. By admirable goals we don't mean the accumulation of wealth in order to take a trip over a week-end to some nearby city. Only a few profit by such a project, a fact which condemns it immediately.

If students are to be good citizens of their state and nation they will assume responsibility with a proud and hopeful heart, and you, as class presidents, make plans for your class—even if they are wrong—but do have plans. Again, the CANOPY extends congratulations.

From An Uneasy

CHAIR. Dr. Harold Gulliver reads poetry at the English Club meeting, and tells of lending five dollars to Robert Frost.

The annual has gone to press . . . much to the relief of its editors, who anxiously await the dummy and the final proof-reading of it.

The Managing Ed has never felt so important . . . with so many "scoops" on hand in one week . . . The millennium has arrived . . . that is for "scoops."

Pointers on how to make an 'A' . . . timely, with exams grinning gruesomely in one's face . . . if apple-polishing hasn't helped so far, then you'd better try studying . . . so Confucius say.

We, The People . . . meaning the Brims . . . are two indispensables on campus . . . always ready to lend an able and helping hand. Then, too, there are the Greens . . . who lend color.

STORY OF THE WEEK: Mary Alice Brim exclaims volubly and vehemently over the size of a turkey in a French class . . .

Oh, but to have heard it!

When exam week comes, can grades be far behind? And when grades come, "It's a Blue World without you" . . . YOU meaning all the good marks we might have had! Oh, well. It won't be long now and the pity of it all is that only time will tell! Brief pause for a violent shudder!

Week-ending . . . SARA MATHIS former GSWC student and her charming visitor, Emily Whatley, attended the English Club dance last week-end! If only "HUDDY" had been here, the trio of Garbutt, Wilson and Hudson would have been complete!

Lovely to look at . . . MOLLY FOUNTAIN, MARGUERITE NORTON, LOUISE BELL, SARA GARBUTT and JACKIE ABRAHAMS . . . May Queen candidates.

A brand new jitter-bug joins the ranks as HENRY DUKES "rug-cuts" with Anna Mae Pryor.

Romance Runs in the Family' or so it seems as CURTIS, MARY ANNE, and the Rackley brothers romance these "daze." The roses were lovely, Mary Anne!

A member of the ministry is definitely interested in KATHLEEN! He even causes her to be late to class! Shades of Washington, Kathleen . . . "Have you Forgotten so Soon?"

We know someone who'd like to cause a rift between LEECY ANNE and Tony! My boy, I'm afraid it can't be done.

A certain young man yearns for the return of Christine Wiggins next quarter . . . RURNELLE and Billy Bloodworth are a current "couple of the day."

BROOKWOOD . . . "Uncle Walt", we welcome you back with open arms! We're THAT glad to see you. Have any of you girls thought how completely fascinating your room would look adorned with the pocket size nickleodeon at Brookwood . . . however, it's heavier than it looks and won't go under a coat . . . we've tried! Sammie Lee, you're too slow to try eaves-dropping . . . we've noticed you can't get your ear away from the keyhole before the door begins opening!

Why can't everyone have a suave young man waiting patiently with a town car while one shops? You're lucky, girls! Scoop! . . . WILMA NELL CLEMENT'S engagement will be announced a week from Sunday . . . The Event takes place in the summer.

JANE McLAUGHLIN'S brother, Reid, who is a Sigma Chi at Georgia, announces that he is bringing home four fraternity brothers and the FRATERNITY BUTLER for spring holidays. Jane doesn't understand it, either!

What former GSWC student, listed in Who's Who of U. S. college students, has just received a ring from a minister? It must be TAD.

JACQUELINE SMITH and LOUISE HODGES were proud cake-winners at the dance last week-end.

Did you see LOUIE KREIGER at the dance last Saturday night? She looked smart to us, too!

Best Joke of the year is attributed to ANNA MAE PRYOR. It seems that when she writes a check on her father, she has to state what it was for on the check, so when she wrote one to buy her evening sandals for the formal, she put on it, 'All God's Chillu Need Shoes.' Wonder what the banker back home thought?

Award Before Spring

Last year the emblems were awarded early so that the girls who received them could wear them before the end of school. This year it seems a good idea to award them early again. Emblems are awarded to students for leadership on campus. It is a fitting recognition of leadership and one that should be honored. Because usually Seniors are the ones which usually get them, it only seems fair that they should be allowed to wear the emblems on campus before they graduate.

There are seven emblem wearers on campus, Seniors, Rosemary Baker, Louise Bell, Irwin Smith, Mildred Wilson, Ruth Whilsonant, Ora Kate Wisenbaker, and one Junior, Jeanette Johnson are entitled to wear them.

This year in order that the Seniors who are eligible for emblems may get a chance to wear them, they should be awarded early. After all it's a signal honor to get an emblem and they should be worn.

The Time Has Come

By Ora Kate Wisenbaker

Exams are hereby upon us . . . late hours . . . open books . . . the library is in much demand. Students are avidly reading material assigned at the beginning of the quarter.

Last minute touches on term papers. Hasty fingers pasting note-books together. Frantically we leaf through volumes in the library looking for data and suggestions for footnotes and bibliographies.

"Have you read . . . ?" or "Have you written . . . ?" are magic passwords that open floodgates of remorse and loud lamentation.

GWTW in town during exam week . . . Ironical touch. But a kind faculty members arrange schedules for us to see the magic movie. Orchids and all that go with them to the profs.

"I want to be alone," is a theme song these days. Busy signs abound. Little girls carrying big books, big girls carrying little books and vice versa. All roads lead to the library . . . and back again.

"Do you think we'll have . . . ?" and—"He asked So-and-So last time." Plus many loud groans and some Weeping-Honest—

But oh, how wonderful it will be when all exams are through and home going is uppermost in many minds. Hasty packing.

"I'll take these home to be washed" . . . and "If I don't get some new clothes . . ." And the added note . . . "Hope grades get there after I leave . . . Do you 'spose I might make Dean's list?"

Here's hoping gals that everybody'll make it!!

Quotes And Unquotes

By A. Copy Catt

The various classes have officers, colors, and all of the essential elements which go to make up an organization, with the exception of one very important item . . . class songs. A class theme song is a very desirable thing, so we have selected the following songs as typical of the four groups:

- Freshman: "Lost in a Fog."
- Sophomore: "A Little Bit Independent."
- Junior: "I'm Buiding Up To An Awful Break-down."
- Senior: "The World Owes Me A Living."

He: "Come on."
She: "No."
He: "Why not?"
She: "Just because."
He: "Don't you love me anymore?"
She: "It isn't that."
He: "Please, just this once."
She: "No!"
He: "Aw shucks, Maw. All the other kids are going barefooted."

An economics professor at West Virginia State University got quite a shock recently on reading a quiz paper from one of his classes. He had asked the students to write a mock stock market report. One version was this:

"Flash: Stock market news!!! Skirts high and consistently sold short. Tabloids low and compasses steady. Razor transactions sharp during the past week. Scotch strong. Automobiles prominent on the curb. Airpanes coming down consistently. Elevators fluctuating tremendously with sudden rises and drops."

Guess the reason that so many of the students in Miss Price's American State Government didn't know what an Electoral College was is because they never won a football game.

Will never forget all her play practices . . . likes to walk in the rain . . . regrets that her worst fault is procrastination . . . hates to write letters . . . listens sympathetically to every one's troubles . . .

Dekle Gives Mask Demonstration To Dramatic Club

Miss Frances Dekle, of Valdosta, gave a demonstration and lecture on mask at the Sock and Buskin Club meeting on Monday evening, March 4th. Miss Dekle studied the mask at camp last summer and had samples of her work which she exhibited and explained.

Using Miss Elizabeth McRae as a model, Miss Dekle made a mask, explaining the steps as she worked.

Following the lecture was a short business meeting. Doris Harper, president, appointed committees to help with properties and stage management of the annual play "First Lady." She also announced that the club would have the first dance after Spring Holidays.

Sociology Club Studies Workers

At the last meeting for the winter quarter of the Sociology Club, the topic of the program was "Outstanding Personalities in Social Work." Veronica Kleeman, Maxine Cowart, and Linda Summer gave interesting biographical sketches of Grace Abbott, who was connected with Child Welfare, Judge Ben B. Lindsey, who has done outstanding work in the Juvenile Courts, and Richard C. Cabot, originator of Medical Social Service.

President Virginia Tomlinson presided over a short business meeting, and announced that officers for next year will be elected at the next meeting in April.

The art of relaxation will be taught in a special course at Columbia University teachers college this spring.

Goin' To Town

By Louie Peeples

"Nothing ever happens here" can never be said of GSWC, or perhaps it's just that week-before-test-week makes us painfully conscious of the procrastination we love so well. Campus happenings, however, have reached a highlight in the elections to-day of May Queen and class officers for next year, and politics are still on the rampage . . . still . . .

If you have not read MARGARET BURNS' term paper on modern courtship, you've missed something . . . and lots of blushing too . . . she gave no questionable answers and left no questions unanswered!

ORA KATE say: "Marriage takes common sense and also sense of humor," . . . which reminds us of the recent escapade of GWEN WINTERS and her cousin, MARY ELIZABETH JOHNSON. The story goes that two naughty little girls stayed out late one night, and when papa and mama began to scold the next day, the radio started playing, "I Didn't Know What Time It Was" . . . at which time the family's sense of humor broke down and saved the day . . . or at least, the night for Mary Elizabeth and Gwen.

From the bulletin board: It's customary to see individual lost articles at intervening times, but have you seen the wholesale list of them this week? Can it be the GSWC girls are getting "Careless?"

Recorded: Voices of Spanish students . . . and they couldn't recognize their own voices. especially TAYLOR and WILLIAMS. And speaking of recordings KATHERINE McDONALD is a new comer in the voice line. She sounded pretty good when she recorded a French song, but she was a little scared, said Katherine.

Palettes up to MAXWELL WILLIAMS in her art work. She not only finishes ahead of everybody else in design class (to the envy of the other laboring students) but she does good work at that: And EMILY McCALL works well at an envious speed also.

Always attractive looking: DORIS LAND. Among the first signs of spring was JAMES RACKLEY and MARY ANNE BARKER holding hands in front of Ashley last Tuesday. Mistaken sign of spring: Emory's PROFESSOR CAMPBELL on the campus, but he was only looking for a faculty member! Shucks!

Seen terribly interested in sandwiches at Walgreens: GLORIA and EARL, or was it each other? Musical feature to be looked forward to: The Glee Club's annual concert. A "listening-in" at club practice convinced us that GSWC is in store for one of the finest programs of the year.

New Couple: HENRIETTA and BOB M. Combines a white turban and a bicycle ride: CHARLOTTE McQUEEN. A girl who really has something: ANNA

Paris decrees that the blouse is the thing this spring. As to the kind of blouse, choose them in accordance with the type of suits you have. There will be frilly blouses, lacy blouses and practical, severe blouses like the one CBS' Joan Allison is wearing in this picture.

The biblike effect and demure Peter Pan collar make this blouse a universal favorite. (From Younger Crowd Fashions, New York).

English Club Hears Gulliver

Highlighting the program of the March meeting of the English Club on Wednesday night at the House-in-the-Woods was Dr. Harold S. Gulliver, head of the English department, who read several poems from his recent book "Out of The Bog," and also from other collected volumes.

Following the program, an open forum was held for discussion of a tentative plan for next year. Numerous projects were brought up and interesting and helpful suggestions were made, although no definite decision was reached.

The meeting was concluded by the social hour.

MAE PRYOR. She sparkles! The "Battle of the Sexes" wages furiously and has the students at wit's end . . . (P. S. Emory Junior has the upper end so far). Hear DONALD SHELL caused a riot . . . "SNOOKIE" GRAHAM makes a witty mistress of ceremonies, we are told. Her replies keep the audience rolling, and is there an audience there to roll! The school marms and 'profs' of both colleges will battle this Sunday . . . and well, come on, chillun, let's see them professors shine! Nice idea, Freshman

American Defense Is Discussed By History Majors

On Tuesday evening, March fifth at 7:30 at the House in the Woods the monthly meeting of the I. R. C. Club was held. Virginia Parrish had charge of the program and American Defenses were discussed.

A brief business session was held during which suggestions were made concerning the use of the money in the club treasury. Also plans for the convention to be held at Chapel Hill starting on March 24 were discussed.

After the program refreshments were served by Mildred Wilson, Lois Green, and Josephine Graham.

Kappas Victorious In Both Final Games

Red Kappa flags were flying high Wednesday afternoon. They were run up after the Kappas were victorious in both of the final match games of the season.

Sue Lewis was the bright and shining star for the Red team. This Kappa wing forward personally saw to all three of the Kappa points, two of the points coming early in the first quarter after the first drive, and the single point coming in the third quarter. That put the game on ice for the Kappas. Running with Lewis on the forward line were Graham, O'Neal, and Norton who played jam-up games. Blackburn at left half made several very good punts.

Two of the American Ball favorites of the year played their last game for Phi Kappa and Phi Lambda. For the Kappas it was little "Greet" Norton. Wilson was the Lambda star who played her last game on Wednesday.

All of the Lambdas played outstanding games, with Landstreet playing her best game of the season. Edwards, who up to this game has been a consistently good player, stole the lime-light.

Lambdas Yield To Kappas In Volleyball

A second Kappa victory was rung-up after the Red team scored four points to two in the extra five minutes that was taken to break the tie. At the end of the regulation game the score stood: Lambdas one game—19-16, Kappas one game—20-11. One game tied 12 all.

"Anybody who missed that game was crazy, it was the game of the season," said Miss Ivey and Miss McRee in the same breath after the Volley ball games were over.

That fall Gladys Smith made chasing the ball was worth it all," Miss Ivey laughed.

Truly it was the game of the season. The Reid-Brim-Zachert-Brim combination was like a solid wall, it worked for most of the Kappa points in the first and last games. Reid and Zachert were invincible in their play, with Young playing brilliantly as did C. Martin. Christine Poss, the bulwark of the Red defense, while Bowden also played well.

In the last game of the series, the Lambdas were behind; Green was serving. With seconds to play, Green personally saw to a tied score. The Purple ribbon goes to this rookie for her splendid work. The scoring triplets for the Lambdas, Campbell, Mundy and Coppage, were in there on their toes the whole game.

Just before the CANOPY went to press, it was announced that the following nominations for Sports Club Officials have been made:

- President — Kather Mundy, and Ruth Reid.
- Secretary—Margaret Dutton and Louise Edwards.
- Treasurer—Rheba Mangum and Leicy Ann Goodloe.

This election will be held from 9:30 till 12:00 on Monday in the Ad Building.

In the race for president, the loser will automatically become vice-president.

Beers Says GSWC Is On Up-Grade

Commenting on the high scholastic standing existing at the Georgia State Woman's College, Dr. F. S. Beers, Examiner for the University System, who visited the Valdosta college March 1 said that the selection of students at GSWC is on the up-grade.

"The fact that good students are being attracted to the Valdosta college is in keeping with the findings of the study made last year in Pennsylvania, which concluded that colleges attract the type students which they deserve," said Dr. Beers.

Honor Society!

Hohum! The winter quarter comes to a close, and incidentally it has brought to a definite close two romances we thought would never end. We need only mention that the gentlemen concerned are very close friends and could that have anything to do with the break-up? We wonder.

And it's no telling what the spring holidays will bring forth! Nor these tests next week either . . . well, this is where we pass . . . OUT!

Hunter College has more students than any other women's college.

Sawyer, Motter Are Guests Of Moultrie Club

Two members of the faculty of the Georgia State Woman's College were presented in a program by the Worthwhile Club, the woman's club of Moultrie, today.

Miss Louise Sawyer, head of the Speech Department gave cuttings from a three act play. Miss Marie Motter, professor of voice, gave a group of songs, including "By a Lonely Forest Pathway," by Griffier, and "Let My Song Fill Your Heart," by Ernest Charles. Musical accompaniments were played by Miss Gladys Warren, head of the Music Department.

These faculty members were entertained at a luncheon given by Mrs. John Hall, president of the Worthwhile Club, and Mrs. Smith Harris.
