Dear Mr. Annesley

Away from my books, & with always an imperfect memory for what I have myself written - albeit I carry other poets about in my head — I am afraid I cannot at short notice hit upon a verse wholly appropriate. There is a brief poem about white doves in my "Pearls of the Faith" - & and another - the legend of the Ruby - in my "Lotus & Jewel" (Collected poems) But whichever you select is sure to be best chosen

Yr always sincere
Edwin Arnold

I cannot at all
 but upon a
 very important
 kind from what white house is the "Punk" -

the copy of the book - is very good (I think of your book) whether you want to
 to be that clear

for chief account
 when possible
