

Campus Visitors See May Queen Crowned on Green

One of the most colorful events of the school year at Georgia State Womans College was the May-Day festival on Saturday, April 27. The Queen of the May, Miss Mary Polhill, of Sylvester, was honored in a manner complimentary to the loveliness and stateliness of her highness. The Queen was dressed in a white crepe gown with organdy ruffles. The train was white underlined with green. The festivities began with the prologue,—a certain group of maidens: Louise Ambros, Savannah; Mary Askew, Arlington; Amanda Barksdale, Blakely; Nellie Mae Gannon, Valdosta; Merle Gibson, Columbus; Ruth Jones, Thomasville; Joyce Tipton, Sylvester; Ames Watkins, Metcalf; and youths of Robin Hood's Band: Rachel Coxwell, Leesburg; Janet Cook, Boston; Frances Carson, Talbotton; Mary Lois Hitch, Valdosta; Joy Miller, Albany; Jeselyn Moseley, Valdosta; Mary Agnes Roane, Savannah; Vangie Trimble, Moultrie,—arrived early on the Green on May Morning. They frolicked with their garlands playing horse, skip rope, London bridge, Blindman's buff, and may-pole. Next came the King, Miss Eleanor Bailey, of Douglas, his court, and the people, all doing honor to the Queen of the May. They were preceded by the heralds, Helen Dale Parrish, of Thomasville, and Kitsie Smith, of Waycross. The court consisted of Miss Margaret Zippies, maid of honor, dressed in pink crepe with organdy ruffles; the ladies of the court,—Helen Moody Carter, Valdosta; Alexa Daley, Dublin; Billie Ham, Valdosta; Broun Hutchinson, Valdosta; Martha Jennings, Valdosta; Marie Joiner, Albany; Clare Lawson, Savannah; Una Ritch, Jesup; Patsy Sparks, Fitzgerald; Virginia Tuck, Thomasville,—quaintly clad in charming green and yellow gowns; the lords of the court,—Clara Davis Adams, Moultrie; Cleo Barber, Bainbridge; Margaret Bennett, Jesup; Chappie Bragg, Savannah; Margaret Carter, Ray City; Ruby Harrison, Fitzgerald; Virginia Ingram, Bainbridge; Lorene Johnson, Thomasville; Virginia Kirkland, Metter; and Esther Smith, Sycamore,—wearing green, yellow, and white suits; the train bearers,—Morris Smith and Tom Smith, of Valdosta; and the crown-bearer, Frances Paine, of Valdosta.

The festivities in honor of the Queen began with the Circle dance and the Pickadilla which was done by a group of peasants who later did the winding of the May-pole. The dancers were: Annie Laurie White, Waycross; Bernice Andrews, Thomasville; Ivelyn Folsom, Habira; Helen Landey, Valdosta; (Continued on Page Six)

Committee Reports On Student Fees

APPORTIONMENT COMMITTEE SHOWS WAYS IN WHICH MONEY IS SPENT

The committee on the apportionment of the Student Activities fees has drawn up a report to present to the students as to how the fund is spent. In making its report, the apportionment committee, composed of Miss Hopper, Miss Gilmer, Dr. Phelan, and Mr. Dusenbury, recommended that no assessments be made by any one group or sub-division thereof against any other group or sub-division thereof; also, that should the total of collections be reduced or increased during any quarter the allotment should be reduced or increased on the above basis proportionately.

Group I: Pine Cone—$2000.00. Group II: Pine Branch, $260; Campus Canopy, $175; Artist Series, $500. Group III: Student Government Association, $150; Y. W. C. A., $200; Senior Class, $50; Junior Class, $65; Sophomore Class, $135; Freshman Class, $130; Valdosta Club, $30. Group IV: English Club, $25; French Club, $25; Fine Arts Club, $25; International Relations Club, $25; Math-Science Club, $25; Philharmonic Club, $25; Sock and Buskin Club, $25; Phi Kappas, $75; Phi Lambdas, $75. The total amount comprises the income from the assessments on the students at the beginning of each quarter of $4020.00.

It has been suggested that treasurers of the clubs and activities make like reports on the income for their activity in order that the students might have an accurate account of the way in which this money is spent.

It has also been suggested that the committee for next year be comprised of three faculty members and three students.

S. G. A. Changes Court Order

The court of the Student Government Association has inaugurated several changes in the effort to impress upon students the seriousness of a summons to court.

The court room is lit by candles, which cast a wierd light over the somber black robes and caps worn by the court members. The object of these innovations is to make the court more impressive and more dignified, and to assure proper respect and conduct on the part of students summoned before them.

Miss Henry Kate Gardner, of Camilla, president of the S. G. A., says: "The court is endeavoring to bring

Henry Kate Gardner Gives Senior Recital

Miss Henry Kate Gardner, of Camilla, president of the Student Government Association, was presented in her senior graduation recital at the Womans Building on Friday evening.

Miss Gardner read all of the parts in "Death Takes a Holiday," by Walter Ferris. The story of the play is a strange one, and a difficult one, but Miss Gardner's interpretation of the roles was excellent in artistic appreciation. Death takes the form of a mortal and for a period of three days lives and loves and suffers as a mortal. When he departs to his own realms he takes with him the beautiful girl with whom he has fallen in love, and who does not fear him, even in his own aspects.

The recital Friday evening presented but one of the many of Miss Gardner's talents. She was voted the most versatile in the "Who's Who" election in the fall. She has played the leading role in a number of the productions of the Sock and Buskin Club presentations, and she also was one of the outstanding dancers in the May Day festival on Saturday afternoon.

The recital given by Miss Gardner was the second of the senior graduation recitals for the year.

Courses Planned For Leisure Time

No longer will the Columbus System (discover and land on it), or the Bible System ("seek and ye shall find") be used by the campus typists. A course in typing is now being offered on campus.

The course will be taught by Miss Ruth Whittle, of Brunswick, who has had quite a bit of experience in typing.

A small fee is being charged for the rental of the typewriters. Twenty-four girls have been selected out of a larger list of applicants as being best suited to take the course.

The class met for the first time on last Thursday afternoon, at which time the class was divided into sections, and a schedule arranged for the students.

This course has proved very popular with the students, and a similar course will be offered next year. The class is part of the leisure time program for the college students, and will be supervised by F. E. R. A. students.

about a closer understanding between the students and officials, and to develop an individual sense of honor and responsibility."

Librarians Finish Subject Heading For Card Catalog

Many people still believe that one must have a strain-proof temper in order to use the card catalog successfully. Of course there are no such persons on our campus.

In recent years, the G. S. W. C. card index has been consulted more often and by more students than ever before. Perhaps one reason for this is that Freshmen are required to take a short course on the use of the Library and another, that an ever-increasing number of subject headings have been added to the catalog. The project of making subject cards for the 15,000 volumes was begun during the fall of 1931 and was completed last week. Where there was a need for subject headings, they were made; however, in some instances no headings were required, particularly in the case of most fiction. On the other hand, many books called for a half dozen or more headings.

The cards in the G. S. W. C. card index are filed alphabetically just like the entries in a dictionary. This, certainly, is the acme of simplicity. For those attempting to use the card catalog, these three questions will be answered (1) Has the Library a book by a given author? (2) Has the Library a book by a given title? (3) What materials has the Library on a given subject? The looking up of an author's name in a card index involves no new principles to the person who has used a telephone directory. The indexing of facts by subject headings is familiar to all who make use of the classified section of the newspaper.

In our modern age with the vast broadening of the fields of knowledge, no student can hope to know all the facts of any art or science. But the ability to find the facts easily and efficiently should be part of every student's equipment. For this, use of the card catalog is fundamental. Remember, too, that the Librarians are very happy to help any who need assistance in finding material. The greatest usefulness to the largest number is the ideal to which the Library holds.

GLEE CLUB ELECTIONS

In a recent campus election Miss Joy Miller, of Albany, was elected president of the Glee Club. Miss Miller is an outstanding soprano in the club. She did several solo numbers in the recent concert by the Glee Club. She was also president of the Philharmonic Club last year.

Miss Alexa Daley, of Dublin, was elected vice-president, and Miss Mary Lois Hitch, of Valdosta, was elected secretary and treasurer.

THE LONG VIEW

Kathryne Connell

The life which does not at some time bring to the person living it something of a long view, has no particle of greatness, less of mental peace and benignity, and a total lack of perception of men and events.

Journalists and authors of political doctrine use the phrase "long view" with considerable bad judgment. To speak of something so frequently as they do a "long view" and never define it, is somewhat preposterous. One suspects those worthy demagogues of not knowing themselves. One entertains for them the same kind of holy contempt which so often prompted Socrates to shout rudely at the perfumed philosophers of Athens, "Define your terms."

It is even more of an injustice to the people, even after a possible definition of a "long view," not to advise some method in which such an end may be attained.

Now for the definition as I understand, and the solution as I see it. A "long view" is a perception of a movement. It is the attitude which prevents war hysteria, race riots, panic, runs on banks, and intolerance and mob action of all kinds. It is the attitude which allows a man to escape the subtle snares of advertising. It is the attitude which in the heat of life, sees the end and attendant circumstances, and avails the possessor of that attitude of something like a middle path. It sees the ideas behind the men expressing them. It exposes false prophets, despises sensationalists, and avoids hypocrites. It will be found in the society of free scholars and rarely elsewhere.

I believe that such an attitude may grow out of a college education. The beginning of a "long view" comes the moment one enters the world of men, and realizes one's relative unimportance. But here's the charm: One's tastes are more or less formed in college. One learns by experimentation what of literature, what of history, what of science, what of mathematics (abused, but the foundation of life), what of politics is his particular province.

The afternoon of one's life is a long period of study in an unlimited library. The uneducated man will not read what he finds truly. He will believe too much of it on its face value; and he will distrust too much of it, because it isn't apparent.

Bland scholarship arms a man against fanaticism. He knows the method of study. Let him apply it to life, and he will have the "long view."

Germany throws a bombshell again. Berlin admits move to arm with U-boats. "British-French-Italian protest now looms over treaty breaks" read headlines. They have a lot of fun over there—protesting. It does so much good. Submarines constitute a part of the Reich's rearmament program. They caused a lot of trouble last time. To us war seems inevitable—unless Huey Long assails federal debt at farm rally at Des Moines. Claims $2,100 mortgage saddled on every baby born. There may be some truth in that statement of Louisiana's Kingfish. Ten thousand farmers heard him make the statement, and that certainly means something.

Cities throughout the nation turn to Daylight Saving Time, and clocks are set up until the last Sunday in September.

The Senate refuses to sidetrack Senator Costigan's (Democrat, Colorado) anti-lynching bill. Southerners filibuster to no avail.

Diplomats in Rome prepare for the Danubian Conference to be held in June. Mussolini hopes for an imposing array of premiers and foreign ministers to gather around his council table at which three important issues will be discussed. (1) Austrian independence. (2) A series of non-aggression and mutual assistance pacts among the Balkan states. (3) A decision concerning requests by Austria, Hungary and Bulgaria for revision of treaties restricting their armed preparedness.

Up in Augusta mill employes object to the process tax. They suggest shifting the burden to the people generally. They have so few taxes already.

CINEMA CYNIC

Idols! This old world must have them and since we are forbidden those of stone we turn to movie idols. Right now Nelson Eddy is in full sway and rule. The week has been buzzing with remarks that sometimes slightly shock even us, do we LOVE him—for the time being! Of course you read the nice writeup about him in the Constitution. He and McDonald were good though in Naughty Marietta weren't they?

I am beginning to doubt that the manager of the Ritz has any sort of heart at all. There was not a single picture that one of us could afford to miss last week and now this week piles up the same way. That is not so good considering that we are having mid-terms for these two weeks. Not one day have we been able to rest—and study with a clear conscience since Naughty Marietta. Even the Gay Divorcee came to the Palace and everyone who missed it before trudged down there. You know Fred Astaire was the idol a few weeks ago, before the handsome blonde singer displaced him. Fickle people!

Of course with only $25 being given away tonight there is not quite the excitement that there has been recently with the bank night money up in the hundreds—but still $25 is $25. Ralph Bellamy and Ann Sothorn are playing tonight in Eight Bells. It's not a bad picture, even if it is bank night and there is little need of a drawing card.

Tomorrow and Friday the music lovers get another entertainment. Bing Crosby and Joan Bennett arrive in Mississippi. Everyone knows what that is all about so no need for me to enumerate. Bing does a lot of high powered singing. Mr. Crosby was topped only by Will Rogers, Clark Gable and Wallace Berry in a recently compiled list of the Ten Biggest Male Stars of 1934-35. I almost forgot—and personally wish I really could—that W. C. Fields is also in the Mississippi. But of course there are thousands who like him and after all no one cares for my personal opinion so I should keep it to myself.

Saturday we have a mystery as usual, this week it is the Florentine Dagger. I don't think that it is as outstanding as the Warren William picture last Saturday for Mr. William's fast climbing the ladder—remember his Caesar of Cleopatra—by Jove we almost left the Dagger but we had said practically all there was to say about it anyhow.

Monday and Tuesday we have another picture for which we have been waiting a long time. Reckless with William Powell and Jean Harlow. Powell is another of my pet aversions but I know of several G. S. W. Cites who will be on me tooth, eye and toe nail for admitting it. The picture and the lady are enough to make up for what he lacks though to even those who dislike him so—it is a reckless world full of reckless girls who must spend their money on Reckless things.

That's the week—now think about it and do what you think is wise, this is not paid advertisement and we do it all for your good, we would not advise you to spend all your money for worlds, nor do anything not absolutely in your favor—so we recommend shows this week!

DR. READE'S MESSAGE

I think it is no great secret that few Alumnae Associations really function. The reasons are obvious. Graduation breaks all ties save the very closest. New interests replace old loyalties. And too often colleges regard their alumnae as groups to be exploited,—and for such exploitation offer but little in return.

It is my hope that our alumnae will be different from most alumnae, and that our college will be different from most colleges. In publishing this issue of the Campus Canopy our alumnae are evincing a spirit which the college deeply appreciates. This spirit of friendship, of loyalty, and of interest can, and I believe will, grow into our most cherished possession.

Our alumnae are privileged in that it lies within their power to persuade other young women to complete their college education with us. The college is privileged in being able to offer a sound and worth while education at moderate cost. Working together, the Alumnae and the College can be of such service to this section of our state as can be dreamed of but can not be set down in words.

FRANK R. READE.

Membership in the association included the class of 1914 with three members, class of 1915 with 6 members. The peasants were followed by the Morris-men. To the jingle of the bells on their trousers they did their dance of the sticks. SPORTS

The Lambdas were the winners of the Kappa-Lambda baseball game on Tuesday. They won but by a so slight margin that it was not until the last inning that the outcome was settled. With a final score of 11-10 and both teams claiming to be "off" we wonder what the next game will be like.

The Kappas and the Lambdas held their elections for club officers and the following girls were elected: Kappas, president, Louise Odom Howell; vice-president, Josephine Daniel; secretary and treasurer, Permelia Olliff; Lambdas, president, Una Ritch; vice-president, Margaret Hudson; secretary and treasurer, Ruby Harrison.

Saturday was May Day-Play Day and the Athletic Department appeared at its best. Throughout the morning the visitors and the old girls played campus games and then an archery demonstration was given. The girls shot from the 30 yard line and then did some fancy shooting from angles. The girls taking part in the exhibition were Estelle Roberts, Clare Lawson, and Lois Hafford of the Lambdas, and Lorene Johnson, Antoinette Andrews and Dorothy Ogletree of the Kappas.

KAMPUS
KALEIDOSCOPE

May Day and sidelights: High school seniors running about the campus in shorts and shorter—And college girls in the spirit of the thing—Screams, and shouts and merry-making galore—Arrival, registering, changing to play suit and the fun begins! . . . Watching the archery exhibition, and some swell shooting by Estelle Roberts, holder of the record from some line (We don't know which) and Lorene Johnson—Also Dot Ogletree and Lois Hafford—We couldn't see the rest, too many heads in the way—The faculty in white linen suits and cool dresses looking like they enjoy it too—The lucky green team, the winners,—Picnic lunch in the woods, loads of fun—Orange juice and ice cream—Then the program at the Womans Building, and some rest for the weary (Oh Yeah?)—The May Day!—The Queen looking particularly lovely in white, and the best looking crown we have seen on a May Queen yet—and Margaret Zipples looking good enough to eat—Pink is your color, all right—Bailey presiding very nicely—Henry Kate looked, oh angelic—We know a certain young man up on the Converse porch who thought so too—Could a May Day pass without Willie?—It wouldn't be right—Carroll Peeples can certainly dance—We like that Gypsy dance—It must be the roving blood in me—(Oh, you've heard that one too)—And the bear almost stole the show—Another May Day has passed! It must be great to possess as many talents as a certain young man that we know possesses—To be able to sing, play the piano, and win a Phi Beta Kappa key seems enough, but to have your heart set on an equally talented young girl is too much!

of Quitman, but a big bear, Mayme Register, of Adel, came along and frightened the dancer away. The shepherdess saved the soldier's life and thus won his love so completely that he spurned the dancer.
