HARTFORD DAILY MES,

auld

UES.

trust you folks of the not think that my slience cause I have run out of le of his There are grinding w tere grew all so immense, so startling, that had I time to work I group of area and would set the world sele to light many truths. The In later m active truth when let loose on an in farm world is its recklessness ering the prudence, for it stabs i meet obalization with no respect of pe of the even been known to po the expounder of the tr of Amerbe a reason why I go a may be a racial trait be ttention modesty.

Just see what I have started to write on styles a college education I was the board better! When Mrs. Dadourian ley have of the lengthening skin a woman who held up declared she would net thing but a short skin a reerty of statutes. sed the or an exwords had a familiar so over the ber, for I was 15, when into style. Women, many nts, facwe joined they would never wear making a they did, and later when relief for ing one I knew the th laughable. lists is bethey would never go w ly every decennial law, the thought that a flat bat was a bit queer withour grace of a bustle. You a noted in time to wearing even place, it The bustle in time did ist, real styles have gone, so will short skirt, and if it com of a dress that comes d n years aluation sonable length well town sment the leg or lower, and on al would the one so short that c all propmuch leg, I prefer the al basis a grown woman. It is modesty I am thinking a not be w figures of beauty, for I maintain were being edifying or beautiful requires of fat or scrawny knee at "fair glowering at one from a to all only of a public car. the whole

Let me say good and young women of the nir ation. In the new feeling of being hamper ntered for they dull, unhealthy, how untouched as has been said of the has always been at its bes taxpayers pushed gently and men and cause the together they made homand ertness and happiness are the great ay in action neither paint, artificial c nor That rate wearied nerves will bring he tax. not wee bit of sacrifice on of arry an aswomen who are well off same cost her dresses are long or short will assessn half. If go on,

> be duly bridled before it gets mutual monicker of Batty.

I was, indeed, sorry that you could not bring about of the call for the February 11 come to my wedding, but I believed you literally when you said you would be glad to be there but could not, and so I made the best of it. It was asking no little of one so lean in purse as either of us. I shall endeavor to answer some of your questions. My bridesmen were Shipman, Train & Robinson (Nathaniel Shipman, Tather of A. L. Shipman, and Henry C. Robinson, father of L F. avo John T. Robinson.—Ed.), all of Hartford. You would have "stood up" with the pretticet girl in New Haven.— As it was Shipman had that honor. My friends—& Hooker with them—came down Christ-mas morning and stopped at the quiet old meeting it watch the ome out with the reiteration ters and snowstorms are not w may be chosen to attend to the Thomas S. Williams, Joseph Trumtarial work of the national com pencil and bull., Gideon Welles, Calvin Day, Alused to be in the days which a taxation the Quite ee of the democratic party. Quite mber of years since the republicon onal committee was well served of the late Samuel Fessenden of Mord filled the position of secre-. It is understood that Mayor kingham 'intends' to give a great of personal attention to the work the police board during his term. fred Smith, A. G. Hammond, Tertius erally called good and old. I e the same Wadsworth, Loyal Wilcox, Philip should remember that a ten-in Ripley, Erastus Smith, John Eldridge, Horatio E. Day, H. K. W. Welch, B. W. on the old doesn't reach up as high on th proponents did when they wore mittens w prove their y, will be a to keep them from getting lo Greene, B. E. Hooker, R. G. Talcott, Newton Case, Thomas Steele, Roderick an to try to Terry, William W. Turner, Silas An-These newer motion cinem arrying out this plan the mayor will through the satisfaction to the people of geport. Taking his policy as in-ted in his statements it is clear Mayor Buckingham is determined drews. John Beach, Thomas Smith may be palaces as the owners (individual Daniel Phillips, James L. Howard, until someone relieves us of Hooker with them—came down Christ-mas morning and stopped at the quiet old country inn where I spent most of the day with them. The wedding "went off" to everybody's perfect satisfaction and the next noon we took the cars with Uncle Sam Foote of New Haven & ramily, Hooker, my friends above named & several others. The hows have a lymaxe out of line Erastus Collins, H. A. Perkins, John G. coat during a torrid, stuffy -same town Mix, Loren Sexton, Charles Goodwin, ance so we won't lose the give the second largest city in the John M. Niles, D. R. Robinson, Thomas our trousers we will continue a successful administration. MMENT. T. Fisher, James M. Bunce, Elijah H. bit of a brief against what * $4 Owen, Thomas C. Perkins, Austin Dunagnoses love Litchfield county has recently lost are. prominent citizens, one a democrat the other a republican. The former, ham, L. C. Ives, T. M. Allyn, George P. le to germs. & several others. The boys have always said they had a "first rate time," and 1 believe they did. * * Bissell, Mark Howard, James B. Hos-Heavyweight boxers at ist who re-Marsh, represented the town of hield at four sessions of the legis-and the other, Judge Warner, a distinguished legislative career is his promotion to the bench. Mr mer, George W. Root, Stephen Spencer, Gordon Robbins, W. H. D. Callender, Francis Birge, S. S. Chamberlin D. C. Pond, George W. Cornning, John Hook-et, O. H. Case, Lewis Sheldon, Isaac Bird, Charles P. Well's, Nathaniel Shipman, Joseph R. Hawley, E. M. Pierce, G. Wells Root. Roland Mather, Erastus Woodruff, Thomas R. Dutton, S. Boardman, J. H. Ashmead, Dr. L. J. Comstock, Charles Cheney E. W. Parsons, Thomas Adams, J. F. Mor-ris, H. L. Bidwell, H. W. Hutchinson, Otis Warner, Samuel Coit, H. I. Rider, Lichn B. Corning, Guorn, Brade File, and a file and a mer, George W. Root, Stephen Spencer, nw to just a match the other evening, app in a laborathe West End, had to share light with the Prince of a was a resident of the historic of Litchfield at the session of He had for his colleague, the alf young lawyer, Walter S. Judd. Marsh was a member of the com-George Bernard Shaw who and industo be in the audience, and ut the unfighters who planned appeal ir city in a regular ring attire consisting termined to on appropriations and it is re-that he saved the state an ap-be amount by the course which was requested by the prince lone. ial employsomething from his walst We amount by the course which of in the payment of legal ex-in connection with the "dead ession. Mr. Marsh was encour-nis attitude by the friendly sup-tich he received from his fowns-Tovernor Charles B. Andrews, who was presided at the constitutional from of 1902. It will be recalled the constitution adopted by the film was rejected by quite a large by the people of the state. W be of interest to note that anhow many consideration for the ladles j ew arrivals was carefully noted that the one to split come from the prince and not to benefit dramatist. my own parlor fire alone, having just accompanied my dear little wife to the door of her sanctum. She thinks I ought to answer "that letter of Charley War-ner," & I agree with her. work could John B. Corning, Henry Birge, Elihu the arrival Thanksgiving. Geer, S. S. Batterson, L. P. Brockett, ound that "Can you still stand a li Alfred E. Ely, J. F. Judd, George S. 238 fewer grandfather asked of Little Beach. S. M. Capron, N. Harris, Ellery to a slight the table last Thursday Hawley's Domestic Establishment, Hills, M. H. Summer, "and," an adverautomobile about half-past two

Will Observe Recent Victory in City With Jubilee on Lincoln Day.

NOT TO CELEBRATE

NEW HAVEN G. O. P.

PLAN CHRISTMAS PARTY

Congressman Richard P. Freeman Will Again Be Candidate in Second.

o do.

be-

ot at

tiful

ar.

bit

say

ving

leg

ther

eme

oice

rea-

of

and for ther

lack

oth.

play

ghs

aisle

the

no

vere

aky

orld

nen

SO

They had

they The Republican club of New Haven oring has decided to abandon 'its intention with to have its recent triumph at the polls eting in the late municipal election observed of and to have a combination jubilee that will include the observance of Lincoln day and the recent sweeping success of the republican ticket at the polls. Preliminary plans had been arranged for a municipal victory dinner early in December at the Hotel Taft, but at a recent meeting of the republican club it was decided that as the annual ban-quet connected with the observance of Lincoln day would take place a few months later it would be better to have a combination celebration to include the Lincoln day and the local victory. A letter was received from Colonel Isaac M. Ullman in which he expressed his regret that owing to illness he would be unable to attend. It was also de-cided to hold a big Christmas party at the Republican club this year. This will be the first big affair this year of its kind to be held at the rooms of the club. It is expected that each mem-ber of the club will bring a present with which to furnish the tree. Irving S. Hamilton was chosen chairman of a committee to provide gifts for the tree. The affair will be the first of its kind to be given by the club. Town Chairman Joseph S. Morrissey, who has just arrived home in time to attend the meeting of the club, was well pleased to learn what had been done to provide. for a combination republican celebration and Christmas tree. and to have a combination jubilee that left will include the observance of Lincoln has s in may or it otch had own orrol s of and anythe emame said but usea

It may be taken for granted, in spite of rumors to the contrary, that Con-gressman Richard P. Freeman of the Second district, will be again the repub-lican candidate for congress in the dis-triat may have been been adding to lican candidate for congress in the dis-trict next year. He has no desire to reture from the representation of the district and there is no disposition to suggest that he be superseded. Mr. Freeman has now represented the dis-trict since 1915. Territarially it is the largest district in the state, but in population it is but 232.192, or a little more than the Fifth district, which has a nonulation of 224.426. The district more than the Fifth district, which has a population of 224,426. The district has not been represented by a democrat since the late Bryan F. Mahan repre-sented it from 1913 to 1915. It may be of passing interest to note that when the Second district was represented by a democrat, all the districts from Con-necticut were represented in the lower house of congress by democrats. house of congress by democrats.

Mayor Buckingham of Bridgeport has appointed Senator Archibald McNeil a member of the board of police commissioners of that city. Senator McNeil was the chair-man of the finance committee of the democratic organization in the recent election which resulted in the election of Manuar Bushington election which resulted in the election of Mayor Buckingham. Senator M'Neil of Mayor Buckingham. Senator M Neil has a business capacity and an apti-tude for public affairs. His appoint-ment on the police commission of the lity of his birth will afford him op-ortunities for useful service to the unicipality. Senator M'Neil con-ting to be a leading capididat for the ues to be a leading candidate for the resentation of this state on the nditures for ocratic national committee in suc-on to Senator Thomas J. Spellacy his city. While it is generally unof the public. On February 11, a meetre prepared ing was held at which Bunce and ion. Never tood that the candidates for Sen-Spellacy's place are practically fined to aspirants in Fairfield Howard were chosen delegates to a respect at least to be sure that my silence is not to be construed as evidence of ong as it is publican mass meeting to be held at axable propestrangement. . It is almost time for the res Pittsburgh. Following were the signers inty, there is the possibility that a roon from another county in the Letters of General Joseph R. Hawley Hero of the Civil War, Hartford Editor, Governor of Connecticut, Congressman and

United States Senator.

Written to

CHARLES DUDLEY WARNER His Lifelong Friend and Associate in Newspaper Work.

Copyright, 1929, by The Hartford Times, Inc., Trustee

No. XVII.

The year 1856 was a notable period in the history of the nation and in Hawley's life. It was marked by the birth of the republican party, which Hawley promptly joined and with which his political fortunes were to be associated for the rest of his life.

Hawley's urging that Warner should attend his wedding had been without avail. Warner did not find it possible present. Thereafter the brideto be groom was busy for some months with his own affairs, domestic and business, and the correspondence lapsed until Warner felt apparently that he had given offense by failing to attend the wedding. He intimated as much to Hawley and that genercus-minded individual had many things to tell him when he replied on June 1. He did not tell him in the correspondence of the birth of the republican party in Connecticut, but he was a participant in it. Years later John F. Morris, another cf the organizers, wrote an article for the Courant in which he described how the movement got its start in this state.

Birth of Republican Party.

Nathaniel P. Banks, jr., of Massa-chusetts, had been elected to Congress by the combination of democrats and free soilers and had then joined his fortunes with the know-nothing party, eventually turning to the new republican group. The house of representatives was in the throes of choosing a speaker and on the one-hundred-andthirty-third ballot Banks was chosen. The fact that a member of the new party had been elected to this exalted office, of course stimulated its members. The election occurred on February 2, 1856.

Morris recounted that on the following day, Sunday, February 3, he met Hawley upon the street and said to him, "Isn't it about time a republican organization was formed here?" "Yes, it is fully time, we must be about it,' Hawley replied.

That afternoon Morris received, at his house, a note from Hawley asking him to be at the latter's office at seven in the evening. When he appeared there were a few republicans gathered. Hawley was present, also Calvin Day, John M. Niles, a former democrat and one of the founders of The Hartford Times, Mark Howard, insurance president, Gideon Welles, who was to become Lincoln's secretary of war and who had broken with the democratic party on the slavery issue, James M. Bunce, David F. Robinson and Nathaniel Shipman. These were the men who were to take the steps that evening that resulted in the founding of the republican party in Connecticut.

My Dear Charlle: Niles and Welles were appointed to A certain mayor and a cer duced that Your letter was most heartily wel-come.—You cught not to have suspected me of any coolness, my dear boy, for you have known me well enough in one rethe of fame are said to address ea familiarly as "Bat." Familiarit draw up a circular for the information the April election, 1856, he received interest in 1855 to establish a weekly paper at Amherst, Mass. When Gideon Welles became secretary of the navy in Lincoln's cabinet he took Faxon to Washington with him as chief clerk and the latter remained there throughout the war and after, eventually becoming assistant secretary.

Hawley was back in politics; against his will. He hated the know nothings as much as ever. He was planning to attend the Philadelphia convention of the new republican party. He did not approve the plan to nominate Fremont, regarding him simply a man on horceback rather than the exponent of great principles.

Hawley saw in the republican party the political organization he had long ago predicted, which would suit his ideas.

The country was seething with the slavery issue. The struggle to dominate Kansas, which produced the outrages that gave the territory the nickname "bleeding Kansas" was exciting the whole country. Charles Sumner of Massachusetts made the Kansas situation the subject of a brilliant and bitter speech in the Uunted States senate in May, 1856, during which he attacked Stephen A. Douglas and Senator Butler of South Carolina, the latter a venerable, white bearded ex-judge of nearly seventy. Preston Brooks, a representative and relative of Butlers entered the senate chamber and assaulted Summer, beating him with a cane.

Douglas was said to have stood by with his hands in his pockets watching the attack. At least one senator, in a speech later, expressed his approval of Brooks' action. With his sentiments of course the chivalrous Hawley was sutraged. As he later told Warner he vrote to Sumner offering his services as bodyguard. His letter of June 1:

Hartford, June 1st, 1856

new party for the governorship and in structiveness" in the direction of bon-the April election, 1856, he received high authority among her own sex. He in the authority among her own sex. He in the authority are been are and additional terms of the second seco the April election, 1856, he received 6,700 votes. The Press is Established. Hawley told Warner in his letter of June 1 of the establishment of the Press which was to become the organ of the group of republicans. One hundred of them, of whom Haw ey undoubtedly was one although he does not say so, put up $100 each for the purpose. The paper was published under the firm name of Faxon & Pierce, the lat-ter being Hawley's chum, Faxon was William Faxon, a native of the Elm-wood section of West Hartford, who had been a practical printer and a pro-prietor of the Courant, disposing of his interest in 1855 to establish a weekly hever lorgive you. Ten to one I shall be cross then. The Evening Press. By the way, do you know that my room mate, Pierce, is editor now? "The Evening Press" (dally) & "Connecticut Press" (weekly) is the organ of the Re-publican party in Conn., published at Hartford by "Faxon & Pierce. Faxon is business man, compiler of news items, etc. Pierce literary, etc., editor, assisted in the politics by Gideon Welles, a Past Grand of the Demccratic party, of the school of Benton, Van Euren, Wilmot, Wentworth, Bryant, etc. John M. Niles also helped, but alas, the old father in Israel, may God for-ever bless him, died yesterday afternoon. He was a true hearted old soldier in the good cause. I grew to love him for his political information was boundless & he had a reason for the faith that was in him. His politics had some connec-tion with his soul & did not change every day. Modern sham democracy he utterly abhorred. The Press bids fair to live & grow strong. The capital is furnished by a few Republicans here utterly abhorred. The Press bids fair to live & grow strong. The capital is furnished by a few Republicans here . . . Contrary to my wishes I got heels over head in politics again this spring & have been helping pull the wires to the best of my ability. We are squabbling over a U.S. Senator just now but we shall choose one, though he will not be my first choice prob-ably—Cursed Know Nothingism, with Fox's Book of Martryrs in one hand & a dark lantern in the other, creeping up back stairs at midnight to swear big oaths in secret against the poor old hope, has got firm hold in this puri-tanical country & has raised the devi-with all true politics. I heartily wist the Slavery question could be pos-poned for a few years so that we might thrash this youngest child of the De to its satisfaction. The Devil did hin self credit in getting up this last doda to distract Northern sentiment. The coning to the Philadelphia Convention God willing, & of course I shall see you I write by this same mail to engage a bed at the Girard House. A Touch of Sentiment.

A Touch of Sentiment. Monday Morning.

Monday Morning. It was ten o'clock, Charlie, and lone-some sitting there in the parlor alone so I shoved the paper aside, went to our room, took a dear sleepy head on my arm' and took a solid snooze for 7½ hours. There's great satisfaction, my dear fellow, in having one friend to stay by you. She isn't moving off to some distant state or even taking another boarding place.

vou get $700 a year you can be married any day. I shall not spend over that this year. To be sure, (without making any reflections upon your beloved Su-who I doubt not is worthy of you, 3 that is saying a great deal) my wife is one not to be found every day She is ashamed of economy & is cheerfully willing to do all that wives of the old time did. She is a farmer's daugh-ter & has kept house 3 years before, do-ing all the work or nearly all, of a farm house. She doesn't want the bother of ing all the work or nearly all, of a farm house. She doesn't want the bother of a servant, for the constant care of one would be as much as the help received. I could not really ask a good girl to take such a home, unless she had been previously trained to it. My wife knows her cookery book and work basket bet-ter than I know Blackstone, and she enjoys "The Saints Tragedy" of Kings-ley which I am reading to her, & Sum-ner's Speech also, as well as I do . . . Father is preaching in Peterboro to Gerrit' Smith's church and doing some good perhaps but scarcely living on 400 or so per year. I can't persuade him that he should get a living & more at preaching, or go at something, else. He 'counts himself in the free fight & it is never likely to ask to be counted out. Do you believe in Fremont's nomina-tion? I don't, decidedly. It's another Harrison or Taylor or Scott nomination —losing faith in principle and trying by the availability dodge to avoid the fancled odium of the cause. If our cause is good and we are not afraid to go to 'the people with it, let us take a well tried champion who represents the principles odium & all. Then, when we do whip we shall know what we hava lone. Summer's Speech and the Assault. lone. Summer's Speech and the Assault. Isn't Summer's speech magnificent? There's been nothing like it for many a year in this or any Country. As to the assault, why I am astonished at the cowardice & meanness of it. Gen-uine fighting men would taboo the scoundrel who should be guilty of it. Northern men have got to fight yet. It shouldn't be sought, neither should it be avoided an instant. I find myself looking with a singular coolness upon this & the Konsas out-rages. The Temper of the American a woman who held up her hand and declared she would never wear anything but a short skirt or dress. the words had a familiar sound. I manber, for I was 15. when bustles came into style. Women, many of them, said they would never wear a bustle but they did, and later when I got to wearing one I knew the thing was a bit laughable. They had begun to say they would never go without one. They thought that a flat back was-wellwas a bit queer without the laving grace of a bustle. You see we get used in time to wearing even a wooden leg. The bustle in time did go, and other styles have gone, so will the extreme short skirt, and if it comes to a choice of a dress that comes down to a rea ionable length well towards the ball of he leg or lower, and on the other hand he one so short that one can see so nuch leg, I prefer the longer skirt for grown woman. It is not altogether nodesty I am thinking about, but lack I beauty, for I maintain there is nothng edifying or beautiful in a display if fat or scrawny knees, aye, thighs lowering at one from across the alsle f a public car.

Let me say good and loud that the oung women of the nineties had no celing of being hampered, nor were ney dull, unhealthy, homely or sneaky, s has been said of them. The world as always been at its best when women ished gently and men worked, and gether they made homes; homes and ppiness are the great needs to-day: ither paint, artificial curls, jazz nor aried nerves will bring them, but a e bit of sacrifice on the part of men who are well off, and whether on.

A certain mayor and a certain boxer fame are said to address each other niliarly as "Bat." Familiarity should duly bridled before it gets to the itual monicker of Batty.

t is almost time for the regulars to ne out with the reiteration that win-5 and snowstorms are not what they lly called good and old. But they uld remember that a ten-inch snow sn't reach up as high on them as it when they wore mittens with strings keep them from getting lost.

hese newer motion cinema houses 7 be palaces as the owners claim, but il someone relieves us of our overduring a torrid, stuffy performe so we won't lose the crease in trousers we will continue to hold a of a brief against whatever they

* eavyweight boxers at a London ch the other evening, apparently in West End, had to share the spott with the Prince of Wales and rge Bernard Shaw who happened e in the audience, and one of the ters who planned appearing in his ular ring attire consisting of tights requested by the prince to wear ething from his waist up, out of ideration for the ladies present. It carefully noted that the request did e from the prince and not from the natist.

* Thanksgiving.

'an you still stand a little more?' dfather asked of Little Willie at table last Thursday afternoon at it half-past two. ure," said Little Willie. "I can chew, but I can't swallow."

e know some who think a collision be unable to attend. It was also de-cided to hold a big Christmas party at the Republican club this year. This will be the first big affair this year of its kind to be held at the rooms of the club. It is expected that each mem-ber of the club will bring a present with which to furnish the tree. Irving S. Hamilton was chosen chairman of with which to furnish the tree. Irving S. Hamilton was chosen chairman of a committee to provide gifts for the tree. The affair will be the first of its kind, to be given by the club. Town Chairman Joseph S. Morrissey, who has just arrived home in time to attend the meeting of the club, was well pleased to learn what had been done to provide, for a combination republican celebration and Christmas tree.

Celebration and Christmas tree. It may be taken for granted, in spite of rumors to the contrary, that Con-gressman Richard P. Freeman of the Second district, will be again the repub-lican candidate for congress in the dis-triet next year. He has no desire to retire from the representation of the district and there is no disposition to suggest that he be superseded. Mr. Freeman has now represented the dis-trict since 1915. Territarially it is the largest district in the state, but in population it is but 232.192 or a little more than the Flith district, which has a population of 224.426. The district has not been represented by a democrat since the late Bryan F. Mahan repre-sented it from 1913 to 1915. It may be of passing interest to note that when the Second district was represented by a democrat, all the districts from Con-necticut were represented in the lower house of congress by democrats.

Mayor Buckingham of Bridgerort has appointed Senator Archibald McNeil a member of the board of police commissioners of that city. Senator McNeil was the that city. Senator McNeil was the chair-man of the finance committee of the man of the finance committee of the democratic organization in the recent election which resulted in the election of Mayor Buckingham. Senator M'Neil has a business capacity and an apti-tude for public affairs. His appoint-ment on the police commission of the fly of his birth will afford him op-ortunities for useful service to the unicipality. Senator M'Neil con-thues to be a leading candidate for the representation of this state on the der scratic national committee in auc-cr in to Senator Thomas J. Spellacy constitutes for Senator Sen-ator Spellacy's place are practically ator Spellacy's place are practically confined to aspirants in Fairfield county, there is the possibility that a person from another county in the state may be chosen to attend to the secretarial work of the national com-mittee of the demonstratic party. Out d to be in the days which are gen-lly called good and old. But they a number of years since the republican when the late Samuel Fessenden of Stamford filled the position of secre-tary. It is understood that Mayor Buckingham intends to give a great deal of personal attention to the work of the police board during his term. In carrying out this plan the mayor will give satisfaction to the people of Bridgeport. Taking his policy as in-dicated in his statements it is clear that Mayor Buckingham is determined to give the second largest city in the state a successful administration. *

* * * Litchfield county has recently lost two prominent citizens, one a democrat and the other a republican. The former, Mr. Marsh, represented the town of Litchfield at four sessions of the legis-latur and the other, Judge Warner, had a distinguished legislative career before his promotion to the bench. Mr. Marsh was a resident of the historic town of Litchfield at the session of 1893. He had for his colleague, the brilliant young lawyer. Walter S. Judd. Mr. Marsh was a member of the com-mittee on appropriations and it is re-called that he saved the state an ap-preciable amount by the course which he took in the payment of legal exhe took in the payment of legal ex-penses in connection with the "dead lock" session. Mr. Marsh was encour-aged in his attitude by the friendly sup-port which he received from his towns-man, Governor Charles B. Andrews, who afterwards presided at the constitutional man, Governor Charles B. Andrews, who afterwards presided at the constitutional convention of 1902. It will be recalled that the constitution adopted by the convention was rejected by quite a large majority by the people of the state. It may be of interest to note that an-other attempt to change the system of representation was embrodied in a bill representation the late Lewis Sperry but prepared by the late Lewis Sperry but the people also rejected it. There has been more or less talk since then that another attempt may be our me was a harmerbam m m Years later John F. Morris, another cf the organizers, wrote an article for the Courant in which he described how the movement got its start in this state. Birth of Republican Party.

Nathaniel P. Banks, jr., of Massachusetts, had been elected to Congress by the combination of democrats and free soilers and had then joined his fortunes with the know-nothing party eventually turning to the new republican group. The house of representatives was in the throes of choosing a speaker and on the one-hundred-andthirty-third ballot Banks was chosen. The fact that a member of the new party had been elected to this exalted office, of course stimulated its members. The election occurred on February 2, 1856

Morris recounted that on the following day, Sunday, February 3. he met Hawley upon the street and said to him, "Isn't it about time a republican organization was formed here?" "Yes, it is fully time, we must be about it,' Hawley replied.

That afternoon Morris received, at his house, a note from Hawley asking him to be at the latter's office at seven in the evening. When he appeared there were a few republicans gathered. Hawwas present, also Calvin Day, John ley M. Niles, a former democrat and ore of the founders of The Hartford Times, Mark Howard, insurance president, Gideon Welles, who was to become Lincoln's secretary of war and who had broken with the democratic party on the slavery issue, James M. Bunce, David F. Robinson and Nathaniel Shipman. These were the men who were to take the steps that evening that resulted in the founding of the republican party in Connecticut.

Niles and Welles were appointed to draw up a circular for the information of the public. On February 11, a meeting was held at which Bunce and Howard were chosen delegates to a republican mars meeting to be held at Pittsburgh. Following were the signers of the call for the February 11 meeting: Thomas S. Williams, Joseph Trumbull., Gideon Welles, Calvin Day, Alfred Smith, A. G. Hammond, Tertius Wadsworth, Loyal Wilcox, Philip Ripley, Erastus Smith, John Eldridge, Horatio E. Day, H. K. W. Welch, B. W. Greene, B. E. Hooker, R. G. Talcott, Newton Case, Thomas Steele, Roderick Terry, William W. Turner, Silas Andrews, John Beach, Thomas Smith Daniel Phillips, James L. Howard, Erastus Collins, H. A. Perkins, John G. Mix, Loren Sexton, Charles Goodwin, John M. Niles, D. R. Robinson, Thomas T. Fisher, James M. Bunce, Elijah H. Owen, Thomas C. Perkins, Austin Dunham, L. C. Ives, T. M. Allyn, George P. Bissell, Mark Howard, James B. Hosmer, George W. Root, Stephen Spencer, Gordon Robbins, W. H. D. Callender, Francis Birge, S. S. Chamberlin D. C. Pond, George W. Cornning, John Hooker, O. H. Case, Lewis Sheldon, Isaac Bird, Charles P. Well's, Nathaniel Shipman, Joseph R. Hawley, E. M. Pierce, G. Wells Roct. Roland Mather, Erastus Woodruff, Thomas R. Dutton, S. Boardman, J. H. Ashmead, Dr. L. J. Comstock, Charles Cheney E. W. Parsons, Thomas Adams, J. F. Morris, H. L. Bidwell, H. W. Hutchinson, Otis Warner, Samuel Coit, H. I. Rider, John B. Corning, Henry Birge, Elihu Geer, S. S. Batterson, L. P. Brockett, Alfred E. Ely, J. F. Judd, Gecrge S. Beach. S. M. Capron, N. Harris, Ellery Hills, M. H. Summer, "and," an advertisement in The Times concluded, as much as ever. He was planning to attend the Philadelphia convention of the new republican party. He did not approve the plan to nominate Fremont, regarding him simply a man on horceback rather than the exponent of great principles.

Hawley saw in the republican party the political organization he had long ago predicted, which would suit his ideas.

The country was seething with the slavery issue. The struggle to dominate Kansas, which produced the outrages that gave the territory the nickname 'bleeding Kansas" was exciting the whole country. Charles Sumnar of Massachusetts made the Kansas situation the subject of a brilliant and bitter speech in the Uunted States senate in May, 1856, during which he attacked Stephen A. Douglas and Senator Butler of South Carolina, the latter a venerable, white bearded ex-judge of nearly seventy. Preston Brooks, a representative and relative of Butlers entered the senate chamber and assaulted Summer, beating him with a cane.

Douglas was said to have stood hy with his hands in his pockets watching the attack. At least one senator, in a speech later, expressed his approval of Brooks' action. With his sentiments of course the chivalrous Hawley was sutraged. As he later told Warner he vrote to Sumner offering his services as bodyguard. His letter of June 1: Hartford, June 1st, 1856

Ly Locar Charne: Your letter was most heartily wel-come.—You ought not to have suspected me of any coolness, my dear boy, for you have known me well enough in one re-spect at least to be sure that my silence is not to be construed as evidence of estrangement. I was indeed sorry that you could get

I was, indeed, sorry that you could not come to my wedding, but I believed you literally when you said you would be glad to be there but could not, and so I made the best of it. It was asking no little of one so lean in purse as either of us. I shall endeavor to answer some of your questions. My bridesmen were Shipman, Train & Robinson (Nathaniel Shipman, Tain & Robinson (Nathaniel Shipman, father of A. L. Shipman, and Henry C. Robinson, father of L. F. and John T. Robinson.—Ed.), all of Hartford. You would have "stood up" with the prettiest girl in New Haven.—As it was Shipman had that honor. My friends—& Hooker with them—came down Christ-mas morning and stopped at the quiet old country inn where I spent most of the country inn where I spent most of the day with them. The wedding "went off" to everybody's perfect satisfaction and the next noon we took the cars with Uncle Sam Foote of New Haven & ramily, Hooker, my friends above named & several others. The hows have always Uncle Sam Foote of New Haven & ramily, Hooker, my friends above named & several others. The boys have always said they had a "first rate time," and 1 believe they did. My wife and I stopped at the Irving House in N. Y. and the next morning went up the Hudson to Albany & to Peterboro. Staid a week, went to Caz., etc., etc. Had a good time at Gerrit Smith's, a good time at home, & came back to Hartford. Had a couple of cap-ital evenings at Hooker's—Their New Year's festival was postponed until our arrival and we there received any quan-tity of presents, etc., etc. Guite as costly and pretty, though nothing wonderful, as we had any reason to expect. Staid at Hooker's & week or two, then went to board in town. Boarded until April 1st, bought a house and am now writing by my own parlor fire alone, having just accompanied my dear little wife to the door of her sanctum. She thinks I ought to answer "that letter of Charley War-ner," & I agree with her. ner," & I agree with her.

Hawley's Domestic Establishment.

My house is half house & fitted for a "many others." At Pittsburgh a republican na-tional committee was created of which John M. Niles was made Connec-

Washington with him as chief clerk and the latter remained there throughout the war and after, eventually becoming assistant secretary. Hawley was back in politics, against bis will. He hated the know nothings Summer the war planet of the sector. We set the sector of the school of Benton, Van Buren, Wilmot, We not worth, Bryant, etc.

John M. Niles also helped, but alas, the old father in Israel, may God for-ever bless him, died yesterday afternoon. He was a true hearted old soldier in the good cause. I grew to love him for his ever bless him, died yesterday afternoon. He was a true hearted old soldier in the good cause. I grew to love him for his political information was boundless & he had a reason for the faith that was in him. His politics had some connec-tion with his soul & did not change every day. Modern sham democracy he uterly ablorred. The Press bids fair to live & grow strong. The capital is furnished by a few Republicans here. Contrary to my wishes I got heels over head in politics again this spring & have been helping pull the wires to the best of my ability. We are squabbling over a U. S. Senator just now bit we shall choose one, though he will not be my first choice prob-ably—Cursed Know Nothingism, with Fox's Book of Martryrs in one hand & a dark lantern in the other. creeping up back stairs at midnight to swear big oaths in secret against the poor old hope, has got firm hold in this puri-tanical country & has raised the devi-with all true politics. I heartily wist the Slavery question could be pos poned for a few years so that we mig thrash this youngest child of the Dev to its satisfaction. The Devil did him self credit in getting up this last dodn to distract Northern sentiment. Tr coming to the Philadelphia Convention God willing, & of course I shall see you I write by this same mail to engage a bed at the Girard House. A Touch of Sentiment.

A Touch of Sentiment. Monday Morning.

Monday Morning. It was ten o'clock, Charlie, and lone-some sitting there in the parlor alone so I shoved the paper aside, went to our room, took a dear sleepy head on my arm and took a solid snooze for 71% hours. There's great satisfaction, my dear fellow, in having one friend to stay by you. She isn't moving off to some distant state or even taking another hear flag place you get $700 a year you can be married ony day. I shall not spend over that this year. To be sure, (without making any reflections upon your beloved Sur-who I doubt not is worthy of you, Su that is saying a great deal) my wife is one not to be found every day She is not ashamed of economy & is cheer-fully willing to do all that wives of the fully willing to do all that wives of the old time did. She is a farmer's daugh-ter & has kept house 3 years before, do-ing all the work or nearly all, of a farm house. She doesn't want the bother of a servant, for the constant care of one would be as much as the help received house. She doesn't want the bother of a servant, for the constant care of one would be as much as the help received. I could not really ask a good girl to take such a home, unless she had been previously trained to it. My wife knows her cookery book and work basket bet-ter than I know Blackstone, and she enjoys "The Saints Tragedy" of Kings-ley which I am reading to her, & Sum-ner's Speech also, as well as I do... Father is preaching in Peterboro to Gerrit' Smith's church and doing some good perhaps but scarcely living on 400 or so per year. I can't persuade him that he should get a living & more at preaching, or so at something else. He counts himself in the free fight & 10 is never likely to ask to be counted out. Do you believe in Fremont's nomina-tion? I don't, decidedly. It's another Harrison or Taylor or Scott nomination —Josing faith in principle and trying by the availability dodge to avoid the fancied odium of the cause. If our cause is good and we are not afraid to go to the people with it, let us take a well tried champion who represents the principles odium & all. Then, when we do whip we shall know what we hava ione.

Sumner's Speech and the Assault.

Sumner's Speech and the Assault. Isn't Sumner's speech magnificent? There's been nothing like it for many a year in this or any Country. As to the assault, why I am astonished at the cowardice & meanness of it. Gen-uine fighting men would taboo the scoundrel who should be guilty of it. Northern men have got to fight yet. It shouldn't be sought, neither should it be avoided an instant. I find myself looking with a singular be avoided an instant. I find myself looking with a singular coolness upon this & the Konsas out-rages. The Temper of the American people is being tried. They now can see clearly the truth of all that aboli-tionists have told them for 20 years. If they submit to all this at the ballot box then are they unfit for freedom. The matchless impudence of the Sham Democracy astaineds me.

cross the great wide ocean is an n indeed, but it speaks well for the	made to give the populous centers a greater representation than they have. The attempt to correct the inequalities in representation by increasing the number of senators has failed and under the present constitution there is no hope of correcting them.	Hartford. A republican club was or- ganized soon with G. Wells Root as president, Joseph R. Hawley, F. T. Fisher and Roswell Blodgett as vice-presidents.	house & rent a good tenement over me, so that my rent really costs me no more than a hundred a year. My wife does not wish the bother of a servant & I don't want the expense so we get along very economically & comfortably. She enjoys it & so do I. She is an ex- cellent cook, seamstress & housekeeper generally, wonderfully developed "con-	stands avowed. "These be your Gods, O Israel, choose ye this day whom you will serve." Good morning & God bless you. Yours ever, Jos. R. Hawley.
ks well for the increasing hardi- d of travelers that only one relative uld fall sick that day. Tourist eaus, we understand, call it travel- idedness. The public seems to have ray as many hyphenated "minded- ses" as national "weeks."  This harbor accident to the doughty i Lady of the Sea also proves again it you seldom get scratched while ming full speed along the highway you do when trying to get away on the curb.  Simile for to-day: As hopeless as a woman's search for a coat she likes.  A genius is an individual who is con- the with crusts if they are spread with praise.  Some of the old classics seem to have for endings, and doubtless the editors them short to fit around the ad- tisting.	was the distinguished jurist, Donald T. Warner of Salisbury, who died the other day to the regret of all factions in the republican party and of a host of friends who were not in partisan ac- cord with him. An incident happened in the old supreme court in the capitol where the members of the board of par- dons were in session that was worthy of note and which showed that what- ever feeling existed among the follow- ers of the candidates for governtr it did not affect their personal friendship. Mr. McLean was clerk of the board of pardons and was seated at his dest in the courtroom perfecting his records when Mr. Warner, then state's at- tornity for Litchfield county, entered the court room and proceeded to the desk of the clerk. "Good morning Don: I hope you are well," was the clerk's cordial salutation.	and I continue to make faces at each other," 'Emarked State's Attorney Arthur F. Eggleston to an attorney from another part of the state who sat next him.  The republican party in the state was rent asunder. Morgan G. Bulkeley, who had been governor, was ambitious to be United States senator and his ambition had the support of State Chairman O. R. Fyler of Litchfield county, and Allan W. Paige, a former speaker of the house, who was reckoned as a power in Fairfield county. Mr. Fessenden decided to make an effort to secure a dominant influence in the party throughout the state and to secure a victory over such powerful opponents as Governor Bulkeley, Fyler and Paige. He induced Judge Warner to enter the race for the nomination for governor. The fight for the control of the party began in the spring of 1900 when a new state central committee was appointed. The Warner-Fessenden faction was de- feated for the control of the state cen- tral committee by a narrow margin. In the convention the supporters of Mr. McLean won by a small majority. A change of about twenty-one votes would have given the Warner forces the con- trol of the convention. Unidenfully	A peculiar situation in regard to the financial affairs of six school districts in Waterbury has developed. In ex- plaining the situation the Waterbury American says in a front page news story: "The six outlying school districts which have been receiving from the second district taxes the fat sum of about $35,000 toward the support of their teachers, will be rudely shocked to hear the finance board on advice of the charter commission has stricken this item from the 1930 budget. The second district, it is said, has been pay- ing over half of the salaries of the 32 teachers employed in those six schools and the commission finds this is con- trary to law, an injustice to those tax- payers in the inside district. It has been the custom of the city for many years to pay large salary items to these	to meet this item. Those districts are the Hopeville, the East Farms, the East Mountain, the Oronoke, the Reidville and the Park road." * The commenting on the makeup of the Middletown Press makes this editorial reference to the appointment of Hart- ford's distinguished citizen. Charles A. Goodwin, who has worked with un- selfish devotion for the perfection of the plans for the creation of the district. "There are men of affairs on the com- mission. The state will take notice of Charles A. Goodwin. There is a bit of political tragedy associated with his aim for public service. He was the victim of a peculiar jumble of convention do- ings followed by betrayal by old party held to do the will of those who were involved ultimately in the wreck of the New Haven railroad. His ambition was to be governor, but this combination of mismanagement and special interests involved ultimately in the wreck of the set has not since sought of- ide end the sinterest in politics to a degree, he has not since sought of- ide district idea and it was fitting that he should be on the first commission. It is natural that the political complexion should be republican. That accords with the majority sentiment in all the towns, excent Hartford, and for the present.