IRC Holds First Meeting

On Tuesday evening the IRC entertained the new members of the organization and the alumnae with a supper in Miss Price's office. The meeting was the first one of the year.

Ora Kate Wisenbaker president gave a short talk welcoming the new members and outlining the program of work to be followed during the year. In conclusion she introduced the other officers of the club which are: Geraldine Bowen, vice president and secretary, Mildred Wilson, treasurer, Virginia Parrish, member-at-large.

The new members include: Lois Greene, Margie Jones, Ann Parham, Sylvia Bell, Mary Lovett, Josephine Graham, Marjorie Combs, Rosalind Lane, and Frances Van Brackle.

Faculty who were present were: Dr. Eleanor N. Brink, Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Durrenburger and Miss Mildred M. Price.

Will There Be War In Europe, Or Not?

Soldiers are marching, governments are collapsing, men are dying, murders are being committed, and the International relations club is conducting a weekly summary of all these news events. These meetings will be open to students and faculty members on Mondays at assembly period in Room 113.

It has been the policy of the club to conduct a forum and present a speaker each year. This year, the club has decided to keep the students well informed as to the international situation by having members of the club review all important world events each Monday morning.

Ora Kate Wisenbaker, club president, in announcing this program, extended an invitation to all members of the student body and faculty to attend. This series of meetings is a significant step in carrying out the object of the Club, which is an understanding and promotion of world peace.

IRC Forum Will Discuss World Events

During chapel period every Monday morning of this quarter the International Relations Club is going to hold an Open Forum to discuss current world events. The first of these meetings was held on last Monday, October 3, when a large number of students listened to the following discussion by Ora Kate Wisenbaker, Penelope Tullis, and Geraldine Bowen:

"The Causes Underlying and the Events Leading up to Hitler's Demand for the Sudeten area."

"Events After Hitler's Demand up until the Dead-line."

"Attempts to Make Peace."

After these topics were given, everyone entered into a discussion of them.

The purpose of the forum is to promote on our campus a better understanding and appreciation of world events. The officials of the club were highly pleased with the interest shown at this first meeting.

Come to Room 113, anyone interested in learning what's being done to prevent our entering a World War and in learning how to be an alert, keen citizen. The I. R. C. can't have an open forum without you, and you, and you.

Not Flowers

... but a pedestal for the I. R. C. It has already raised itself pretty high, so slipping a nice, tall pedestal beneath its feet is more a matter of principle than anything else.

Even this early in the year, the club's accomplishments are noteworthy. We hail the weekly open forum on current affairs as a significant step forward, not only in the club's activities but in widening the interests of the students.

Of course, if you wanted to be a cynic, you could quote that well known phrase about necessity being the mother of invention. Yes, the present situation in Europe did demand some such action such as has been taken on our campus. That the I. R. C. saw and met the need is laudable.

And while we are about it, let's decorate the pedestal. Let's give the club more than plain, bare recognition.

Did you know that four, fifty dollar scholarships are made available by the club, each year to History majors? Have you noticed the section of I. R. C. books in the library, put there for the rest of the students to enjoy?

In the past this club has been outstanding for the excellent speakers it has sponsored.

IRC Spotlight On Celebrities

Celebrities held the spotlight at the weekly Open Forum of the I. R. C. which met Monday during chapel period in Room 113.

The meeting was called to order by the president and the minutes read by the secretary.

This procedure was followed by a program which included short discussions on the following men:

Honors Go To

The Sports Club this week as an outstanding campus organization. If the I. R. C. is making a forward step in keeping us mentally alert, the Sports Club is doing its share to keep us the typical and ideal outdoor girls.

Under its system, student may invite guests to join them in playing games on campus. The college and Sports Club equipment is made available at this time; membership in this club not being required for participation.

A significant phase of this program that should not pass unnoticed is the fact that sports which can be enjoyed with friends and which will therefore carry over after college, are encouraged on our campus. The campus itself is the proving ground for the college program.

Today marks the second co-recreation afternoon to be held on campus. Today we wish to offer rather belated congratulations to the Sports Club and best wishes for its success.

U. S. Envoys Discussed By I R C

American ambassadors to foreign countries was the subject for the discussion at the International Relations Club Open Forum on Monday. Mildred Wilson gave a short talk on Joseph Davies, former ambassador to Russia.

Rosalind Lane, the second speaker on the program based her report on Joseph P. Kennedy, present ambassador to England. William Christian Bullitt, diplomat to France, was characterized by Frances Van Brackle.

World Affairs To Be Reviewed At Forum Monday

Topics to be discussed at the next open Forum of the I. R. C. are "Great Britain and the Effects of Peace with Honor" by Ora Kate Wisenbaker. "Italy and Germany, the Jewish Persecutors" will be given by Ann Parham. Josephine Graham will give "Result of Recent Elections in the U. S."

"The Fortnightly Review", a bi-monthly publication has been received by the club from the Carnegie Endowment Fund. The yearly allotment of books has also been received by the club.

A run-over election will be necessary to determine whether the secretary of the club will be Penelope Tullis or Marjorie Combs.

Graham, Combs Discuss Wars Of Orient At Forum

On Monday morning the I. R. C. discussion of world events centered around the War in Palestine, and the Japanese penetration of South China.

Josephine Graham gave the causes of the present conflict in Palestine. She outlined the British interests in the question along with the Arabic and Jewish interests.

The Chino-Japanese struggle was reviewed by Marjorie Combs. She stated that Britain has warned Japan to stay out of Southern China, but so far Japan has not heeded the warning. The Chinese report that before Japanese troops can reach the capital that they must encounter thirty battalions of Chinese soldiers.

I. R. C. Open Forum

"Germany's Lost Colonies" will be the subject discussed by the I. R. C. Open Forum on Monday morning at Chapel period in room 113.

A questionnaire on news will also be presented. If any student wishes to test her knowledge on current events, the club issues her a special invitation to attend.

Ambassadors To Be Subject Of I. R. C. Forum

Do you know who represents your country abroad? If you want to become acquainted with these diplomatic agents the I. R. C. issues an invitation to come to their discussion of them on Monday morning at Chapel period in Room 113.

The American ambassadors, whose lives and policies are to be discussed include those to England, France, Russia and Germany.

IRC Plans To Continue Open Discussions

On Monday at chapel period, the International Relations Club conducted their last open forum of the quarter. The discussion consisted of General Strike in France, by Frances Van Brackle; Axis over Spain, by Geraldine Bowen and Conquerors Conundrum, by Josephine Graham.

Plans have been made to continue the forum next quarter. The plans will be made in accordance with the wishes of the students in covering national and international affairs.

Geraldine Bowen, chairman of the program said, "The aim of the open forum has been to acquaint the students with international affairs. The forums have been well attended and we have had visitors from town as well as students and faculty members.

IRC Presents Varied Program At Monday Forum

Three important topics of world news will be the subject of the I. R. C. open forum Monday morning. The discussions will center around (1) Investigate Mr. Dies, (2) Black Shirts in Latin America, (3) Latest Developments in China. The open forum will take place at Chapel Period in Room 113.

IRC Will Feature Magazine Articles At Monday Forum

On Monday, December 5, the last of the series of Open Forums on International Affairs sponsored by the I. R. C. will be held. Current magazine articles of world interest will be discussed. Penelope Tullis, Rosalind Lane and Mary Lovett will take part in the program.

President Ora Kate Wisenbaker announced that the forums would be resumed after Christmas. She stated that from the standpoint of attendance the forums have been highly successful, and therefore would be continued as long as they were in demand.

IRC Announces Winner of Dress In Number Contest

Mrs. J. D. McKey of Valdosta was announced by the I. R. C. as the winner of the $25 dress given away by the club at Varnedoe's. Chances at ten cents each were sold on the dress. Geraldine Bowen, chairman of the committee in charge, stated that twenty dollars was cleared on the raffle.

The purpose of the scheme was to raise enough money to finance, at least partly, the expenses of all the club members to the Southeastern conference at Williamsburg, Va. in the spring. If this goal is not achieved, another similar activity that will include all the members will be undertaken.

To the Members of the
INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUBS:

It is difficult to choose which book to comment upon first of those which are going forward to you in this second instalment for the academic year. They are all of interest and importance and concerned with vital world problems of today. Let us begin with:

PEACE WITH THE DICTATORS, by Norman Angell

If you held a position of responsibility at this time of world crisis, how would you deal with the dictators? Would you approach the problem of preserving the peace by differentiating between governments in this way? If not, what are other approaches to it? What compromises and concessions would you make? You, as IRC members, are familiar enough with Norman Angell's clear-cut unemotional analyses to recognize at once that this book will present all points of view and discuss them logically and reasonably. I venture to predict that after reading the first pages - "The German Speaks" - you will go straight through the book. Strictly objective, Mr. Angell states finally, with straightforward honesty, his own conclusions and his judgment as to policies that should be followed. Do you agree with him?

THE CRISIS OF DEMOCRACY, by William E. Rappard

Here you have what we may call "The Case for Democracy." It is after all futile to discuss the world crisis without basic knowledge of the meaning of democracy, of its successes and its failures. How do these contrast with those of the totalitarian states? How best can the 18th Century ideals of liberty, equality and fraternity be realized under present industrial and social conditions, national and international? The author states, "however we define democracy it is a regime inherently and essentially opposed to that of contemporary dictatorships." (page 8) How will that do to start a discussion? What do you think? Go back to the book reviewed above for additional material. These two books contain the very essence of present-day problems. They are worth reading.

THE MEDITERRANEAN IN POLITICS, by Elizabeth Monroe

How about the demands being made these days by the Great Powers - whatever their government? And how much influence have the smaller nations in deciding the issue? This problem could hardly be more dramatically set forth than by the situation in countries around the Mediterranean. Since the dawn of history, this inland sea has been a center of international competition and never more so than in the present world crisis. This book, written by a member of the staff of the Royal Institute of International Affairs in London, is the result of fifteen months of study and personal investigation. It is "not so much a history of the relations between the countries involved as a survey of the motives which determine the policies of these countries." It is written in an easy, readable style, has excellent maps and will hold your attention from cover to cover.

JAPAN IN CHINA, by T. A. Bisson

Interest in the Far East is kept at fever heat as one event rapidly succeeds another and conditions shift almost from day to day. In order to keep a sane and balanced outlook it is well to review the situation and keep a general background clear upon which to judge more recent happenings. This book is as if designed specifically for the purpose. Prepared under a fellowship from the Rockefeller Foundation by a representative of the Foreign Policy Association, it gives an objective account and analysis of events in China and also in Japan, particularly since 1933. It is distinctly the type of book to be used by the IRC's and will be of great help in clarifying the situation for those who wish to think for themselves.

PEACE AND REARMAMENT, compiled by Julia E. Johnsen

This little book will serve two excellent purposes for Club meetings. First, it will supply you with important material on the subject it treats, presenting through reprints and excerpts the views of authorities who differ widely, and also a selected bibliography. Secondly, it offers this material classified and summarized for debate and sets the stage for the sort of worthwhile discussion the Clubs stand for. It is hardly necessary to add that the implications of rearmament are of most vital concern in considering the possibilities of preserving the peace of the world.

If any proof were needed of the interdependence of national interests, an examination of these books alone would suffice. The book on rearmament discusses Japan. The book on China and Japan discusses the United States. The book on the Mediterranean takes us as far afield as Ethiopia and Australia, and discusses the Arab-Jewish problem, and Nazi Germany. The other two books must by their very nature include practically the whole world. It seems impossible to isolate one country from another even in books. Is there any chance of doing it in the actual world? You will find plenty of material to answer this question in these books for your IRC library sent with best greetings to you all.

Sincerely yours,

Tommy Himmurray Jones
Division Assistant in charge of the
International Relations Clubs

P.S. The pamphlet THE FAMILY OF NATIONS listed in the package was sent you in advance.

Far East And Mediterranean, Discussed By IRC

Girls, now your chance to really learn something about the situations in the Far East and in the Mediterranean. On Monday at the weekly Open Forum of the I. R. C., two members will review two of the books recently received from the Carnegie Endowment Fund. Penelope Tullis will review "The Mediterranean in Politics" by Elizabeth Monroe. Ora Kate Wisenbaker will review "Japan In China" by T. A. Bisson.

Mediterranean Crisis

"The Mediterranean in Politics" will do much to clarify the newspaper reports of the situation which so often prove to be a stumbling block to the general reader. It is not so much concerned with the politics of the various nations who have an interest in the Mediterranean as with a survey of their motives and their probable future acts. It also takes up the fortunes of the three lesser powers also involved in the situation, Turkey, Spain and Egypt.

This program is the first of a series of more or less recapitulation talks on the various centers of international interest in the world. They will go back and attempt to picture the causes of the particular crisis, discuss the present trends and the probable future results.

Florida Glee Club To Present Concert Saturday

Gainesville, Fla.

Open letter to the women of G.S.W.C.: Dear girls,

Ever since your International Relations Club invited our University of Florida Glee club up to Valdosta to give a concert, on Saturday night, February 25, we have been looking forward to the trip with a great deal of pleasure.

As you probably have heard, we suffer the same fate that you do in that we are non-coeducational here at Gainesville. Consequently there is nothing we like better than to sing at a school like GSWC where there is nothing but women. We have found that it makes us sing a lot better if we have an audience comprised of such charming young ladies as we understand make up the State College.

A bunch of the fellows sang in Valdosta about 12 years ago but that was before our time. We look forward very eagerly, however, to renewing our connection and hope that you will all turn out to hear us. We have a lot of good numbers on our program, including some hot college tunes, and we are sure that you will enjoy it.

We'll be up there next week and give our best for Georgia, so until then we all send our love.

Singly yours,
Florida's AMBASSADORS OF GOOD WILL,
the gentlemen of the Glee club

Bell, Green Speak At Forum

At the weekly meeting of the I.R.C. Forum on Monday, February 6, Lois Green and Sylvia Bell were the principal speakers. Lois spoke on the conditions in Spain, and Sylvia discussed the Russo-Franco pact. There will be no forum on Monday, February 13; instead a movie relating to social science will be shown.

IRC Begins New Program Series

On Monday, February 20, the I.R.C. will feature the first of a series of topics at the Open Forum. These are the topics to be discussed at the Annual Southeastern conference of I.R.C. clubs to be held in Williamsburg, Virginia, at William and Mary College on April 6-8.

The following topics will be discussed: After Munich, Future of Racial Minorities, Far East, and Economic Problems in Relation to Peace.

The University of Florida's golden-voiced "Ambassadors of Good Will," are pictured above looking very uncomfortable in their tuxedos. Featuring four soloists and a 40-man chorus under the direction of Prof. John W. DeBruyn, the Florida singers will present their third concert of the season Saturday night under the auspices of the GSWC International Relations club.

U. Of Florida Glee Club Will Present Concert Here

The University of Florida's forty famous 'Ambassadors of Good Will' will journey into Valdosta Saturday evening to sing their way into the hearts of the ladies of Georgia State Womans' College.

Sponsored by IRC

Sponsored by the GSWC International Relations club, the Florida choristers will present a varied program which they hope will surpass any concert that has been heard in Valdosta since the Florida Glee club last sang there 12 years ago.

Under the direction of Prof. John W. DeBruyn, the chorus will open the program with their curtain raiser, "We Are the Boys From Old Florida," followed by three Latin pieces, two negro spirituals, two numbers of the classical variety, Speaks' sentimental "Sylvia," and the thrilling Russian folk-song, "At Father's Door," sung in the style of the Don Cossacks.

Four Solos

Highlighting the first half of the program will be four solos. Herman Gunther will sing

Massenet's "Vision Fugitive;" Wayne Montgomery will give Marshall's "I Hear You Calling Me," and Warner Fussell will sing Wolfe's powerful "De Glory Road." Harry Dale, accomplished pianist widely known for his recitals over radio station WRUF, will play a piano solo not yet selected.

Medley From the South

The finale to the first half will consist of the 35-man chorus' rendition of two Stephen Foster numbers and Pike's "Medley From the South."

Dramatic Offering

The second half of the program will begin with two musical skits played in uproarious burlesque. "Who Cut Her Throat?" with Bob Anderson and Henry Lorisch is the first, while "A Demonstration of Mental Deficiency," with Jack Robinson and Carney Mimms, rounds out the dramatic bill.

College Songs

For the grand finale DeBruyn will bring his chorus out once again to say good-bye with a medley of favorite college tunes

IRC Forum Gives Resume Of Sino-Jap War

In view of the approaching debate between Dr. No-Yung Park and Dr. Yutaka Minakuchi on the Chinese-Japanese situation, the IRC Open Forum on Monday centered around the Chino-Japanese war. Josephine Graham gave a short resume of the causes, history, and recent events of the war. This was done in order to enable listeners at the debate to understand more fully the points made by the speakers, and to outline questions that could be asked at the Open Forum to be held immediately following the debate.

Ora Kate Wisenbaker gave a brief talk on the recent resignation of Justice Louis D. Brandeis from the Supreme Court bench. Probable predictions for the impending nominations were also briefly discussed.

Next week the Forum will feature discussions on two of the topics chosen for a round-table discussions at the Southeastern IRC conference to be held at Williamsburg, Va. These topics are: After Munich, Future of Racial Minorities, Far East, Economic Adjustments for Peace, Pan-Americanism, and The Mediterranean.

After the Forum, the IRC held a short call meeting. Committees for the coming Glee Club concert were appointed and arrangements were made for the entertainment of the gentlemen of the Glee club.

Florida Glee Club To Give Varied Program Here

Variety and spice are the features of the 1938-39 program which will be presented in Valdosta on Saturday evening at the college auditorium by the University of Florida Glee Club. The Glee Club, which is sponsored by the International Relations Club at GSWC, will present selections by the entire club, interspersed with numbers by vocal and instrumental soloists. Several comedy skits also add materially to the program.

Chorus selections ranging from light "snappy" numbers to music of the higher classical type will satisfy the tastes of all music lovers.

Newspapers have been enthusiastic in their praise of the 'Gator songsters. The Tallahassee Democrat says: "... music critics characterize it as the greatest Glee Club performance which citizens of Tallahassee and students of the college have ever had the opportunity to hear." The Tampa Times remarks: "... an unsurpassable chorus of 30 voices and with seven soloists of professional calibre..." From the Pensacola Journal: "... every number encored and an audience that remained seated as the last curtain was drawn still showed its enthusiasm in repeated applause." "... one of the finest programs ever heard in Macon..." is the comment from the Macon News concerning the 1938 Florida Glee Club.

Tickets for the concert which begins at 8:30 were originally priced at 35c for everyone. However, the price is now 25c for students and 35c for adults.

I. R. C. Conference To Be Held Soon In Virginia

The Southeast International Relations Clubs Conference will be held at the College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, Virginia, April 6 to 8, and a number of G. S. W. C. students will attend. An outstanding feature of the program will be the student round tables on present-day situations.

Distinguished speakers will address the conference as guests of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace which sponsors these groups in colleges and universities throughout the country. The clubs have as their principal aim the objective study of international affairs. There are at present 859 clubs organized throughout the world and 706 in the United States.

The speakers will include Miss Amy Heminway Jones, the Carnegie representative in charge of International Relations Clubs; Dr. Calvin B. Hoover, professor of economics at Duke University whose subject is "Problems in Formulating a Foreign Policy for the United States," and Dr. Clyde Eagleton, professor of international law at New York University, who will speak on "The Far Eastern Crisis."

Dr. Lionel H. Laing, faculty adviser of the International Relations Club at William and Mary, is in charge of the Conference.

History Group To Leave For Williamsburg

Leaving Wednesday, April 5th for Williamsburg, Va., and points north, is a group of History majors. They will attend the twenty second annual conference of International Relations clubs which will be held at the College of William and Mary, April 6-8. The theme of the conference is recent international events and what methods can be used to inspire peace in the world of today.

Miss Amy Hemmingway Jones, director of the International Relations clubs for the Carnegie Endowment for Peace, will lead the conference. Well known authorities on international relations will speak during the meet. Among them are: Calvin B. Hoover and Dr. Clyde Eagleton, both of whom have had wide experience in handling international affairs in Europe and in the Far East.

Among the social affairs planned for the delegates are a dance, luncheons, and a special Easter morning service in the Players Dell. Dr. H. Freeman, widely known biographer of Robert E. Lee, will speak at this meeting.

Round table discussions will feature the Far East, Munich, the Future of Racial Minorities, Pan-Americanism and Economic Adjustments for Peace.

After the convention the group will leave for ~~Washington~~ where they will visit points of interest. They will also see Arlington, Mount Vernon, the Natural Bridge and the Mowbray Settlement at Winston-Salem.

The delegates will be gone for about ten days. Those attending are: Ora Kate Wisenbaker, president; Geraldine Bowen, vice president; Penelope Tullis, secretary; Ann Parham, Mary Lovett, Marjorie Combs, Mrs. Mary Lee Martindale, Ruby Jean Rogers, Martha Gordon Williford and Miss Mildred M. Price.

I. R. C. Group Of Womans College To Visit Williamsburg

Attending the Southeast International Relations Clubs Conference to be held at Williamsburg, Virginia April 6-8 will be a group of IRC members and several other college students at the Georgia State Womans College.

The college group, with Miss Mildred M. Price, faculty advisor of the IRC, will leave for Williamsburg April 5, and after attending the conference will spend several days visiting historic spots in Virginia and sightseeing in Washington en route home. They will return either April 13 or 14.

Members of the IRC who will make the trip are: Geraldine Bowen, Josephine Graham, Penelope Tullis, and Ora Kate Wisenbaker, all of Valdosta; Marjorie Combs, Sylvester; Mary Lovett, Sparks; Anne Parham, Warm Springs. Other students going are Mrs. Mary Lee Martindale, Blakely; Ruby Jean Rogers and Gordon Williford, both of Valdosta.

Dear Fellow Member:

Enclosed is the program for the Easter Conference and we sincerely hope that every club will be represented here both to listen to these distinguished speakers and share in the discussions at the round tables. Replies have been received from many clubs in all parts of the region so that it promises to be a most representative gathering. We appreciate the cooperation received and are pleased to find so many willing to give papers or preside over the round tables. Within the next week we expect to definitely assign these positions according to the replies received and having regard to geographic distribution where possible. Of course not everyone can be on the program but everyone is expected to come prepared to participate in discussions. Many clubs have been devoting their meetings to a discussion of our conference topics and so their delegates should be able to add materially to the success of our round tables.

Some clubs have written in to ask how large a delegation they can bring. We know of no limitation upon the size of the delegation as long as they are genuine members and actively interested in International Affairs. One club has written to say it is bringing fifteen to twenty members. While this is probably exceptional we welcome such interest and enthusiasm for our conference.

Another question asked is: What is the latest date for the sending in of registrations? We should like to fix a deadline date of April 1st for notification of intention to send delegates to the conference. This is just five days before the conference is to open so that members will realize the difficulty of attempting to make adequate plans for housing etc. if such notification is delayed beyond this date. Therefore we would urge all clubs to notify us as soon as possible of the number or approximate number and the names, when known, of delegates who are coming. However, by the fixing of this deadline we do not want to preclude any club from being represented here if it finds at the last moment that delegates can come. But most clubs can reach a decision on this now without delaying until the last moment.

Some clubs have indicated that their delegates are members of fraternities and sororities and would like to live at their local chapter houses during their stay here. It is expected that this can be arranged if we know in advance about such preferences. For your information the

THE CRAFT HOUSE, located near Williamsburg Inn, is the display headquarters of the official craft program that has been developed by the Restoration in furthering the educational purposes of its work in Williamsburg.

Information Lounge The north wing of the building has been specially designed as the information office of the Restoration, with rest rooms and complete facilities for purchasing tickets, obtaining maps and arranging tours. In so far as possible, visitors should begin their tours of Williamsburg here. Official escorts may be obtained here for a planned tour of the city. The rates for escorts are $1.50 for the first hour, $1.00 for each succeeding hour.

Display Rooms The main portion of the building, with convenient access from Williamsburg Inn and the general free parking area, is occupied by a series of rooms in which the collection of Colonial Williamsburg, Incorporated, Approved Reproductions is exhibited.

This collection includes furniture, silverware, glass, pewter, fabrics, hand-wrought iron, Queen's Ware, paint and other furnishings specially reproduced by licensed manufacturers and craft shops participating in the craft program of Colonial Williamsburg, Incorporated. All articles displayed in these rooms are for sale.

Wolcott Collection Rooms on the second floor contain an exhibit of a representative group of early tools from the Wolcott collection.

Comprising several thousand examples of tools used by cabinet makers, blacksmiths, coopers, wheelwrights, etc., this collection was assembled over many years by the late Stephen C. Wolcott, of Gloucester County, Virginia. It has been presented to Colonial Williamsburg, Incorporated, by Mrs. Wolcott, together with a library on early American tools.

Craft Shops Visitors wishing to observe other features of the craft program of the Restoration are invited to see skilled craftsmen who are working in three shops near other points of interest in the city. Articles in these shops are for sale.

In The Ayscough Shop, a restored building on Francis Street near the Capitol, cabinetmakers have been established to make selected reproductions of furniture and wooden ware from the furnishings collection of the Restoration. The craftsmen wear costumes of the eighteenth century and use ancient tools such as were used during the colonial period.

To the VISITOR

THE EXHIBITION BUILDINGS of the Restoration include—The Capitol, The Public Gaol, The Raleigh Tavern, The Ludwell-Paradise House and the Governor's Palace.

Combination tickets providing admission to the exhibition buildings may be obtained at the Information Office in the Craft House, at the Information Booth on Richmond Road, or at the buildings at $1.50 each. Special rates are available for groups of twenty-five or more persons and for public school classes. Tickets for such parties should be obtained in advance at the Information Office.

The Old Court House and the Craft House (containing the Wolcott collection of tools) are open to visitors free and there is no admission fee at The Ayscough Shop, The Sign of the Golden Ball, and the Deane Shop and Forge which are open to the public as part of the official craft program of the Restoration.

Gardens, in addition to those at the Governor's Palace, the Raleigh Tavern and the Ludwell-Paradise House, may be seen at the Brush House, the James Gedy House, Travis House, Market Square Tavern and Captain Orr's Dwelling. The Ludwell-Paradise Stable, with two restored coaches, is of interest to many visitors.

The exhibition buildings are open each day, including Sunday, from 9 A.M. to 5 P.M.

Hostesses and attendants are on duty to receive visitors and accompany them through the buildings.

Escorts for a guided tour of the city and nearby points of interest may be engaged at the Craft House at an hourly fee.

At Jamestown the grounds of the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities are open daily from 9 A.M. to 6 P.M. Work of the Colonial National Historical Park may also be seen there and at Yorktown.

Within a day's motoring distance other trips may be taken at certain seasons to historic James River plantations and to such interesting places as The Mariners' Museum near Newport News.

Official publications of the Restoration include: A concise Guide Book with indexed map, 25 cents per copy; "Williamsburg In Virginia", a condensed history of the city and its restoration, leather bound, printed from old style type, hand set, on special paper, $2.00 per copy. These are on sale at the exhibition buildings, at the Craft House and at Williamsburg Inn.

All income received by Colonial Williamsburg, Incorporated, is used towards maintaining the Restoration and furthering its educational and historical purposes.

THE RESTORATION OF COLONIAL WILLIAMSBURG

THE RESTORATION of Colonial Williamsburg was undertaken by Mr. John D. Rockefeller, Jr. as an endeavor to restore accurately and to preserve for all time the most significant portions of an historic and important city of America's colonial period.

Williamsburg is well recognized as one of the most historic cities in America. It was settled as Middle Plantation in 1633—a palisaded barrier against the Indians. It became the capital of Virginia in 1699 and received its present name in honor of William III of England. Incorporated as a city in 1722 it was the center of the leadership and influence of Virginia throughout the period preceding the American Revolution. It was the capital of Virginia until the seat of government was removed to Richmond in 1779.

The College of William and Mary, second oldest in the United States, was founded here in 1693. Jamestown, where the first permanent English settlement in America was established in 1607, is six miles southwest of the city. Yorktown, where the struggle for American independence ended in victory, is fifteen miles away.

Williamsburg has retained much of its heritage from the days when it knew Washington, Jefferson, Patrick Henry and other great Virginians. For many years it has been a place of interest and inspiration. Its appeal has been greatly enhanced by the restoration of many of its historic public buildings, homes and gardens.

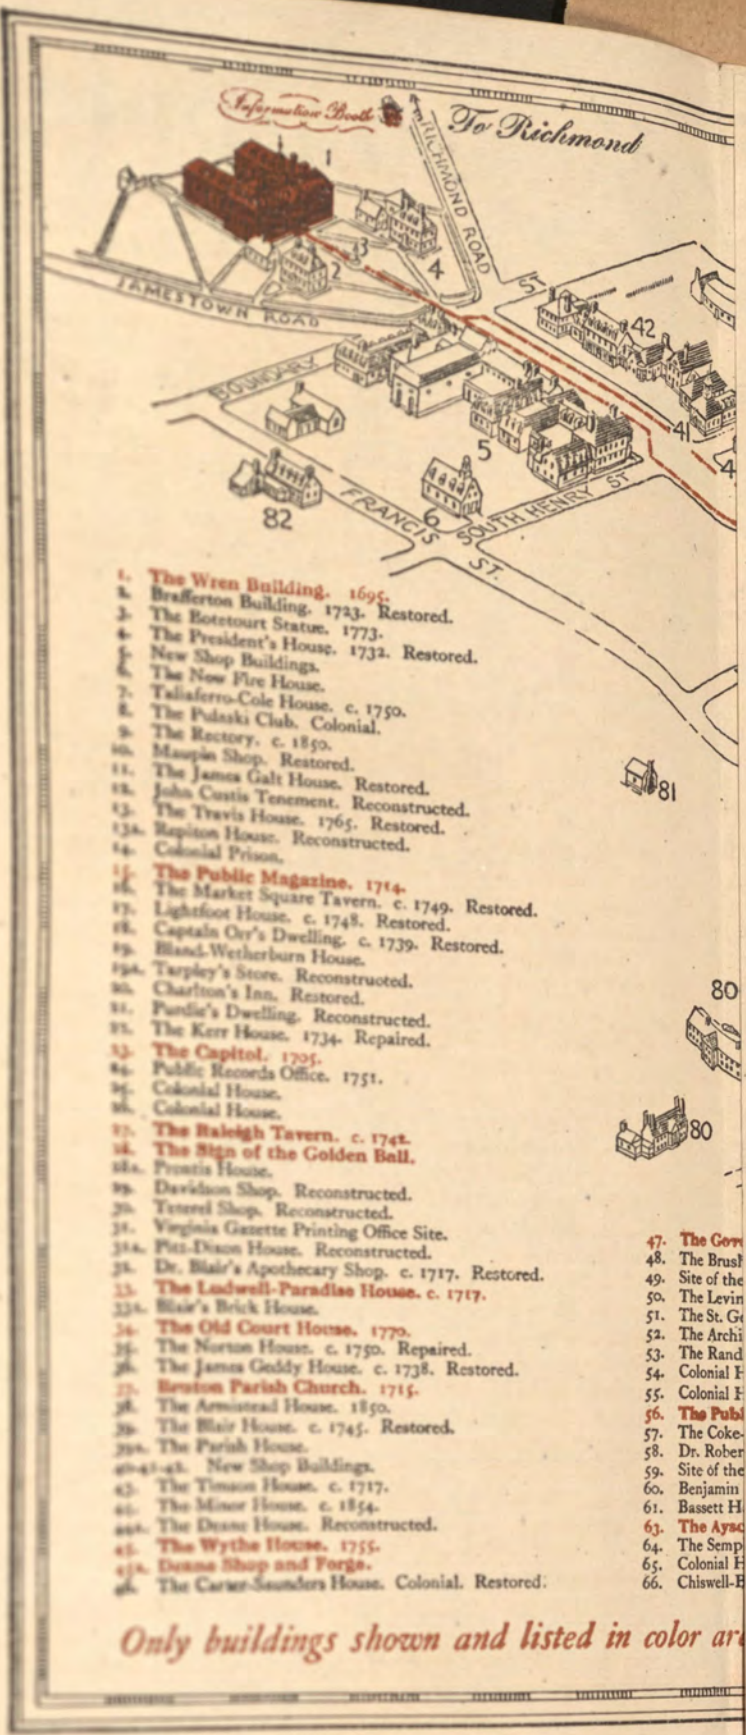

The Restoration is essentially an educational undertaking—unique in its scope and significant for the methods adopted to achieve the utmost authenticity.

The restored area includes Duke of Gloucester Street, extending seven-eighths of a mile from the College of William and Mary to the reconstructed Capitol, together with the adjacent greens.

Up to the present time 68 colonial buildings have been restored; 139 colonial buildings have been rebuilt;

514 modern buildings have been torn down; 33 shops and stores have been erected to provide a suitable business district; and a number of old gardens have been restored.

Restored Williamsburg will continue to be a living city—much more than a museum. Its buildings are being used, its homes are lived in, its College receives students from all parts of the country. Already it has become a shrine where great events of colonial American history may be visualized in their proper setting.

Buildings OPEN TO THE PUBLIC

1. THE WREN BUILDING (No Charge)
This is the oldest academic building in America. It is one of the three original buildings of the College of William and Mary that have been restored and are now used by the College.
  15. THE PUBLIC MAGAZINE (Admission Charged)
Here were stored the arms and ammunition of the Virginia colony. This structure, owned by the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities, has been restored.
  23. THE CAPITOL
(Included in Combination Ticket)
Here was the seat of government of the Virginia colony. This structure has been rebuilt on original foundations and furnished in accordance with descriptions found in contemporary records.
  27. THE RALBIGH TAVERN
(Included in Combination Ticket)
One of the most historic taverns of colonial America, this building has been reconstructed on original foundations. Its furnishings were selected on the basis of early inventories.
  33. THE LUDWELL-PARADISE HOUSE
(Included in Combination Ticket)
An example of an eighteenth century gentleman's town house in Williamsburg, now contains an exhibit from Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Jr.'s Collection of American Folk Art.
  34. THE OLD COURT HOUSE (No Charge)
In this restored building is displayed part of the collection of early pottery, glass, utensils, hardware and building materials recovered in excavating more than one hundred old foundations.
  37. BRUTON PARISH CHURCH
"The most impressive memorial to religion in America," this edifice dates from 1715 when it was completed on the site of an earlier church. Interior restored.
  45. THE WYTHE HOUSE (Being Restored)
Here lived George Wythe, professor of the first law course offered by an American college. General Washington made his headquarters here before the siege of Yorktown.
  47. THE GOVERNOR'S PALACE
(Included in Combination Ticket)
Preeminent among notable estates in colonial America, the Palace and its dependencies have been rebuilt on original foundations. The rare collection of antique furniture and furnishings assembled here is based upon original inventories. The gardens are considered the best example of eighteenth century English type gardens to be found in England or America.
  56. THE PUBLIC GAOL
(Included in Combination Ticket)
This building has been restored on original foundations and includes part of the original structure.
  73. THE CRAFT HOUSE (No Charge)
This new structure, between Williamsburg Inn and the free public parking area, contains the approved reproductions of furniture and furnishings of the Restoration; a display of the Wolcott collection of early American tools; official information office; rest rooms; and headquarters for escorts.
- CRAFT SHOPS (No Charge)
The Ayscough Shop (63), Sign of the Golden Ball (28), and the Deane Shop and Forge (45A) are open to the public as part of the official craft program of the Restoration.

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

Seattle, Wash.
March 31, 1939.

My dear Mr. Reade:

Mrs. Roosevelt asks me to say that she will be glad to see the girls who are going to Williamsburg, on the tenth of April at one-fifty. Mrs. Roosevelt only gets back that day, so the engagements will be closely scheduled.

Mrs. Roosevelt will try to arrange for them to see the President, but as he will only get back to Washington that day, she is rather doubtful of its being possible.

Very sincerely yours,

I. R. C. Delegates Return To Campus After Weeks Trip

"There will be a serious European war within the next twelve months!" "We went Easter egg rolling on the White House lawn on Easter Monday." "The U. S. will be involved unless she takes a definite stand."

I.R.C. conventioners returned this morning with a wealth of experiences to relate. Their trip which lasted from Wednesday afternoon until midnight Thursday, was crammed with a variety of experiences, both profound and frivolous.

Discussions Unemotional

For the round table discussions they had the highest praises. As delegates to the Southeastern International Relations Clubs Conference, they attended round tables where views were exchanged between U. S. students and students from China and South and Central America.

In all the speeches, there was no trace of emotionalism. Every statement had to be backed up by a reputable source before it would be accepted by the group. Questionnaires distributed to the students revealed the common belief that the United States would soon be involved in a war. However, the majority of the delegates did not favor being involved in any European conflict.

Between meetings at William and Mary College the girls toured Williamsburg. Delegates agreed that the reconstruction was completely successful and satisfactory in its effect. The college itself they pronounced as beautiful, the people charming and hospitable, and the atmosphere perfect.

Meet President's Wife

At the close of the convention, the group went on to Washington where they visited Mrs. Roosevelt. Following their talk with the president's wife, Mrs. Roosevelt went out on a porch, where a crowd that saw them thought they were distinguished visitors and greeted them with a rousing cheer.

On the same day, which was Easter Monday, the annual Egg Rolling was staged on the White House lawn. Several of the girls borrowed a child, which was the necessary admission, and took part in the affair.

Also in Washington, the conventioners met several Georgia statesmen, Senator Russell and Congressman Gibbs. The latter gave them the use of his car during their stay in the city.

They were also fortunate in being present when the Senate was opened by "Cactus Jack" Garner. At the House of Representatives, they saw the legislature in session.

Return Via Winston-Salem

On the return trip, the I.R.C. delegates stopped off at Winston-Salem, N.C. Here they were given a royal welcome by the chamber of commerce, had their pictures taken by the press, and the eligible bachelors in town were provided as escorts. They also saw Mary Hudson and Ruth Whisonant, S.G.A. delegates at Salem College, who reported that they were doing well and would return to the campus today.

Throughout the trip, which was made by bus, the girls were adopted by the bus drivers. They regaled the other travelers with all the songs they knew, their only contact with newspapers was a glance at headlines as they passed newstands, and their conversation for the next two months is sure to concern their "perfect week."

Delegates Of IRC Report On Convention

After a week of convention meetings and entertainment, members of the International Relations Club returned by bus on Friday morning, April 12, from the I. R. C. convention which was held at Williamsburg, Va. During the time of the convention, the delegates stayed at William and Mary College, in that city. After the adjournment of the meeting, they visited Winston-Salem, N.C., Washington, D.C., Arlington, Va., and Jamestown, Va.

Four members of the club appeared on the chapel program on Wednesday and spoke on different phases of the trip. Speakers were Ora Kate Wisenbaker, Marjorie Combs, Ann Parham, and Josephine Graham.

Among the many things of interest was the tour of the governor's palace at Williamsburg, the gardens of the palace are authentic of eighteenth century England and America. The delegates visited the capitol and Raleigh Tavern.

While in Washington, the group visited the Smithsonian Institute, Corcoran Art Gallery, Lincoln Memorial, Washington Monument, White House, Folger Shakespearian Library, Supreme Court Building, Museum of Natural History, and Congressional Library.

Claimed as one of the high lights of the trip was the privilege of hearing Marion Anderson famed negro contralto. She sang on Easter morning at the Lincoln Memorial in Washington.

Progressing to Arlington, the delegates saw the home of Robert E. Lee and the tomb of the unknown soldier. In Alexandria, the students visited Mount Vernon, the home of Washington, the formal gardens planned by Washington, and his tomb.

Leaving Washington, the girls arrived at Winston-Salem, N.C. where they were met by press representatives. The official host of the Junior Chamber of Commerce conducted the students on a tour of the city, including a visit to the Camel and Prince Albert Tobacco companies, and the R. J. Reynolds estate.

Congressman Gibbs Presents Books To IRC Club at GSWC

Presentation was made on Wednesday, May 3, of a set of the Reports of the American Historical Society, a gift of Ben W. Gibbs, eighth district Congressman, now in Washington. The books were presented to the International Relations Club of the Georgia State Women's College; the club in turn presented them to the college. There are some nine volumes in the reports which include the years 1932, 33, 34, and 35.

Also presented at the same time, as a gift to the history department at GSWC were a set of maps showing the United States at the time of the ratification of the Constitution. These were also a gift of Mr. Gibbs.

Dr. Frank R. Reade, president of GSWC made the presentation in behalf of Miss Mildred Price, history professor, and the International Relations Club.

Poppell Heads International Relations Club

Verna Poppell was elected president of the International Relations Club in an election held Tuesday. Other officers named at this time were Virginia Parrish, vice-president, and Frances Van Brackle, treasurer.

Running against them were Geraldine Bowen for president, Josephine Graham for vice-president and Marjorie Jones for treasurer. Installation of the new officers will take place at the regular monthly meeting to be held on Tuesday, May 9.

Miss Poppell now holds the position of Student Government Recorder of Points. During her sophomore year, she acted as treasurer of her class. Miss Parrish was this year member at large of the I.R.C. Miss Van Brackle is exchange manager of the Canopy.

Outgoing officers of the organization are Ora Kate Wisenbaker, president; Geraldine Bowen, vice president, and Mildred Wilson, treasurer. The offices of member-at-large and secretary will be filled in an election to be held next fall. Penelope Tullis holds the secretaryship and Virginia Parrish is member at large.

Nominations were made by the executive board of the club. This body is composed of the officers and faculty advisor.

I.R.C. Elects 1940 Officers

Alice Wisenbaker was elected vice-president and Betty Franklin, treasurer, of the International Relations Club for the coming year at an election held Thursday in Room 111.

Because a two-third majority was not obtained, a second election will be necessary to name the president. Lois Green and Frances Giddens Davis are nominees for president.

Miss Wisenbaker is now member at large of the club and holds the position of news editor on the CANOPY. Annabel Sherman was also nominated.

Miss Franklin is a reported on the CANOPY.

Dear Miss Price:

Knowing you are deeply interested in the study of American history and that you instruct classes in that subject at G.S.W.C. I am today forwarding you a set of the annual reports of the American Historical Association, which may prove of interest to you and your students.

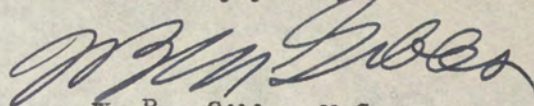

If you will be kind enough to present them to the College library with my compliments I will be most grateful.

Also yesterday I forwarded to you a set of maps of the United States as it appeared prior to the signing of the Constitution.

It was a pleasure to have seen you and your fine group of students in Washington and I hope that your visit to the Nation's Capital, a great show place, was pleasant, enjoyable and educational to the young ladies.

With kindest regards, I am

Sincerely yours,

W. Ben Gibbs, M.C.
