

Phone-a-thon to raise money for scholarships

By Charla Thornhill

The department of College Development is presently sponsoring a phone-a-thon to raise money for the school and for scholarships. It began on April 5 and will continue until May 6.

Four nights a week, Monday through Thursday, a team of four callers meets at 5:30 p.m. in Powell Hall. Participating organizations on campus have members volunteer for teams of callers. They are served dinner, provided by a local restaurant, from 5:30 until 6:00. Then Rick Robbins, director of College Development, trains the callers in the proper techniques and procedures from 6:00 until 6:30. From 6:30 until 9:30 the callers contact alumni, parents, and friends of the college all over the country to ask for donations.

The organizations that are participating in the phone-a-thon are: ADPi, SAE, Phi Mu, ZTA, KD, KA, AKA, Pi Kappa Phi, Circle K, Delta Chi, and TKE. The top organization presently is ADPi with the most new donors and the most money raised. Second is SAE and third is ZTA. Prizes will be awarded to the top three organizations and to the top individual callers. The list of prizes includes trophies, T-shirts, $100 VSC scholarship, dinner for two at Valdosta Country Club, clock radio, television, and two kegs of beer. Too, there will be a party for all participants in the phone-a-thon shortly after May 6 when it ends.

The goal that College Development has set for the phone-a-thon is $50,000. The current totals are $41,054 and 2,408 new donors contacted. The average gift is $17.05

Senate votes to extend visitation

By Malinda Simpson

The SGA recently voted on a bill written by Richard Dooley which extends visitation for students living in dormitories. The bill states, "Each floor of every residence hall currently decides its own visitation hours ranging from no visitation to a specified number of hours currently set by the school (maximum visitation). However, changing the maximum number of hours would in no way interfere with each floor's right to maintain lesser visitation if desired. A survey conducted by SGA President Warren Royal, revealed that 70 percent of the men and 51 percent of the women felt visitation should be increased in the residence halls."

The housing staff compromised to a certain degree and agreed that an alternative visitation option of 4:00 p.m.-12 a.m. on weekdays (Monday-Thursday) be available to each floor in addition to the three visitation policies currently in use.

Saturday's Spring Fling proved to be a success with fun, food and frolic. Organizations offered games and goodies, and free bands provided the music.

Applications available for Insight leader positions

Applications are available now for student leader positions for VSC's Insight orientation program. Applications may be picked up in the Student Affairs office in Powell Hall-East Wing. The deadline for returning applications is April 30th. Interviews will be held May 5-7.

Student leaders are very important to the orientation process. They take active part in planning as well as conducting orientation activities. Each new student who participates in the summer Insight program is assigned to a group and an Insight student leader.

Insight leaders undergo training in May after selection.

Preparation then begins for summer orientation sessions scheduled for June 27 & 28, July 18 & 19, August 6 & 7, August 8 & 9 and September 19 & 20.

In addition to summer sessions, Insight leaders work during short, half-day orientations throughout the year. Student leaders also serve at information booths during registration each quarter.

"We're looking for students who are enthusiastic about VSC, are comfortable meeting new people and have time to devote in the summer," said

Dr. Shamim Sisson, Associate Dean of Students and Insight director.

While Insight leaders are paid for work and training hours, there are many hours of preparation for which they are not paid. "It's a paying job that requires a volunteer attitude," commented Dean Sisson.

"Most students who have participated have found Insight a rewarding experience and look forward to including it on their resumes. Selection is usually quite competitive. It has become pretty much an honor to be selected," added Sisson.

Regents' Exam Prep Sessions

During Spring Quarter '82, the Regents' Exam will be given on April 26th and April 27. Prior to the exam there will be two (2) prep sessions offered to all interested students. These sessions are designed to give each student information about the Regents' Exam with emphasis on essay writing techniques and reading comprehension. Both sessions will be held: Wednesday, April 21 Powell Hall Auditorium

Good Luck On Mid-Terms!

German diplomat speaks at VSC

Dr. Ernst Ingendaay, Consul General of the Federal Republic of Germany, for the Southeastern United States in Atlanta, was the third featured speaker at "FOCUS, 1982 - The North Atlantic Community: A Regional Partnership," Valdosta State College's International Studies Culture Series on Thursday, April 15 at 8:15 p.m. His subject was "A West German Perspective."

The meeting was held in Powell Hall, main campus, and was open to the public at no charge. Parking was available adjacent to the building.

The series was sponsored by the Institute of Intercultural Studies in cooperation with the Departments of History, International Studies, and Political Science.

"This will be Dr. Ingendaay's second visit to Valdosta," said Dr. William M. Gabard, Director of International Studies, coordinator of the "FOCUS" series. "He spoke to the Valdosta Rotary Club a year ago and gave a fascinating insight into the role of Germany on the threshold of the '80's."

The diplomat has served for 30 years.

The German diplomat, who has served in the Foreign Service for 30 years, was born in a small town on the Rhine River near the Dutch border. He studied law and economics at the University of Bonn where he received his masters and doctoral degrees in economics.

A veteran of World War II, he participated in the Battle of the Bulge, where he was taken a prisoner of war the the United States Army.

Immediately after his return to Germany Dr. Ingendaay entered public service. In 1951, two years after the foundation of the Federal Republic of Germany, he became one of the first officials of the German State Department.

He has worked for many years in various embassies and missions, including those in Paris, Oslo, and Chicago. His last assignment before returning to the United States in 1975 was as Counsellor of the Embassy in France.

Since 1975 he has been in Atlanta as Consul General for the Southeastern United States, where he is charged with fostering the political, economic, and cultural ties between the Federal Republic of Germany and this area.

According to gabard, there is a heavy German investment in the United States, as is evidenced by the formation of a German Chamber of Commerce in Atlanta.

During his service in Atlanta, Dr. Ingendaay has received the Order of Merit of the Federal Republic of Germany. In 1980 he was promoted to a higher rank in the class of ambassadors/consuls general for the second time since his arrival in the United States.

In addition to his mother tongue he is fluent in English and French. He is married and the father of three children, who are currently studying in Germany.

Eight VSC students return from National Model United Nations

Eight students represented Valdosta State College at the National Model United Nations held in New York April 5-10.

They are: Angela Carpenter, Laura Peden, Robert A. Combs, Martha Meads, Jayne C. Copeland, Kenneth Adair, Donna Sheffield, and Wendy Hammack.

Dr. William M. Gabard, Director of International Studies and faculty adviser to the NMUN delegation, accompanied the students. This is the eighth consecutive year VSC has participated in the New York conference.

Assigned to represent the United Arab Emirates, the group received a briefing at the UAE's Permanent Mission to United Nations and took part in numerous deliberations of the simulated bodies of the United Nations.

In preparation for the NMUN conference in New York, the VSC student delegation sponsored in March a high school United Nations Model Assembly for 250 students from 23 area high schools.

Faculty advisers from the high school heard Dr. Don Wilson, visiting Canadian professor at Duke University, speak on introducing Canada into the social studies curriculum.

More than 140 United States colleges and universities, including Princeton, Duke, and Georgetown Universities and the Universities of Michigan, Pennsylvania, and Chicago, participated in the conference.

VSC is an institutional affiliate of the 50-member National Collegiate Conference Association which sponsors the NMUN Conference.

Counseling Center Offering "Test Anxiety" Group

"Test Anxiety: How To Reduce It"

This group is designed to help students learn skills to reduce and cope with tension and anxiety related to test-taking. During the group sessions, participants will learn a muscle relaxation technique that can be utilized to inhibit test related anxiety. Participants will also learn to visualize and recreate anxiety associated with test-taking in order to reduce the anxiety. Skills will be taught to help students cope with test anxiety during periods of study for tests and when actually taking tests. The emphasis of the group will be to develop self control of test related anxiety and tension.

The group begins on April 28th and will be held from 4:00 to 5:00 on Wednesdays.

Caldwell presents program on studies abroad

Beverly Caldwell, Southeastern Consultant for American Field Services, a program for high school students, to study abroad is to speak in Room 217 of the Educational Center at 7:30 p.m. at Valdosta State College April 22 (Thursday).

according to Dr. Robert Trautmann, Dean of the School of Education.

She is to give a 20 minute talk and show slides of the various programs under AFS, after which she is to answer questions. The meeting is open to all high school students, their parents and teachers.

"This is a community information program," said Trautmann, "since many people do not know what is available to high school students in the way of studies abroad. There are several different programs, including a full school year of study as well as a summer program where the student lives with a family abroad.

"Miss Caldwell is coming to Valdosta with the idea of establishing a chapter in Valdosta. Families who would like to provide a home for a foreign student are also asked to attend the meeting," he said.

Alpha Lambda Delta announces new members

Twenty-two students at Valdosta State College have been named to membership in Alpha Lambda Delta, honorary scholastic organization for freshman, according to Dr. Louise Hanes, faculty advisor.

Ken Ferrell, Dean of Students, was named to honorary membership and faculty liaison administrator.

Requirement for membership is a 3.5 grade-point average during the first quarter at VSC which must be maintained during the freshman year.

Named as president is Tammy Ferrell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Ferrell of Cairo.

Other officers are Lota Vickers, vice president, daughter of Mrs. Eula B. Miller of Cairo; Hester Strickland, secretary, daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Strickland of Valdosta; John Furey, treasurer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Furey of Valdosta; Dan Levy, historian, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac I. Levy of Valdosta, and Darrell S. Blalock, editor, son of Ms. Montez Blalock of Woodstock.

Other members are: Tammy Crosby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hardy Rowntree of Thomasville; Joann Gore, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Gore of Valdosta; Margaret Hicks, wife of Robert S. Hicks of Nashville; Lynn King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James H. King Sr. of Doerun; Lynn Jonew, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon G. Jones of Blackshear; Cindy Mathis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Marion Mathis of Moultrie.

Arnold Air Society sends members to National Conclave

Arnold Air Society had six members to represent the Emory Bass Squadron Det. 197 at the National Conclave.

Those members were Charles Ennis, Brenda Oliver, Gail Whalen, Margie Ryan, Janet Bard and Eddie Wagnon.

This year's National Conclave was hosted by Louisiana State University Arnold Air Society in New Orleans. There were approximately 1500 AAS cadets, from 148 colleges and universities nationwide (including Puerto Rico) who attended the function. They stayed at the New Orleans Hilton and Towers. The cadets enjoyed luxurious food and drinks, hotel service and accommodations. All of the business meetings, awards luncheons, dining out and military ball were accommodated by the Hilton.

There were several distinguished guest speakers for the conclave. Some of the guest speakers were the following: Lt. Gen. Robert T. Herress - Commander 8th Air Force, Strategic Air Command; Lt. Gen. Robert F. Coverdale - AAS Honoray Commander; Lt. Gen. Charles G. Cleveland - Commander Air University; General Thomas M. Ryan, Jr. - Commander Air Training Command; Brigadier Gen. Chris Dwich - Commandant A.F.R.O.T.C.; Judge John B. Brosky - President Air Force Association; William G. Morley - AAS/ANF Executive Administrator Secretary; Russell D. Hale - assistant secretary of the Air Force for financial management.

the National Conclave took place on April 9-12, 1982. The AAS cadets elected their new National Headquarters, the University of Southern California. Area commanders passed new resolutions and chose their National Project - World Hunger. After a full day of business on Saturday the cadets enjoyed a night on the town in the French Quarter. The cadets attended famous places on Bourbon Street such as Pat O'Brien's and Cafe Du Monde.

A Sunday morning Easter Service was held at the Hilton for the cadets before he day's business began. That night the cadets "Jazzed Up Their

Let's blow the lid off

Beauregarde L. Reade

Okay. It's time to blow the lid off. Through various undercover techniques and a lot of hear-say, I've uncovered one of VSC's darkest secrets. There were worms in the hot chocolate in the Student Union.

However, they are not rampant. They were only in the machine in the Student Union. Nobody put them there as a funny joke. They just hatched, or whatever worms do to grow up. Maybe it's spontaneous combustion or something.

It's too hot anyway

Besides, who drinks hot chocolate this time of year? Normal people don't. Normal people drink iced tea or coca-colas or beer at this time of year. Most could care less if the machine was unplugged till next Winter anyway.

For my part, they could keep it unplugged forever. I'm not that crazy about the stuff. However, if I'm with a pretty girl who happens to like it, I've been known to indulge or even suggest the purchase of hot chocolate on occasion.

Maybe drinking infected hot chocolate will be the next college craze. We certainly need one. Izods are boring.

Former fads

Our forefathers did stupid stuff when they were in college. They used to see how many bodies (mostly live) they could stuff into a phone booth or a volkswagon. They also used to swallow live goldfish. They've quit making real VWs, phone booths are scarce, and goldfish are too cute to swallow. All that is left is strange hot chocolate and tight blue jeans contests.

Ideas for worm fad

There could be contests. We could see who could drink the most cups and turn the greenest. The greenest survivor could even be awarded big prizes like a Blazer Burger. That ought to finish him off.

Those of you who have not turned the page in utter disgust are probably, while making a weird face, wondering why I would write about such a yukky thing. There are several reasons.

Why I wrote this

I feel the students should be made aware of yukky things.

There are rumors floating about that all the coffee machines at VSC are full of little creatures. They aren't. Just this one.

I couldn't think of anything else to write about.

It's being corrected

Anyway, the problem is being corrected. The machine in question will not be working until everything is straightened out.

The machine in question has a big "Out of Order" sign on it. If you know anyone that's illiterate, be a pal and tell them what it says.

And, if someone tells you that all the coffee and hot chocolate at VSC is not fit for human consumption, they may be right. But the reason ain't worms.

Sincerely,

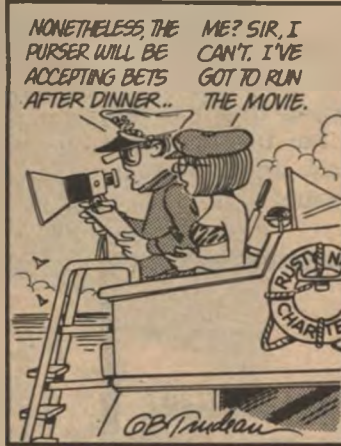

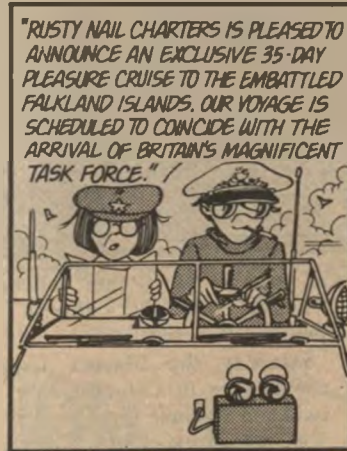

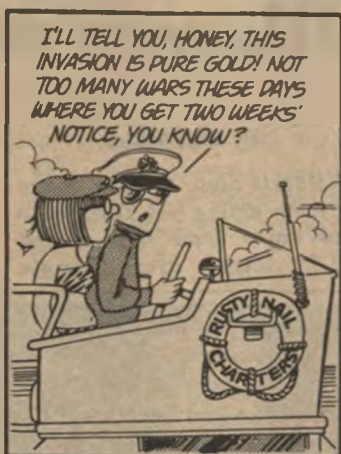

Beauregarde Livingston Reade

Survey predicts run on military

(CPS)- Record numbers of high school seniors would enlist in the military if the Pentagon gave them financial help to get through college, a University of Michigan study concludes.

The survey estimates twice as many high school seniors would join the military than currently plan to if they got education benefits similar to those contained in the old G.I. Bill, which was amended in 1977 to exclude new enlistees.

Michigan researchers asked more than 18,000 high school seniors nationwide what they thought of exchanging three years of military service at low pay for four years of college aid, plus $300 a month in living expenses.

Three of four students liked the idea.

Over a third of the males and a fourth of the females said they'd be likely to enlist if the program existed today.

"The responses suggest that there is a potentially large and representative cross-section of high school seniors who would be receptive to programs offering a change to earn their way through college by serving a tour in the armed forces," observes Jerald Bachman, the social psychologist who ran the survey.

Bachman sees the study results as a dramatic change in student attitudes about the military.

In 1980 his survey found a growing number of students willing to serve in the military. Enlistment did subsequently increase, a phenomenon Bachman attributes to the faltering economy.

But he cautions that the picture could change as the economy improves, thus making it necessary for the Pentagon to add new incentives to join the armed forces.

"If unemployment drops," he says, "the armed forces may quickly find themselves in the same difficult recruiting position they experienced in the late seventies. Furthermore, the numbers of young people leaving high school will decline over the next several years, and this will add to recruiting problems."

"I'm not aware of the survey," says John Andrews, education specialist for the Veterans Administration in Washington, D.C. "But there is legislation before Congress now that would create such a program. For three years of active service, the bill would entitle enlistees to 36 months of educational benefits with $300 per month."

Sports

Spotlight on Sports

Bart Miller

On October 28, 1981, Jim Woody, in his column Sport Talk and I, in Spotlight on Sports, both critized Atlanta Braves owner Ted Turner for naming Joe Torre as the new Braves manager.

I forecast "no light at the end of a dark, dark tunnel" and even asked for a "For Sale" sign outside the Braves office. Woody said it in a little lighter way by saying "Good luck Braves. You're gonna need it."

Joe, I hope you will forgive us both because we were both dead wrong. With the same team that Bobby Cox had, you have given them the missing link; confidence. Thanks for the turn-around.

In case you haven't noticed, another team is on a streak. No, I'm not talking about the Chicago White Sox, I'm talking about the VSC Blazers. Last week the Blazers took games from Georgia State, Columbus College, and the big bad Buck Belue-led Georgia Bulldogs. And they did this all on the road. Then, the Blazers came home to crush the defending Division 2 National Champions, Florida Southern. Florida Southern did win the second game and the Blazers did lose to Florida State in Tallahassee, but the Seminoles come to Valdosta on Thursday. I get the feeling that VSC will handle them rather easily. A good fan turnout would surely help the Blazers in their streak drive so get on out to Blazer field and support your team!

Go Blazers! Go Braves!

Blazers continue winning ways

By Bart Miller

Valdosta State Used an 8 run seventh inning last Tuesday to pull out a come from behind 13-7 victory over Georgia victory over the Dawgs who had been on a winning streak of their own.

On Friday VSC traveled to Tallahassee to take on Florida State. The Seminoles took ons, Florida Southern. It seemed as though VSC took out their frustrations with their travel agent on Florida Southern as they pounded out a 16-2 win.

Wayne Fugett (left), keyed the Blazers in their 13-7 win over Georgia State on Tuesday. Fugett's key came at the plate rather than on the mound.

State. The win gave the Blazers their 29th victory and a good start to a week long road trip.

Wayne Fugett keyed the offensive explosion by leading off with a double and ending it with his eleventh homerun of the year. Mark Shanback picked up his third win of the year in relief of starter Rick DiNapoli. DiNapoli worked 5 and 2-3rds innings giving up six runs, only one of which was earned.

The Blazers then traveled to Athens to take on Georgia for the second time this year. Once again the Blazers came out on top of a high scoring contest. The game featured five lead changes before VSC came out on top 8-6. It marked the second straight advantage of Blazer pitcher "Snake" Dixon's wildness to post a 4-0 victory.

Saturday the Blazers found themselves in Columbus for a twin-bill against the Cougars. VSC got excellent pitching from Dennis Rich in the first game to post a 2-1 win. Rob Busch followed Richie Johnson's fourth inning single with a homerun to give VSC all the runs it needed.

In the second game, the Blazers jumped ahead of Columbus 5-0 and went on to claim a 7-3 victory. Rick DiNapoli ran his record to 7-0 on the season by allowing only three hits and one run.

The Blazers finally found their way back to Valdosta for a game with the defending Division 2 National Champi-

Rob Busch must have been the most upset as he had four hits and scored three runs. Jeff Soss was not far behind, however, with two hits, including a homerun, 4 RBIs and 2 runs scored.

The Blazers also managed to turn a triple play. With runners on first and second, FSC's Glenn Scarpa hit a line drive to Soss at third who then threw to Fugett for the double play. Fugett then threw back to Soss to catch the runner going from second to third and complete the triple play.

Jeff Agerter went the distance for VSC to improve his record to 8-2. The Blazers moved to 33-16 for the year.

VSC is at home this week with a big game on Thursday against Florida State.

VSC names new athletic trainer

VALDOSTA, Ga. -- A Michigan native who has most recently worked as an assistant trainer at Florida State University has been named the athletic trainer at Valdosta State College.

VSC Athletic Director Bill Grant announced this week that Jim Madaleno has been hired as the college's first full-time trainer effective immediately.

Madaleno, 23, has set up shop in VSC's new physical education complex where he will maintain an office and a training room. He will also oversee a training facility in the football fieldhouse, located in the lower level of the old gymnasium.

Madaleno will work with all sports at Valdosta State in the care, prevention and rehabilitation of any injury that occurs to any athlete.

He is hurriedly getting ready for spring football practice which begins April 19.

"We feel very fortunate that we were able to attract someone with Jim's qualifications," Grant said. "He is young, but he has crammed a lot of experience in the last few years and comes to us highly recommended by everyone he has worked under."

A native of Dearborn, Mich., Madaleno received his B.S. degree from Michigan State University in 1980. He was a student trainer there for four years, working closely with the Michigan State basketball team that Magic Johnson led to the national championship in 1980.

FSU head trainer Don Fauls was instrumental in Madaleno's receiving a graduate assistantship there and he received the M.S. degree in movement science from FSU in 1981. He became an assistant trainer for the Seminoles last fall, working primarily with the football team.

Madaleno has been involved in athletic training since junior high school days when he began attending clinics to prepare him for his chosen career field.

"I think I was fortunate to be in the right place at the right time" when the VSC job became available, Madaleno said.

"The people I've worked for through the years, like Don Fauls at FSU, have always had my best interests at heart. I consider this a terrific opportunity for me, and I'm excited about this job and becoming involved in the VSC and Valdosta communities."

Lady Blazers sign star Kentucky guard

VALDOSTA, Ga.-- Debbie Roberson, a 5-10 guard from North Hardin High School in Radcliff, Ky., has signed a grant-in-aid to continue her basketball career at Valdosta State College next season.

VSC Coach Charles Cooper said Roberson is the first of several recruits he hopes to sign as he prepares for the 1982-83 season.

An honor student, Roberson led her team in scoring as a senior, averaging 18.6 points a game while shooting 50 percent from the field. She also pulled down an average of nine rebounds a game from her guard position.

"Debbie is an excellent all-around player who I think will make a perfect shooting guard on our team," Cooper said. "I saw her on film and in person and she impressed me very much."

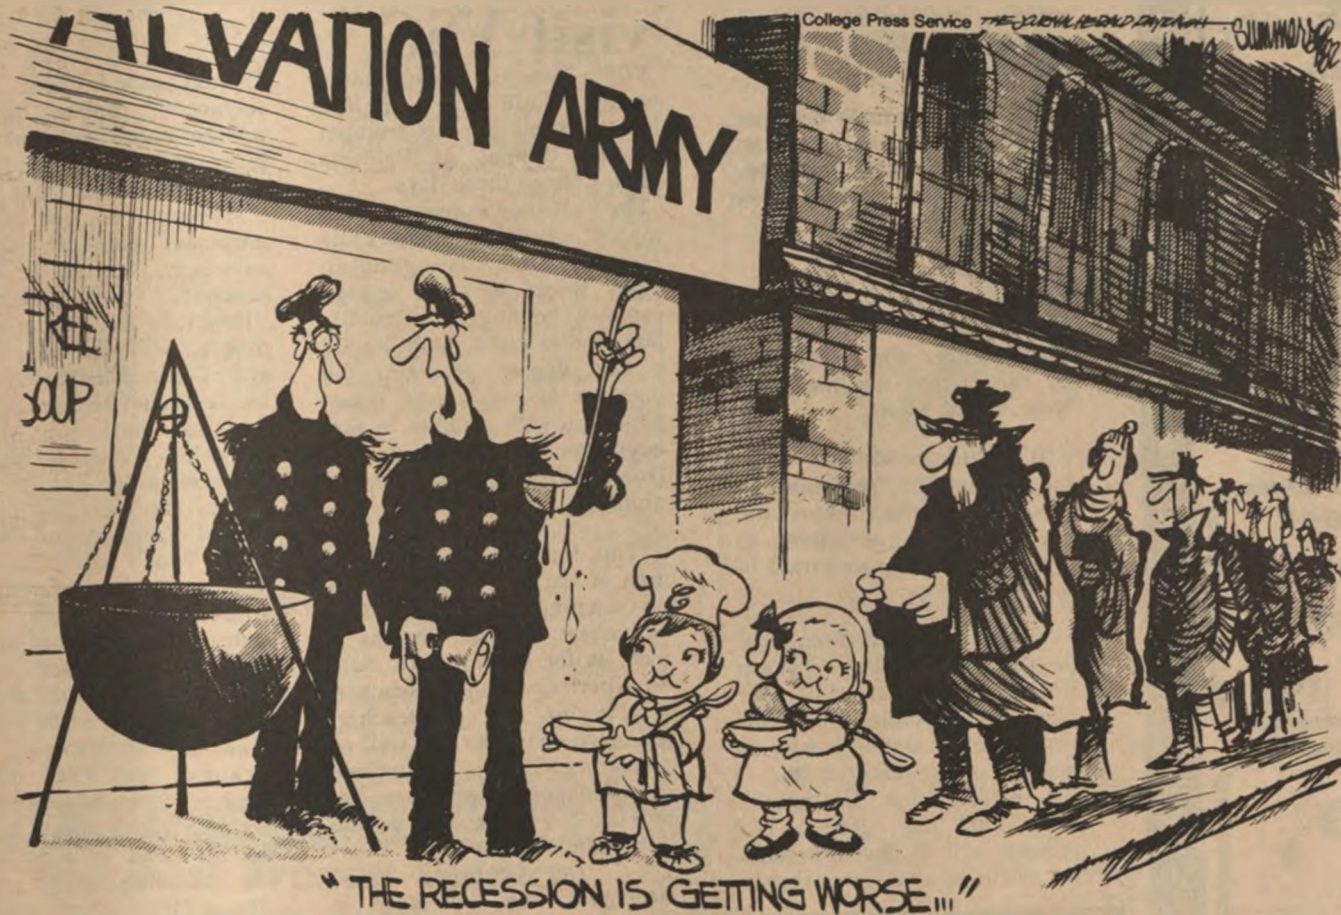

"Since we lost Missie Milton to graduation, it was important that we replace her with a scoring guard, and I think Debbie will be that for us."

Milton was the Lady Blazers' leading scorer last season with a 16.7 points per game average.

Roberson was a four-year starter for North Hardin, playing in 101 consecutive games. She had a career scoring average of 15.5 points a game and was named Player of the Year in her region as a senior. She also made several district and area all-star teams and was an honorable mention all-state selection by the Associated Press.

She holds the North Hardin record for most points in a career at 1562.

Roberson's father is a native on nearby Coffee County, and the family is planning to move back to that area this summer, Cooper said.

Gruner outfits theatre dept.

Valerie Gruner of Athens, Georgia is majoring in theatre with an emphasis in costume design, at Valdosta State College. Valerie's parents are both professors in the University of Georgia Speech Communications Department.

Valerie started designing costumes in high school when it was discovered that she was the only person in the drama club that knew how to sew. "We were performing 'Bye, Bye Byrdie' and I was the only one who knew how to make a poodle skirt. After that it was just accepted that I would make all the costumes," said Valerie.

Dr. Christie knew her parents and felt VSC needed a costume designer. Dr. Richie offered her a student assistantship, and Valerie began college and a major of costume designing at VSC.

Having had many to help her along the way, Valerie is thankful for Dr. Linger and Dr. Wheeler. Dr. Linger pushed to get a professional sewing machine which has made life easier for Valerie. Dr. Wheeler stressed the importance of sketching the costumes ahead of time in order to give him an idea of what she had in mind. Dr. Wheeler has also helped by doing plays from the past that require research.

In order to research a costume Valerie must plough through history, art, history of costume books, sculpture books and paintings. The costume is then sketched, the fabric selected and, if the fabric is not the right color, it is dyed.

Valerie measures the characters for their costumes. A piece of chalk and a tape measure serve as the guidelines for cutting the fabric to make the garment.

Presently she is working on the costumes for "Romeo and Juliet." "There is a cast of 30 for "Romeo and Juliet" and they use 40-45 costumes. A show like this is constant work.

However, I am using an assistant this quarter, Rachel Simonaitis," explained Valerie.

Valerie has made the costumes for most of the plays that required them in the last three years and has been a consultant for those not needing costumes. She is working on Louis Schmier's costumes for his class.

The young costume designer, who is a junior, has spent her summers in Birmingham, Alabama for Summerfest Costuming.

"I enjoy costume designing. I don't have to act to be on stage, though I have acted in plays before. I'm represented by the clothes the characters wear," said Valerie.

"It's hard to act and make the costumes. You have to sacrifice something. Most the time I have the costuming to myself. People seem afraid of the sewing room."

Valerie Gruner has a tentative position with Birmingham when she graduates. Her plans, after working for a few years, are to get her masters degree in costume design. Valerie feels that, because of what VSC has offered, her resume will be good enough for her to go almost anywhere.

Valerie Gruner prepares designs for upcoming play.

Thomas & Trumpet visit VSC

Willie Thomas, whose middle name could be spelled j-a-z-z, is playing his trumpet on the campus at Valdosta State College these days.

The well-known musician and music educator, who calls Florida home, is spending eight weeks on the college campus helping to "modify jazz studies and to help initiate a new degree program, the bachelor of music and music education with a minor in jazz education," according to Bob Greenhaw, assistant professor of music.

"This degree is unique to our area of the country and offers an exciting program," said Greenhaw. "Willie Thomas is with us for eight weeks, both as a performer and a teacher. He is to act as teacher, guidance counselor, as well as performer. This is an entirely new pedagogical program, not only in the South, but in the entire country."

For the studies, said Greenhaw, the text used is Thomas' own textbook, "Jazz, Anyone?" Thomas has also written music materials used in many schools throughout the mid-West and other areas.

"Thomas is not only a musician, one of the best anywhere, but he is also a teacher," said Greenhaw. "Hopefully the results of this program will offer the students at VSC the skills to perform at top level and also the skills of teaching music in what is becoming hot areas in music education today."

Video tapes are to be made by VSC students and Dr. Bob Jones of the college's television department for student feedback, for instructional purposes and for evaluation techniques.

The visiting musician, who has a degree in music from the University of Alabama, is no stranger to VSC nor to teaching. He has previously been on the Valdosta campus several times as a performer. His teaching career covers classes from third grade to college.

Thomas is also a recording artist, having recently recorded a live album in Chicago, with all the profits to go toward outstanding musicians for the National Association of Jazz Educators.

"Finally," Thomas said, "people in this country have accepted jazz at all levels of music education from elementary to college, and it is now being taught as serious subject matter, which really evaluated the pedagogical worth of this project."

Thomas' stay at VSC is made possible through a grant received by Greenhaw from the Center for Instructional and Faculty Development.

College network is up in the air

Irving to catch the new communications wave, a company here is trying to form a college video network that would start beaming high-priced programming by satellite to campuses next fall. Some college entertainment veterans, however, wonder if the network is economically feasible.

"A lot of us (in the industry) have been looking at it a long time, but we couldn't ever figure out how it could generate the kind of money it would have to," says Micheal Harpster of New Line Presentations, which books old-fashioned, in-the-flesh entertainers and films for campuses around the country.

"It's a great idea," adds a West Coast booking agent who asked to remain anonymous, "but I don't see how it makes economic sense."

The "great idea" is the child of Campus Entertainment Network (CEN), which intends to broadcast "live superstar entertainment" over satellite onto large-screen receivers on some 125 campuses nationwide.

For an average ticket price of $5, students would get to see acts their campus programming committees ordinarily couldn't afford to book onto campus.

The venture, in part bankrolled by media giant Oak Industries, is one of the first pay-per-view television experiments directed at college students.

CEN public relations spokeswoman Elise Gutman sees the network going beyond music in the future to specialized sporting events, Broadway shows, lectures from, say, "a politician who had a special message for college students," and even "self-help educational programs like for pre-law students studying for their (Law School Admissions Test). It'd be almost like a Stanley Kaplan (preparatory program for the whole country." (Kaplan is a prep test franchise).

Or at least part of the country. CEN first approached 125 campuses that fit criteria like "having a history of progressive programming, the right size auditorium, and a record of handling big events well," Gutman explains.

More campuses will sign on later. To the initial ones, CEN will loan the necessary hardware and technical expertise. Campuses will "provide the security and sell the tickets," she says.

CEN and the campus involved will then split the gate receipts. CEN will also "get its money from somebody who would underwrite the program. Like for an educational show, maybe General Motors would underwrite it."

"The music industry," she adds, "is also very excited about it. It (underwriting a CEN concert) is a great way to get to a hard-to-reach audience, and it's a great way to sell albums."

The audience is hard to reach, she explains, "because it's so expensive to put big-name acts on campuses, and it just can't be done over cable (television). No campuses have cable yet."

While many campuses do in fact have cable television, a growing and significant number of schools are experimenting with leasing and showing videotaped concerts as a cheaper alternative to live entertainment. Though confusion in copyright law has inhibited the growth of the practice, dozens of schools, for example, have rented a Fleetwood Mac videotaped concert for as little as $400 just since September.

But Gutman doesn't see that as a threat to CEN. "We're just really augmenting what's already there for a limited number of people."

Others in the industry have long lusted for what CEN is trying to create. Harpster recalls seeing a study by CASS, the student paper ad placement agency, that estimated college students annually spend about $4 billion in discretionary income.

People never get tired of trying to get to that substantial amount of money, but it sure has been hard to reach it," he observes.

Harpster says he investigated making campus pay-per-view satellite hook-ups, but gave up. The people who underwrite the programming, he explains, have to know how many people - potential customers - will see it. Guaranteeing an advertiser how many students will see a given show is difficult, he says.

"That's what we couldn't answer: how do you guarantee how many people are watching? That's what's kept advertisers away from cable television so far. Even the biggest cable outfits can't (get their audiences) certified."

"I hope it works," says the West Coast agent, "but it can cost $150,000 - $300,000 easy to stage and produce just a half-hour concert. And then maybe you can reach (over CEN) how many - half a million, a million, two million people? The numbers as I see them don't add up yet."

Scholarships to be offered

ROCKLEIGH, NJ, April 16 — Sixteen $500 scholarships will be awarded by E. Leitz Inc., US distributor of Leica precision camera equipment, to qualifying photography students participating in the unique Photography in Paris study program to be conducted this summer by the Parsons School of Design — with the International Center of Photography and the New School for Social Research as co-sponsors.

The scholarships are being awarded on the basis of photographic ability and financial need. Applications are screened by the Parsons School of Design, and the final selections will be made by E. Leitz Inc. early in June.

Students will leave JFK airport in New York for Paris on June 30th, and will return to New York on July 31st, 1982.

The Photography in Paris course will be directed by Benedict J. Fernandez III, chairman of the photography departments of Parsons and the New School. Additional English-speaking faculty will offer lectures, discussions, and darkroom instruction.

There will be special emphasis on field trips throughout the city of Paris for practical photographic experience — supplemented by seminars and critical discussions conducted by a number of internationally known photographers.

Complete details of the Photography in Paris study program are available from the Office of Special Programs of the Parsons School of Design, 66 Fifth Avenue, New York, NY 10011 (phone: 212/741-8975).

TKE's initiate 500th member

The brothers of Zeta-Nu chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity are proud to announce the recent initiation of their five hundredth brother. We congratulate Lee Walker on becoming Zeta-Nu number 500. Also initiated were Gerald Goodman, Murray Hadden, Hugh Hollyoak, and Doye Truesdale.

The brothers also have recently initiated six young ladies into their Order of Diana. These girls "show exceptional support and enthusiasm for TKE. They include Cynthia Tant, Melanie Jamieson, Susanne Ryan, Lori Hilliard, Jill Blackburn (Our 1982 TKE Sweetheart), and Lisa Goodman.

We would like to congratulate Rad McGuire on becoming our newest pledge.

Congratulations are also in order for Cort Cochran on being selected for membership in ODK.

This Wednesday is the day for "the battle of the sororities." We are talking, of course, about the annual TKE Frolics. Events are to get under way at 2:00 p.m. at front campus. This year's events include a balloon relay, a toilet paper roll, a bat spin, a softball throw, an egg toss, a change clothes in sleeping bag relay, a swimming relay, a spoon dive, and the Miss Legs contest. If anyone is not familiar with some of these events, we advise them to join the fun and watch.

Next Thursday night, the brothers will load up a bus and head to Panama City. This year, the TEKE's will be spending Beach Trip at the Sandpiper Motel in PCB. The weekend promises to be the usual fun time for all TKE associates.

In closing, the TEKE's would like to invite all Rushees to a Beach Trip warm up party this Friday night at the TKE house. The theme for this party will be "The Old Ball Game."

Delta's welcome "Traffic Jammers"

The sorors of Theta Tau chapter of Delta Sigma Theta want to welcome with open arms and warm hearts to our beloved sisterhood, the 7 "Traffic Jammers" of our Winter quarter line. Our new sorors are Carmen James, Vicki Robinson, Vicki Faulk, Pat Fields, Beverly Jordon, and Cathy Hudson.

The warm spring days bring out the best in all of us, and we have been at our best in all of us, and we have been at our best in making Delta the best of all the rest. We've sponsored several functions so far this quarter and we are currently getting into shape for our 3rd Annual Spring Affair which will take place on My 22, 1982.

SAE's hold boxer short social

The SAE's started the weekend out right by having a boxer-short social with the A D Pi Sorority last Thursday. The event was a great success.

Along with the social the SAE's would like to announce various projects.

The Georgia Sigma chapter contributed their services to the Valdosta Kidney and Dialysis Center by blocking traffic at the corner of two main intersections on Ashley St. Friday. During the afternoon the SAE's collected over $300 from charitable Valdosta mogorists. The Fraternity would like to thank those who gave and the Valdosta Police Dept. for their cooperation. SAE also organized a booth for the Spring Fling at the Fine Arts building Saturday.

Three brothers of SAE, Chris Yale, Byron Courson and Biff Taylor are participating in the GA Lung Association Bike Trek organized by Alumni Jeff Yale. This 150 - mile course runs from Dublin to Savannah.

The brother's combined goal is $1000 for this worthy cause. Community and Social Projects are a major part of SAE.

VSC student falls for a good pitch.

All persons interested in diabetes are welcome to attend. There is no charge.

Disney trip set for May 22

By Lee Strickland

On May 22 there will be a trip to Walt Disney World for Valdosta State students. A bus will leave VSC at 6:00 a.m. and will return when the park closes. The cost per person will be $35, which will cover transportation and tickets.

Seats on the bus will be distributed on a "first come, first served" basis, and only 35 seats will be available. There will be a small waiting list in the event of cancellations. For more information call B.J. Hausman, Director of Student Activities, at 247-3308.

ZTA banquet recognizes scholars

The sisters and pledges of Zeta Tau Alpha had their first annual scholarship banquet April 13 at the Golden Corral. Lisa Oxley, scholarship chairman, presented the awards.

Zeta Crown Scholars were given to the girls who earned a 4.0. They were Alice Blassetti, Evelyn Frost, Lee Ann Romagosa, and Dawn Watson.

Those girls who earned a 3.0 or better were recognized as Zeta Smarty Pants. They were Alice Blassetti, Lori Colvin, Beth Cowart, Ellen Eanes, Evelyn Frost, Nancy Hickson, Annette Jones, Carole Kelly, Marcia Liable, Dawn Miller, Lisa Oxley, Lee Ann Romagosa, Sonia Tutan, Dawn Watson, Lisa Browning, Linda Cunningham, Tracy Neely, Sheri O'Steen, and Gina Stephens.

Lisa Browning and Gina Stephens were most improved scholars.

Zeta Phi Betas announce new spring pledge class

The Alpha Theta chapter of Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc. is proud to announce their new pledge class for Spring Quarter. The girls who were inducted into the Archonian club on Sunday, April 11, are Sandra Floyd, a Senior from Dublin, GA and Faye Truitt, a Junior from La Grange, GA.

The Zetas would also like to inform everyone of the upcoming Miss Black VSC Pageant on Saturday May 15 at 8pm in Whitehead Auditorium. This year's Pageant will be bigger and better, promise the Zetas. There will be a car wash sponsored by the Zetas in the parking area of Long John Silver's on April 24, 1982.

VSC continues Adel courses

Valdosta State College is continuing its college courses begun in winter quarter in Adel.

Dr. John Hiers is teaching English 102 (composition) Monday and Wednesday from 5-7 p.m. Dr. William Morrow's course on political science follows from 7:30-9:30 p.m. Both are taught in the library of Cook County High School.

Students receive full credit for the 10-weeks courses, said Hiers.

"This is a stimulating class for me," he said. "The students want to learn so badly. Many of them started their college career just last quarter and it is always a pleasure to teach people who are anxious to learn."

Dr. Morrow agrees, saying, "My students want to learn. They are interested, for whatever reason they are taking the class."

The students in their classes represent a cross section of ages and vocations, according to the professors. Some of the students are enrolled in courses on the VSC campus; for others college is a new experience. Some are taking up college work again after having dropped it several years ago.

"Introductory and survey courses lend themselves well to off-campus teaching," said Hiers. "Dr. Raymond Register is to follow the course I'm teaching with a survey course in literature."

A native of Pensacola, Fla., Hiers got his doctorate from Emory University. His undergraduate work was also done there and his master's at the University of Georgia. he is married to the former Phyllis Hicks and they are parents of three children.

When he is not teaching or involved in some of the prestigious organizations of which he is a member, you might find him canoeing the Alapaha River or the Ichetucknee River.

Dr. Morrow, a native of Tennessee, got his degrees at Georgetown University and Vanderbilt University, with his Ph.D. from the University of Tennessee. He and his wife, Fay, are the parents of two daughters.

He has only one regret about teaching in Adel.

"It's not far enough away to fly to," he said with a smile, explaining that flying a small plane, owned jointly with a couple of friends, is his chief hobby.

"Some flyers will fly 100 miles to have a cup of coffee with a friend," he said. "I don't know about doing that, but my wife and I flew about 50 miles to have lunch with friends not long ago."

On Wednesday, April 28th, VSC Food Services will have "Steal our Dish Night" in conjunction with "Make your own Sandwich Night" at the Dining Hall. Each student will be given a frisbee with "Unbreakable Dish Stolen From Valdosta State Food Services" imprinted on it. The frisbee will serve as the plate for that night's meal.

ROTC

Gateway to a great way of life.

ATTENTION PREMED MAJORS NEED FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE?

The Air Force needs doctors. So, we may help finance your college education with an Air Force ROTC scholarship.

We have three and two-year AFROTC PreHealth Professions Scholarships for qualified applicants. These scholarships pay full tuition, lab and incidental fees, books, plus $100 a month (tax free) during the school year. Upon completion of Air Force ROTC and baccalaureate degree requirements, you'll be commissioned as an Air Force second lieutenant. When accepted to medical school, additional assistance for medical school expenses is guaranteed with an Armed Forces Health Professions Scholarship.

Get together with an Air Force ROTC representative and discuss these two programs. It may be the most important talk you've ever had about your future.
