Valdosta State College Y. W. C. A. Plans Clubhouse

VALDOSTA, Ga.—In a sequestered corner of the campus of the Georgia State Woman's college, at Valdosta, and surrounded by oaks and pines is a two-story building long since given over to the bats and owls. Enterprising Y. W. C. A. girls, wandering through the grove in the twilight began to speculate as to the possibilities of this building for a clubhouse or Y. W. C. A. center. Immediately plans began to formulate. Permission was gained to use the building and plans for its remodeling began at once to appear on paper. The art class was given the task of interior decorations, and equipment for kitchenette and dining room appeared in sight. The whole downstairs was turned into a big club room with reading tables, easy chairs, window seats and other comforts. The young women of the class of 1923 proved to be the good fairies, providing the necessary funds for this transformation—a gift to their alma mater.

Thanksgiving carried a particularly bright and attractive program of entertainment. Everything was in holiday attire, the dining room was effectively decorated in pumpkins, corn and fruits which combined with bright autumn leaves and flowers completed an attractive setting for the elaborate Thanksgiving dinner. President and Mrs. R. H. Powell, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Beck, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Green, Miss Marie Craig, Miss Mamie Jakes, Miss Orrie Belle Roberts, Miss Edith Patterson and Miss Ida Groover of the faculty were the honor guests. The program was featured by a toast to President Powell, given by Miss Margaret LaFar. Other numbers on the program included class songs, a toast to Dean J. F. Wood, by Miss Nan Alexander, and a toast to the faculty by Miss Jewell Mitchell.

In the evening the merry-making began with a carnival, which is an annual event at this season, given under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A. It was staged on the campus and the midway was brilliant with lights, fancy booths, bright signs and gayly bedecked spieler.

There were lovely girls in Italian, Gypsy and Oriental costumes, laughingly displaying their wares of popcorn, peanuts, confetti, balloons, flowers, cakes and candy. Among the feature attractions were the "Seven Wonders of the World," "Oriental Show, Marionette Dancers, for Men Only," "Siamese Twins," "The Double Woman," "The Fat Lady," Hawaiian Dancers, "BoBo the Wild Man," "Mutt and Jeff," contortionist, "Maggie and Jiggs," "The Webb of Fate," "Wild Nell, the Pet of the Plains," and "Dancing Animals." In fact all the attractions usually found with a regular carnival were offered for the amusement of the visitors. Many Valdostans, as well as out-of-town friends enjoyed the festivities and the affair was a social, as well as a financial success. Miss Mildred Price, of Marion, Ohio, who gets her degree next May, was responsible for the plans and as general manager showed splendid executive ability.

The Sock and Buskin club is proving one of the most interesting, as well as enjoyable activities of the college. Then "The Florist Shop," by Winifred Hawkrige, the first of a series of one-act plays, to be presented by the club was given Monday evening. The setting is a typical florist's shop containing a profusion of azellas, roses, daffodils, violets and orchids. It was most cleverly presented by the following cast of characters: "Sousky" owner of the florist shop was portrayed by Miss Christine Meadows; "Maui," Sousky's steady rapier, was played by Miss Mildred Williams. The role of "Henry," the office boy, was presented by Miss Katherine Winn. The part of Miss Wells, who has been engaged fifteen years, was played by Miss Frances Faries. "Mr. Jackson," Miss Well's lover, was portrayed by Miss Jewell Mitchell.

The Emory glee club, the "South's Sweet Singers," on their first tour for this season and appearing in Valdosta Wednesday evening was entertained by the glee club of the Georgia State Woman's college with an informal reception from 5 to 6 o'clock. The rotunda was decorated in the Emory colors and punch was served by Miss Mildred Price and Miss Jewell Carmack. Miss Hopper, dean of women, assisted by Miss Grace Cochran, president of the glee club, and Miss Harriett Whitworth, of Camilla, included the receiving line. Miss Hicks and Miss Bland introduced the young men to president and Mrs. Powell, who received in the rotunda. Throughout the reception hour a program of music was rendered by an orchestra. On the departure of the young men the girls sang the Emory alma mater, which was responded to by the boys singing the Georgia State Woman's college song "The Pine Branch."

Among the visitors at the college this week were Miss Jaunita Parrish and Miss Gladys Faircloth, of the class of '22; Miss Joyce Sikes and Miss Thelma O'Quinn, of the class of '23. Other visitors included Miss Jaunita Mathews, of MacClenny, Fla.; Miss Evelyn Kirkland, of Waycross, and Miss Chloe Meadows, of Tifton.

UNUSED BUILDING BECOMES A COZY CLUB HOUSE AT COLLEGE

An old, abandoned two-story house, in a quiet spot on the campus of the Georgia State Womans College, has recently undergone a wonderful transformation and is becoming a clubhouse and center of activities for the Y. W. C. A. of the college.

This old house, long since forsaken and a rendezvous for bats and owls, was recently observed by a group of girls and the idea occurred to them that there were great possibilities in the old building. Plans were discussed with others and it was decided to see if the building could not be converted into a clubhouse for the Y. W. C. A.

The students secured permission to use the building for this purpose and plans were rapidly drawn for the transformation. The lower floor was made into a large reading and lounging room, and the art class of the college undertook the work of "interior decorations", and well did they perform their part. It was furnished with reading tables, easy chairs, window seats and other cozy comforts. The funds for this work came from the class of 1923, as the gift of the class to its Alma Mater.

By this contribution the class of 1923 indeed became the good fairy and will live long in the memory of the students of the Georgia State Womans College at Valdosta.

BRILLIANT EXERCISES HELD AT STATE WOMAN'S COLLEGE

Valdosta Is Thronged for Commencement—Diplomas Are Given Fifty - Two, Progress Reviewed

VALDOSTA, Ga., May 31.—Unusual brilliance marked the 11th annual commencement exercises of the Georgia State Woman's college at Valdosta this week, bringing to a close the most successful year in the history of this rapidly expanding branch of the state university system. The college has in this short time progressed from an institution doing only normal or junior work to a grade A, awarding degrees of full value with the higher institutions of learning of the south.

The baccalaureate sermon was delivered Sunday by Dr. R. W. Wallace, of the First Christian church, and on Monday the day was devoted to the usual activities attending commencement. Monday night the senior class presented its annual play, "As You Like It."

Out of the class of more than 50, the cast was carefully selected and the result was a finished production reaching professional technique while retaining all of the charm of amateur work.

Wednesday morning the Strand theater was packed for the final exercises. Rev. A. C. Pyle delivered the invocation, the audience joined in singing "America," which was followed by the Glee club, which sang "Spring Flowers."

Miss Mildred Price, of Marion, Ohio, read the class essay, "America as a World Power." J. B. Copeland then delivered the literary address.

President R. H. Powell then delivered diplomas to 52 graduates of 1924, after which he took occasion to review comprehensively the progress of the Georgia Woman's college.

The exercises were closed with the benediction by Rev. J. J. Cornish, and the students singing the college song, "The Pine Branch," as a recessional.

A feature of the commencement exercises was the fact that for the first time the faculty appeared in cap and gown, wearing the academic colors.

During the week the city has been crowded with relatives and friends of the students, drawn here to attend the exercises.

At the week-end, the corridors of the dormitories were silent and the campus appears deserted, but only for a short time. Within the week another throng will take up abode in the dormitories, as the hundreds of teachers come here for the summer training school. Reservations for this summer school already tax the capacity of the college, and the work is expected to be the most successful in the history of the institution.

COMMENCEMENT

At Georgia State Women's College Last Week

Valdosta, Ga., May 31.—The lights and shadows of commencement at the Georgia State Women's College came this week with the presentation of diplomas to a graduating class of fifty-two young women—the diplomas representing the lights and saying "good-bye" the shadows.

Unusual brilliance marked the eleventh annual commencement exercises of this rapidly developing branch of the state university system. The college in these few years has progressed from an institution doing only junior college work to a full four-year college awarding grade. A degree of equal value with any other college.

The baccalaureate sermon was delivered Sunday morning by Dr. Richard W. Wallace of the First Christian church, in the First Methodist Church to an audience which taxed the full capacity of the large auditorium.

Monday night the senior class presented its annual play at the Strand Theater, "As You Like It," affording the young ladies an opportunity to display unusual histrionic ability as well as showing the excellent training given them in the department of expression directed by Miss Margaret Strunk.

Out of a class of more than fifty members the cast was carefully selected and trained and no detail was omitted. The result was a finished production reaching professional technique while retaining all of the charm of amateur work by delightful girls, full of youth and fun and beauty. Miss Martha Youngblood of Savannah, taking the part of Orlando, has been famous at the college for her interpretation of men's parts, while Miss Christine Meadows of Tifton, as Touchton, the court fool, was fun incarnate in the interpretation of that character. As Audrey, a country wench, Miss Agnes Adams of Adel, also kept the audience convulsed with laughter. Miss Louise McLendon, as Rosalind, showed unusual talent, while Miss Mildred Williams as Celia, also shared honors by her most excellent work.

The various other members of the cast displayed rare talent and performed the parts most acceptably. Miss Mildred Price of Marion, O., presented the class essay, "America As a World Power," touching rapidly on the high points in American history. Miss Price traced the development of the United States to its present position as a world power.

The literary address was delivered by Hon. J. B. Copeland, who held the large audience at close attention. Col. Copeland pointed out to the young ladies that they could graduate from college, but that no one ever graduated from the "School of Experience," hence they should profit from experience as they progressed in life. The graduates were told that while they had completed college, they were just entering upon life and that in the great expanse of the future, out before them, they must make their way, and that this could not be turned into a successful life unless they kept in close touch with the spiritual side of life, at the task of making a home or in a profession or career.

President E. H. Powell, after presenting the diplomas, took occasion to review the history of the college and its progress. He told of the ideals set at the beginning, showed how they had developed and that the college today, standing in full sisterhood with all grade A colleges, was working toward the same ideals of making better lives, better citizens and a more prosperous state. The excellent college spirit among the students and the loyalty of the alumna, Mr. Powell declared, had performed an important part in the development of the institution.

The remainder of the closing exercises was most interesting and included a number of excellent musical numbers from the Glee Club and the college sextette.

On Tuesday the annual meeting of the Alumnae Association was held and there was a larger number present than at any previous meeting. The reunion of the former students of the college on this occasion was marked by many interesting incidents. At noon the members of the association were guests of honor at the annual commencement dinner in the large dining hall of the college.

This event carried an interesting program which was opened with a delightful violin solo by Miss Neva Mathis. Miss Willie Mae Matthews then delighted the company with "High Lights of 1923-24," a talk in which she touched interestingly on outstanding college events in the year. "An Echo from the Boosters' Meeting," by Miss Christine Meadows was also of more than ordinary interest. A group of girls then gave a dance, "The Wood Nymphs," after which President R. H. Powell spoke on the subject, "Why Is An Alumnae?" With such a subject President Powell proved a most entertaining talker, closing most delightfully the after dinner program.

The after dinner feature of the program was directed by Miss Anne Hopper, dean of women, who presided with grace and ease, keeping the program moving smoothly.

A significant feature of the commencement exercises was the fact that for the first time the faculty of the college appeared in cap and gown, wearing the academic colors. Since the establishment of the college the faculty has had the right to wear this insignia, but modestly refrained from doing so until the present. With the college now granting full degrees it was deemed proper to avail themselves of this privilege and the members occupied positions on the stage so attired. As the diplomas were presented to the graduates each was also presented with the academic colors.

During the week the city has been crowded with relatives and friends of the students, drawn here to attend the exercises. In addition to these visitors there were the members of the Alumnae Association in larger numbers than ever.

Now, at the week-end, the corridors of the dormitories are silent and the campus appears deserted, but only for a short time. Within the week another throng will take up abode in the dormitories, as the hundreds of teachers come here for the summer school which is conducted each year for further training teachers. Reservations for this summer school already tax the capacity of the college, and the work is expected to be the most successful in the history of the institution.

ROTARIANS AND SENIORS AT PLAY

Rotes Were Hosts to the College Girls at Ocean Pond Tuesday Evening

The Valdosta Rotarians and the young ladies of the senior class at the college had a most enjoyable evening at Ocean Pond Tuesday, the occasion being the annual outing which the Rotarians give to the seniors each year.

There were about 125 people in the party which left the city at 4 o'clock, many of the wives of Rotarians being in the party, though a few of the Rotes were entirely free of all incumbances. It was the first big entertainment under the presidency of Rev. Richard W. Wallace, and it was a success in every way.

Arriving at the big lake, the party enjoyed boating and bathing until the call for dinner came from the committee of arrangements. The dinner was an elaborate spread of fried chicken and other good things, with cake, coffee and ice cream, etc., to make the measure full.

President Wallace made an address of welcome, which was responded to by Miss Margaret LaFar, the president of the class. On behalf of the class, Miss LaFar was most gracious in her expression of appreciation. Former President John Mathis and J. B. Copeland added to the pleasure of the occasion by making short speeches, full of wholesome admiration of the girls.

There were several songs by the double quartette, readings by Misses Mildred Williams and Christine Meadows, two very talented young ladies, mandolin solos by Miss Ila Watts and violin numbers by Miss Leo Prine.

The evening was a beautiful one and the outing was enjoyed in every particular. The young ladies of the class, by their charming manners and joyant natures, contributed a great pleasure to the pleasure which the Rotarians got from the outing.

DEBATE IS HELD

Negative Wins in Inter-Society Clash of Valdosta School

VALDOSTA, Ga., April 19.—The annual inter-society debate occupied the center of the stage of activities the past week at the Georgia State Woman's College at Valdosta. This annual event between the Argonian and Sororian Literary Societies gives an amazing stimulus to the organizations, bestirring widespread interest among the members. The subject was:

Resolved, That the Present Law Limiting Immigration to 3 Per Cent of the Number of Aliens From Any Given Country Already in the United States Shall be Continued.

The affirmative side, was upheld by the Argonian Society by Miss Frances Thomas, of Jesup, and Miss Evelyn McArthur, of Cordele.

The negative side of the question was handled by the Sororian Society with Miss Christine Meadows, of Tifton, and Miss Frances Faries, of Savannah, as the speakers.

Judge W. E. Thomas, of the Superior Court and president of the college board of trustees, Judge J. P. McCrackin and Mr. J. P. Mott, of the Valdosta public schools, were the judges in this contest. The decision was in favor of the negative. For the past two years the Argonian Society has been victorious in these debates, hence this year's success by the Sororians caused unusual rejoicing among its members. Ashley Hall, where the debate was held, was attractively decorated in the colors of the two societies—brown and gold for the Sororian and purple and lavender for the Argonian. The society presidents presented the debaters with beautiful flowers, Columbia roses for Miss Thomas and Lady Ophelia roses for Miss McArthur; gorgeous bouquets of red tulips for Miss Faries and Miss Meadows.

The May Day Festival looms most interestingly on the calendar of approaching activities. The college green is already the scene of practice for the coming event, and groups of dancing girls going through the exercises of winding the May pole may be seen almost any afternoon. Miss Anne Rankin, of Blackshear, has been chosen as Queen of May. Miss Rankin is an unusually pretty type of blonde and very popular with the students. Attendants have also been selected. Miss Remer Jones, of Valdosta, will represent Winter and Miss Mary Small, of Valdosta, will typify Spring.

The maids of the Queen will be Miss Christine Meadows, of Tifton; Miss Eunice McArthur, of Gainesville; Miss Grace Reese, of Reidsville; Miss Gertrude DeLay, of Rome; Miss Jewell Mitchell, of Brunswick; Miss Louise McLendon, of Valdosta.

The wary Seniors are perhaps the busiest group on the college campus these days. The caps and gowns have been ordered—always an important period to the Seniors, who this year are determined that no Junior shall succeed in touching these priceless articles. There is a tradition at the college that the Juniors each year try to capture the caps and gowns and appear before the student group wearing them before the Seniors ever see them. This makes the coming of the Senior regalia of more than ordinary interest and it is assured this year that they will be most jealously guarded that no such fate befall them.

The miniature opera, The Feast of the Lanterns, given in Valdosta early in the season by the Georgia State Woman's College Glee Club made such a hit its fame spread and the club was compelled to yield to popular demand and "go on the road." The performance was given in Quitman to a large and enthusiastic audience, and this gave greater popularity outside to the Glee Club. Recently the club responded to another outside demand and repeated the performance in Tifton to another large and very appreciative audience. The club was accompanied by Miss Anne Hopper, dean of women, Miss Campbell, of the faculty, and C. E. Poston, director of music, who prepared the adaptation of the opera for the Glee Club and staged it so successfully.

Miss Verna Scarborough, of Unadilla, and Miss Annie Lloyd Liggin, of Atlanta, attended the Y. W. C. A. cabinet training council in Atlanta recently. Both of these young ladies are on the cabinet for the next year and returned full of enthusiasm for the work which lies before them.

Miss Sarah Goodrich, of the college faculty, was the speaker at the vesper services Sunday evening. Her topic was What Kind of Person Was Jesus? Her talk was unusually helpful.

Miss Martha Lucas, of Quitman, was the guest of Miss Howell Carmack Sunday. Miss Lucas is one of the class of 1922.

Miss O'Meara Minter, of Donaldson-ville, was the week-end guest of her sister, Miss Lydia Minter. Miss O'Meara is a former student of the college.

Mrs. J. M. Jones, of Boston, was the guest this week of Miss Sara Mardre, student, and Miss Ida Groover, of the faculty.

Mrs. Will Seaman, of Waycross, visited her niece, Miss Marjory Seals, during the week.

Students at Ga. State College for Women Interested in Athletics

VALDOSTA, Ga.—Athletics, in a very animated state, featured the past week's activities at the Georgia State Woman's college at Valdosta. The best sophomore quintet and the best freshmen quintet in the history of the institution's athletics came together the past week in lively tilts in the basketball tournament in which the sophomores captured the coveted trophy, the loving cup, by defeating the freshmen one point. Both teams were well matched and sensational playing was done on both sides. Miss Lois Mann starred for the losers.

The line-up for the sophomores included: Kathleen Gibbs and Gertrude Anderson, forwards; Johanna Yoight, center; Frances Faires and Remer Jones, guards. For the freshmen: Elizabeth Coleman and Nelle Rountree, forwards; Mary Stewart Woodward, center; Katherine Brice and Agnes Malloy, guards.

The tournament was staged under the direction of Miss Jakes, head of the physical education department, and her ability is largely responsible for the keen interest shown by the student body in the various activities in this phase of the college curriculum.

The regular meeting of the Athletic association occupied the center of Friday evening's activities, with "The Owls" in charge. The program was in the form of a stunt, "The Lyceum Bureau," with Misses Kate Herrin, Lillian Lane, Clarice Weathersbee, Agnes Adams, Gertrude DeLay, Dorothy Moore and Emma Barco taking part. The officers of the association are: President, Miss Gertrude DeLay, of Rome; vice president, Miss Kate Herrin, of Howell; secretary, Miss Frances Faires, of Savannah; treasurer, Miss Caroline Ashley, of Ocilla; cheer leader, Miss Olin Eland, of Vidalia.

An early spring issue of the Pine Branch, the college magazine, is just from the press with a cover design of a pine branch, which in the setting of a silver moon, a white sky, a caressing wind, furnished the inspiration for the harmony that found expression in a poem of two verses entitled "Pine Tree," by Miss Evelyn Brown. An article entitled "The Evidence of Things Unseen," of unusual merit, also by Miss Brown, gives her a high place in the contents of this issue. Other contributions of particular merit included three poems by Miss Helen Allen Thomas, "Call of Home" and "If I Could," and the "Song of the Alien," "Toil and Trouble," by Miss Eppie Robertson, is also an attractive poem. Prose contributions from others are: "A Real Cane Grinding," by Miss Hester Bruce; "A Rainy Day," by Miss Chole Ivey; "A Modern Wedding," by Miss Marion Chauncey, and "A Tobacco Sale," by Miss Grace Buie. Besides these contributions, the magazine contains all the departments dealing with the activities of the college life and, altogether, it is a most interesting publication.

The visit of Lieutenant Boulware and Prof. Ewain J. Brown, of Emory University academy, at Oxford, and Miss Jimmie Carmack, of the department of home economics of the agricultural college at Tifton, was the inspiration for a 6 o'clock dinner served by a group of young ladies in the class of the department of home economics, with Miss Jewell Carmack, of Vienna, as hostess. Others besides the honor guests enjoying this affair were Miss Anne Hopper, dean of women; Miss Eppie Robertson, Miss Katie Herrin and Miss Verna Scarboro, of the student body.

Mrs. D. W. Plowden, of Orlando, Fla., formerly of the faculty of the music department of the college, gave the faculty and members of the student body a rare treat with an informal recital on Friday evening. This unusual pleasure was made possible by an arrangement through Miss Orrie Belle Rogers, a member of the music faculty. Mrs. Plowden opened her program with A Flat Ballade by Chopin, and then gave a Chopin group, including the "Berceuse" and the "Revolutionary Etude." Among other numbers were the Paganini "Caprice" and the "Magic Fire," music by Wagner. Mrs. Plowden closed her program with Liszt's "Twelfth Rhapsody." Her audience was highly appreciative.

Miss Hester Bruce, of Blackshear, and Miss Alice Clarke, of Waycross, had important places on the program of entertainment presented by the Wyndaustis club, of Valdosta, on the occasion of its annual reception—"Husbands' Night"—on Tuesday evening. Miss Bruce's contribution to the program was a piano solo "Polonaise," by MacDowell, and Miss Clarke sang with beautiful interpretation Thurlow Liverance's "Felicite."

The affirmative side was upheld for the Argonian society by Miss Frances Thomas, of Jesup, and Miss Evelyn McArthur, of Cordele.

The negative was handled by the Sororian society with Miss Christine Meadows, of Tifton, and Miss Frances Faries, of Savannah, as the speakers.

Judge W. E. Thomas, of the superior court, and president of the college board of trustees; Judge J. F. McCrackin and Mr. J. P. Mott, of the Valdosta public schools, were the judges. The decision was awarded in favor of the negative. For the past two years the Argonian society has been victorious in these debates, hence this year's success by the Sororians caused unusual rejoicing among its members. Ashley hall was attractively decorated in the colors of the two societies—brown and gold for the Sororian, and purple and lavender for the Argonian. The society presidents presented the debaters with beautiful flowers, Columbia roses for Miss Thomas and Lady Ophelia roses for Miss McArthur; gorgeous bouquets of red tulips for Miss Faries and Miss Meadows.

The May Day festival looms most interestingly on the calendar of approaching activities. The college green is already the scene of practice for the coming event. Groups of dancing girls going through the exercises of winding the May pole may be seen almost any afternoon. Miss Anne Rankin, of Blackshear, has been chosen as queen of May. Miss Rankin is an unusually pretty type of blonde and very popular with the students. Attendants have also been selected. Miss Remer Jones, of Valdosta, will represent "Winter," and Miss Mary Small, of Valdosta, will typify "Spring." Winter will be attended by snowflakes, and Spring by flowers, butterflies, birds and grasshoppers.

The maids of the queen will be Miss Christine Meadows, of Tifton; Miss Eunice McArthur, of Gainesville; Miss Grace Reese, of Reidsville; Miss Gertrude DeLay, of Rome; Miss Jewell Mitchell, of Brunswick; Miss Lucile McLendon, of Valdosta.

The seniors are perhaps the busiest group on the college campus these days. Their caps and gowns have been ordered—always an important period to the seniors, who this year are determined that no junior shall succeed in touching these priceless articles. There is a tradition at the college that the juniors each year try to capture the caps and gowns and appear before the student group wearing them before the seniors ever see them. This makes the coming of the senior regalia of more than ordinary interest, and it is assured this year that they will be most jealously guarded that no such fate befall them.

The miniature opera, "The Feast of the Lanterns," given in Valdosta early in the season by the Georgia State Woman's College Glee Club, made such a hit its fame spread and the club was compelled to yield to popular demand and "go on the road." The performance was given in Quitman to a large and enthusiastic audience, and this gave still greater popularity outside to the glee club. Recently the club responded to another outside demand and repeated the performance in Tifton. The club was accompanied by Miss Anne Hopper, dean of women; Miss Campbell, of the faculty, and C. E. Poston, director of music, who prepared the adaptation of the opera for the glee club and staged it so successfully.

Miss Verna Scarborough, of Unadilla, and Miss Annie Lloyd Liggins, of Atlanta, attended the Y. W. C. A. cabinet training council in Atlanta recently. Both of these young ladies are on the cabinet for the next year.

Miss Sara Goodrich, of the college faculty, was the speaker at the vesper services Sunday evening. Her topic was, "What Kind of Person Was Jesus?" Her talk was unusually helpful.

Miss Martha Lucas, of Quitman, was the guest of Miss Howell Carmack Sunday. Miss Lucas is of the class of 1922.

Miss O'Meara Minter, of Donaldsonville, was the week-end guest of her sister, Miss Lydia Minter. Miss O'Meara is a former student of the college.

Mrs. J. M. Jones, of Boston, was the guest this week of Miss Sara Mardre, student, and Miss Ida Groover, of the faculty.

Mrs. Will Seaman, of Waycross, visited her niece, Miss Marjorie Seals, during the week.

ROTARIANS AND SENIORS AT PLAY

Rotes Were Hosts to the Col- lege Girls at Ocean Pond Tuesday Evening

The Valdosta Rotarians and the young ladies of the senior class at the college had a most enjoyable evening at Ocean Pond Tuesday, the occasion being the annual outing which the Rotarians give to the seniors each year.

There were about 125 people in the party which left the city at 4 o'clock, many of the wives of Rotarians being in the party, though a few of the Rotes were entirely free of all incumbances. It was the first big entertainment under The presidency of Rev. Richard W. Wallace, and it was a success in every way.

Arriving at the big lake, the party enjoyed boating and bathing until the call for dinner came from the committee of arrangements. The dinner was an elaborate spread of fried chicken and other good things, with cake, coffee and ice cream, etc., to make the measure full.

President Wallace made an address of welcome, which was responded to by Miss Margaret LaFar, the president of the class. On behalf of the class, Miss LaFar was most gracious in her expression of appreciation. Former President John Mathis and J. B. Copeland added to the pleasure of the occasion by making short speeches, full of wholesome admiration of the girls.

There were several songs by the double quartette, readings by Misses Mildred Williams and Christine Meadows, two very talented young ladies, mandolin solos by Miss Ila Watts and violin numbers by Miss Leo Prine.

The evening was a beautiful one and the outing was enjoyed in every particular. The young ladies of the class, by their charming manners and buoyant natures, contributed a great measure to the pleasure which the Rotarians got from the outing.

Alumnae Enjoyed Valentine Dinner

A beautiful affair of Thursday evening assembling the members of the Alumnae Association of the Georgia State Womans College, residing in Valdosta, and a number of the out-of-town members, was the annual Valentine dinner which was given in the private dining room of the Patterson hotel.

This annual dinner party was originated five years ago for the Alumnae girls by Miss Ada Gallaher, then dean of women. Each succeeding year the occasion has grown in attendance, interest and in beauty of arrangement.

The table had as its central decorations, silver baskets of crimson roses placed at intervals, and the Valentine season was suggested in the place cards and in other details. Mrs. Lottie Jarrell Stump, president of the Alumnae, presided, and the following attractive program was carried out:

Toast to Alma Mater—Mrs. Lottie Jarrell Stump.

Toast to President—Mrs. Arlie Gaskins Feazell.

Toast to President's President—Miss Edith Patterson.

Toast to Deans of Women—Miss Gussie Belle Rentz.

Vocal Solo—Miss Ruth Wilson.

Episode of Silver—Miss Katie Herrin.

The Club House—Miss Mildred Price.

Social Life of Dining Hall—Miss Verna Scarboro.

Vocal Solo—Miss Ruth Wilson.

Looking Forward Ten Years—
President R. H. Powell.

Let's Do It—Miss Willie Mae Mathis and Miss Clarice Weathersbee.

President Powell's "Looking Forward Ten Years" was full of optimism and enthusiasm, and the response of Miss Clarice Weathersbee, secretary of the Alumnae, was most stirring—urging the young women to a greater zeal—a greater service to their Alma Mater, thereby making a reality the President's vision.

A feature not listed on the program, and having a touch of beautiful tenderness, was the night letter sent to Miss Gallaher in her Pennsylvania home, expressing love and appreciation, also sympathy in her recent illness.

Enjoying this very delightful affair as guests, were President and Mrs. R. H. Powell and Miss Anne Hopper, dean of women. The out-of-town members present, were Miss Ruth Wilson, of Thomasville; Mrs. S. C. Sharpe, of Moultrie; and Miss Illene Adams, of Tifton.

Saturday afternoon was devoted to the annual picnic given by the Y. W. C. A. to the student body and the faculty. A beautiful grove on Ashley street road was selected for the picnic. Miss Florence Breen, of Jesup, and Miss Miriam McNair, of Bainbridge, were responsible for the picnic dinner spread under the trees. Following the feast a number of college songs and yells were outstanding features of the entertainment.

Last week for one afternoon and evening the Georgia State Woman's college was the center of interest to a considerable number of members of the general assembly of Georgia. These members were in Valdosta as the guests of the chamber of commerce and were entertained at the college for dinner in the great dining hall, with President R. H. Powell presiding. There were speeches from a number of the visitors and President Powell gave a comprehensive outline of the work being done by the college at present and what it expects to do in the future. Two girls were assigned to each representative and senator and made the visitors feel at home in this state institution.

As a special guest on May day the college had the honor of entertaining Mrs. Viola R. Napier, of Macon, one of the only two women members of the Georgia general assembly. Mrs. Napier, besides being one of the law-makers of the state, is a practicing attorney and while in the college she made a talk on "Woman's Work in the World," which was most impressive. While assigning to woman a place in many activities, Mrs. Napier stressed in her talk especially the fact that women, first of all were mothers and home-makers. She proved to be a most charming guest and the students were delighted to have her. Mrs. Napier showed a great deal of interest in the work of the college and learned a great deal about it while here.

Sunday evening, at vesper, the installation service was held. The new cabinet, marched in singing "Hymn of Light." The old cabinet carried lighted tapers while the new cabinet carried their's unlighted. After the scripture reading and prayer, Miss Lemuel Jay, of Statesboro, president of the Y. W. C. A., read the installation service and the new cabinet responded in concert. Miss Verna Scarborough, of Unadilla, the new president for 1924-1925 responded. Then each old member advanced to meet the corresponding new member and lighted her taper, repeating the formula used at so many of these candle services. The retiring cabinet was composed of Miss Omeear Minter, Donaldsonville, president; Miss Lemuel Jay, of Statesboro, vice president; Miss Florence Breen, of Jesup, secretary; Miss Margaret LaFar, of Savannah, treasurer; Miss Martha Youngblood, of Savannah, undergraduate representative; Miss Christine Meadows, of Tifton, religious department; Miss Mildred Price, Marion, Ohio, social department; Miss Sara Manderville, of Jesup, social service department; Miss Gertrude Anderson, of Crawfordville, world fellowship department; Miss Kathleen Moore, of Blackshear, publicity; Miss Miriam

GIRLS FINISH COLLEGE YEAR

Unusual Brilliance Marks Commencement at Valdosta

MORE THAN 50 GRADUATED

VALDOSTA, Ga., May 31.—Unusual brilliance marked the eleventh annual commencement exercises of the Georgia State Woman's College at Valdosta this week, bringing to a close the most successful year in the history of this rapidly expanding branch of the State University System. The college has in this short time progressed from an institution doing only normal or junior work to grade A, awarding degrees of full value with the higher institutions of learning in the South.

The baccalaureate sermon was delivered Sunday morning by Dr. R. W. Wallace, of the First Christian Church, to a large congregation which filled the auditorium of the First Methodist Church, and on Monday the day was devoted to the usual activities attending commencement. Monday night the Senior class presented its annual play at the Strand Theater, As You Like It, affording the young ladies an opportunity to display their unusual histrionic ability as well as showing the excellent training given them in the department of expression directed by Miss Strunk.

Out of the class of more than fifty members the cast was carefully selected and trained and no detail was omitted. The result was a finished production reaching professional technique while retaining all of the charm of amateur work by delightful girls, full of youth and fun and beauty. Miss Martha Youngblood, taking the part of Orlando, has been famous in the college for her interpretation of men's parts, while Miss Christine Meadows as Touchstone, was fun incarnate in her interpretation of the part of the court fool. As Audrey, a country wench, Miss Agnes Adams also kept the audience convulsed with laughter. Miss Louise McLendon, as Rosalind, showed much talent in portraying the part while Miss Mildred Williams as Celia also shared honors by her most excellent work.

Other members of the cast showed ability in acting, as well as a conception of the parts, and they included Miss Jewel Mitchell, as the Duke;

Miss Gertrude Sasser as Duke Frederick; Miss Catherine Wheeler as Olive; Miss Essie Mae Clark as Jacques; Miss Gertrude DeLay as Le Beau; Miss Margaret LaFar as Jacques; Miss Olin Bland as Aimens; Miss Johanna Poight as Charlos; Miss Frances Fairies as Adam; Miss Louise Poppell as Corin; Miss Grace Rees as Sylvius; Miss Evelyn Brown as Phoebe; Miss Edith Brinson as William; Miss Edna Cockfield, Miss Daliah Baker, Miss Kathleen Gibbs and Miss Gertrude Anderson as foresters, attendants, etc. The costuming was elegant and appropriate, which added much to the success of the presentation.

Alumnae Meet

On Tuesday the annual meeting of the Alumnae Association was held and there was a larger number present than at any previous meeting. The reunion of the former students of the college on this occasion was marked by many interesting incidents. At noon the members of the association were guests of honor at the annual commencement dinner in the large dining hall of the college.

This event carried an interesting program which was opened with a delightful violin solo by Miss Neva Mathis. Miss Willie Mae Matthews then delighted the company with High Lights of 1923-24, a talk in which she touched interestingly on outstanding college events in the year. An Echo from the Boosters Meeting, by Miss Christine Meadows was also of more than ordinary interest. A group of girls then gave a dance, The Wood Nymphs, after which President R. H. Powell spoke on the subject Why Is An Alumnae? With such a subject President Powell proved a most entertaining talker, closing most delightfully the after dinner program.

The after dinner feature of the program was directed by Miss Anne Hopper, dean of women, who presided with grace and ease, keeping the program moving smoothly.

Regardless of the charm of the programs of commencement, none have the importance that is attached to that of the final day—that interesting period when truly comes the lights and shadows of college life—receiving diplomas and saying good-bye.

Wednesday morning the Strand theater was packed to capacity with an audience for the last exercises of the college year. As the students entered the auditorium they sang the Alma Mater as a processional which was followed by the invocation delivered by Rev. A. C. Pyle. The audience then joined in singing America, which was followed by the Glee Club which sang Spring Flowers.

Details of that secret cynical deal would shock the Christian world.

Premier Macdonald might permit publication; but, although he is foreign minister, as well as premier, he has no real control of the foreign office. That is in the hands of the permanent officials, the men who hold office regardless of the political color of the cabinet. If Macdonald had a majority in Parliament he might break the power of this organization; but if he tried to do so now he would be overthrown in a jiffy. So he has to deal with it. And the permanent organization is wedded to the old ways of the old diplomacy and to the idea that London must conduct the diplomacy of the empire.

Troubles of Empire Grow

So this dispute is bound to go on and add its irritation to the other factors which are constantly creating more trouble within the empire.

South Africa is about to hold an election, which the Labor and Nationalist parties have an excellent chance of carrying. They will, if successful, install a government bitterly hostile to Britain.

Resenting the defeat of the preference plan adopted at the imperial conference last year, Australia has served warning that she will look for trade agreements elsewhere and Premier Bruce says that when these are made "we would never be able to render full assistance to the mother country." That free state is also dismayed by the abandonment of the Singapore naval base and is setting out to defend herself.

Ireland is insisting on its own envoy to Washington who shall be able to speak independently of London. Canada is but awaiting the retirement from the Ottawa cabinet of the aged Mr. Fielding to send her own envoy to the American capital.

India, in addition to other things of which I have told, is making a new tariff law which will enable her to set up her own steel and other industries and so reduce the trade which Britain has so long enjoyed. India and South Africa are placing government orders elsewhere than in Britain.

"A disturbing spirit of unrest is running around the British Empire from Delhi to Durban and from Sydney to Ottawa," is the warning uttered in the House of Commons by Col. Grant Morden, a careful Conservative.

And in this critical time there is no statement or party that can speak for Britain. The Conservatives are trumpeting the peril of the empire and are beginning to be returned so they can try to do something to halt the progress of disunion. But, even the freedom given them in the World if they were to come in again, it is doubtful whether they could satisfy the free states, now made suspicious by a series of attempts to take back War.

All of which is known to the enemies of Britain in Europe and Asia and that knowledge will greatly hamper London in its attempts to bring about a settlement of the troubles of those continents.

(Copyright, 1924, for Macon Telegraph.)

Miss Mildred Price, of Marion, O., read the class essay America as a World Power. She dealt with the high points in American history, showing the gradual development of this nation into world dominance, the position which it occupies today.

J. B. Copeland then delivered the literary address, making the point that while one could graduate from a college, no one ever graduated from the School of Experience. Around this point Mr. Copeland built a splendid address.

Pres. R. H. Powell then delivered diplomas to the fifty-two graduates of 1924, after which he took occasion to review comprehensively the progress of the Georgia State Woman's College from its first work as a junior college now to grade A, granting degrees and doing the highest type of four-year college work. Mr. Powell spoke of the ideals set for the college at the opening and showed, step by step, how these had been adhered to all doing the full part toward the development of the institution into its proud position as the full equal of any institution. The same ideals which formed the foundation, remain at this time, and on the same lines the college expects to continue upward and onward, extending its helping hand to the young womanhood of South Georgia and performing its full duty and making better citizens and better homes, happier people and a more prosperous State.

Close Exercises

The exercises were closed with the benediction by Rev. J. J. Cornish and the students singing the college song, The Pine Branch as a recessional.

A significant feature of the commencement exercises was the fact that for the first time the faculty of the college appeared in cap and gown, wearing the academic colors. Since the establishment of the college the faculty has had the right to wear this insignia, but modestly refrained from doing so until the present. With the college now granting full degrees it was deemed proper to avail themselves of this privilege and the members occupied positions on the stage so attired. As the diplomas were presented to the graduates each was also presented with the academic colors.

During the week the city has been crowded with relatives and friends of the students, drawn here to attend the exercises. In addition to these visitors there were the members of the Alumnae Association in larger numbers than ever.

Now, at the week-end, the corridors of the dormitories are silent and the campus appears deserted, but only for a short time. Within the week another throng will take up abode in the dormitories, as the hundreds of teachers come here for the Summer school which is conducted each year for further training teachers. Reservations for this Summer school already tax the capacity of the college, and the work is expected to be the most successful in the history of the institution.

Cast Named for "As You Like It" At Valdosta State Woman's College

VALDOSTA.—While the program has not reached its final stage, it is announced that the annual senior play will, as usual, be the opening feature of the 1924 commencement activities at the Georgia State Woman's college, at Valdosta. "As You Like It" has been chosen by the senior class for their play this year, and rehearsals are enthusiastically under way. The group of characters around which this story revolves is taken by young women who are especially favored with the gift of depicting character, and in the progress of the rehearsals the play is already attaining realistic intensity.

The cast of characters for the play was made some weeks ago, and includes the following talented young women and their parts:

The Duke, Miss Jewel Mitchell, of Brunswick; Duke Frederick, Miss Gertrude Sasser, of Cairo; Rosalind, Miss Mildred Williams, of Fargo; Orlando, Miss Martha Youngblood, of Savannah; Jacques, Miss Margaret LaFar, of Savannah; Oliver, Miss Catherine Wheeler, of Hopkins; Le-Bean, Miss Gertrude DeLay, of Rome; Charles, Miss Johannah Voight, Blackshear; Adam, Miss Frances Faries, of Savannah; Amiens, Miss Olin Bland, of Vidalia; William, Miss Edith Brinson, of Waycross; Touchstone, Miss Christine Meadows, of Tifton; Sylvius, Miss Grace Reese, of Preston; Corin, Miss Louise Poppell, of Jesup; Phoebe, Miss Evelyn Brown, of Valdosta; Audry, Miss Agnes Adams, Adel; Jacques de Bois, Miss Essie Mae Clarke, Blakeley. Foresters, Miss Edna Cockfield, Waycross; Miss Kathleen Gibb, Tifton; Miss Dahlia Baker, Atlanta; Miss Gertrude Anderson, Crawfordsville. Stage manager, Miss Lemuel Jay, of Statesboro; property manager, Miss Clarice Ivey, of Valdosta; costume manager, Miss Miriam McNair, of Whigham; advertising, Miss Daisy Geigen; Miss Mary Small, of Valdosta; music, Miss Anne Rankin, Blackshear; tickets, Miss Elizabeth Livingstone, Brunswick.

The current issue of the Pine Branch, the college magazine, is just from the press, and is unquestionably the most interesting and entertaining of this year's numbers. Its subject matter is particularly cleverly handled, and is a keen insight into the mind and heart of the average college girl. Among the writers for the month include Miss Martha Youngblood, of Savannah, who contributed "To Bob or Not to Bob;" "Woodrow Wilson College," by Miss R. Carrin, of Tifton; "The Southern Moon," by Miss Evelyn Brown, of Valdosta; "A Fantasy," by Miss Lemuel Jay, of Statesboro; "The Clubhouse—a Prophecy," by Miss Eppie Robertson, of Nahunta; "After Reading Ode on a Grecian Urn," by Miss Miriam McNair, of Whigham; "Among Those Present," by Miss Evelyn Kendrick Brown, Valdosta. All of the regular departments are full of interesting matter, and the whole is a well-rounded and complete college publication. The workmanship is in keeping with the literary skill between the covers.

The Sororian Literary society occupied the center of the stage of the Saturday evening activities, featuring an Irish program. The complete program included selections from Irish music by Miss Morris Whitworth, of Camilla; Irish reading, by Miss Catherine Wheeler, of Hopkins; vocal solo, "My Wild Irish Rose," by Miss Olin Bland, of Vidalia. The program was concluded with a playlet, "The Workhouse Ward," with the following cast: Michael Miskell, Miss Velma Sirmans, of DuPont; Mike McInerney, Miss Theresa Eckers, of San Mateo, Fla.; Mrs. Donohoe, Miss Ruth Mann, of Lyons.

Honors recently won by the students of the college include prizes offered by the Valdosta chapter, U. D. C., for the best essays on the Stone mountain memorial. Miss Lucile McGregor, of Halcyondale, was awarded the first prize and Miss Irah Mae Cromartie, of Boston, the second prize. These two college students won above all other contestants in this city.

Miss Edith Patterson entertained her library assistants at the tea-room Friday evening. The guests were Miss Martha Youngblood and Miss Margaret LaFar, of Savannah, and Miss Essie Mae Clarke, of Blakeley.

Miss Mary McLarty, of Augusta, has been visiting her sister, Miss Elizabeth McLarty.

Miss Mary Newly, of Tifton, was the week-end guest of Miss Willie Mae Matthews, a student from Tifton.

ROTARIANS HOSTS TUESDAY

One of the most delightful affairs of the week was the picnic given by the Rotary Club at Ocean Pond yesterday afternoon, honoring the Senior Class of the Georgia State Womans College.

Swimming and other enjoyable out door sports were attractive features of the afternoon's pleasure.

Late in the evening a picnic supper was served by the wives of the Rotarians.

This is an unusual event and is always eagerly looked forward to with a great deal of pleasure.

There were more than 125 guests present, including the College girls, several members of the faculty and the Rotarian's wives.

DELEGATES TO Y. W. C. A.

The Georgia State Womans College was well represented at the Y. W. C. A. conference held at Blue Ridge, N. C., by Miss Verna Scarborough, of Unadilla, Ga., Miss Florence Breen, of Jesup, Ga., and Miss Annie Lloyd Liggin, of Atlanta. While there Miss Verna Scarborough was elected a member of the national council of the Y. W. C. A. Miss Scarborough is also president of the Y. W. C. A. of the college for 1924-25. She well deserves the honor in both cases.

Public Invited to College.

The public is cordially invited to the exercises at the College Wednesday evening, January 2nd at eight o'clock, when the two dormitories will be named Converse and Ashley halls. The College authorities have done a gracious and appropriate act in thus recognizing during the life time of these pioneer friends of the College their invaluable service; and the many friends both of Messrs. Converse and Ashley and of the College will take pleasure in the honor now conferred.

VALDOSTA ACTIVITIES

Busy Week Enjoyed at College There

Valdosta, Ga., April 5.—So many different activities on the week's calendar of the Georgia State Woman's College at Valdosta—means so many different interests, ranging from spring holiday festivities to the interest in the annual field day, that it is hard to pick out any one predominating interest. However, precedence is given to "Freshmen and Sophomores," and their guests.

The annual Freshmen-Sophomore prom party is perhaps one of the most generally interesting affairs on the social side of the college life in many weeks. Advance preparations for the event, such as sending out invitations to one's best beau and planning other details just as necessary to its success—though not half so thrilling, have consumed many days. This delightfully anticipated affair occurred Saturday evening. The receiving line included Miss Annie Lloyd Liggin of Atlanta, president of the Freshman Class; Miss Margaret LaFar of Savannah, president of the Sophomore Class; President and Mrs. R. H. Powell, Mrs. Allen J. Strickland and Miss Anne Hopper, dean of women. Serving at the punch bowls were Miss Frances Thomas of Jesup, Miss Sarah Madre of Thomasville, Miss F. Frances Myrick of Thomasville, and Miss Gertrude Anderson of Crawfordsville.

A beautiful musical program was rendered throughout the evening. After a number of proms on the beautifully lighted terrace the guests were entertained in the state dining room, where lovely refreshments were served at tables. Here the decorations were wisteria, daffodils and violets, each plate carrying a boutonniere of violets. Among the out-of-town guests were Robert Travis of Brunswick, Guy Reddick of Quitman, William R. Cochran of Thomasville, T. E. Phillips of Tifton, Chandler Giddens of Milltown, John Kellar White, Jr., of Lake Park, George Drew of Swainsboro, Jack Bellflower of Tifton, Dave Earl McKenny of Blackshear, Mr. C. R. Register of Hahira, Carl Bullock of Atlanta, DeVane Watson of Statesboro, H. S. Williams of Savannah, Aaron Johnson of Hahira, Robert Touchton of Savannah.

Annual Field Day.

The appeal of the out-of-doors reached a high peak in the annual field day on Wednesday, attracting the attention of a large number of visitors, many of them from a distance. The program opened with the procession of contestants, the line of march beginning at the south end of Converse Hall. The pupils in complete white gymnasium uniform and carrying Georgia State Women's College banners in the college colors presented a beautiful appearance. The drills performed by a large group of students, and the dances including all classes, were executed in splendid style, showing unusual co-ordination, grace and finish. The splendid record in the competitive events attested by the strength and endurance of the girls, was made possible by the high health record maintained. Probably the most effective feature of the entire program was the grand finale with the entire student body forming the letters "G. S. W. C." The following girls were awarded monograms for places in the meet: Miss Lois Mann of Glennville, Miss Johannah Voight of Blackshear, Miss Elizabeth McRee of Valdosta, and Miss Gladys Butler.

Friday evening was featured by a meeting of the Athletic Association, with Miss Gertrude DeLay of Rome, the president, presiding. At the conclusion of the business program the president spoke of the work already accomplished by the class and discussed plans for the future. The loving cup was formally presented to the Sophomore class, the champion class for the year. The meeting was then turned over to Miss Frances Fairies of Savannah, and her athletic team. They put on several laughable stunts showing much originality and cleverness.

The Sock and Buskin Club is in the midst of rehearsals for two playlets, "Land of Heart's Desire," by W. B. Yeats and "Twelve Pound Look," by Barrie. The cast for the first named includes Miss Christine Meadows of Tifton, as Bridget Bruin; Miss Katherine Wheeler of Waycross, as Sharon Bruin; Miss Frances Fairies of Savannah, Father Heart; Miss Edith Brinson of Waycross, as Maurteen Bruin; Miss Myrtle Jennings as the Fairy Child. Cast for the second playlet includes Miss Jewell Mitchell of Brunswick, as Sir Harry; Miss Frances Folsome of Waycross, as Lady Simms; Miss Frances Thomas of Jesup, as Kate; Miss Margaret Strickland of Blackshear, as Tombs; Miss Catherine Wheeler of Waycross, and Miss Jewell Mitchell of Brunswick, captains.

Much interest was developed last week in the election of a president of student government and also of the Y. W. C. A. for 1924-1925. Miss Clarice Weatherbee of Jacksonville, Fla., was elected president of student government. Miss Weatherbee gets her degree in 1925; she is popular with the students and the association feels that she will be able to lead them wisely through a year of constructive work. Miss Verna Scarborough of Unadilla, was elected president of the Y. W. C. A. Her election affords great satisfaction to the Y. W. C. A. members and it is expected that under her leadership the association will continue to develop along the progressive lines which has long been its policy.

Miss Mildred Price of Marion, Ohio, had as her guests through the week Mr. and Mrs. Gompf of Marion, O., Charles Miller, Miss Elba Miller of Louisville, Ky., and Miss Elizabeth English of New Albany, Ind.

Miss Frances Ruth Carpenter, head of the art department, Miss Mary Small of Valdosta, and Miss Clarice Weatherbee of Jacksonville, Fla., motored down to Jacksonville to be present at the reception given by the Women's Club in honor of Wood Gaylor, president of "The Salons of America."

LUNCHEON AT COLLEGE IN HONOR THE GEORGES

A most beautiful luncheon in honor of Senator and Mrs. Walter George was given at the College Tuesday at two o'clock.

The Summer School is in session, and the dining-room was filled with the almost two hundred students, who are at the Dormitories.

Between the rows of tables given to the students, in the center of the room, was a long table arranged for the guests.

The center piece of this table was of hydrangeas, of exquisite hue, which had been grown on the campus by Mrs. McGarrah. Midway between the center and the ends were placed vases of the same lovely flowers, which completed the decorations.

At the close of the luncheon Mr. Powell in his genial manner, introduced an old and true friend of the College, Judge Thomas, President of the Board of Trustees, who in a few fitting words expressed his deep interest in and love for the students, and closed by introducing Senator George, the speaker of the occasion.

Senator George amused his audience by pleasing witticisms until he was convinced that he had their undivided attention, and then he spoke in a forceful and effective manner on American Ideals.

He claimed that schools in the past had tendered to educate away from honest work, and not to fit one for service. His argument was convincing. He congratulated South Georgia and indeed the entire state on having such a fine institution as the Georgia State Woman's College, and hoped in the future that proper equipment and sufficient funds would be given for her needs.

His speech was a gem and thoroughly enjoyed.

Mr. Powell next introduced Mrs. George, who spoke briefly but in a most charming and attractive manner. She said she was no speaker, but that she expected to study the art of speech-making when she completed the task upon which she was now laboring, that is how to look distinguished.

The guests entertained were Senator and Mrs. George, Judge and Mrs. McCrackin, Mayor and Mrs. Peeples, Mr. and Mrs. Powell, Mrs. West, Mr. Duke, Judge Thomas, Dr. and Mrs. Breedlove, Mrs. Ingram, Mr. and Mrs. Copeland, Mrs. Eager. Others were invited but could not accept.

Miss Weathersbe Elected Student Government Pres. of G. W. C.

VALDOSTA, Ga.—The annual freshmen-sophomore prom party is perhaps one of the most generally interesting affairs in the social side of the college life in many weeks. Advance preparations for the event, such as sending out invitations to one's best friend and planning other details, have consumed many days. This delightfully anticipated and much talked-of affair occurred Saturday evening, with flowers, music and laughter as the artistic setting.

The receiving line included Miss Annie Lloyd Liggin, of Atlanta, president of freshmen class; Miss Margaret LaFar, of Savannah, president of sophomore class; President and Mrs. R. H. Powell, Mrs. Allen J. Strickland and Miss Anne Hopper, dean of women. Serving at the punch bowls were Miss Frances Thomas, of Jesup; Miss Sarah Madre, of Thomasville; Miss Frances Myrick, of Thomasville, and Miss Gertrude Anderson, of Crawfordville.

Phillips, of Tifton; Mr. Chandler Giddens, of Milltown; Mr. John Keller White, Jr., of Lake Park; Mr. George Drew, of Swainsboro; Mr. Jack Bellflower, of Tifton; Mr. Dave Earl McKenny, of Blackshear; Mr. C. R. Register, of Hahira; Mr. Carl Bullock, of Atlanta; Mr. DeVane Watson, of Statesboro; Mr. H. S. Williams, of Savannah; Mr. Aaron Johnson, of Hahira; Mr. Robert Touchton, of Savannah.

The appeal of the out-of-doors reached a high peak in the annual field day on Wednesday, attracting the attention of a large number of visitors, many of them from a distance. The program opened with the procession of contestants, the line of march beginning at the south end of Converse hall. The pupils in complete white gymnasium uniform and carrying banners in the college colors presented a beautiful appearance. The drills performed by a large group of students, and the dances including all classes, were executed in splendid style. The splendid record in the competitive events attested by the strength and endurance of the girls was made possible by the high health record maintained. Probably the most effective feature of the entire program was the grand finale with the entire student body forming the letters "G. S. W. C." The following girls were awarded monograms for places in the meet: Miss Lois Mann, of Glennville; Miss Johannah Voight, of Blackshear; Miss Elizabeth McRee, of Valdosta, and Miss Gladys Butler.

Friday evening was featured by a meeting of the Athletic association, with Miss Gertrude DeLay, of Rome, the president, presiding. At the conclusion of the business program the president spoke of the work already accomplished by the class and discussed plans for the future. The loving cup was formally presented to the sophomore class, the champion class for the year. The meeting was then turned over to Miss Frances Faires, of Savannah, and her athletic team.

The Sock and Buskin club is in the midst of rehearsals for two playlets, "Land of Heart's Desire," by W. B. Yeats, and "Twelve Pound," by Barrie. The cast for the first named includes Miss Christine Meadows, of Tifton, as "Bridget Bruin;" Miss Katherine Wheeler, of Waycross, as "Sharon Bruin;" Miss Frances Faires, of Savannah, as "Father Heart;" Miss Edith Brinson, of Waycross, as "Maurteen Bruin;" Miss Myrtle Jennings, as the "Fairy Child. Cast for the second playlet includes Miss Jewell Mitchell, of Brunswick, as "Sir Harry;" Miss Frances Folsome, of Waycross, as "Lady Simms;" Miss Frances Thomas, of Jesup, as "Kate;" Miss Margaret Strickland, of Blackshear, as "Tombe;" Miss Catherine Wheeler, of Waycross, and Miss Jewell Mitchell, of Brunswick, captains.

Much interest was developed last week in the election of president of student government and also of Y. W. C. A. for 1924-1925. Miss Clarice Weathersbee, of Jacksonville, Fla., was elected president of student government. Miss Weathersbee gets her degree in 1925; she is popular with the students and the association feels that she will be able to lead them wisely through a year of constructive work. Miss Verna Scarborough, of Unadilla, was elected president of the Y. W. C. A. Her election affords great satisfaction to the Y. W. C. A. members and it is expected that under her leadership the association will continue to develop along the progressive lines which has long been its policy.

Miss Mildred Price, of Marion, Ohio, had as her guests through the week Mr. and Mrs. Gompf, of Marion, O.; Mr. Charles Miller, Miss Elba Miller, of Louisville, Ky., and Miss Elizabeth English, of New Albany, Ind.

Miss Frances Ruth Carpenter, head of the art department; Miss Mary Small, of Valdosta, and Miss Clarice Weathersbee, of Jacksonville, Fla., motored down to Jacksonville to be present at the reception given by the Woman's club in honor of Mr. Wood Gaylor, president of "The Salons of America."

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES AT G. S. W. C. ARE ENJOYED

Faculty Follows Usual Custom of Entertaining Student Body; Approximately 350 Attend

VALDOSTA, Ga., Oct. 20.—Social activities at the Georgia State Woman's College at Valdosta during the week were made more delightful by the faculty following the usual custom of entertaining the student body on Saturday evening from 8:30 to 10:30. About 350 were present to enjoy the affair. Punch tables were located at either end of the Terrace and were presided over by Miss Louise Farris and Miss Deborah Patterson, of Boston, and Miss Mary Farris and Miss Gussie Kentz, of Milltown. The decorations consisted of "pink vine" greenery and clusters of yellow berries. Refreshments consisted of brick ice cream with wafers and the plates each had a tiny bouquet of pink and green.

In the receiving line were Miss Anna Hopper, dean of women, President and Mrs. R. H. Powell, Miss Carpenter and Miss Kimbrough. Miss Campbell met the guests and presented them to the receiving line. Gathered in happy groups about the Rotunda and on the Terrace the students had a happy evening. Later a program was presented consisting of two violin numbers by Mrs. W. A. Pardee, a vocal solo by Mr. C. E. Poston, accompanied by Miss Rogers on the piano. This was followed by a faculty "stunt." Misses Goodlet, Groom, Strunk, Abernethy and Demaree, dressed as little girls in "pig-tails" tied with ribbons, gave a dance and athletic drill. Mr. Poston and Miss Campbell then gave a clairvoyant scene in which Miss Campbell, as Fatima, took off the faculty by answering questions supposedly asked by faculty members. It is needless to say that this particular feature was immensely enjoyed by the students as one of the most amusing numbers of the entire program.

Miss Orrie Belle Rogers entertained her music class at the Country Club on Monday evening. The students, about thirty in number, enjoyed the ride to the club. The entertainment took the form of a grand march led by President and Mrs. R. H. Powell. This was later followed by the Virginia reel, various stunts and games, with music, which made the evening pass all too quickly. A feature of the refreshments consisted of a wiener roast in the big open fireplace of the club building, with punch and cakes for dessert. The chaperones were Miss Craig, Miss Hopper, Miss Rogers, Mrs. T. E. Hereford, Mrs. F. E. Hudson and Mrs. H. Langdale.

Reorganizing Music Club

The music department of the college is full of enthusiasm and the reorganization of the Crescendo Music Club is putting new life into the work of all the students of this department. Mr. C. E. Poston, director of music, is presenting an excellent course for the club, and this in addition to the social features, will familiarize the students with a wide range of musical composers. The combined musical study and social features fit the young women to take their proper places in the social life of the home after leaving college.

The Georgia State Woman's College Glee Club has started out with a greater enrollment than it has ever had and the very best of talent. The plans for the year's program are full of promise. It is expected that the club this season will make more public appearances than heretofore, owing to the greatly increased number of members and the splendid talent which is being rounded into shape for some good performances which will be highly creditable to the College.

Outstanding among the activities of the week was the meeting of the Sock and Buskin Club, which is preparing to make a public appearance before the other students soon in the dramatic line. The play being prepared for presentation is the Christians Shop, and the members of the cast are already making much progress with the preparation. The meeting this week besides the matters of serious business and study had its entertainment and social feature for the pleasure of the members.

The regular meeting of the Sorority Literary Society this week took a new and different turn which proved to be one of the most unique and enjoyable of that organization. This program was presented on Saturday evening and took the form of a mock trial in which all forms of college campus life were represented. The victims were haled before a most austere and exacting judge and charged with all manner of campus offenses. Witnesses were produced and the evidence given in each case created no end of merriment for the audience. The verdict of the jurors in each case also proved humorous. Miss Samuel Jay acted well the part of the stern and unrelenting judge and the various campus "types" and those who represented them, included the third year type by Miss Gertrude DeLay; the flapper type, by Miss Helen Youngblood; Glee Club type, by Miss Dahlia Baker; monitor type, by Miss Carabel Williams; "cut up" type by Miss Edith Brinson; "grind" type by Miss Miriam McNair; athletic type by Miss Frances Fairies; class president type by Miss Margaret LaFar.

The jury included Miss Gertrude Anderson, Catherine Turner, Gertrude Sasser and Louise Poppell.

Before the program was carried out the president, Miss Christine Meadows, gave an address of welcome to the new members, in which she set out the purpose of the society.

Through the social work of the college, the students get complete training for their duties at home as they acquire the training given them in the regular courses of the college. With the increased attendance the scope of the work of the college is broadening and more than ever before is the Georgia State Woman's College at Valdosta doing a great work as its share of that of the State University System, in fitting Georgia girls for the highest type of Georgia home makers and citizens of the future. With every class enlarged by greater attendance, made possible through the enlarged facilities, the G. S. W. C. now occupies its proper place in the State's educational system.

DINNER AT COLLEGE FOR THE DELEGATES

Oct 1, 1924

Senatorial Convention Was Given a Rare Treat By Home Economics Dept.

A delightful aftermath of the Senatorial Convention on Wednesday when Hon. Perry T. Knight, of Brooks County, was nominated for the Senate from the Sixth Senatorial District, was the luncheon at the College by members of the Home Economics Department, under the training of Miss Katherine Abernathy.

The luncheon was served in the President's office by members of the Home Economics class. The tables were arranged in the shape of a capital "T" and places were set for sixteen guests. The guests were as follows:

Hon. Perry T. Knight, Mayor W. D. Peeples, Messrs. J. I. Norwood, C. A. Taylor, E. D. Rivers, L. L. Patten, H. B. Trimble, J. E. Pitts, J. S. Jones, W. T. Shytle, W. H. Stanford, J. F. Wood, D. M. Smith, E. E. Dekle, R. H. Powell and C. G. Brantley.

The luncheon was a delightful one served in three courses, first a fruit salad course, next a full dinner, followed by ice cold cream and strawberry shortcake with hot coffee.

The young ladies who prepared the meal were Misses. Louise Bradley, Claire Bray, Rena Mae Campbell, Carolyn Cabbage, Dorothy Larsen, Mildred Larsen, Mary Louise Maxwell, Ruthelen Patten, Ruth Royal, Jamie Lou Zetterower and Inez Westbrook. Those who waited on the table were Misses Carolyn Cabbage, Dorothy Larsen, Ruth Royal and Rena Mae Campbell.

Many of the guests had not visited the College before and were shown over the different departments by Prof. Powell. They expressed themselves as being carried away with all of the arrangements, and were especially pleased at the splendid luncheon which the young ladies of the Home Economics Department prepared for them.

Ga. State Woman's College Has Exercises Naming Dormitories

VALDOSTA, Ga.—An outstanding event of the New Year at the Georgia State Woman's college at Valdosta was the naming of two dormitories, one in honor of Hon. W. L. Converse and the other for Hon. C. R. Ashley. The exercises were attended by a large number of visitors, who joined with the student body in paying a deserved tribute to these two Valdosta men, whose work and efforts have meant so much to the promotion of the college.

When the college was first projected by the state of Georgia, Hon. W. L. Converse and Hon. C. R. Ashley, both as citizens and members of the legislature, lent effective assistance and in later years when the state was unable temporarily to finance the project, they headed a group of citizens in providing the needed funds for the then struggling college.

Judge W. E. Thomas, president of the board of trustees, made an interesting address, naming the dormitories and reciting many of the reasons why it was fitting that these two distinguished Valdostans should this be honored. Briefly, Judge Thomas reviewed the interesting history of the college and the splendid assistance given to it at critical periods by both Mr. Converse and Mr. Ashley. These gentlemen expressed appreciation of the compliment paid them by the board of trustees.

Judge J. F. McCrackin, a member of the board of trustees, spoke of the fitting action of token in complimenting these two staunch friends of the institution. He also spoke appreciatively of the services they have rendered which entitled them to such a lasting memorial.

President R. H. Powell, made a brief talk in which he referred to the growth of the college, which amounts to about 2,000 per cent during its eleven years. He was happy because the struggles of its early days were now history. The institution is now forging ahead and has taken front rank among the educational institutions composing the State university system. President Powell also pointed with much pride to the service the college is now performing for south Georgia.

The last issue of the Pine Branch reflects unusual credit upon the young women who conduct its various departments. This magazine, published by the Writers club of the college, is directed by Miss Eppie Roberson as editor in chief. The staff includes also Miss Martha Youngblood, assistant editor in chief and literary editor; Miss Katie Herrin, business manager; Miss Miriam McNair, assistant business manager; Miss Evelyn Brown, assistant literary editor; Miss Mary Jones, local editor; Miss Nanna Alexander, Y. W. C. A. editor; Miss Edith Patterson, Alumnae editor; Miss Miriam Stokes, exchange editor; Miss Madeline Culbreth, joke editor.

On Friday afternoon of each week the Y. W. C. A. from 4 to 6 o'clock will be "at home" to the students and faculty members in the rotunda of Converse hall. Over the teacups the faculty and students will be brought together in a delightfully social way. These weekly teas promise additional charm to the social life of the college.

Each morning the dining hall has a beautiful adornment of ferns, begonias, geraniums and other beautiful flowering plants. The young women of the Y. W. C. A. social service department are responsible for this thoughtfulness.

An interesting epoch for the sophomore class during the week was the planting of the calss tree—a live oak—on the campus. Around this tree the sophomeres will conduct Class Day exercises at the close of the year.

Centering the attention of the music-lovers of the college was the music note party given by Miss Orrie Belle Rogers, Friday evening in the rotunda. The girls were dressed to represent the notes of the musical scale. In addition to the scale game and a proposal contest, an interesting musical program was rendered and refreshments were served.

The student body returned practically intact for the spring semester, with a number of new enrollments. Work and social activities have been resumed with renewed interest and enthusiasm.

GEORGIA STATE WOMANS COLLEGE GREETED BY LARGE AUDIENCE

The Georgia State Womans College Glee Club which appeared at the High School auditorium, in Tifton, last evening, under the auspices of the Kiwanis Club of that city, was greeted by a large and enthusiastic audience.

The program of the glee club has been developed along entirely new lines, and it is said to be different from any other Womans College Glee Club.

The program last evening was unusually good, the entire twenty-one members of the club being at their best.

Miss Hopper, dean of women, at the college, Miss Campbell, principal of the High School, and Mr. Poston, chaperoned the girls on the trip.

GEORGIA STATE WOMANS COLLEGE

The Literary Societies of the Georgia State Womans College held meetings Wednesday evening and elected new officers for the year.

Miss Frances Thomas of Jesup was elected president of the Sororian Society and Miss Frances Faries of Savannah, was chosen as president of the Argonians.

The final meeting of the Athletic Association will be held this evening and officers will be elected for the year.

Closing reports will be made and the policy and plans for next year will be discussed.

DORMITORY NAMES WERE ADOPTED

Interesting Exercises at College Last Night Regarding the Names of Building

One of the most interesting events that has occurred at the Georgia State Womans College was the ceremonies Wednesday evening naming the two dormitories, one of them for the Hon. W. L. Converse and the other for Hon. C. R. Ashley.

Quite a large crowd of people were on hand, including members of the student body who had returned to the city to be at the opening of the College for the New Year after the Holidays. Mr. Ashley was not able to be on hand himself, but wrote a letter in which he expressed his appreciation of the compliment that had been paid him, and also made reference to the excellent work which the College is doing, and which it will do in the future.

Judge Thomas made a speech naming the two dormitories. He referred to the splendid work which was done in the Legislature by Messrs. Converse and Ashley and also by the financial assistance they had given the College in days when it needed such assistance. He said that they both had been loyal friends of the great institution, and that it was fitting that their names should be linked with the institution in the manner which had been devised.

Judge J. F. McCrackin, another member of the Board was on hand and made a speech on monuments and what they are intended for. He spoke of the splendid work which men have rendered that entitled them to memorials, and after a few happy references of this sort, he touched upon the work which Converse and Ashley had done and spoke of how appropriate it was that they be remembered in a substantial way.

Prof. Powell also made a short speech during the evening in which he referred to the growth of the College since it started amounting to about 2,000 per cent in 11 years. He recounted some of the troubles which the College in its young days encountered and of what a struggle it had to keep soul and body together. It was during these days of distress that Converse and Ashley rendered such excellent service. Mr. Powell's speech was in a very appreciative vein, and he also made enthusiastic prophecies of what lies ahead.

Hon. W. L. Converse responded to Judge Thomas' speech naming one of the dormitories for him. Mr. Converse spoke of the great work which the school can do, and of how much it was needed in this section of the State. He stated that the service which he had rendered to the school he considered it a privilege to render and that he would have felt ashamed of himself if he had done less than he did do. He was glad that an opportunity had been given him to do some service for the thousands of young lives that are to be touched by the institution. Those who heard his speech declared that it was one of the best they have ever heard.

After the exercises last night a short reception was held and the balance of the evening was very pleasantly spent.

THRILLS VARIED

Calendar of Activities at Valdosta College Is Full

VALDOSTA, Ga., April 5.—So many different activities on the week's calendar of the Georgia State Woman's College at Valdosta—means so many different interests, ranging from echoes of Spring holiday festivities to the thrills attendant upon the Annual Field Day, that it is hard to pick out any one predominating interest. The annual Freshmen-Sophomore Prom Party is perhaps one of the most generally interesting affairs on the social side of the college life in many weeks. Advance preparations for the event, such as sending out invitations to one's best beau and planning other details just as necessary to its success—though not half so thrilling, have consumed many days. This delightfully anticipated and much talked of affair occurred Saturday evening—with flowers, music and laughter as the artistic setting. The receiving line include Miss Annie Lloyd Liggin, of Atlanta, president of Freshmen Class; Miss Margaret LaFar, of Savannah, president of Sophomore Class; President and Mrs. R. H. Powell, Mrs. Allen J. Strickland and Miss Anne Hopper, dean of women. Serving at the punch bowls were Miss Frances Thomas, of Jesup; Miss Sarah Madre, of Thomasville; Miss Frances Myrick, of Thomasville, and Miss Gertrude Anderson, of Crawfordville. A beautiful musical program was rendered throughout the evening. After a number of proms on the beautifully lighted terrace the guests were entertained in the state dining room, where lovely refreshments were served at tables. Here the decorations were wisteria, daffodils and violets, each plate carrying a boutonniere of violets. Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. Robert Travis, of Brunswick; Mr. Guy Roddicks, of Quitman; Mr. William R. Cochran, of Thomasville; Mr. T. E. Phillips, of Tifton; Mr. Chandler Giddens, of Milltown; Mr. John Kellar White, Jr., of Lake Park; Mr. George Drew, of Swainsboro; Mr. Jack Bellflower, of Tifton; Mr. Dave Earl McKenny, of Blackshear; Mr. C. R. Register, of Hahira; Mr. Carl Bullock, of Atlanta; Mr. DeVane Watson, of Statesboro; Mr. H. S. Williams, of Savannah; Mr. Aaron Johnson, of Hahira; Mr. Robert Touchton, of Savannah.

The appeal of the out-of-doors reached a high peak in the annual Field Day on Wednesday, attracting the attention of a large number of visitors, many of the from a distance. The program opened with the procession of contestants, the line of march beginning at the south end of Converse Hall. The pupils in complete white gymnasium uniform and carrying Georgia State Women's College banners in the college colors presented a beautiful appearance. The drills performed by a large group of students, and the dances including all classes, were executed in splendid style, showing unusual co-ordination, grace and finish. The splendid record in the competitive events attested by the strength and endurance of the girls, was made possible by the high health record maintained. Probably the most effective feature of the entire program was the grand finale with the entire student body forming the letters G. S. W. C. The following girls were awarded monograms for places in the meet: Miss Lois Mann, of Glennville; Miss Johannah Voight, of Blackshear; Miss Elizabeth McRee, of Valdosta, and Miss Gladys Butler.

Sophomores Given Cup

Friday evening was featured by a meeting of the Athletic Association, with Miss Gertrude DeLay, of Rome, the president, presiding. At the conclusion of the business program the president spoke of the work already accomplished by the class and discussed plans for the future. The loving cup was formally presented to the Sophomore class, the champion class for the year. The meeting was then turned over to Miss Frances Faries, of Savannah, and her athletic team. They put on several laughable stunts showing much originality and cleverness.

The Sock and Buskin Club is in the midst of rehearsals for two playlets, Land of Heart's Desire, by W. B. Yeats, and Twelve Pound, by Barrie. The cast for the first named includes Miss Christine Meadows, of Tifton, as Bridget Bruin; Miss Katherine Wheeler, of Waycross, as Sharon Bruin; Miss Frances Faries, of Savannah, as Father Heart; Miss Edith Brinson, of Waycross, as Maurteen Bruin; Miss Myrtle Jennings, as the Fairy Child. Cast for the second playlet includes Miss Jewell Mitchell, of Brunswick, as Sir Harry; Miss Frances Folsome, of Waycross, as Lady Simms;

Miss Frances Thomas, of Jesup, as Kate; Miss Margaret Strickland, of Blackshear, as Tombes; Miss Catherine Wheeler, of Waycross, and Miss Jewell Mitchell, of Brunswick, captains.

Much interest was developed last week in the election of president of Student Government, and also of Y. W. C. A. for 1924-1925. Miss Clarice Weathersbee, of Jacksonville, Fla., was elected president of student government: Miss Weathersbee gets her degree in 1926; she is popular with the students and the association feels that she will be able to lead them wisely through a year of constructive work. Miss Verna Scarborough, of Unadilla, was elected president of the Y. W. C. A. Her election affords great satisfaction to the Y. W. C. A. members, and it is expected that under her leadership the association will continue to develop along the progressive lines which has long been its policy.

Miss Mildred Price, of Marion, O., had as her guests through the week Mr. and Mrs. Gompf, of Marion; Mr. Charles Miller, Miss Elba Miller, of Louisville, Ky., and Miss Elizabeth English, of New Albany, Ind.

Miss Frances Ruth Carpenter, head of the art department; Miss Mary Small, of Valdosta, and Miss Clarice Weathersbee, of Jacksonville, Fla., motored down to Jacksonville to be present at the reception given by the Woman's Club in honor of Mr. Wood Gaylor, president of The Salons of America.

VACATION NEARS

Commencement at Valdosta College Promises to Be Elaborate

VALDOSTA, Ga., May 10.—The end of the college year at the Georgia State College at Valdosta is at hand. The glory of the vacation now looms in the near future—a period always long to be remembered by childhood and youth, whether they go out from the proverbial old field school or the halls of such a modern educational institution as the Georgia State Woman's College. The thrills that abide are there and no changing memory can ever obliterate them. How wonderful are the last days of college after which one can go out into the world to conquest.

The 1924 commencement promises to be one of the most elaborate in the history of this branch of the State University System. Fifty-one young women will receive diplomas on May 28, which has been set apart as graduation day. The Senior class of 1924 includes:

Miss Agnes Adams, Adel; Miss Gertrude Anderson, Crawfordville; Miss Caroline Ashley, Douglas; Miss Virginia Ashley, Douglas; Miss Dahlia Baker, Atlanta; Miss Olin Bland, Vidalia; Miss Edith Brinson, Waycross; Miss Ruth Brown, Valdosta; Miss Edith Bullock, Nashville; Miss Pauline Chandler, Miss Essie Mae Clarke, Blakely; Miss Marie Clyatt, Nashville; Miss Edna Cockfield, Waycross; Miss Gertrude DeLay, Rome; Miss Frances Faires, Miss Ruth Folger, Savannah; Miss Ermine Felder, Valdosta; Miss Florence Gammage, Pinehurst; Miss Daisy Geiger, Valdosta; Miss Kathleen Gibbs, Tifton; Miss Chloe Ivey, Miss Henrilu Ivey, Miss Clarice Ivey, Valdosta; Miss Lemuel Jay, Statesboro; Miss Margaret LaFar, Savannah; Miss Helen Lineburger, Miss Louise McLendon, Valdosta; Miss Elizabeth Livingston, Brunswick; Miss Eunice McArthur, Reidsville; Miss Christine Meadows, Tifton; Miss Miriam McNair, Whigham; Miss Gwendolyn Mills, Ochlocknee; Miss Jewel Mitchell, Brunswick; Miss Julia Patterson, Boston; Miss Ellie Peeples, Nashville; Miss Mildred Price, Marion, Ohio; Miss Louise Poppell, Dublin; Miss Leo Prine, Valdosta; Miss Anne Rankin, Blackshear; Miss Grace Reese, Preston; Miss Gertrude Sasser, Cairo; Miss Mary Small, Valdosta; Miss Katherine Turner, Sylvania; Miss Johannah Voight, Blackshear; Miss Illa Watts, Lake Park; Miss Katherine Wheeler, Waycross; Miss Sallie White, Blakely; Miss Harriett Whitworth, Camilla; Miss Carobel Williams, Scarborough; Miss Mildred Williams, Fargo; Miss Martha Youngblood, Savannah.

Last Saturday afternoon was devoted to the annual picnic given by the Y. W. C. A. to the student body and the faculty. A beautiful grove on Ashley Street road was selected for the picnic. Under the broad spreading live oaks, the magnificent magnolias and moss-draped cedars the 200 girls played games, took pictures—and (whisper it) actually climbed trees. Miss Florence Breen, of Jesup, and Miss Miriam McNair, of Bainbridge, were responsible for the appetizing picnic dinner spread under the trees. Following the feast a number of college songs and yells were outstanding features of the entertainment.

Last week, for one afternoon and evening the Georgia State Woman's College was the center of interest to a considerable number of members of the General Assembly of Georgia. These members were in Valdosta as the guests of the Chamber of Commerce and were entertained at the college for dinner in the great dining hall, with President R. H. Powell presiding. There were speeches from a number of the visitors and President Powell gave a comprehensive outline of the work being done by the college at present and what it expects to do in the future. Two girls were assigned to each Representative and Senator and made the visitors feel perfectly at home in this State institution.

As a special guest on May Day the college had the honor of entertaining Mrs. Viola R. Napier, of Macon, one of the only two women members of the Georgia General Assembly. Mrs. Napier, besides being one of the lawmakers of the State, is a practicing attorney and while in the college she made a talk to the students on Woman's Work in the World, which was most impressive. While assigning to woman a place in many activities, Mrs. Napier stressed in her talk especially the fact that women, first of all, were mothers and home-makers. She proved to be a most charming guest and the students were delighted to have her. Mrs. Napier showed a great deal of interest in the work of the college and learned a great deal about it while here.

Sunday evening at vesper the installation service was held. The new cabinet, escorted by the outgoing cabinet, marched in signing Hymn of Light. The old cabinet carried lighted tapers while the new cabinet carried theirs unlighted. After the Scriptural reading and prayer Miss Lemuel Jay, of Statesboro, president of the Y. W. C. A., read the installation service and the new cabinet responded in concert. Miss Verna Scarborough, of Unadilla, the new president for 1924-25, responded. Then each old member advanced to meet the corresponding new member and lighted her taper, repeating the formula used at so many of these candle services, "as you receive this light so minister ye the same one to another." The retiring cabinet was composed of Miss Omear Minter, Donaldsonville, president; Miss Lemuel Jay, of Statesboro, vice-president; Miss Florence Breen, of Jesup, secretary; Miss Margaret LaFar, of Savannah; treasurer; Miss Martha Youngblood, of Savannah, undergraduate representative; Miss Christine Meadows, of Tifton, religious department; Miss Mildred Price, Marion, O., social department; Miss Sara Manderville, Jesup, social service department; Miss Gertrude Anderson, of Crawfordville, world fellowship department; Miss Kathleen Moore, of Blackshear, publicity; Miss Miriam McNair, of Bainbridge, country store; Miss Anne Rankin, of Blackshear, music; Miss Ruth Folger, of Savannah, library; Miss Lydia Minter, of Donaldsonville, room. The new cabinet for 1924-25 includes the following: Miss Verna Scarborough, of Unadilla, president; Miss Florence Breen, of Jesup, vice-president; Miss Georgia Gibson, of Donaldsonville, secretary; Miss Sara Manderville, of Jesup, treasurer; Miss Annie Lloyd Liggins, of Atlanta, undergraduate representative; Miss Evelyn McArthur, Cordele, religious department; Miss Margaret LaFar, Savannah, social department; Miss Elsie Gunn, of Rome, social service department; Miss Ruth Folger, of Savannah, world fellowship department; Miss Frances Folsom, of Waycross, publicity; Miss Miriam Stokes, of Alma, country store; Miss Hester Bruce, of Blackshear, music; Miss Olive Rogers, of Blackshear, library; Miss Daisy Sims, of Leslie, room.

SUNDAY, MARCH 16, 1924

contributions from others are: "A Real Cane Grinding," by Miss Hester Bruce; "A Rainy Day," by Miss Chole Ivey; "A Modern Wedding," by Miss Marion Chauncey, and "Tobacco Sale," by Miss Grace Eule. Besides these contributions the magazine contains all the usual departments dealing with the activities of the college life and altogether it is a most interesting publication.

The visit of Lieutenant Boulware, and Prof. Ewain J. Brown of Emory University Academy at Oxford, and Miss Jimmie Carmack of the department of home economics of the Agricultural college at Tifton, was the inspiration for a 5 o'clock dinner served by a group of young ladies in the class of the department of Home Economics, with Miss Jewell Carmack of Vienna, as hostess. Others besides the honor guests enjoying this beautifully appointed affair were Miss Anne Hopper, dean of women; Miss Eppie Robertson, Miss Katie Herring and Miss Verna Scarboro of the student body.

Mrs. D. W. Plowden of Orlando, Fla., formerly of the faculty of the music department of the college, gave the faculty and members of the student body a rare treat with an informal recital on Friday evening. This unusual pleasure was made possible by an arrangement through Miss Orrie Belle Rogers, a member of the music faculty. Mrs. Plowden opened her program with a first ballad by Chopin, and then gave a Chopin group including the Berceuse and the Revolutionary Etude. Among other numbers were the Paganini Caprice and the Magic Fire music by Wagner. Mrs. Plowden closed her program with Liszt's Twelfth Rhapsody. Her audience was highly appreciative and Mrs. Plowden never played more brilliantly.

Miss Hester Bruce of Blackshear, and Miss Alice Clarke, of Waycross, had important places on the program of entertainment presented by the Wyndausia Club, of Valdosta on the occasion of the annual reception—"Husband's Night,"—on Tuesday evening. Miss Bruce's contribution to the program was a piano solo "Polonaise," by Mac-

Dowell, and Miss Clarke's was a beautiful interpretation of Chopin's "Liberation's" "Polonaise."

NEWS FROM VALDOSTA

Valdosta, Ga., March 15.—Athletics, in a very animated state, featured the last week's activities at the Georgia State Woman's College at Valdosta. The best sophomore quintette and the best freshmen quintette in the history of the institution's athletics came together the past week in lively tilts in the basketball tournament in which the sophomores captured the coveted trophy, the loving cup—by defeating the freshmen one point. Both teams were well matched and sensational playing was done on both sides. Miss Lois Mann starred for the losers.

The line up for the Sophomores included: Kathleen Gibbs and Gertrude Anderson, forwards; Johanna Volight, center; Frances Fairies and Remar Jones, guards.

For the Freshmen: Elizabeth Coleman and Nellie Rountree, forwards; Mary Stewart Woodward, center; Katherine Brice and Agnes Malloy, guards.

The tournament was staged under the direction of Miss Jakes, head of the physical education department, and her superior ability is largely responsible for the keen interest shown by the entire student body in the various activities in this phase of the college curriculum.

The regular meeting of the Athletic Association occupied the center of Friday evening's activities, with "The Owls" in charge. The program was in the form of a stunt, "The Lyceum Bureau," with Misses Kate Herrin, Lillian Lane, Clarice Weathersbee, Agnes Adams, Gertrude Delay, Dorothy Moore, and Emma Harco taking part. The officers of the association are: President, Miss Gertrude Delay of Rome; vice president, Miss Kate Herrin of Howell; secretary, Miss Francis Fairies of Savannah; treasurer, Miss Caroline Ashley of Ocala; cheer leader, Miss Olin Eland of Winalla.

An early spring issue of the Pine Branch, the college magazine, is just from the press with a cover design of a pine branch, which in the setting of a silver moon, a white sky, a caressing wind, furnished the inspiration for the harmony that found expression in a poem of two verses entitled "The Tree," by Miss Evelyn Brown. An article entitled "The Evidence of Things Unseen," of unusual merit, also by Miss Brown gives her a high place in the contents of this issue. Other contributions of particular merit includes three poems by Miss Helen Allen Thomas, "Call of Home" and "If I Could," and the "Song of the Alien," "Toil and Trouble," by Miss Eppie Robertson is also an attractive poem. Prose contributions from others are: "A Real Cane Grinding," by Miss Hester Bruce; "A Rainy Day," by Miss Chole Ivey; "A Modern Wedding," by Miss Marion Chauncey, and a "Tobacco Sale," by Miss Grace Bule. Besides these contributions the magazine contains all the usual departments dealing with the activities of the college life and altogether it is a most interesting publication.

The visit of Lieutenant Boulware, and Prof. Ewain J. Brown of Emory University Academy at Oxford, and Miss Jimmie Carmack of the department of home economics of the Agricultural college at Tifton, was the inspiration for a 6 o'clock dinner served by a group of young ladies in the class of the department of Home Economics, with Miss Jewell Carmack of Vienna, as hostess. Others besides the honor guests enjoying this beautifully appointed affair were Miss Anne Hopper, dean of women; Miss Eppie Robertson, Miss Katie Herring and Miss Verna Scarboro of the student body.

Mrs. D. W. Plowden of Orlando, Fla., formerly of the faculty of the music department of the college, gave the faculty and members of the student body a rare treat with an informal recital on Friday evening. This unusual pleasure was made possible by an arrangement through Miss Orrie Belle Rogers, a member of the music faculty. Mrs. Plowden opened her program with a flat ballad by Chopin, and then gave a Chopin group including the Berceuse and the Revolutionary Etude. Among other numbers were the Paganini Caprice and the Magic Fire music by Wagner. Mrs. Plowden closed her program with Liszt's Twelfth Rhapsody. Her audience was highly appreciative and Mrs. Plowden never played more brilliantly.

Miss Hester Bruce of Blackshear, and Miss Alice Clarke, of Waycross, had important places on the program of entertainment presented by the Wymdausis Club, or Valdosta on the occasion of the annual reception—"Husband's Night,"—on Tuesday evening. Miss Bruce's contribution to the program was a piano solo "Poloniaso," by Mac-

Dowell, and Miss Clarke sang with beautiful interpretation Churlow Liverance's "Felice."

NEWS FROM VALDOSTA

Valdosta, Ga., March 15.—Athletics, in a very animated state, featured the last week's activities at the Georgia State Woman's College at Valdosta. The best sophomore quintette and the best freshmen quintette in the history of the institution's athletics came together the past week in lively tilts in the basketball tournament in which the sophomores captured the coveted trophy, the loving cup—by defeating the freshmen one point. Both teams were well matched and sensational playing was done on both sides. Miss Lois Mann starred for the losers.

The line up for the Sophomores included: Kathleen Gibbs and Gertrude Anderson, forwards; Johanna Voight, center; Frances Fairies and Remer Jones, guards. For the Freshmen: Elizabeth Coleman and Nelle Rountree, forwards; Mary Stewart Woodward, center; Katherine Brice and Agnes Malloy, guards.

The tournament was staged under the direction of Miss Jakes, head of the physical education department, and her superior ability is largely responsible for the keen interest shown by the entire student body in the various activities in this phase of the college curriculum.
