

G.S.W.C. Has War Bond Campaign

Miss Annie P. Hopper, G. S. W. C.'s gracious and beloved Dean of Women, presents to Eleanor Cook a Defense Bond which was the first contributed to the War Bond Scholarship Campaign recently inaugurated by students here.

Clubs Donate War Bonds As Campaign Progresses

Helping in a small way to win the war and insure the peace which follows, G. S. W. C. students have begun a War Bond Scholarship Fund. The fund has grown steadily since the inauguration of the movement the latter part of the winter quarter.

Campaign Objectives

The objects of the campaign as outlined by Dr. Frank R. Reade, college president, are: First, to raise money from students, faculty members, and friends of the college everywhere with which to buy war bonds, and second, to establish with the bonds a Loan Fund for students, who after the war, will need financial assistance to enable them to attend college. Contributors to this fund do not anticipate any personal return on their investment other than the knowledge that they are helping.

First Contribution

Miss Annie P. Hopper, dean of women, was the first contributor to the War Bond Scholarship Fund. Various clubs and organizations have presented bonds for the fund.

Various activities, including dances, teas and other functions have netted returns for the fund. The Philharmonic Club sponsored a Silver Tea where private donations resulted in a Bond. The Junior Class presents an original musical show, "Red, White and Blue Review," tonight in the college auditorium. The show is written and directed by Sara Catherine Martin and Harriet Flournoy.

A Student Committee headed by Eleanor Cook is managing the campaign. Mary Wilkie, Anna Key Waters, Mary Jean Rockwell, and Corinne Smith are committee members.

Dr. Harold Punke, professor of education is faculty advisor.

G.S.W.C.'s Extra-Curricular Calendar Glows With Brilliant Activities From September Until June

By JANE ELLEN SMITH

Never a week goes by at G. S. W. C. without an activity that takes in one of the various groups on campus or the whole student body. Classes and school work never become monotonous because they are continually spiked by these extra-curricular affairs.

The Y. W. C. A., which is the starting point of many of the yearly highlights, assures fellowship among the new students and upperclassmen by having them draw lots for their Big Sisters and Little Sisters for the entire year. The older "Big Sisters" make G. S. W. C. home to the freshmen, which is not hard to do. All during the school year, each sister remembers her Big Sister or Little Sister, as it may be, in small ways.

In Ye Olde Manor

A tradition that has been typical of the college for some twenty-two years is the Christmas Festival, in which all of the students take part in some way, acting in a mommer's skit, singing, or dancing in the costumes that were worn in Old England. The banquet hall, where the scene is held is decorated with greens and tapestries, candles; furnished with long tables heaped with food and a dais upon which the Lord and Lady of the Manor, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Reade, sit with their guests for the festivities.

...This edition of the Campus Canopy, GSWC's weekly publication is for high school seniors who have indicated that they are interested in attending the college. This issue is an attempt to interpret the campus life, academic, social and recreational activities.

Co-Eds Will Begin Summer Quarter Mon., June Eighth

In compliance with the War Department's request, the Georgia State Womans College and Emory at Valdosta are planning a full summer quarter June 8 to August 21. Both colleges are urging June high school graduates to enter college this summer rather than wait until September, as college trained men and women are in greater demand now than ever before and the War Department is insisting that college education be completed as soon as possible after one's twentieth birthday.

The summer quarter will be divided into two sessions, the first lasting from June 8 to July 14 and the second from July 15 to August 21. Although long summer vacations will be eliminated to make way for the four-quarter year, there will still be a month

Ga. Glee Club Will Appear on April 15

The University of Georgia Glee Club under the direction of Mr. Hugh Hodgson, will be presented in concert at the G. S. W. C. auditorium on April 15 at 8:00 P. M.

Recently appearing on the U. S. Naval Academy concert series along with other attractions listing artists like Lawrence Tibbett and Albert Spaulding, their appearance aroused this comment: "A beautifully trained group of young singers the Georgia Glee Club has as its director and pianist Hugh Hodgson, famed concert pianist whose fine musicianship was seen in every number Miss Hecker has a rare, lovely voice, beautifully trained, with a rich and warm quality that gives it a sweetness the usual coloratura lacks." Among other points visited in the north were: Washington, D. C., National Park College at Forest Glen, Maryland, Bluefield,

Guests To Attend Annual May Day-Play Day May 2

By M. F. DONALSON

Nearer and nearer draws the merry month of May and more and more eagerly do the girls look forward to that oldest and most beautiful of G. S. W. C. traditions, May Day-Play Day. This is the day that high school seniors visit the campus and everyone relaxes in a day of fun and frolic climaxed by the beautiful May Festival which is presided over by the Queen of the May Day and her Court.

Rising early in the morning the Freshmen class will begin the day's activities by decorating the amphitheatre for the program in the afternoon. After breakfast the guests begin to arrive, to be greeted by white-clad GSWC'ers who show them about the campus and make them feel at home immediately.

Divided Into Teams

Visitors and students are divided into teams and enjoy competitive games and stunts during the early part of the morning, winning points for each activity in which they participate. Later come the athletic demonstrations and G. S. W. C. sportswomen display their skill in riding, golf, archery, and swimming. Ace favorite of the morning, however, is the annual student-faculty game which is thoroughly enjoyed by all. It is certainly pleasant to watch your favorite professors, usually so dignified and stern in the classroom, whooping and racing about a softball field with the careless abandon of grammar school boys! Dr. Reade, College President, usually stars in the game by making at least one home run in which he sends the ball flying among the pines on south campus and ambles leisurely from base to base and thus to "home." (He always gets there safe and sound, too!)

Before Lunch

Just before lunch everyone gathers in the Recreation Hall for songs, speeches, and announcements. Dr. Reade presents the members of the winning team of the morning with ribbons, and this team goes to lunch first, the others following in order. This year the Alumnae Association will be the luncheon guests of the college at the House in the Woods, holding a short business meeting afterwards.

Fine Arts

After lunch a Fine Arts program is presented by members of the Speech, Voice, and Piano departments. Choral readings, piano solos, singers, and the Serenaders will be featured on this program. The guests will also have the opportunity of visiting several defense exhibits arranged by different clubs on campus.

Late in the afternoon comes the long-awaited pageant in honor of the Queen of the May. Then it is that the Queen, Virginia Power, her Maid or Honor, Nancy Cole, and the Court will move in stately procession down to the amphitheatre where the Queen will be crowned and the performers will seek to entertain her with song and dance. This year the court will be composed entirely of seniors; Virginia Power and Nancy Cole were elected to their places by popular vote and have selected to complete the court Marie Ambos, Rachel Crittenden, Betty Franklin, Leecy Goodloe Henry, Mildred Mallory, Minnie Roberts, Mary Jean Rockwell, Julia Bess Smith, Dorothy Wilkes, Maxwell Williams, and Alice Wisenbaker.

"Nutcracker Suite"

The theme music this year is taken from the "Nutcracker Suite" by Tchaikowsky and has been adapted to the program by Miss Marie Motter of the Voice Department and Miss Leonora Ivey, Head of the Physical Education Department. Briefly, the story is of a little girl who eats too many sweets, falls asleep, and dreams that all her toys come to life. Her favorite toy, the Nutcracker, becomes a Prince Charm-

G.S.W.C. Girlies Gather Glitter and Glamour From Gathering

No less than eighteen clubs, associations, societies, and councils contribute to the extra-curricular activities of GSWC girls, including two publications which keep them informed of the campus activities. These organizations include everything from sports to sociology, from music to mathematics, and rarely indeed is the girl to be found who does not belong to at least three of these clubs.

Most of these clubs and organizations are engaged at the present in defense work of different sorts, and several are sponsoring defense courses.

Every student on campus including day students, is a member of the Student Government Association and shares in the responsibilities of the group. The dear old Country Store located in Converse Hall, which affords us those delicious between-meal snacks is a project of the Government Association.

Y.W.C.A.

The Y.W.C.A. has its part in the college life of the student, offering to a student's spiritual life a varied group of religious speakers, vesper programs, and morning watch services. The new chapel which was dedicated on Easter is the latest contribution of the Y.W.C.A. to the campus.

By far the largest club on campus is the Sports Club which offers the outdoor girls an opportunity to demonstrate their athletic abilities, if any. For purposes of competition the club is divided into the Phi Kappa and the Phi Lambda associations, and a vigorous though friendly rivalry exists between them. Awards are offered to the outstanding sports-women each year.

Dramatics

The Sock and Buskin Club offers ambitious young actresses ample opportunities to learn dramatics from both sides of the footlights. Several plays are presented during the year for the public.

The Math-Science Club numbers so many members that for convenience it has been divided into three divisions: Mathematics, Biology, and Chemistry. These divisions carry on their own projects, holding a joint meeting once a month. Majors and minors of any of the three subjects are eligible for membership.

The language clubs add their share to campus life. The English Club is noted for bringing outstanding authors to the campus. This year Vereen Bell, author of "Swamp Water" was presented to the student body. Membership in this club is limited to English majors with two years of high scholastic standing. For those interested in French and who plan to major or minor in the language the French Club offers extra-curricular work.

Honor-Gals

There are two honor societies on campus for these brilliant students who maintain high scholastic averages during their college careers. The Senior Honor Society and the Freshman Honor Society are both valuable in contributing various campus services. The Co-Op Bookstore is one of these projects.

Recently organized, yet rapidly increasing in members is the Sociology Club for majors and minors in this work. To lovers of art, the Fine Arts Club offers membership. Besides a Christmas Bazaar and Rental Arts Collection, the club displays many posters and other means of publicity for college organizations.

Musicians Meet

Music lovers are offered a chance to sing in the Glee Club or to play an instrument in the Philharmonic Club if they so desire. Many interesting programs are given by these two clubs both on campus and elsewhere.

Other clubs are the Valdosta Club which includes all the day students, the Presidents' Council composed of the presidents of all the campus organizations, the International Relations Club which is busily engaged in our defense work as knitting sweaters, afghans, etc. "The Pine Cone," annual of the college, presents a review of the college life during the year. The "Campus Canopy" is the weekly newspaper. After graduation a student becomes a member of the Alumnae Association and still remains in contact with college life.

GSWC Brings First College Annual In State Off Presses

The first college annual to be distributed in Georgia, GSWC's superior Pine Cone has been in the hands of the students for almost two weeks. This year's Pine Cone editor, Alice Wisenbaker, set one of the earliest deadlines an annual staff here has met.

In 1942 Pine Cone, with its distinctive red cover, bearing the G. S. W. C. seal in white, is a nine by twelve engraved book. The book has reviewed in excellent style that campus life, the usual humdrum and ordinary events of a girl's college life as well as the special events of campus wide interest.

Ashley Hall's New Chapel Dedicated On Easter Sunday

Marking the past Easter Season as one of the most impressive ever held at G. S. W. C. was the dedication of the new Chapel in the Upper Rotunda of Ashley Hall.

The program began with the Processional, composed of members of Vesper Choir and Y. W. C. A. Cabinet, Miss Annie P. Hopper, and Dr. Frank R. Reade. The introit sentences were read by Kathryn Scott. The grace was led by Dr. Reade.

Charges Students

The following theme was used by Miss Hopper in charging the students: "A vital Christian Experience is one that becomes richer and deeper as the year go by. Christ's teachings show that Christianity is a vital growing experience and that there is no limit to its developments."

After the Doxology, the vested Vesper Choir sang the Hymn, "Jesus Christ Is Risen Today." The benediction was pronounced by Kathryn Scott, president of the Y.W.C.A. The officials left the Chapel during the Recessional.

Windows Student-Painted

Mr. Clifton White, of the Art Department, originated the plans for the Chapel. The imitation stained glass windows were painted by students of the Art Department. The windows symbolize the religious life of the student as related to the lives of women in the Bible.

On either side of the unadorned cross on the altar are two candles which represent the Divine Nature and Human Nature. The Sock and Buskin Club has contributed an organ to the Chapel.

Dept. Of Speech Attracts Students

Making final examinations fun is a specialty of the G. S. W. C. speech department, for students in the department taking play production directed short plays with their friends in the cast rather than taking a two-hour written final. Practical experience in all phases of the theatre are emphasized in courses offered in this department.

Class instruction is offered to freshmen and sophomores in oral-interpretation, voice production, direction, and phonetics. Juniors and seniors may receive individual instruction in speech, and minors give a recital during their senior year. Other courses include play production, play directing and acting, and the theatre. As a part of the Freshman English course, students take public speaking twice each week under a speech instructor.

Miss Louise Sawyer, professor of speech, and Miss Anna Richter, instructor in that department, are faculty advisors for the Sock and Buskin Club. Membership for the dramatic club is determined by fall try-outs, and students need not take courses in speech department to become a member of Sock and Buskin. During the year the club produced two three-act plays, "Ladies in Retirement" and "Yorkshire Pudding", and several shorter ones.

Last summer two senior speech majors, Rachel Crittenden, who is president of the Sock and Buskin Club, and Dorothy Wilkes, who was head of the club last year, played summer stock at Cape Cod, Massachusetts.

Soci-Club Elects Williams As Pres.

Jane Williams, Moultrie, was elected president of the Sociology Club in the recent election. Dorothy Sawyer, Arlington, was chosen to be vice-president of the group and Anita Hunt, Valdosta, will be secretary treasurer. Frances Street, Savannah, is the retiring president.

"THIS IS STATION——"

Julia Frances McCorkle, Elizabeth Jones, Mary Carol Allen and Betty Jane Dorough are pictured during an actual broadcast over the campus station W.C.V.G.

Many Defense Courses Are Now Being Offered To All Students

By ODELIA KING

The Georgia State Womens College is taking an active part in the preparedness program. Defense courses that are now being offered are First Aid, Swimming, Mechanical Drawing, Radio, Mathematics, Chemistry, Nutrition, and Physics. Other courses that are to be offered later are automobile driving, rifle shooting, and incendiary bomb instruction.

The course in First Aid is a continuation of the Beginner's Course which was offered in February and March. This course is a preparation for the Instructor's Course. After having had the Instructor's Course, the student is prepared to instruct others in what to do when First Aid is needed.

SWIMMING ADDED

Swimming is also essential in the defense program. It is important in being prepared. The course in swimming gives the student opportunity to acquire rudimentary knowledge of swimming.

Since men all over the United States are being drafted, industries vital to the country are being opened to women. Such a position that is now open to women is that of draftsman. To prepare young women for this position, the art department of the college is offering a course in Mechanical Drawing. This course does prepare the student to fill the position of draftsman. At a later date, the class in Mechanical Drawing may include map drawing.

RADIO COURSE

Radio offers an interesting field for the enterprising young woman. The radio course now in progress at the college offers an apprenticeship in radio management. It includes operation of the station and announcements of programs presented over the station.

Another important field is that of Mathematics. This course in mathematics deals with the Consumer's problems and now very essential in the defense program.

TO FILL VACANCIES

Last but not least are the Chemistry and Physics courses offered by the college. These courses prepare the young to fill the positions vacated by men who are now helping defend our country.

Recently Dr. Frank R. Reade, president of the college, informed the student body that other courses of practical value would be offered. Such courses are instruction in rifle and pistol shooting which is to be conducted by local policemen and instruction in what to do if incendiary bombs are dropped near by!

Talented Artists Obtain Knowledge

Budding artists, who someday will probably be our Rubens, Michelangelo, Wood and a Salvador Dali, get the most expert and complete training in G. S. W. C.'s art courses. Students are not rushed through with a sketchy knowledge of the fundamentals of art, but are carefully filled with each phase of the art curriculum where they are prepared for them.

Freshman aspirants, under gracious, lovable, Miss Carpenter, learn to letter in many types, from modern to Gothic styles. They drink in the secrets of perspective and the mechanics of art. During the last phase of the preliminary courses, the students satisfy their urge to dabble with water colors, learning freedom, and at the same time, control in their use of the paints.

Modern and Ancient

Originality in composition and design, the up and coming artists find out, must be stimulated by a knowledge of ancient art as well as modern art. Therefore, they are given courses on Egyptian, Greek, Roman, Byzantine, and many other periods in revolutionary design. The motifs and symbols learned in these courses appear in form in their original compositions.

Future Secretaries Take Courses Here

Combining practical business training with the more cultural aspects of college life, many G. S. W. C. students elect to take the very good secretarial courses that are offered here.

A two quarter study of the principles of Gregg Shorthand, with corresponding work in speed studies is offered. The mechanism and technique of operating a typewriter are given, with all steps from the simplest form to the most advanced forms of letter writing and legal forms.

A one quarter course in the principles of Accounting with an introduction to the fundamental principles and practices of accounting is offered.

Students who finish these courses are able to take shorthand at eighty words a minute, and forty-five words a minute on the typewriter.

Music Club Names Barnes President

Betty Barnes, Valdosta, was recently elected to head the Philharmonic Club and Frances Loosier, Thomaston, was chosen secretary-treasurer. Miss Barnes will succeed Eleanor Cook, Savannah, as president.

FOURTH ESTATERS

Hard at work on the Special Edition for high school Seniors, the Campus Canopy staff is shown on a typical publication night in their office in the House-in-the-Woods.

Greetings—

to prospective G S W C. students from the Canopy staff, the administration and faculty members and every student on campus from the greenest of our freshmen to the most sophisticated of our seniors. We all extend an early welcome to you who might come to our school. With pardonable pride, we have tried in this special issue to show you how we live, how we spend our loafing hours, how we play and work and how we love it at G. S. W. C.

G. S. W. C. And The War

Inheritors of the past, fashioners of tomorrow, students in America's scores of colleges and universities have a tremendous role to play in the present war. In total war, the entire academic community, faculty members, administrators, regents, students, all have parts they must play. G. S. W. C., with her enrollment solely of women, has attempted to find her place.

Her place is to educate her women students in defense courses that will prove invaluable in times of real crisis. Offered on our campus is a radio management course, a first aid course, a home nursing course, courses in incendiary bombs, and recent plans have been made to teach every G. S. W. C. girl how to drive a car, how to swim, and riflery. The administration here realizes that inexperience and ignorance some day may mean the difference between an American life or death.

Defense Bond Scholarship

Realizing that the more War Bonds bought by Americans will help toward winning the war, G. S. W. C. students have recently inaugurated a campaign for a defense bond scholarship. The objects of the campaign are: first, to raise money from students, faculty members and friends of the college everywhere with which to buy war bonds, and second, to establish with the bonds a loan fund for students, who after the war, will need financial assistance to enable them to attend college. Much progress has been made in the campaign. In one week only, four bonds were contributed.

Although the college is foremost in war preparations, the cultural courses and atmosphere, for which the college is noted, have not been neglected. The usual curriculum of a Liberal Arts College is offered.

Kampus KALEIDOSCOPE

DID YOU SEE the campus belles in the Easter parade Sunday? Looking good was JANE ELLEN SMITH in a bit of a red hat designed and created by herself. . . . ANNE JORDAN going patriotic in red, white and navy blue. . . . DORIS HIERS naving off her brunette coloring in a gorgeous aqua jersey. Very much in evidence at the Parade were scores of cadets whose good-looking uniforms lent a Victory note to the day.

SPOTTING THE CAMPUS—but frequently—are the cadets from the nearby air base, Moody Field, joining the Emory Junior beaus and the 'Dosta perennials.

NEWLY ELECTED PRESIDENT—of the Sociology Club, JANE WILLIAMS, still receives that mail from that male at Auburn pretty often.

NOT-TO-B-MISSED — the Red, White and Blue Revue tomorrow night, sponsored by the Junior Class—it's full of dances, songs and music—all for the Scholarship Bond.

RATING BIDS—to the opening of the Moody Field Officers' Club tonight are JEAN SAUNDERS, GWEN JOHNSON, JULIA FRANCES McCORKLE—"They Say" that the club is tops in swank.

JUNIOR CLASS President, SHORTY SIRMANS and roommate president-elect of the Student Government Association, S. C. MARTIN, were the joyful recipients of Easter bunnies and candy from Billy Sunday.

MAY QUEEN — VIRGINIA POWER returned Tuesday from a week-end visit to Buster at Fort Jackson.

PICTURED BELOW—are some of those gals-about-town, the Freshmen and EMORY JUNIOR COLLEGE boys in the campus haven — The House-in-the-Woods. They are hearing records from the Carnegie set.

MAKING THE NEWS—and in pictures—the Vesper Choir at Chapel Dedication Sunday; and bathing beauties at the outdoor swimming pool — CATHERINE GARBUTT, BETTY KAY, JEANNE WHITTENDALE, BETTY MAJETTE and DOROTHY WIGHTMAN.

A NEW PLACE — for gal's jookin' is the brand-new Cadet Club in the Daniel Ashley Hotel. Among those present at the Saturday night opening were: JEAN THOMPSON, MARY BUNDRICK, MARIAM BOWEN and BETTY BARNES.

Sketching . . . . .

A Typical G.S.W.C. Freshman
By JACQUIE SMITH

(Ed. note: Instead of sketching two seniors as is the custom of the column, we are sketching one who is perhaps the most important person in the student body—A Typical G.S.W.C. freshman).

Next year's Freshman, like next year's sweater and skirt, probably won't be very different from last year's inhabitant of Converse Hall. We hope she isn't very different because we love the class of '45. But when she enters June 8, giving up her summer on the advice of the War Department and finding college life the most exciting vacation yet, she will put the upperclassmen in the shade with the good-looking clothes she wore for commencement parties at home.

She may miss the lazy hometown summer afternoon where she dragged the main with her chums and chatted endlessly over cokes. But now she feels unpatriotic burning up gas and rubber on Main Street and she can't buy cokes anyway, so she welcomes the gorgeous campus swimming pool and the new friends that inject new ideas into a gab feast.

If you ask her who she likes best around here, her answer will probably be the postman . . . If you want to know her favorite pastime, its dancing in the Rec . . . And the favorite night is probably Saturday unless she lives close enough to warrant the O. A. O. coming down for Sundays.

She invariably runs down to the Country Store for a 10:30 snack after quiet hour . . . And she's won her way deeply enough into the hearts of the gang by the end of her first month at G. S. W. C. to know the ups and downs in each girls love life.

She's surely kin to a genius, 'cause her brainstorm produced a honey of a bedroom, dining room, and living room within four none-too-big walls . . . Miss Typical Freshman has a refreshing wit that starts for her many an enduring friendship with upperclassmen.

She even surprises herself that last week before her second allowance comes due by the queenly way she can get along on absolutely no mon. She marvels at, and thinks the Senior Honor Society for, that marvelous moneysaver, the Co-op Book Store.

Miss Typical Freshman is extremely loyal . . . to big things like the U. S. A., the U. S. O., her family, and her church . . . to little things like the bracelet he asked her to wear, a feather pillow she's always slept on . . . and to a new thing that has become her very life, G. S. W. C.

She's a friendly, well-groomed, all-American girl, and makes us very, very glad that she decided to acquire her higher education, "Neath the stately pines of Georgia".

So What?

BY S. C. MARTIN

Hi gals! It's nice to be back. A lot has happened since we wrote our last column, chief among which was our trip to the Student Government Convention in Lynchburg, Va. We picked up a lot of useful tips on the trip and we can hardly wait to put them into practice.

The Convention this year was different, for instead of its usual peaceful topics, its theme dealt with war and the college students part in National Defense. Yet we've never seen such complete harmony and enthusiasm as was exhibited there for over 100 girls representing the Southern College Students of America were unhesitatingly offering to do all they could to help correct the supreme mistake of the generation before us. They were not exhibiting systems of resentment for being brought up in a war torn world, but were offering to give their all; for through their S. G. A. they had learned to live together, cooperate and to forgive, all of which adds up to the one word: the secret of peace-tolerance. That is what S.G.A. means

Self-Government

We are learning today what we will practice tomorrow—self-government. So let's select the Golden Rule as our motto and establish a world Government founded on peace and security.

Bits O' Nuthin'

By M. F. DONALSON

As we sat lazily dozing in the shade one sunny day this week we were musing over the various musicians, lecturers, and people of fame and renown who have graced our campus during the past two years. No doubt others, equally as famous, have been starred on the Artist Series programs before our time, but we didn't have the pleasure of seeing them. Flipping over the pages of our treasured annuals, we revisited some of the ace attractions of last year and the not-so-remote pleasures of last quarter. In the course of our brief college career we've seen most everybody from Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt to the Great Virgil and his feats of magic.

Eleanor Roosevelt

One of the most exciting times of our young life was last March when Mrs. Roosevelt dedicated the library. We'll never forget the breathless waiting for the decidedly-late honor guest, the thrill of dining in the same room with her, and the enormous crowd that gathered to hear her, Dr. Reade, Chancellor Sanford, and other college officials solemnly dedicate the new library.

Other memories include the dramatic monologues of Cornelia Otis Skinner, the Winslow-Fitz-Simons dance team, James Melton's clear tenor, the ballads sung by Earle Spicer, and the British lecturer, Donald Grant. Then, too, there was the hauntingly beautiful poetry of Daniel Whitehead Hickey as read by the poet himself. The English Club was responsible for this treat and this year they brought us Vereen Bell, author of "Swamp Water." We also had Egon Petri, the world-famous pianist, Lamar Dodd, who painted several pictures on campus, and others who spoke on religious education.

Streamlined Shakespeare

This year hasn't been at all bad, with the Graff Ballet, the Chekov players, and the Duo-pianists. It was really worth-while to see Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" as played by the Chekov players; plays of this sort really add to one's education.

Will you ever forget the ridiculous antics of Malvolio and dear old Sir Toby Belch? Then the Graff Ballet presented a riot of color and beauty as expressed by soft music and skilled dancers. Everyone seemed to enjoy the Fray-Braggiotti Duo-piano team, too.

Great Virgil

On the lighter side we enjoyed the evening of entertainment presented by the Great Virgil. Some of these feats of magic are still puzzling us; wish we could figure 'em out!

It's just the little things like this that add to the charm of old GSWC and make it the "Liberal Arts College of the University System" of the attractions.

One day of the year, the entire campus goes haywire when the Sports Clubs has its initiation. Comically garbed new members trot over the campus, doing errands, and bowing and scraping to the faculty members and venerable members of the Sports Club. This event is climaxed by a party for the whole club.

We Play in May

Just when Brookwood Park, adjoining the college campus is the most beautiful, May Day is held in its amphitheatre. The always beautiful May Queen and her equally lovely court preside over the programs for the afternoon. "The Sleeping Beauty," "May the Maiden," and "The Nutcracker Suite" have been productions in the past three years.

During the Mornings

The visiting high school seniors, the faculty and all the members of the student body participate in games and matches. Swimming Exhibitions and Horse Shoes, and the Student-Faculty baseball game are highlights of the eventful day.

Each girl at GSWC finds out that her college life is made richer and more well-rounded by these innumerable outside activities. She comes away a girl that is broad-minded and intelligent, with an intelligence that is as important as that which is gained from a textbook!

SOFTBALL AND SWIMMING ARE THE PREFERRED SPORTS— during these hot days Freshmen, Sophs, Juniors, and Seniors are donning their sports clothes and hurrying out to play softball. Practices will be held on Monday and Wednesday evenings from 7:00 until 7:45 and on Thursday afternoons from 4:15 until 5:00. (This will be a boon for those players who hated to get up for early morning practice last season.)

Wearing the regulation gym suits, Libba Paschal and Jean Slade indulge in a game of tennis on one of GSWC's six excellent tennis courts.

The swimming pool is open every afternoon with a life guard on duty so that students may take the dip that refreshes after a hot day of classes. Sun bathers also find the pool a popular place to gather, gossip, and acquire a lovely golden brown complexion.

ARCHERY IS ALSO POPULAR— and coaches are available for beginners who wish to learn this ancient of sports. The coaches will hold archery practices on Monday and Wednesday afternoons at 4:15. Remember that only qualified archers are allowed to take the equipment out alone, but it doesn't take long to fulfill the qualifying requirements! Who knows, you may want to demolish a Jap or a Nazi one day and a bow and arrow might come in handy as a lethal weapon!

THE TENNIS TOURNAMENT IS COMING OFF— at last the pairings have been posted on the Sports Club bulletin board. Louise Edwards, President of the Sports Club, wishes to inform players that if their preliminary matches are not played off by Friday, April 20th, they must be forfeited. So, don't forget this, girls, and let's finish up the tournament on schedule. Who's the 1942 tennis champion of G. S. W. C.?

GSWC IS THE HAVEN OF SPORTS LOVERS— We really have everything in our favor including weather, equipment, and coaches! The only sports not offered either by the Physical Education Department or the Sports Club are skiing, ice skating, and bobsledding. This ideal South Georgia climate just won't permit those! Let's look the situation over and see just what GSWC offers ambitious young sportswomen for their leisure.

The Physical Education Department offers instruction and credit in tennis, golf, riding, swimming, archery, folk and tap dancing. Recreational leadership courses are also offered for those who wish to gain experience in community recreational leadership, defense work, and school entertainment. The Sports Club sponsors certain sports during each quarter; coaches teach the fundamentals of each game to those desiring to play and practice are held several times a week. During the latter part of each quarter match games are sponsored between the Phi Kappas and the Phi Lambdas, the winning team adding several points to their score for the honor plaque which is given to the team winning the most points in competitive events during the year.

In the fall quarter basketball and fistball are offered, in the winter, American Ball and volley ball appear, and in the springtime everyone goes wild over swimming and softball. Archery, tennis, riding, and golf are perennial favorites belonging to no one season. Besides these major sports are dozens of lesser ones such as badminton, table tennis, shuffleboard, clock golf, croquet, etc.

Don't you agree with us that our sunny—pine-scented athletic fields and courts are tops for outdoor sports?—M. F. D.

ing and conducts her on a tour through fairyland where they see the elves and spirits dancing, the wood nymphs playing their reed flutes, and finally the gorgeously-costumed waltz of the flowers.

The music is provided by the Glee Club under the direction of Miss Motter and the rest of the program is performed by dancers from all the various dance groups in the Physical Education Department. These dances are arranged by Miss Leonora Ivey and Miss Elizabeth McRee of the Physical Education Department.

Experience Given Welfare Majors In Real Life Cases

With ambitions to be among the tam-wearing horde of social workers, girls may come to G. S. W. C. for excellent courses and actual experience in case work and other field work. Dr. J. A. Durrenberger, whose name is synonymous with sociology, heads the department of social sciences in association with Miss Mary E. Longley.

Through cooperation with the Lowndes County Department of Public Welfare, G. S. W. C. students are assigned actual cases and do the regular work of a public welfare worker. In such close conjunction with the work and office routine, G. S. W. C. graduates are well-versed in the field and are able to enter immediately upon social work.
