Beverstein explains traffic offenses

By BRIAN BICKETT

QUESTION - What's blue, has four tires, a spoiler and wears a pink slip?

ANSWER - Some student's illegally parked car!

When was the 1st time you heard a good Public Safety joke? Surely it wasn't the last time you got a ticket which, according to Jack Beverstein, was probably related to parking.

VSC's Director of Public Safety, Jack Beverstein, noted decal violations attributed to most of the campus traffic violations. Not having a current decal and failure to remove an expired decal are two of the most understood regulations. Parking in expired time zones ranked high in offenses.

Jack Beverstein

The large number of violations on campus are directly related to the large number of people who fail to read the Campus Traffic and Parking Regulations handbook distributed at registration. Beverstein said the red script items in the manual are the ones that are frequently disobeyed.

VSC's Public Safety force is composed of 18 certified officers and four interns. Each certified officer is required to attend a state training program once a year.

On duty 24 hours, an officer's jurisdiction includes not only the immediate campus but 500 yards off campus. This radius is for the protection of school related activities such as the Baptist Student Union and Fraternities.

Each student should be aware that violations are paid at the comptroller's office, but can be contested in a student court held on Thursdays (see the traffic manual for more information.)

Public Safety's phone number is readily available on See BEVERSTEIN, p. 14

SAC to meet at VSC

By CHARLA THORNHILL
News Editor

The University System of Georgia Board of Regents Student Advisory Council (SAC) will hold its fall meeting at Valdosta State College October 22-24. VSC was chosen to host the quarterly event during the summer conference at Jekyll Island.

Those attending the conference will be Student Government Association representatives from participating schools in the University System of Georgia. Jeanie L. Morris, Georgia Student Association president from Agnes Scott College, will also be attending, but only with observer status.

The SAC, a standing committee of the Board of Regents, is the only student advisory to the Board.

The purpose of the SAC conference is to consider concerns presently before the Board of Regents and to discuss current student needs. Possible topics for the fall conference are student financial aid and the effects of recent college budget reductions.

Registration for the conference will begin at 4:30 Friday at the Sheraton Inn where the delegates will be staying. Entertainment will follow registration. Dean Ken Ferrell will welcome SAC delegates after which the individual committees (Academic Affairs, Internal Affairs, and Student Life) will meet to consider proposals for the Board of Regents.

Saturday's agenda begins with a continental breakfast prepared by VSC Food Services. The meetings for the day will be held upstairs in the College Union with District Regent Bill Divine from Albany, and SAC Vice-Chairman Craig Smith from the Medical College of Georgia, speaking. Committee meetings and reports as well as a campus tour are slated for the morning. The afternoon will begin with a seminar presented by Dean John Wester on due process and the legal rights of students. Following will be committee meetings and general session at which each committee will present proposal to be considered by the group. Saturday's agenda will con-

Artwork missing

By THERESA BRYANT

On Friday October 18, 1982, a ceramic work by VSC professor Donald Penny disappeared from the Fine Arts ceramic studio (FA122). The slab-built Vase is approximately 15" high, 12" wide and 3 to 4" deep. It is glazed off-white with green-grey squares in the middle of the large sides. The Vase is valued at $200. It was scheduled to be shown in the Annual Faculty Exhibit opening November 1. According to Mr. Donald Penny, "theft would be a felony - grand larceny. I just wish it would show - up. That would save everyone a lot of problems."

Anyone with any information concerning this matter is requested to contact Donald Penny, Art Department, 247-3319.

Seven VSC students attend Georgia Power Conference

By LUANNE MANNING
September 7-10 was an educational experience for seven VSC students who were selected to participate in Georgia Power Company's "Impact Energy" program. James Hendricks, Robin Huckabee, Jo Hudson, Greg Oliver, John Salter, Susan Thomas, and Ky Widener represented VSC at this conference. They were among the fifty other participants from different colleges across Georgia, who came together at Jekyll Island for this rewarding experience.

The speakers were the vice-presidents and other top executive leaders of Georgia Power. These people presented Georgia Power's side of rate increases, nuclear power, energy in the future, solar power, environmental conversation, how big corporations are run, and other modern day energy issues.

The lectures were followed by round-table discussions in which students were allowed to ask any questions they had concerning energy and Georgia Power. Slide shows were included as an asset to the program.

All the students found the programs to be an enlightening experience. Robin Huckabee said, "I wish every college student could go." Robin is an education major and found Georgia Power has job openings for teachers. These teachers travel to different elementary schools and present lessons on energy.

The students are picked due to their leadership capabilities. They were given the opportunity to meet with leaders from other schools. Jo Hudson's response to the seminar was "Impact Energy is a worthwhile program. It gives a student insight into the inner mechanisms of a power company."

Susan Thomas was impressed because "it gave us the opportunity to meet with the top people of Georgia Power and see how they view energy programs and the future of energy"

The cost for a student to attend the conference is equivalent to the cost of running a fourteen inch advertisement in the Atlanta Journal for a week. Ky Widener expressed his enthusiasm by saying, "Excellent! Impact Energy shows you what is going on with Georgia Power and how they help the community."

VSC receives its largest award

NEWS BUREAU -- Valdosta State College has just received the largest award in its history under a Title III grant known as the Special Needs Program, according to Dr. Hugh C. Bailey, VSC president.

"The grant is for three years," said Dr. Bailey, "and the allocation for the first year is $436,260. Of this sum, $140,163 will be used for equipment during the first year and there is the opportunity for larger equipment allocations in subsequent years as more detailed presentations are made of the proposed programmatic usage of the equipment."

In October, 1981, VSC also received a Title III grant under the Strengthening Development Institutions Program which has been renewed for the federal fiscal year of 1983. The total amount of this grant is $450,000. It is being used to develop a learning skills laboratory as well as to support a number of faculty and instructional development programs, said Bailey.

"A large percentage of our faculty and students have participated in activities sponsored under the grant and the feedback has been very positive," he said.

Dr. Louis Brown, Title III Coordinator at VSC, said there are five major areas included in the new grant. They are: (1) improvement of academic services to undergraduate students, including development of Freshmen Orientation Programs, an Honors Program, auto-tutorial labs and integrated science labs; (2) development of increased counseling services with emphasis on career counseling (3) assistance to the School of the Arts in providing additional services to students and the people of this area, especially through the medium of television; (4) improvement in the Business and Vocational Education area, including installation of state of the art equipment with

Dear Erotemes,

When is a person ready for sex?

Dear Erotemes:

Jack and I have been dating since Spring Quarter. Our relationship has stalemated over sex and is sure to terminate if he maintains his persistence and I persevere in my reluctance to have sex. The question I have is--- when is a person ready for sex?

Sign me
Reluctant Sue

Dear Reluctant Sue:

If you have doubts you undoubtedly are not ready for sex. You may be ready physically but not emotionally. It is good that you have sought an answer to your question before having given in to Jack's persistent desires and found yourself struggling with the misgivings of having been conquered sexually.

You must decide for yourself when you are ready to commit yourself to that somewhat total relationship. My best advice would be, decide for yourself and don't be influenced by Jack or anyone else. It is your decision because once you take that step you can never regain what you have given up. Good luck and don't be talked into anything.

Erotemes

Dear Erotemes:

What help is available on the VSC campus concerning sexual problems?

Like to know,
J.S.

Dear J.S.:

The Sex Education Committee desires that this column will at least be of some help in answering questions that students might have concerning sex. They also plan to make available soon, a brochure that would also be helpful in this respect. The Student Health Center provides the services of a women's clinic on Thursdays from 1:30 - 3:00 p.m.

They also provide VD diagnosis and treatment as well as pregnancy testing and birth control information. Counseling is also available at the Counseling Center in Powell Hall, 247-3254.

Erotemes

Dear Erotemes,

I would like to know if it is safe to use suppositories when having intercourse. Are they 100 percent safe?

Concerned Lover

Dear Concerned Lover,

Suppositories are safe, but do you mean safe or rather are you concerned with their effectiveness? Their effectiveness according to most authorities ranges from three to twenty-two pregnancies per 100 women users. They also report irritation in a few cases.

In answering the other question not printed here, if something itself is "infectious" it can spread that infection if it comes in contact with moist tissue.

Thank you for your letters,
Erotemes

P.S. Remember all questions should be sent to "Dear Erotemes" VSC Box 86, Valdosta, GA 31698.

Fletcher appointed to fall Governor's Intern

NEWS BUREAU-Ken Fletcher, a senior at Valdosta State College, has been appointed as a Governor's Intern for the fall quarter. He is working in the office of College Relations at VSC.

Fletcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clair Fletcher of Clyattville, is a speech communications major with a minor in organizational communication. A graduate of Lowndes High School, he maintains a 3.6 average out of a possible 4.

"This is the type of work I really want to do," said Fletcher, who spent three years in the U.S. Navy. "I thrive on being with people and their interactions. I'm getting valuable experience from the College Relations office and working with Mr. (Fluker) Stewart, director of College Relations. He has a natural flair for that but he's also shown me it's a lot of hard work."

The VSC student applied for the Governor's internship last spring but was not notified of his appointment until recently.

His appointment carries a stipend of about $400 which Fletcher termed "mighty welcome, in view of my finances."

He will also receive 10 hours academic credit.

"When I applied for the internship, I wanted something in my major field or in my minor area because I thought this would give me flexibility to move ahead," he said. "Working in College Relations is bringing me in contact with many people, not only on the campus but in the city, as well as visitors who come to VSC, whether they're returning alumni or official dignitaries. "I'm working also with various forms of news media, including television, radio and newspapers which is good experience." "I'm very fortunate to get this internship, especially in view of the fact that funds for this program have been cut off since I was appointed," he said.

A self-taught guitarist, gardener and plant enthusiast, Fletcher said he looks forward to going into the professional world after graduation.

"VSC has given me a good base with which to begin," he said.

Nursing given Masters degree

NEWS BUREAU -- The Nursing Division at Valdosta State College has been given the go-ahead signal for granting the Master of Science degree in Nursing beginning in the fall quarter of 1983, according to Dr. Patricia Small, head of VSC's Nursing Division.

The Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia put the stamp of approval on the new degree program in action taken Wednesday at a meeting in Atlanta.

"This makes Valdosta State the third school in the University System to grant the master's in Nursing," said Dr. Malcolm Rainey, Vice-President for Academic Affairs at VSC. "We are the only one in southern Georgia and this is very pleasing to us. The granting of this new master's in nursing meets a real need in our service area. Dr. Small is working up a very fine program in that division."

"I am really excited about this," said Dr. Small. "We'll have our first students for this program in the fall of 1983. It will fill the need in our functional area for administrative nursing service or teaching the clinical components of medical, surgical or community health."

The Nursing Division, she said, has the largest enrollment in its history this year.

The granting of a master's in nursing will mean increased enrollment and expanded faculty, she added.

Other schools in the University System which give an M.S. in Nursing are Medical College of Georgia and Georgia State University. Emory University, a private school, also gives the master's degree.

"I share with Dr. Hugh Bailey (VSC president) a great enthusiasm for this program and we are honored to have it at VSC," said Rainey.

Brains found in bag

CHAMPAIGN, IL (CPS) -- Someone left a bag full of 22 human brains in the laundry room of a University of Illinois fraternity house, and no one yet knows exactly whose brains they are.

weeks ago to find the brains where he thought his dirty clothes would be. In something of an instinctive reaction, he pitched the bag into an alley behind the Acacia fraternity house, where he lives, before calling the police.

Beauregarde L. Reade Golly gee, like thanks Frank

"Old fishermen never die, they just smell that way." Frank Zappa will never die either. He will "Valley Girl" US to death.

Webster's definition

What is a valley girl? A valley girl is generally described as a tall, sharp-looking blonde with the I.Q. of a squid.

Valley girls only go out with flashy guys that have new Trans-Ams and Camaros unless you can convince them your '72 Impala is a classic or something. That shouldn't be too hard since valley girls have a reputation for falling for almost anything.

Spotting one

How can the unwary spot one?

First, look for a girl who chews a great deal of bubble-gum and eats chocolate chip cookies with Diet Pepsi. A lot of times she will stick the bubble-gum to the top of the Diet Pepsi drink can while she's eating the cookies.

Ten years from now, some scientist will trace the roots of some dread disease that is afflicting society to the germs on top of a Diet Pepsi drink can.

Izod influence

Clue number two - she'll open her Izod pocket book, pull out her Izod compact, look into the Izod mirror, decide her Izod hairdo is mussed, and search for an Izod brush to brush it with.

She lost it.

She will turn to her best friend (these girls always travel in pairs) and ask to borrow hers. Her friend will say, "oh, fer shurr. Like, you can borrow it." She will then search through her Izod purse and say, "oh grody to the max. It poofed too!"

I shall not try to interpret.

Sure fire way

There is a third, very reliable way to isolate a valley girl. Just check her forehead for a scar from a lobotomy operation. If you find one you've certainly hit paydirt.

One of the major problems is the disease that causes the valley girl affliction, referred to as "The Valley Girl Syndrome" or "VGS to the max - like," has spread amongst the populace in general.

All are vulnerable

It has invaded all aspects of American life. No one is safe.

Even such down to earth people as wrestling (pronounced rasseling) fans have fallen prey to this terrible malady. I heard an old lady who has watched rasseling for the past 21 years the other day. Her favorite hero (white shorts, no mask) was beating the fool out his undermatched opponent and she was screaming, "oh! Like wow! C'mon, kill the geek! Like piledrive his head to the max! Fur real."

I would relate more of the encounters I've had with valley people, but I really can't remember a lot of the extensive vocabulary they use. I do, however, anxiously await each and every syllable when I am engaged in conversation with one.

And we can all thank Frankie Zappa and his daughter Moonbeam or whatever her name is.

Gas me with a spoon.

We're more than a pants store. A little out of the way but a lot less to pay.

Letters to the Editor Extra visitation not extra study time

Dear Editor:

This week's 50,000 dollar question is: what does an increase in dorm visitation mean? Well, I must admit, there are several possible answers to that question.

It could mean less headaches for the head resident and R.A.'s because guys can now walk instead of sneak up the stairs before 7 o'clock. It could mean more noise on the halls and subsequently less studying for those of us who came to college for an EDUCATION more than socialization. Sure, we can study in the library, but shouldn't the choice be ours - the library or our rooms? And frankly, I hate to see that beautiful desk in my room go to waste.

Now don't get me wrong. I love men as much as the next woman - probably more. But let's be realistic. Dorm rooms are not lounges. The lounge is located downstairs in the lobby. You want privacy? Sit in the back. For it is a fact that if everyone brings up Tom, Dick, and Harry to visit at 4:00 in the afternoon, quiet hours are ignored, even though they don't start until 7:00. Believe me, I live here and quiet hours are nil to none.

Allow me to elaborate. Since the increase in visitation, I have seen guys roaming the halls unescorted, peeping in rooms, answering hall phones, playing music like D.J.s at a disco - and the fun doesn't stop there. One couple in the heat of passion beat Rick James' screaming hands down. This may sound amusing to some, but it is not in the least bit amusing - especially if you have to get up early the next morning for an exam.

I know that times have changed and that guys and girls do study together in dorms.

These people are to be admired. But those who study romping instead of reading, writing and arithmetic deserve a write-up.

Signed,

Morning Line should be banned

Dear Editor:

I do not think that it is right to publish a gambling service (see THE MORNING LINE in the sports section) in The Spectator. My boyfriend promised to take me to Fiddler's Green and Stan's this past Saturday evening, but he lost "our" date money betting on Blazer Athletic Conference football games.

We spent Saturday night in the dorm watching a movie re-run, and I don't like it one bit! He has promised not to bet on the games anymore and if you quit running this section it will make it easier for him to stop. Also, it is much fun to watch the game when your weekend enjoyment is riding on the outcome.

Magazine rumors cleared

Dear Editor:

It seems that almost every new publication suffers from rumors. I would like to attempt to clear up a few misunderstandings concerning the newly formed Literary Arts Magazine.

The Literary Arts Magazine's budget was derived from funds appropriated by the Student Activity Fee Budget Committee. To my knowledge, these funds have no connection with any departmental funds - only student activity fees.

I, as Editor of The Literary Arts Magazine, was pleased to have been awarded funds of less than $1,000, even though these did not agree with the total of the originally anticipated expenses.

I hope this clears up any problem as to the source and amount of our funding. If there is any further query, please feel free to contact me.

Dear Editor:

Thank you for finally featuring THE MORNING LINE. This column will save me a long distance call a day to Jacksonville to get the spots on the BAC games. With Reagan's cuts in financial aid, it is even more important that I augment my income by a bit here and there. Also, local entrepreneurs can use this column without student money flowing to Jacksonville and Atlanta.

Jacksonville Rips VSC 43-11

By MITCH CLARKE
Sports Editor

Jacksonville State rolled up 484 yards of total offense, most of that through the air, as the Gamecocks routed Valdosta State 43-11 last Saturday night in Jacksonville.

Jacksonville's All-American quarterback Ed Lett completed 18 of 24 passes for 208 yards and three touchdowns in the first half, as he and two other quarterbacks set a new club record for pass receptions. (JSU was 33 of 46 passes for 343 yards.)

When the defense was not sacking Owens, however, he was in true form. He completed 16 of 35 passes for 173 yards and one touchdown.

Owens threw two interceptions.

Carl Armstrong, VSC's sophomore wide receiver, was back to his true form this week as well, catching five passes for 95 yards.

Kelvin Sheppard won Player-of-the-Game honors thanks to his four catches for 46 yards, and his three kickoff returns for 77 yards.

Again this week, Valdosta had early scoring opportunities, but only managed to put three points on the board. Jacksonville State fumbled on two of its first three possessions with VSC recovering at the Gamecock 24 and 30 yard lines. After the first fumble, VSC's Brad Bauer put the Blazers up 3-0 with a 42 yard field goal. The second opportunity when Owens was sacked, pushing Valdosta out of field goal range.

Valdosta State's running game was nonexistent as the Gamecocks defense sacked quarterback James Owens 10 times for 69 yards in losses. This left VSC with minus 30 yards rushing.

The Blazers other points came on four yard pass from Owens to Sheppard, capping a 13 play, 57 yard drive early in the fourth quarter. Owens passed to David Williams for two points.

Defensively, Valdosta State's junior linebacker led the team with six tackles, one fumble recovery, and one pass interception.

This weekend, the Blazers end that tough three-week road trip in Albany against the Albany State Rams. Albany, 0-5, lost 48-0 to Florida A&M Saturday and are looking for their first win. Tickets are available at the P.E. Complex. Kickoff is set for 1:30p.m. at Hugh Mills Memorial Stadium.

Come out and support the Blazers.

Runners Blaze Intercollegiate Meet

By VIRGINIA WILLIAMS

The Valdosta State College Men and Women cross country teams were the top-finishing Division II teams in the Georgia Intercollegiate State Cross Country meet this past Saturday. The meet was held in Carrollton, Georgia, for all colleges, regardless of division or classification, in the state. The running Blazers took a remarkable stand with three All-State runners, and two Honorable Mention All-State winners.

The VSC men placed a strong third behind Berry College in second, and Georgia Tech in first place. Adam Pinkston, fifth place finisher, and Craig Barnes, thirteenth finisher, were the VSC mens All-State winners, with outstanding times of 26:28 and 27:10 respectively on the five mile course. Ralph Moore's marked finishing time of 27:30 won him an Honorable Mention Award and nineteenth place. Rounding out the top five, Greg Thompson and Dave Walsh finished a tight twenty-eight and twenty-nine, with times of 28:10 and 28:11 respectively. Rod Fick finished thirty-eighth for the Blazers with a time of 28:58, followed by Jose Navarro finishing forty-third in a time of 29:41. The VSC Women's team managed to tie Emory University for third place title, being beaten only by Georgia State College and Berry College who tied for first place. All-State runner Christi Patten finished fifth over-all, with an exceptional time of 19:59. Diane Revering followed, taking an Honorable Mention award for her eleventh place finish in a time of 20:38 for the 3.1 mile women's race. Edwina Wicker made a significant showing with her seventeenth place finish. Rounding out the womens scoring, Kar-lynn Lastinger finished thirty-second with Virginia Williams close behind in thirty-third.

VSC Coach J. J. Whitesell was pleased his teams had fared so well against the stiff competition found in scholarship funding schools. VSC does not give scholarships for cross country runners.

The Blazers next scheduled meet will be back on the golfing greens of West Georgia College on October 30, for the NCAA Division II Regional Cross Country Meet

Whitesell enjoys cross country coaching job

By MITCH CLARKE
Sports Editor

Coach Jay Whitesell is not really a coach by profession. Sure, he is the coach for the Valdosta State cross-country team. He has been for three years now. But he also serves as an Associate Professor in the Secondary Education Department. There, he teaches science education and entomology classes.

Because he was overweight and had high blood pressure, Whitesell began running about thirteen years ago. He worked out with the original team coached by Dave Waples.

But three years ago, several people including some of the runners and Athletic Director Bill Grant, asked Whitesell to become the cross-country coach. He accepted and appears happy in the job. He still teaches and his only salary for coaching is one less class during fall quarter.

In the sport of cross-country, several teams of seven runners compete with the top five finishers being scored. To figure team scores, the places that runners finished are added together. The team with the lowest score wins.

Whitesell feels that this year's team are "by far the best" that he has coached. But he emphasized that they are actually just running fun. There is nothing these runners can do professionally in this sport.

According to Whitesell, the runners are a close-knit group, which makes his job that much better.

"We have fun losing, but we have more fun winning. When it stops being fun, somebody else can have the job," he said.

On October 30, the Gulf South Conference and the NCAA will hold a joint meet on the campus of West

Georgia College in Carrollton. Whitesell is confident his team will do well, but cautioned, "We cannot compete with scholarship teams," such as the University of Georgia. "They get runners from all over the world and we just can't compete."

Whitesell said that when he recruits people for his team, he goes for personality first, talent next. That, he feels, insures that the team will have fun doing what they are doing.

And despite what Whitesell said about competing with scholarship teams, the men have compiled a 23-2 record. They placed third in the Georgia Collegiate Saturday. In that meet, most schools in Georgia with cross-country teams competed and only Georgia Tech. and Berry College beat VSC.

The Ladies have compiled an equally impressive 10-4 record.

Owens leads GSC

By MITCH CLARKE
Despite having an off week, both Senior quarterback James Owens and Sophomore receiver Carl Armstrong continue to be near the top of Gulf South Conference statistics.

Owens leads the conference in passing, completing fifty percent of his passes for 1113 yards. Jacksonville State's Ed Lett is a very close second. (Lett will move even closer next week as these stats do not include Saturday's game between VSC and Jacksonville State.)

Armstrong is still way in front of his nearest competitor, Rusty Fuller of JSU. In five games, Armstrong has caught 33 passes for 578 yards. Fuller has 14 catches for 194 yards.

As a team, VSC has fallen to fourth in total offense. The three teams who have beaten the Blazers are ahead of them.

VSC has lost to Mississippi College, Delta State, and Jacksonville State, while winning against Troy State and Central Florida. VSC and Georgia Southern tied in their first meeting.

Football Enters Third Week Volleyball Begins Tonight

(Top) KA's aggressiveness shut out the Gamecock 30-0 in BAC football Tuesday.

(Bottom) Captain Fun watches on as Pi Kaps upset ROTC.

The Blazer Athletic Conference announce today that its Enforcement Director, Robert Yost, would begin immediately to probe wide-spread reports of "big-money" betting on BAC football games. The DETROIT DISPATCH, in a copyrighted story, wrote yesterday that, with the NFL strike still in effect, an inordinate amount of money was being wagered on the outcome of BAC sponsored games.

Yost said, when questioned, that, "we have no conclusive information that any BAC players are involved, and our investigation is just precautionary. We know that betting goes on, but we have the obligation to protect the integrity of the conference."

In Las Vegas, Sam the Swede said that, "the two biggest games last week were Penn State - Alabama (State was giving 1), and Reade Yankees - Patterson North (Reade was giving 3)." Alabama won 41 - 21, while the Yankees won 14-7. Sam said the smart money was on Bama and the Yanks, and that the total wagers were staggering!

The Spectator had received reports of BAC betting, but the figures cited were in the hundreds-of-dollars, rather than the high-thousands as cited by the DISPATCH. Yost related that this investigation was routine, and was only one of many currently being undertaken by the BAC Enforcement Bureau.

Now that football is headed into its third week, BAC volleyball is ready to hit the court. The server, spikes and digs of this popular summer each sport begin tonight in Old Gy.

Eight action begins at seven with Brown West taking on the A Rebels. Following games are: Central Brown vs Upper Brown, KA vs Pi Kaps and Delta Chi vs Wesley.

Now that football is now in its third week, and volleyball is just under way, BAC racquetball is just around the corner. BAC commissioner, Dave Waples informed The Spectator he was very disappointed with the poor response. Currently there are five participants in the mens singles, four of which are members of Delta Chi Fraternity. In men's doubles Oyster Bay and Delta Chi will clash for first place points.

the second week of BAC football continued to offer all the competitiveness of the sport. The powerhouses fell and the fights broke out.

Delta Chi, Kappa Alpha and Southwest Patterson ran and passed their way to another undefeated week. The ROTC last their first game while Brown West, Central Brown and the Pi Kaps all won their first. The Reade Yankees and Ashly-Converse gave the league its first tie game when Ashly-Converse scored on the last play of the game and missed the extra point.

North West Patterson, the Gamecocks, Patterson North and TKE continue to have winless seasons. Poor TKE couldn't even hold on for a tie as a pass was dropped in the endzone with twelve seconds left.

No matter how it happens winners will be winners and losers will be losers. KA had two TD's called back and still beat Wesley; NW Patterson missed a field goal in the last second to loose six to nine to Upper Brown. TKE dropped that game tying pass with twelve seconds left and Southwest Patterson had an extra point hit the goal post and bounce through good.

And poor Circle-K. Hopefully they will be able to score more than two points in their game against the Delta Flyers this coming Monday.

The BAC Commissioners remind all members of the league of the upcoming 40 yard dash run. The event will take place this Friday at 3:30 on the Front Campus Lawn.

Volleyball action begins at VSC

By SUSAN MONTGUMERY

If the first week of volleyball is any example, this season will be full of excitement. Tuesday's 4:30 game saw BSU and KD square off with KD coming out on top with scores of 15-4 and 15-4. KD was led by Katrina Davis and Regina Pope who served 16 and 7 points respectively.

In the 5:15 game, ROTC I defeated Alpha Xi 15-4, 15-5. Top scorers were Charla Vicker with 8 points and Janet Cravell with 3 points.

In the 6:00 game, ZTA won over ROTC II 15-0 and 15-1. Donna Winstead topped everyone with 12 points.

The final game saw the Lowndes Hall Lazars top ADP by scores of 15-13 and 15-13. Top scorers were Leslie Arthur with 13 and Carrie Marvin with 7 points.

In Thursday's first game, Wesley defeated MG's 15-7 and 15-2. Top servers were Julie Alford with 9 and Debra Welch and Leslie Green with 3 each.

BSU was victorious over Alpha Xi 15-5 and 15-4. Serving honors went to Regina Pope with 6 points.

The final two contests in Thursday's matchup proved to be full of surprises and upsets. ZTA and KD battled through all three games and after the smoke cleared, ZTA came up with the match 11-15, 15-12, and 15-6. Sonia Tutan led all servers with 18 points.

The final matchup saw ADP upset ROTC I by winning the final two games 15-11 and 15-7. Top scoring honors went to Jackie Banks with 10 and Charla Vicker with 11.

At the end of the first week, there are three teams which are undefeated. They are ZTA (2-0), Wesley (1-0) and Lowndes (1-0).

Brains found in bag from page 3

University police investigator Charles Moore says the "case has been solved" since then, and charges have been filed against a group of students thought to be responsible for snatching the brains from a research lab and putting them in the laundry room. Moore refused to name the group.

Group members did appear before a disciplinary board last week, but no penalty has been imposed, reports John Scouffas, assistant vice chancellor of student affairs.

Scouffas adds that, in his view, the case isn't fully solved yet. The group -- another fraternity, some believe -- has taken responsibility for the theft and placement of the brains, but Scouffas says the individual "ring leaders are not known."

Acacia member John Holliday says Acacia has "reason to believe it was another fraternity, but it would be unfair to accuse anyone."

Holliday notes the incident occurred during a period when pledges, on their way to a special weekend, often pull pranks on their brothers. Holliday speculates pledges from another house simply chose Acacia this time.

"We're not angry. No harm was done. No one is angry, like, it's a joke."

Indeed Scouffas, Moore and Champaign Det. Gary Wright all chuckled when discussing the case.

Scouffas says the most serious aspect of the case is the theft of the brains. Officials are still unsure from which lab they were stolen. "We think they got them from our medical center."

Then "they probably dropped them in through a window" in Acacia, which Scouffas is confident won't retaliate for the stunt.

Holliday is less confident. Asked if members had planned to top the prank, he says they "had thought about it."

Founder's Day Social planned

In keeping with tradition, the VSC chapters of SAE and KD have planned their annual Founder's Day Social. This event, which has always been a vital interest between both organizations, has proved to be more than just a party. Kappa Delta was founded October 18 and Sigma Alpha Epsilon was founded here October 13. The celebration begins with a Hay Ride around the campus ending at the SAE house where a Western Party will follow.

We are looking forward to a fantastic evening and take this opportunity to welcome the KD's. We will see every one Thursday night at 8:30. Happy Founders Day!

Another important event is Parents Day slated for Saturday, October 23. We are all looking forward to seeing out parents. Saturday begins with a continental breakfast at the house sponsored and served by the little sisters. Then out parents are invited to the church to witness the pledges become formally pledged to Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

A luncheon follows to conclude with the bi-annual meeting of the Mothers of Minerva headed by long time supporter Sandra Allen. These mothers are the backbone of our chapter and we are very proud to have the combined talents and efforts of these ladies to the fraternity of their sons. Once again, Welcome Parents!

Last week the "Winnersville Classic", a football confrontation between the local high schools, was held and included in the festivities was the "Winnersville Pageant", the winner of the pageant was one of our little sisters, Chrissy Beecher. We are extremely proud of Chrissy -- and congratulate her.

Delta Chi's add nine men

The Delta Chi's have completed a tremendously successful rush by addition of nine more men into the tradition. These men are Renee Cowart, Chris Gower, Harris Glover, Tony Herring, Chris Jarrett, Clayton Norman, Rod Owens, Al Rogers, and Chris Walters. These men exemplify the qualities that Delta Chi Desires. We are proud to call them Delta Chi's. Our successful rush was due in part to a total Brotherhood commitment, but it was also due to the help and support of our sponsors and little sisters. They did an excellent job in rush this year and we are extremely grateful!

Last week was our annual Founder's Day celebration week. We marked the occasion by hosting a Founders Day Party Wednesday night, and our Pledges gave one

Thursday night. We ended the weekend with our annual Brother-Pledge retreat.

We would like to congratulate our Pledges on the addition of 29 new Pledge-Class sponsors. They did a fantastic job in choosing these beautiful ladies, and we would like to congratulate these ladies on becoming Pledge Class sponsors.

Congratulations are also order to Sally Edwards and Carrie Campbell. They are now Brotherhood sponsors. Also to Bubba Tye who was chosen Phi Mu pledge class sweetheart. Way to go Bubba!

Ibsen's drama

Hedda Gabler slated for October

By REGINA FLOYD
Entertainment Editor

The Valdosta State College mainstage this fall is a melodrama entitled Hedda Gabler. It will be presented in Sawyer Theatre at 8:15pm, October 20-23 and October 27-30.

Hedda Gabler tells the story of a woman searching for her identity in a world surrounding her with repressive forces. According to Dr. Randy Wheeler, director of the play, "It is a 19th century masterpiece portraying the emergence of the modern woman."

Hedda Gabler was written by Ibsen, one of the best known playwrights in the world. Ibsen is often called the father of modern drama. According to Wheeler, "with social problem plays like Hedda Gabler, Ibsen made the melodrama a critically respectable dramatic form and some critics feel that with today's women's liberation movement, plays of Ibsen such as Hedda Gabler and A Doll's House have entered a new era of relevance."

Producing an Ibsen play is somewhat different from producing other plays from major playwrights. Wheeler said that "perhaps the greatest challenge in producing Hedda Gabler is giving a full portrait of the title characters whose actions could easily alienate an audience. It is vital to depict the various negative forces beyond her control that act upon Hedda and drive her to say and do things she might not have said and done under different circumstances. There must be understanding if not a degree of sympathy for her," said Wheeler.

Valerie Gruner, a VSC senior from Athens, will play the leading role and is also in charge of costume designs.

Laurie Wilkes from Brunswick will play Miss Tesman; Jena Segrest, Tampa, as Berthe; Tim Bedsworth, Gainesville, GA, as Tesman;

Janie Allen, Snellville, as Thea Elvsted; Michael Wright, Warner Robins, as Judge Brack, and Bill Abbott, Albany, as Ellert Lovborg.

Scene designer is Bill Gilbert from Savannah and lighting designer is Dennis Thompson from Valdosta. Liz Henderson of Savannah is handling props. Judge Lucky from Hinesville is assistant director and stage manager.

Campbell exhibit on display in Fine Arts Gallery

By REGINA FLOYD

An exhibit of paintings by Alan Campbell is on display in the Fine Arts Gallery at Valdosta State College. The exhibit will run until October 22.

Campbell's works reflect a prolonged study of color and light and come from locations in North, South, and Coastal Georgia. His subjects range from cattle and tobacco auctions and the Okfevnoke Swamp to Ossabaw Island and the coast of Georgia.

Included in Campbell's show is a section of five paintings done for the Moultrie National Bank. They include The Auction, Moultrie Morning, The Georgia Northern and The Pouring all in watercolor done in 1978 and also an oil painting entitled In the Ring done in 1978.

Campbell was born in Athens Ga. and graduated from the University in 1976 with a MFA. His studies include a summer at the University of California at Berkeley and two summers in Cortona, Italy through the University of Georgia Foreign Studies Program.

at 8:30. Happy Founders Day!

Another important event is Parents Day slated for Saturday, October 23. We are all looking forward to seeing our parents. Saturday begins with a continental breakfast at the house sponsored and served by the little sisters. Then our parents are invited to the church to witness the pledges become formally pledged to Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

A luncheon follows to conclude with the bi-annual meeting of the Mothers of Minerva headed by long time supporter Sandra Allen. These mothers are the backbone of our chapter and we are proud to have the talents and efforts of ladies to the fraternity of sons. Once again, We Parents!

Last week the "Winnersville Classic", a football competition between the local schools, was held and in the festivities was "Winnersville Pageant" winner of the pageant of our little sisters. Congratulate these ladies, Beecher. We are extremely proud of Chrissy -- and congratulate her.

VSC first in Jazz

By REGINA FLOYD

Valdosta State College is one of the few colleges in the state to have a very strong performing jazz band.

The VSC Jazz Ensemble began eight years ago and tends to be looked up to by other colleges in the state. Valdosta State is the first college in Georgia to offer a minor program in jazz education. According to Bob Greenhaw, director of the Jazz Ensemble, "Jazz is the coming thing for colleges as a curriculum in the department of Music Education."

Auditions for the Jazz Ensemble are held every quarter. Auditions are open for each spot and to any VSC student in any major. Any VSC student interested in jazz and with past experience should contact Bob Greenhaw in the Fine Arts Building, office number 155A. The Jazz Ensemble plays very demanding arrangements. It takes a good player to perform with the band. The arrangements are varied each quarter and some arrangements by famous performers are played.

Bob Greenhaw, in addition to directing the Jazz Ensemble, also plays saxophone with the band. Greenhaw also teaches private saxophone lessons as well as serving as an instructor for numerous music education and jazz courses offered at VSC.

"My theme for the year," said McRae, is to find all lost alumni. # Frats losing in new pledge numbers

[CPS] -- After nearly a decade of steadily-increasing memberships, fraternities at a number of colleges around the country are reporting a disappointing drop in the number of new pledges last spring and this fall.

While most blame increased academic pressure for the low turnouts, one fraternity at Lehigh University says the school's head football coach is to blame.

Greek membership nationwide is still up over the low levels of the late sixties and early seventies, assures Jack Anson, executive director of the National Interfraternity Council.

Membership figures for this year won't be available until the spring, but if the situations at colleges as diverse as Wesleyan, Loyola-New Orleans and the University of Nebraska are any indication, there are soft spots in Greek recruiting.

"We sure hope it's not (heading downward)," Anson says, "but you never know." In 1965, the average size of a fraternity chapter was 50 members. But by the early seventies it had dropped to a low of 34. For about the last ten years, it's been increasing again, and now we're back to an average of 50 members per chapter.

But on individual campuses, some chapters are worrying their growth period may be ending.

"We've seen kind of an up-and-down period the last few years," says Martin Cunniff, president of the Interfraternity Council at Loyola-New Orleans. "In 1979-80, membership really went up. Then it dipped a bit last year."

This fall, only 12 people showed up at rush, Cunniff says.

At Wesleyan University, Greek leaders are blaming a low rush turnout on increased academic competition.

"Freshmen are inundated" with school work, says Chuck Wyatt, president of Wesleyan's Psi Upsilon. He believes many students have delayed pledging until they get control of their studies.

Some of the other Wesleyan fraternities have also noted drops in the numbers of pledges this fall. In response, some plan stepped-up publicity efforts and second-semester rushes this spring.

One of the few houses to prosper at Wesleyan is a coed fraternity, Alpha Delta Phi brought in a campus-high 17 new members last semester.

The lesson hasn't been lost on other nervous Greek organizations. Groups at Amherst, Middlebury, Columbia and New York University, among others, have recently converted into coed houses in order to boost memberships.

Tow Bowdoin College fraternities, partly to comply with affirmative actions policies and partly to draw new members, are becoming coed this fall.

"The coed fraternity is still a very small part of the total Greek system," Anson reports, "and I'm not convinced it's all that effective (a recruitment tool). But I do believe fraternities need to keep promoting themselves. I have long advocated that rush be a continual thing in order to attract new members during the year.

And fraternities need to stay visible and explain their advantages and what they're all about."

Fast-a-thon planned for Nov.

The Arnold Air Society of AFROTC Detachment 172 is starting this year off in a very busy way. The activities began when the fall pledge program was kicked off on October 17 and will continue with various community and campus service projects in coming weeks.

In keeping with our National Service Project of "World Hunger," AAS is planning a Fast-a-Thon in conjunction with several on-campus organizations such as Circle K. Dedicated volunteers of AAS and these organizations will fast (refrain from all "munching" and "pigging out") on the date of the Fast-a-Thon in an earnest effort to help those so desperately in need of food.

The date has not yet been set, but the event will probably be held in November. Any campus organization is welcomed to participate in this beneficial effort. Interested parties should contact C/Colonel Brenda Oliver, head resident, Langdale, or Gail Whalen.

Other upcoming events in AAS are an Area conclave in February and a National conclave in March. AAS is also decorating for the ROTC Dining Out on Nov. 12. The AAS agenda is growing steadily, and this is beginning to look like an exceptionally promising year for ROTC and Arnold Air Society.

CIA allowed secret spying

WASHINGTON, D.C. [CPS] -- The Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) no longer has to tell if it has recruited at or spied on college campuses, a federal appeals court has ruled.

The appeals court in Washington, D.C. last week said the CIA didn't have to turn over documents requested under the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) by University of California student Nathan Car-dets, who was trying to discover if the CIA had been recruiting foreign students at U.C.

The three-judge court ruled the CIA would undermine its own effectiveness if it is forced to let Cardels see certain documents and "the work of foreign intelligence agencies would be made much easier" on U.S. campuses.

Since most FOIA lawsuits are heard in Washington, D.C., the ruling affects some 15 campus FOIA requests to find out about CIA recruiting on campus, its debriefing of traveling professors and students, and its alleged spying on foreign students, says Susan Schaffer, the American Civil Liberties Union Lawyer who presented Cardel's case.

The U.S. Student Association has also sued the CIA to release documents relating to the agency's surveillance of the student group. The case is pending.

"They will enable the College to continue the improvement of the services it performs throughout south Georgia," said the VSC President.

International relations seminar to be held at Valdosta State College

The United States and its relations with Canada and Mexico will be the theme of a three-day seminar to be held at Valdosta State College Tuesday - Thursday, October 26-28, 1982, according to Dr. William M. Gabard, Director of International Studies.

The seminars will be held at 8:15 p.m. in Powell Hall Auditorium, main campus. Admission is free and adjacent parking is available.

The official title of the conference is "The United States and its Neighbors: A Conference on Culture, Problems, and Values in North America."

"This seminar is unusually timely in view of the critical relations between the United States and Canada and between the United States and Mexico," said Dr. Dale Peoples, professor of U. S. diplomatic history, who is conference coordinator.

"We have an outstanding group of lecturers for the series," Peoples continued, "and are extremely grateful to the Georgia Endowment for the Humanities, National Endowment for the Humanities, which has financially assisted our efforts."

"The series, which will feature films representing all three countries during the day, is open to the general public, and we hope that a number of important current, critical issues will be discussed," Peoples concluded.

Dr. Ainslee Embree, professor and chairman of the Department of History at Columbia University, will kick off the series on Tuesday, October 26, when he speaks on "United States and Canada: Past History, Present Problems, and Prospects for the Future."

"The United States and Its Neighbors: Past, Present, and Future" will be the theme of the second program which will be held on Wednesday, October 27. James Huff, Political Officer from the Bureau of Inter-American Affairs of the U.S. Department of State will be the lecturer.

Concluding the seminar series on Thursday, October 28, will be Dr. Steven Sanderson, assistant professor of political science at the University of Florida, who will speak on "United States and Mexico:

Past History, Present Problems, and Prospects for the Future."

Following the formal presentation each evening by the guest speaker, a group of four panelists will discuss the lectures. Members of the panels will be drawn from area specialists on the VSC faculty. Refreshments and an informal discussion, with questions and answers by the audience, will conclude each session.

The following departments at the college are cooperating in the presentation of the program. They are: the Office of Public Services; Department of Marketing and Economics; Department of Modern Foreign Languages; Department of Philosophy; Department of Political Science; Department of English; Department of Physics, Astronomy, and Geology and Department of History.

On each of the three days, from 10:00 a.m. until noon and from 2:00 p.m. until 4:00 p.m., films reflecting the various aspects of the culture of each country will be shown. The films are provided through the courtesy of the Consulate General of Canada, the Embassy of Mexico, and Mexican Government Tourist Office in Atlanta.

Students, faculty, and the general public are invited to attend.

Public Television to air economic series

NEWS BUREAU -- Because high school students over the state have little knowledge of economics, a new 12-part video series, entitled "Give and Take," is to be aired over the Georgia Public Television Network beginning in January, 1983.

"Most kids were found to be very ignorant of the basics of money," said Dr. Bill Frech, Director for the Center for Economic Education at Valdosta State College.

"There is a crying need for economic literacy. This mandated series will teach high school students things they deal with from day to day, like how to balance a checkbook. Many of them work very hard at after-school jobs to pay for a car, and often a very expensive car, but they don't know a thing about the basics of economics."

To teach the teachers how to instruct the new mandated economics courses, Frech is directing a workshop on the VSC Campus on Oct. 20 (Wednesday) for curriculum directors, media specialists and teachers involved in the course. The workshop is to be held in the Education Center and lunch, as well as a variety of resources, will be provided at no charge to those who attend.

"This is one of a series of such workshops being held over the state," said Frech. "We've asked people from all private and public schools and CESA Centers from about 22 countries in our area. The workshop will be conducted by a team representing the Georgia Council on Economic Education, the Georgia Department of Education, and local school systems.

"Teams attending this regional workshop will receive information on how to use 'Give and Take' in film and video tape, as well as published teachers guides. In turn, they will be expected to hold mini-workshops in their own schools for other teachers."

The series, he said, is designed for senior high school students and can be used in economics courses or personal finance courses.

"It deals with issues important to young people," the professor said, "while teaching some of the basic concepts sorely needed in our school systems and something we think will be of great benefit to students all their lives."

Graduate students would have lost to Reaganomics

PRINCETON, NJ [CPS] -- Nearly half of all graduate students in America would have lost money if President Reagan had gotten his 1983 budget proposal through Congress, a new Educational Testing Service (ETS) study concludes.

Reagan proposed last February to cut the Guaranteed Student Loan (GSL) program from $2.8 to $2.5 billion, in part by disqualifying all grad students from the program. Congress defeated that proposal, later boosting GSL funding to $3 billion.

The ETS study, undertaken to weigh the impact of cutting off grad students from GSLs, found that grad students rely on GSLs more than any other kind of aid.

Some 600,000 graduate and professional students -- out of a total 1.2 million -- borrowed money under the GSL program last year, the report found. Those 600,000 took average loans of $3800.

Cutting them off from those funds would have a profound impact, says Dwight Borch, ETS director of college and university programs and co-author of the just-released study.

The president's proposal, he says, was "untried and untested," and could have forced large numbers of grad students out of school. Otherwise, "the study clearly shows that there is a need for different types of financial aid at the graduate level, such as more fellowships and opportunity grants," he says.

Many grad students "have recourse except to borrow to finance their education."

To make GSLs easier to pay, Borch suggests government "tie the repayment to the student's future income."

During committee meetings, each of the three SAC committees discussed possible proposals for presentation to the Board of Regents. Topics considered by the Student Life Committee were the gathering of information on Student Life Centers and information on alternative schools to see what other schools are doing for their students which do not provide health services on campus.

These proposals will be presented to the Board of Regents on October 27-28. The Student Life Committee will be presenting proposals for the four schools in the system which do not provide health services on campus. These schools are Ft. Valley College,
