

Valdosta College

VALDOSTA, Ga.—For the second consecutive year Misses Una Ritch, of Jesup, and Louise Odom Howell, of Valdosta have been selected to head the Kappa and Lambda Athletic Societies on the campus. Miss Howell was president of the Kappas for the past year, and Miss Ritch president of the Lambdas. Miss Margaret Hudson, of Newton, was voted vice president of the Lambdas, and Miss Josephine Daniels, Ludowici, vice president of the Kappas; Miss Permelia Ollif will serve as secretary-treasurer of the Kappas, and Miss Ruby Harrison will hold the same office for the Lambdas.

Miss Henry Kate Gardner, talented senior in the speech department, presented her graduation recital at the Woman's Building on Friday evening. She read the play, "Death Takes a Holiday."

A meeting of the Student Government Association was held on Tuesday. A report of the recent convention in New Orleans was given by Misses Mildred Turnbull, of Moultrie, and Henry Kate Gardner, of Camilla, who were the college representatives.

Miss Ruth Jones was recently elected president of the French Club. Miss Mary Alderman was elected vice president, and Miss Miriam Adams, secretary and treasurer.

Misses Emma Ambos and Hulda Summer spoke at Vespers on the subject of "Peace."

The Valdosta Club held a luncheon meeting at the House-in-the-Woods on Thursday. Miss Broun Hutchinson, president of the club, led the business discussion.

The English Club met Tuesday evening. Miss Leomora Dufour discussed Pearl Buck's newest novel, "A House Divided," and Miss Louise Hardy gave a report on "Safe Bridge," by Keyes.

Elections for Glee Club officers for 1935-1936 were held recently. Misses Joy Miller was elected president; Alexa Daley, vice president; Mary Lois Hitch, secretary-treasurer.

The Social Recreation club held a party Thursday evening. Miss Eleanor Bailey was chairman of the group which planned the first party project.

The issue of "The Campus Canopy," the college weekly, was published by the Alumnae Association on Wednesday. Miss Kathrynne Connel was editor, and Miss Mildred Price, professor of history, business manager.

Subject headings for the card catalogue in the library were recently compiled by the librarians. Miss Evelyn Deariso and Miss Lillian Patterson. The subject headings will enable the students to find more readily material in the library.

Alumnae visitors on campus for May Day included Misses Elizabeth Kirkland, Sylvester; Gedelle Brabhom, Moultrie; Helen Brasington, Waycross; Margaret Kennedy, Dawson; Vonice Ritch, Jesup, and Gussie O'Quinn, Jesup.

Beebe Termed Most Popular of Scientists

Jan 28, 1935

Dr. William Beebe, probably the most popular scientist in the world today, comes to Valdosta on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 3, 1935, when he will give his latest lecture, "Five Hundred Fathoms Down," the story of his sensational explorations of the ocean off Bermuda at the Ritz Theatre at 4 o'clock p. m.

Dr. Beebe has an enormous following as a result of his lecture appearances, his exquisitely written books and the numerous articles which he has written for magazines and newspapers. Here is a man of science who can talk of his studies in glowing and picturesque words. He is a really magnificent speaker and holds his hearers spellbound with the wonders of marine life which he relates.

No other man has plumbed the ocean depths as William Beebe has. Sealed in a steel ball, or bathysphere, he beheld a new and unknown world. Dr. Beebe has had prepared a series of animated cartoons of almost uncanny lifelikeness which give an authentic picture of this fairyland under the sea. He will also illustrate his lecture with motion pictures and stereopticon slides.

Tickets are now on sale at Bennett's drug store. Admission prices are 75 cents for adults and 40 cents for students.

Tea For Members G.S.W.C. Alumnae

A delightful event of yesterday afternoon was the garden party for the members of G. S. W. C. Alumnae Association, which was held in the park south of the college.

Guests were met by Miss Frances Dekle, and those in the receiving line were Miss Elizabeth McRee, Miss Annie P. Hopper, Miss Iva Chandler and Miss Clarice Ivey.

An interesting exhibit, arranged by Miss Patterson and Miss Deariso, was that of the activities of the college year, shown by pictures in the year book and the annual.

The guest book was kept by Mrs. J. C. Thoroughman, of Changchow, China, who is on a visit to relatives and friends in this country.

On account of the rain, the party progressed and moved to the porch of the Womans building, where refreshments were served, by Mrs. Richard Sanders, Miss Clare Bray, Mrs. O. C. Carruthers and Miss Chloe Ivey.

The guests then went inside the Womans building, where an interesting program, arranged by Mrs. Hollie Howell, was given.

Mrs. Glenn Johnson made an interesting talk on "What the G. S. W. C. Alumnae Could Do For the College." This was followed by a violin solo by O. A. Toole, accompanied by Mary Winn Greer, and a delightful reading by Nell Zipperer.

Mrs. Joe Durrenberger then extended an invitation to a Luncheon Club to be organized by members of the Valdosta Alumnae, the first luncheon meeting to be held next Friday at 1 o'clock at the Hazel Briggs tea room. It is hoped that all members of the local Alumnae will attend.

GEORGIA STATE WOMAN'S COLLEGE

VALDOSTA, Ga., March 16.—Miss Mary Polhill of Sylvester, will preside over the court as May Queen in the annual May Day of the college on April 27. At an election held by the student body at assembly Tuesday, Miss Polhill was voted by straw vote to receive the honor of presiding at the court as queen at which Miss Margaret Zippies of Savannah will preside as maid-of-honor. Miss Polhill is an officer in the Student Government Association, and in the French Club. Miss Polhill was also on the dean's list for the fall quarter. Miss Zippies has been on the dean's list her entire four years in college. She is an outstanding pupil of the piano department, presenting a brilliant graduation piano recital in January. Both the queen and the maid-of-honor are outstanding members of this year's senior class.

Spring holidays for the college students will begin on Tuesday, March 19, at the conclusion of examinations, and continue through Sunday, March 24.

Alumnae members on campus last week-end included Misses Martha Youngblood, Margaret Bischoff, Bessie McRae, and Mrs. Adelaide Edleman, Savannah, and Miss Margaret Williams, of Cordele.

A program by the fine art department of the college was presented at assembly on Wednesday morning. Piano solos were played by Misses Virginia Zippies, Savannah, and Mary Lois Hitch, of Valdosta. Miss Margaret Pardee played a violin solo, "Hejee Kati," accompanied at the piano by Miss Alimae Temple. Miss Henry Kate Gardner, Camilla, and Miss Theresa Graham, Jesup, presented two short readings.

Horseback riding will be included in the physical education curriculum for the spring quarter.

At the meeting of the Sock and Buskin Club on Tuesday evening, two one-act plays were presented by members of the club. "Where the Whirlwind Blows," a play of Russian women of today, was directed by Miss Cleo Barber of Bainbridge. Misses Josephine Joubert of Savannah, Mary Agnes Roane of Savannah, and Rachel Coxwell of Leesburg had leading roles. "The Wisdom Tooth," a comedy, was directed by Miss Matilda Tillman of Quitman. Miss Margaret Hudson of Newton played the role of a rich woman's nephew who had accompanied his aunt to the dentist's office to have a tooth extracted. The nurse was played by Miss Marion Reid of Homerville; the rich aunt, Miss Jessie Catledge Langdale of Valdosta, and the girl with the wisdom tooth, Miss Clara Davis Adams, Moultrie.

GEORGIA STATE WOMANS COLLEGE

VALDOSTA, Ga., March 9.—The artist series committee has completed plans to present Jeannette Vreeland, America's brilliant soprano, at the Ritz Theater, Sunday afternoon, March 31, at 4 o'clock.

Miss Gertrude Gilmer, state president elect of the American Association of University Women, was a guest of Dr. and Mrs. Dice Anderson at Wesleyan College on Wednesday. In the afternoon she spoke to a joint meeting of the A. A. U. W. of Macon and Milledgeville on Culture of the South as revealed in her research in early Southern periodicals.

The International Relations Club had charge of the Vespers program at assembly Wednesday. Miss Broun Hutchinson, Valdosta, spoke on "Disputes Before the Council Under Article XI"; Miss Noellene Johnson spoke on the subject "America Must Choose" and plans for a palace of nations were discussed by Miss Mary Elizabeth Weatherford, Savannah.

A goat contest was held on campus this week under the auspices of the Lambda and Kappa Athletic Associations.

An archery tournament was held on the archery range Saturday afternoon. Only the girls who have qualified this quarter were permitted to shoot. The shooting was from the thirty-yard line. The record for this distance is now held by Miss Estelle Roberts, Cordele, and has been equalled by Miss Chappie Bragg, Savannah. This record is open to defeat in the tournaments.

The Sock and Buskin Club presented The Swan by Molnar at the Emory Junior auditorium Friday evening under the direction of Miss Louise Sawyer. This production well measured up to the fine standards set in previous performances of the dramatic club.

The Fine Arts Club met on Friday evening to discuss plans for a trip to the Ringling Art Museum in Sarasota. The plans were presented by the president, Miss Nellie Mae Gannon, Valdosta.

Alumnæ visitors on campus last week-end included Misses Margaret Kennedy, Dawson; Miriam Ryan, Ludowici; Jean Loughridge, Blackshear and Mildred Hughes, Glennville.

The Athletic Council held its regular meeting on Tuesday evening. Plans are being made for sending delegates to Greensboro, N. C.

a tariff protection.

Those present at the meeting were practically unanimous in their approval of the efforts which the administration has made and is making to relieve the economic distress of the agricultural class.

It was announced that Texas is planning to send a special train load of cotton and other farmers to Washington to give to Mr. Roosevelt and Secretary Wallace their personal support and that Alabama and Georgia are also expecting to have representatives on the trip to the capitol. Upon motion it was decided that Lowndes county should have representatives on this trip and arrangements are to be perfected for as many from this county as can arrange their affairs to join the Texas and Alabama delegations.

When the resolution of approval of the AAA program and condemnation of criticism was introduced the opposition of Governor Talmadge was specifically pointed, but when the resolution was drawn it did not name any one critic, but disapproved any opposition.

The text of the resolution adopted follows:

Be it resolved by the farmers of Lowndes county, Georgia, in mass meeting duly assembled on this first day of May, 1935:

That we heartily endorse the present administration and especially do we approve the agricultural program.

That we condemn and disapprove any criticism and opposition to the present administration.

LETTER CARRIERS END CONVENTION

Enjoyable Meeting Held in City By Rural Letter Carriers of Eighth District

WALL IS MAIN SPEAKER

Rural letter carriers of the Eighth district, representing nearly every county in the district, were back in their home counties today, following a successful annual convention held here yesterday.

The meeting was presided over by J. W. Timmerman, president of the district organization, and among the visitors was G. H. Thomas, Jackson, president of the State Rural Letter Carriers' association.

The principal speaker for the convention was Charles C. Wall, secretary and treasurer of the state organization.

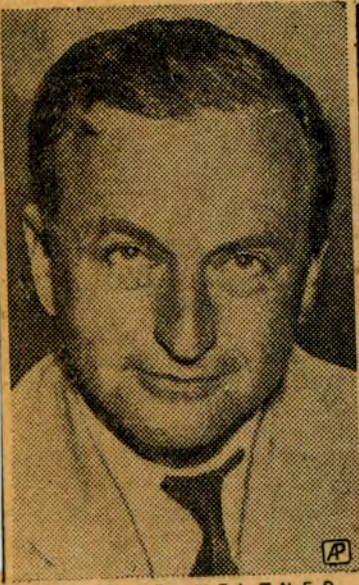

The visitors were welcomed to the city by Mayor J. D. Ashley, and the response to the mayor's welcome was made by M. E. Yeomans.

Among the entertainment numbers were readings by Miss Louise Sawyer, faculty member of the State Womans College, and an address by Judge J. F. McCrackin.

Headquarters for the convention were in the Daniel Ashley hotel.

The members of the association's Ladies' Auxiliary were entertained at luncheon by Dr. Frank Reade and other faculty members of the Womans College, and after the luncheon the ladies were conducted on a tour of the college.

AT COLLEGE COMMENCEMENT

PHILIP WELTNER

FRANK R. READE

Chancellor Phillip Weltner, of the State University System, delivered the address to the graduating class of the State Womans College here today and Dr. Frank Reade, the executive dean of the local school delivered the diplomas.

VALDOSTA—The final selections for the cast of Moinar's "The Swan," was announced last week by Miss Louise Sawyer, director. Willene Roberts, of Valdosta, who has starred in dramatic presentations of the Sock and Buskin Club for four years, will play the role of Asa, the tutor; Estelle Roberts, of Cordele, president of the club, will have the role of Father Hyacinth; Henry Kate Gardner, of Camilla, will play the title role.

Miss Gardner also had the lead in the Sock and Buskin's presentation of Rachel Crothers' "Mary the Third" in 1932. Broun Hutchinson, Valdosta, has been chosen to play the part of Beatrice, mother of the Swan; Chapple Brags, Savannah, will play the role of Albert; County Wunderlich will be played by Virginia Tuck, of Thomasville; two little princes will be Mildred Turnbull, of Moultrie, and Una Ritch, Jesup; Leonora Dufour, Albany, will play the part of Maria Dominica, Alberta's mother; the maid will be played by Vangie Trimble, Moultrie; Caesar and Symphorosa will be played by Cleo Barber, Bainbridge, and Lorene Johnson, Thomasville; Matilda Tilman, Quitman, and Ruth Williams, Waycross, are in the roles of the two ladies-in-waiting.

The production cast for the play was also announced. Leila Urquhart, Waycross, will serve as business manager; Marlon Reid, Homerville, advertising manager; Rachel Coxwell, Leesburg, and Josephine Joubert, Savannah, will be costume managers. Jessie Langdale, Valdosta, will be head of the ushers. The play will be given the first of March, and the third act will be rehearsed this week.

Mildred Turnbull, Moultrie, and Emma Ambos, Savannah, were elected to serve as president and vice president of the Student Government Association for the year 1935-36. Miss Turnbull served as president of the freshman class during her first year at the college, and Miss Ambos is now president of the sophomore class.

The Fine Arts Club sponsored a waffle supper Saturday evening to raise funds for a trip to the Ringling Art Museum in Sarasota, Fla. Nellie Mae Gannon, Valdosta, president of the club, and Sara Bingham, chairman of the program, were in charge of the supper.

The hare and hound chase which was postponed last week was held on Saturday from 3 until 6 o'clock. The chase was under the supervision of Una Ritch, Jesup, president of the Lambda Athletic Association, and Mrs. Jack Howell, Valdosta, president of the Kappa Athletic Association.

The Valdosta Club meeting at the gymnasium on Thursday featured dancing. Broun Hutchinson, Valdosta, had charge of the entertainment along with Frances Garbutt, Valdosta, chairman of the committee.

Dr. J. A. Durrenberger, professor of social science, spoke at vespers Thursday evening on "Harmonious Living As a World Problem."

At the recommendation of Dr. Frank Reade, executive dean, a committee composed of students was appointed by the student government president, Henry Kate Gardner, Camilla, to serve with the faculty committee on the artist series. This committee consists of Mary Elizabeth Weatherford, Savannah; Joy Miller, Albany, and Helen Claire Varnedoe, Valdosta.

Dr. A. B. Lipscomb, pastor of the Church of Christ, spoke at assembly Wednesday morning on "Problems of the Student."

The drawing of "Heart Sisters," an annual tradition of the college, was held Monday evening. Miss Vangie Trimble, Moultrie, had charge of the drawing. The Heart Sister period lasted until Thursday, when a special Valentine Day dinner was held in the dining room.

The Pine Cone, edited by Miss Elizabeth Larisey, of Valdosta, was turned over to the publishers last week.

A deputation team from Emory University, Atlanta, will have charge of the services at vespers on Sunday evening. Mildred Turnbull, Moultrie, vice president of the Y. W. C. A., helped plan the program for the evening.

A meeting of the senior class was held on Monday to discuss the possibility of the senior trip to New Orleans and Mardi Gras.

A debate on the subject, "Resolved, That Women Should Have Equal Rights With Men in Initiating Courtship," was held in the sociology class on Monday. The affirmative was sponsored by Mildred Turnbull and Emily Fluker, Quitman; the negative was argued by Elizabeth Larisey, Valdosta, and Dorothy Ogletree, of Savannah.

News of Week From G.S. W.C. At Valdosta

VALDOSTA, Ga.—Chancellor Philip Weltner, of the University System of Georgia, will deliver the commencement address here June 10. The program will begin on June 8, with the annual luncheon and business meeting of the Alumnae Association at the Daniel Ashley Hotel. The baccalaureate sermon will be on Sunday, May 9. The commencement dinner will also be held on this date in the dining room in Ashley Hall. A special vesper service will be held in the rotunda at 7:15 o'clock. The graduation exercises will be held on Monday at 10 o'clock.

Each year the Student Government Association awards G. S. W. C. emblems to students who have shown leadership in campus activities. Four girls received these awards at assembly on Wednesday morning. They were Misses Carolyn Brim, Bainbridge; Mildred Turnbull, Moultrie; Estelle Roberts, Cordele, and Josephine Daniel, Ludowici.

The seniors presented three one-act plays under the direction of Miss Louise Sawyer, Friday evening. The first of the plays was "Neighbors," a comedy, by Zona Gale. The cast included Misses Dorothy Ogletree, of Savannah; Lois Simpson, of Valdosta; Geraldine Arrington, of Ellaville; Elizabeth Larisey, of Valdosta; Lucy Hammond, of Griffin; Elizabeth Wilkes, of Adel; Louise Ambros, of Savannah, and Clare Lawson, of Savannah. The second was "Will o' the Wisp," by Doris F. Holman.

The Valdosta Club entertained the graduating class of the Valdosta High School with their annual tea-dance at the American Legion Home from 5 until 7 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Judge W. E. Thomas and Mr. Umphries, local manager of the Ritz Theater, entertained the G. S. C. W. students at a theater party Tuesday evening, May 28.

Miss Floyd, principal of Vashti School in Thomasville, and a number of the Vashti seniors were entertained Tuesday, May 28, on the G. S. W. C. campus. A short musical program and athletic activities were features of the afternoon. The guests remained for dinner.

The wives of the members of the Rural Mail Carriers Associations were luncheon guests in the college dining room Friday, May 31.

The last athletic association party of the year was held Saturday evening, June 1, in the gymnasium. The entertainment was a combination of dances and games. The climax of the evening was reached in the delivery of the awards for outstanding athletic feats of the year.

The piano, violin and expression pupils of Miss Gladys E. Warren, Mrs. Frances Pardee, and Miss Louise Sawyer were presented in a recital in the rotunda, Monday evening.

The Y. W. C. A. is sponsoring classes in crocheting, which are being taught by Miss Joy Miller, of Albany, and Miss Margaret Bennet, of Jesup.

Miss Alimae Temple presented her voice students in a studio recital in the Woman's Club Building at 4:30 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Miss Ziplies in Savannah Recital

The Savannah Morning News of Wednesday, March 19th, carried the following story of interest to Valdostans. Miss Margaret Ziplies of the College is well-known to Valdosta:

The Savannah Music Club will present Miss Margaret Ziplies, pianist, tomorrow evening at 8:45 o'clock at the Lawton Memorial, for its March concert. Miss Ziplies, a very talented senior in the music department of the Georgia State Woman's College at Valdosta, is a pupil of Miss Gladys E. Warren, director of the department, and a former pupil of Miss Georgia E. Word. She has been an outstanding student in both musical and academic work throughout her four years at the college, and drew one of the largest audiences of the season at her senior graduation recital recently. She also is much in demand for club programs and various musical activities in Valdosta.

One of the interesting numbers on the program is the Chopin Sonata in B flat minor. The "Concerto" (piano and orchestra) in B flat minor, by Tschai-kowsky, is distinctly Russian, and abounds in interesting thematic material. Miss Virginia Ziplies will play the orchestral part on a second piano for this number.

Interested friends who are not members of the Music Club will be admitted on presentation of card bearing their name and address.

Miss Willene Roberts To Give Recital

The Georgia State Womans College will present Miss Willene Roberts in her senior graduation recital in the Rotunda of Ashley Hall on Monday evening, May 13.

Miss Roberts, a pupil of Miss Louise Sawyer, is one of the most talented students in the speech department. She has played the leads in a number of the annual productions of the Sock and Buskin Club, and has taken part in the May Day celebrations since her freshman year.

For the first part of her program Miss Roberts will read a number of Irish selections. She will read four Irish poems, "The Childer," (Arthur Stringer); "The Choice," (W. M. Lotts); "The Cut Finger," (Ellis Parker Butler), and "Cornalyius Ha Ha Ha Hannigan," (T. A. Daley). She will also read the story of "Danny" by Elias Day in this group.

For her second selection Miss Roberts has chosen a number more in the tragic vein, entitled "England to America," by Margaret Prescott Montague.

For her last number she has chosen a romance comedy in one act, "A Marriage Has Been Arranged," (Alfred Sutter).

Miss Roberts will be assisted by Miss Mary Lois Hitch, a pupil of Miss Gladys Warren in the piano department. In her first group Miss Hitch will play three Chopin numbers, "Polanaise in C Sharp Minor," "Nocturne in F Major," and the "Butterfly Etude."

She will also play two numbers by the modern French composer, Debussy. The first is the famous "Golliwog's Cake Walk," and "Garden in the Rain." For her last selection she will play "Valse Brillante" (Zucca).

The public is cordially invited to attend the recital.

Colleges Reopen
After Holidays

The Georgia State Womans College and Emory Junior reopened yesterday after the Christmas holidays with little change in registration figures.

At the Womans College it was stated that some of the students had not yet returned on account of illness and there are some few additions, but complete figures will not be available for a day or two because of delays in the arrival of some of the students.

At Emory Junior it was stated that the registration was the same as at the beginning of the fall term.

Both schools are beginning the second quarter of the year and officials of the institutions are very much pleased with prospects for the remainder of the school year.

Enrollment in the two schools this year has been highly satisfactory and the work being done by students is reported to be of the same high order as that which has always prevailed in them.

Plans for certain construction work which is to be done at the Womans College are progressing rapidly, but no definite information has been received as to when active work will be undertaken. Funds for the additional buildings are being provided by the federal government to the Board of Regents and it is anticipated that the additional room which will be provided will enable the school to care for a number of additional students next fall and winter.

GEORGIA STATE
WOMANS COLLEGE

VALDOSTA, Ga., Feb. 2.—Dr. William Beebe, noted scientist and lecturer, spoke at the Ritz Theater on Sunday afternoon. The lecture, "Five Hundred Fathoms Down," dealt with the author's experiences beneath the sea off Nonesuch Island, part of the Bermuda chain. This lecture was one of the Student Artist Series for the year.

A debating team from Emory University will debate a team from G. S. W. C. on Saturday evening. The question to be debated is The Phi Delta Kappa question "Resolved, That the International Shipments of Arms and Munitions Should Be Prohibited." Miss Clara Louise Driskey, Surrency, and Miss Leonora Dufour, Albany, will represent G. S. W. C.

Rev. Armand Eyer, vicar of the Episcopal Church, addressed the students at assembly on Wednesday morning.

Miss Iva Chandler, assistant dean of women, attended the educational meeting in Athens last week.

Alumnae members on campus last week-end included Misses Vonice Ritch, Jesup, and Marjorie Butler, Vienna.

Miss Henry Kate Gardner of Camilla, president of the Student Government Association, spoke at vespers Thursday evening on the subject of "Harmonious Living as an Individual Problem."

The cast for Molnar's "The Swan" was selected at a meeting of the Sock and Buskin Club last Thursday. The cast will be announced this week and production will start immediately. The play will be given the first of March.

—The announcement of the engagement of Miss Margaret Carter to Mr. John Bray Giddens in Sunday's Journal was received with cordial interest here and in Ray City where Miss Carter's parents have their home. The wedding will be solemnized in June. Miss Carter at present is attending G. S. W. C. where she is a Junior.

—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson of Bristol, Tenn., announce the birth of a son, Robert Banks Anderson, on April 28 at the Little-Griffin-Owens-Saunders Hospital. Mrs. Anderson was formerly Miss Miriam Mixson. The baby's maternal grandparents are Dr. and Mrs. Joyce Mixson, Sr.

MISS GERTRUDE GILMER TALKS HERE WEDNESDAY

A. A. U. W. Will Hear State President Discuss 'South- ern Periodicals'

Miss Gertrude Gilmer, newly elected state president of the American Association of University Women, will be guest speaker for the March meeting of the Macon branch of A. A. U. W. to be held at 4 o'clock Wednesday at the Woman's club, Baconsfield park.

Miss Gilmer, professor of English at the Georgia State Woman's college in Valdosta will speak on "Southern Periodicals." She has given much time during the past ten years to an intensive study of Southern magazines, the field in which she is writing her thesis for the Ph. D. degree.

During the current year Miss Gilmer has published several articles on the history of magazines published in the 16 Southern states. These are: "Checklist of Southern Periodicals to 1861," "Maryland Ante Bellum Magazines," and "Georgia Ante Bellum Magazines."

Miss Gilmer has identified and located 778 periodicals published previous to 1861 and around 1,500 published between 1861 and 1900; 757 are reported in the checklist.

Miss Cora Burghard of Macon, formerly a student at G. S. W. C., recalls Miss Gilmer as one of the most popular and attractive teachers on the campus, always interested in student activities, and the center of the social life of the college. She has been sponsor of the college annual, "Pine Cone," for a number of years. The annual has won many prizes in competition of college annuals.

She received her A. B. and M. A. degrees at Peabody college in Nashville, Tenn., and was secretary to Dr. Edwin Mims of Vanderbilt during this time.

Members of the Milledgeville branch of the American Association of University Women have been in-invited to join the Macon branch for the occasion.

Mrs. Dice R. Anderson, president, will be in charge of the meeting. Following Miss Gilmer's lecture, Mrs. Ray Carter will sing, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Raleigh Drake.

Members of the A. A. U. W. and their guests have been invited to a tea given in honor of Miss Gilmer immediately after the program, in the Baconsfield clubhouse.

Campus Closes For Freshmen Of Valdosta

VALDOSTA, Ga.—The Georgia State Woman's College opened on September 16 for freshmen. During the week, courses in how to study and how to conform with the rules of the Student Government Association were given the new students. Classes were conducted in campus problems by leaders in campus activities. On Friday evening the pledge of the association was administered to the freshmen by Misses Mildred Turnbull, Moultrie, president of the S. G. A., and Emma Ambos, vice president. Upper classmen registered on Monday and Tuesday. Classes began on Wednesday.

The Y. W. C. A. entertained the freshmen with a costume party in the gymnasium Saturday evening. Miss Ruth Williams, Waycross, was in charge of the program.

The first issue of the Campus Canopy, the college newspaper, appeared on Friday. The paper has been enlarged and contains a number of new features. Miss Leonora Dufour, Albany will be editor of the publication and Miss Antoinette Andrews will be managing editor. Miss Josephine Daniel, Ludowici, will serve as business manager.

The new faculty members of the college are: Miss Clara Bancroft, dramatic contralto, teacher and recitalist, in the music department faculty as voice teacher; Miss Matilda Callaway, Marietta, Ga., professor of home economics; Mrs. Phoebe Hall Knippling, of Ames, Iowa, and Valdosta, instructor in the biology department, while Professor James Stokes is at University of Chicago on leave of absence; Miss Martha McMurray, dietitian, and Miss Marjorie Carter as assistant in the dormitory staff.

Open house was held in the rotunda of Ashley Hall on Sunday afternoon. Miss Annie P. Hopper, dean of women, served as hostess.

A committee of students to serve with a faculty committee on activities fees was appointed last week by Dr. Frank Reade, president. These students include Misses Clara Davis Adams, Moultrie, president of the senior class; Mildred Turnbull, Moultrie, president of the Student Government Association; Clara Louise Driskell, Surrency, president of the Y. W. C. A.; Frances Garoutt, president of the Valdosta Club, and Miss Dufour, Albany, editor of the college paper.

The annual faculty reception was held in the rotunda of Ashley Hall on Saturday. Mrs. Frances Pardee, Miss Clara Bancroft, Miss Louise Sawyer and Miss Gladys E. Warren gave a program.

Rotarians Hold Memorial Services For Dr. A. Griffin, Valued Member

Yesterday's Rotary club luncheon featured a memorial service to Dr. A. Griffin, long a member of the club and beloved Valdosta physician, whose recent death caused section-wide sorrow.

Dr. A. G. Cleveland, superintendent of the city schools, was in charge of the program.

A quartet composed of Harry Stump, Bob Stump, James Dasher and Lloyd Greer in opening the service sang "Abide With Me."

J. F. McCrackin, speaking of Dr. Griffin's life and service to his community, emphasized his friendliness to people in every walk of life. An outstanding characteristic of Dr. Griffin, said Mr. McCrackin, was his love for his fellow man. He attracted friends and kept them, for he himself was friendly, he said.

Dr. B. G. Owens, who was for years an associate with Dr. Griffin, said he was liberal. He mentioned instances from his association with Dr. Griffin where his consideration of others and their views was truly remarkable.

Dr. Cleveland spoke feelingly of Dr. Griffin, the Man. He said that he had never known a man who more truly emulated the characteristics of the idealistic conception of what a man should be than Dr. Griffin.

J. B. Copeland, in speaking of Dr. Griffin as an outstanding success, said that men often measure success in material things alone. He said that his conception of success was the attainment of a position in the hearts of one's fellows. He said that from whatever angle Dr. Griffin's life was considered it was a success. Material success and professional success were both his, but the outstanding success of his life, said Mr. Copeland, was the love which an entire section felt for him.

J. D. McKey paid glowing tribute to Dr. Griffin and said that the position which he held in his community came to him through his gentleness of nature, through his consideration for others and from his giving of himself to those who were in trouble or in need.

The service was closed with the quartet singing "Crossing the Bar."

The men who took part in the service to Dr. Griffin were all men with whom he had been associated in business, in a professional way and in a social and friendly way and their emotions were not easily restrained.

Bride-Elect Honoree At Lovely Shower

Mrs. E. J. Carter, of Meigs, was hostess at a miscellaneous shower in honor of her niece, Miss Verda Will Carter, Saturday afternoon from four till six. The spacious dining and living rooms were thrown en-suite, and were artistically decorated in roses, gladioli and vari-colored garden flowers.

Miss Evelyn Carter presided at the table with the bride's book, in which each guest was required to register. The table had as its decoration, a miniature bride and groom. The dining room was original in its decorations of an altar in miniature, with an arch composed of southern smilax, and Easter lilies, with tall white tapers reposing in crystal candleabra. In front of the altar was a bridal couple with attendants.

The gift-room had a color scheme of yellow and flame, and had as decorations lovely bowls of nasturtiums.

The gifts were numerous and beautiful, attesting to the popularity of the bride-elect. Miss Carter was never more attractive than in her lovely ensemble of ice-blue and flesh pink, with corsage in pastel shades.

Mrs. W. D. Carter, the bride's mother, was gowned in pink crepe with white accessories. Mrs. Zant, mother of the groom, wore a navy triple-sheer with accessories to match. Her corsage was pink carnations.

Mrs. Carter, hostess, was gowned in Eleanor blue, with corsage of pink roses and sweet-peas. The corsages were gifts of the groom.

Mrs. Carter was assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Leo Wilkes, Mrs. R. H. Murrah, Misses Elizabeth Smith, Eleanor Wilkes, Pauline and Elaine Carter.

A delicious salad course and iced tea was served.

About 100 guests called during the afternoon.—Pelham Journal.

Dr. Jere M. Pound

THE DEATH of Dr. Jere M. Pound removes a great and noble figure from the field of Georgia education. In the fifty years during which he taught and counseled and governed, he touched the life of the state's schools and colleges over a wider range, perhaps, than any other leader of his time. Beginning his career as an instructor in the Atlanta Boys' High School in 1884, just after his graduation from the University of Georgia, he served, successively, as principal of the Fort Valley Institute, as president of Gordon Institute at Barnesville, as director of the normal department of what is now the State College for Women at Milledgeville, as superintendent of the public schools of Macon and Bibb County, as State Superintendent of Schools, as president of the State Teachers' College at Athens, and as president of the State Woman's College at Valdosta. With his knowledge of the principles and the technique of education and his ability as an executive he combined the appeal of a rare personality. Every city in which he resided, every group with which he was associated, every student—and they numbered thousands—whom he befriended, not only admired him as an educator but esteemed and loved him as a man. The influence of such a life is truly immeasurable. Georgia is a better commonwealth because of his long, fruitful labors, and a richer commonwealth in all that makes for high-heartedness and strong character.

Dean of Lumpkin School of Law Elevated By Regents in Meeting in Atlanta

ATLANTA, May 10, (AP)—Dean Harmon White Caldwell of the Lumpkin law school at the University of Georgia today was elected president of the university by the board of regents, succeeding Dr. S. V. Sanford.

Lucian P. Goodrich, Griffin attorney, was named dean of the Lumpkin law school, to replace Caldwell.

The 36-year old dean, one of the youngest men in the United States to become a college president, was elevated to the head of the oldest state-chartered university in the country.

Dr. Sanford replaces Chancellor Phillip Weltner who is retiring from the state service to enter a private law practice.

A native of Harison, Ga., Dr. Caldwell attended Harvard law school, graduating in 1924. Since graduating he has been a member of the law faculties of the University and Emory University.

HAS NO HABITS EXCEPT WORK

A young man who "has no habits except work" is the newly-elected president of the University of Georgia.

He is Harmon White Caldwell, present dean of the Lumpkin law school at the university, who at the age of 36 will become head of the oldest state-chartered university in the United States.

Caldwell also will be one of the youngest, if not the youngest, university presidents in the country. He is 12 days younger than Dr. Robert M. Hutchins, who was elected president of the University of Chicago in 1929, at the age of 30.

Since his graduation from the Harvard law school in 1924, Dean Caldwell has served as a member of the law school faculties of the University of Georgia and of Emory University, and has practiced law in Atlanta.

He was assistant professor of law at Emory from 1924 to 1927, when he began to practice law as a member of the Atlanta firm of King, Caldwell and Partridge. For two years after he opened his law office, he taught part time at Emory.

His connection with the University of Georgia faculty began in 1929, when he began teaching in the university law school. He both taught and practiced until 1933, when he was made dean of the school, a position he has held ever since.

For his ability and energy, Dean Caldwell is held in high esteem by his fellow-workers.

It was Chancellor Philip Weltner of the University System who said, when asked of Caldwell's habits:

"He has no habits except work."

Chancellor Weltner recently tendered his resignation from this post, and Dr. S. V. Sanford, president University of Georgia head, was chosen by the board of regents to succeed him. Dean Caldwell succeeds Dr. Sanford.

The new university head was born in Haralson, Ga., on Jan. 29, 1899. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Lucius A. Caldwell, who now live in Atlanta.

He received his elementary and high school education in Meriwether county and Atlanta schools, and was valedictorian of the graduating class of 1917 at Boys' High school in Atlanta.

Caldwell entered the University of Georgia in 1917, and won his A. B. degree in two years, being graduated in 1919. He then taught school at Sasser Ga., before entering the Harvard law school in 1921. Three years later he was graduated there with a LL.B. degree.

While at the law school, Caldwell was on the staff of the Harvard Law Review and worked with the Harvard legal aid bureau. He has since contributed to the Illinois Law Review, the Journal of the American Jurisprudence Society and other publications.

The new university head is unmarried.

He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic society; of Phi Delta Phi, legal honor fraternity; of Chi Phi social fraternity, the American Bar Association, Georgia Bar Association, Atlanta Bar Association and the Lawyers Club of Atlanta. He is a Scottish Rite Mason and a member of the Baptist church.

GEORGIA STATE
WOMANS COLLEGE

April 20, 1935

VALDOSTA, Ga., April 20.—Plans for the annual May Day-Play Day to be observed at the college on April 27 are nearing completion. Rehearsals for the dances and other features have been going forward for several weeks, and the high school seniors and superintendents have been invited. The May Day this year will be one of the loveliest in the history of the school. For the first time in the history of the institution a King of the May will rule jointly with the Queen. Miss Mary Polhill of Sylvester will rule over the court as Queen; Miss Eleanor Bailey, Douglas, will reign as King, and Miss Margaret Zipples, Savannah, will be Maid of Honor. The dances will feature the Old English style combined with other legendary dances; the May Pole Dance and the dances of the peasants and country folk on the green before the Queen will be one of the main events of the afternoon. The morning will be given over to games and sports in which the high school students will take part. A picnic lunch will be served in the park north of the campus at noon.

At the meeting of the Teachers of Speech in Georgia in conjunction with the Georgia Education Association in Macon last week, Miss Louise Sawyer, professor of vocal expression, was elected as president of the group. Miss Elizabeth McRee, assistant director of the physical education department, was elected counselor for the State of Georgia at a recent meeting of the Southern Physical Education Association; Miss Leonora Ivey, director of the physical education department, was elected chairman of the woman's sport division of the same association, and she was also elected to the executive board of the Georgia Physical Education Association.

The first baseball game of the quarter was played on the south diamond on Wednesday afternoon. Both the Kappas and Lambdas are playing strenuous games this quarter, as both teams are tied very closely as to number of points toward having their name engraved on the Honor Plaque of the Athletic Society. Lucille Thompson, Ellaville, has been named manager of baseball for the Lambdas, and Josephine Joubert, Savannah, manager for the Kappas.

The Sock and Buskin Club met on Tuesday evening in the Play Production room. Miss Louise Sawyer spoke to the club on the current theater. She gave accounts of several plays that she saw in New York during the spring holidays. Among the plays were: "The Petrified Forest," starring Leslie Howard and Peggy Conklin; "Escape Me Never," starring Elizabeth Bergner, the star who has caused such a furore among the critics, and "The Children's Hour."

The class in rifle shooting met in the gymnasium on Thursday evening. Miss Louise Ambos of Savannah has been named manager of this sport.

The Alumnae Association entertained its members attending the Georgia Education Association in Macon with a luncheon at the Lanier Hotel on last Friday. Miss Elizabeth McRee, president of the association, presided at the luncheon.

Among the students from Georgia State Womens College attending little commencement at the University of Georgia were: Misses Myra Hackett of Moultrie, Mickey Daniels of Hawkinsville, Marie Middleton of Colquitt, Frances Fluker of Quitman and Carroll Peeples of Valdosta.

The Fine Arts Club and members of the senior class left Friday for a trip through Florida. They will visit the Ringling Art Museum in Sarasota, Silver Springs, Ocala, Tampa, and on Easter morning they will attend the sunrise services at the Bok Tower. The party will be chaperoned by Miss Frances Ruth Carpenter, director of the art department.

The Alumnae Association will publish an issue of The Campus Canopy, the college newspaper, on May 1. The issue will be edited by Miss Kathrynne Connell of Valdosta. Miss Mildred Price, professor of history, will serve as business manager. This issue will be dedicated to the alumnae of the college.

At the art departmental meeting at the Georgia Education Association last week, Miss Frances Ruth Carpenter, professor of art at the college, discussed the subject, "Adopting a State Art Program That Meets the Needs and Conditions in Georgia." The theme of the meeting was "Art for Every Child."

The social activities class entertained the children of the primary department of the First Baptist Church with an Easter egg hunt in the North Woods on Thursday afternoon.

The double trio of the Glee Club consisting of the following girls, Misses Edith Bennett of Savannah, Joy Miller of Albany, Florence Tharpe of Leesburg, Louise Howell of Valdosta, Pearl Wilson of Cordele, Elizabeth Sims of Thomasville, Evelyn May of Quitman, accompanied by Margaret Zipples of Savannah, sang before the Rotary Club of Valdosta on Wednesday.

Miss Sapelo Treanor entertained the members of the French Club at her home on Tuesday evening. Election of officers for 1935-36 was held.

Miss Hazel Taylor To Teach At Tifton

Valdosta friends of Miss Hazel Taylor, who has been teaching at Decatur, will be interested to know she has accepted a position in the public school system at Tifton for the coming term.

Miss Taylor, who will teach First D, is a graduate of Georgia State Womans College, with an A. B. degree and normal diploma. She taught one year in Lowndes county, before going to Decatur, where she has taught the past four years.

DR. ARCHIE GRIFFIN

When the "Giver of every good and perfect gift" last night called Dr. Archie Griffin to that other world of which we know so little, Valdosta and South Georgia lost a leading citizen, his family lost a loving husband and father, the church lost a devout member and humanity lost a great friend.

On Wednesday morning when it became known that his condition was critical, ordinary affairs of business in Valdosta were suspended. Hundreds of people whose lives he had touched, in his more than a quarter of a century of ministration, put aside their business cares and sought to learn encouraging news of their benefactor. As he grew weaker from the ravages of illness and it became apparent to the watchers about his bedside that the hour was approaching, strong men wept and a community bowed its head in submission to a Divine will.

Only a few short days ago he was going about his professional duties, attending the needs of the suffering and speaking a word of comfort to those who were in distress. With a suddenness which appalled he was stricken. His passing was attended with but little suffering and he went away in his sleep.

As a practicing physician Dr. Griffin touched the lives of thousands in this community. It was not alone his skill and the precision of his attention which endeared him to those to whom he ministered, but by his great human understanding and sympathy he was both doctor and friend.

It has been given to few communities to have a man of Dr. Griffin's mould reside therein. Valdosta, Lowndes county and South Georgia have been fortunate in that Archie Griffin lived and walked here. In his going the community suffers a loss such as few communities have suffered, but in the going is ever the comfort that he lived here for his allotted time.

The community will not need to erect a monument of stone to his memory. The deeds that he did, the kind words that he uttered, the simplicity and the sweetness of his life have erected a monument in the hearts of humanity which time will not obliterate.

Years will come and go, many leaders will rise to help us in the building of the community, others will find their place in the affections of those who follow after, but none will come who will take his place. The flower-laden casket is a mere incident in the details which attend the laying away of a loved one. The real flowers are the ones he planted in the hearts of all who knew him.

Pine Cone, G.S.W.C
Annual Off Press

Students of G. S. W. C. yesterday received their copy of the Pine Cone, college annual, just off the press.

This is one of the most attractive numbers ever gotten out. The cover is gold, on which in bold relief stand three stately pines, at the foot of which are scattered the pine cones, from which the annual takes its name.

The theme for the Pine Cone is "The Four Best Years of My Life," with an introduction, ghost written by Mother Goose. To illustrate this, is a full page drawing of four girls, each representing one year of college life, drawn by Miss Winnie Davis. Much credit is due Miss Davis for the full page sketches and other drawings in the Pine Cone. On each page are cartoons and clever sketches of the various activities of the campus life.

Miss Mildred Price Hostess to I.R.C. Club

June 10, 1935
One of the delightful social activities of the past week-end was the breakfast Saturday morning given to members of the International Relations Club of G. S. W. C. by Miss Mildred Price, counsellor for the club.

The breakfast was held at Two-Mile Branch Farm, the lovely country home of Miss Price. The girls assembled on the campus of the college, and were carried out to the farm in two wagons sent in by Miss Price.

Upon reaching the farm they were carried to the woods some distance from the house, where the tables were spread. A delicious breakfast, served cafeteria style, was enjoyed by the girls.

Miss Price presented each guest with a kodak picture of her home as a memento of the occasion.

She was assisted in entertaining by Miss E. Camm Campbell and Miss Margaret Touchton.

About twenty-five girls were present.

G.S.W.C. Senior Plays Offer Varied Program

The Seniors of the Georgia State Womans College have arranged under the direction of Miss Louise Sawyer a delightfully varied program of entertainment consisting of three one-act plays for their class mates and Valdosta friends without charge this evening at 8:30 o'clock at Emory Junior auditorium.

Among those appearing in the casts are three who have been frequent and popular stars in college plays during their four years in Valdosta, Misses Henry Kate Gardner of Camilla, Wilene Roberts of Valdosta, and Estelle Roberts of Cordele. These are well supported by others equally talented and active in dramatic presentation.

The colorful elegance in costuming and characterization of the renaissance play, "The Duchess Says Her Prayers," is excellent contrast for the realistic setting of the Midwestern village and mirth at the expense of provincialism found in the "Neighbors" by Zona Gale.

The variety of the costuming, setting, and emotional appeal is given further emphasis by "Will O' The Wisp," a breath taking, suspensive, little dramatic fantasy, a conflict of emotions as between the real and the unreal. The character types are sharply etched and the plot story moves relentlessly, out beyond the cliff head. "Woe to one who follows the Will O' The Wisp!"

A. A. U. W. Held Last Meeting Of Year

The American Association of University Women held its last meeting of the year Wednesday, May 29, on the campus of the Womans College. Dainty refreshments were served by a group of college girls.

The retiring president, Dear Annie P. Hopper, introduced Mrs. Earle Phelan, the president of the branch for the coming year. Mrs. Phelan announced committee chairmen and plans for next year.

After a delightful social hour, the group adjourned.

Tea For Visitors At
G. S. W. C. Yesterday

Among the delightful social affairs honoring the visitors to the Federation of Womens Clubs, was the tea yesterday afternoon in the rotunda of Georgia State Womans College.

Guests were met at the door by Misses Carolyn Brim and Jewell Cochran, students of the college.

Punch was served from a prettily decorated table placed in front of one of the large fireplaces in the rotunda.

In the receiving line were Dr. and Mrs. Frank Reade, and Miss Hopper, of the college faculty, Mrs. H. B. Ritchie, state president of the Federation of Clubs, and Mrs. W. H. Oliver, president of the Wymodaussis club.

Dainty refreshments were served by a group of the college girls.

A feature of the afternoon was the display of pictures from the Grand Central Art Galleries, New York City, which were on exhibition in the upper rotunda.

G. S. W. C. News

VALDOSTA, Ga.—The third art exhibit of the year will be held at the upper rotunda of Ashley Hall February 16-March 1. Through the co-operation of the Fine Arts Club and the Artists Series Committee, a group of water-color paintings by Elliot O'Hara, one of America's leading artists in this medium, will be open to the students and faculty. Mr. O'Hara has exhibited in such varied parts of the world as Puerto Montt, the southernmost port of Chile, and in Sheffield, England. His "Bridge at Ronda" won the Irving Brokaw prize at the American Water-Color Society and the New York Water-Color Club. His water-colors of other subjects have also received numerous prizes and in 1928 he won the Guggenheim Fellowship.

The annual frolic of the Sock and Buskin Club was held in the play production room Thursday evening. The members relied on their own ingenuity in preparing skits and acts for the frolic. Arrangements for the frolic were made by Miss Estelle Roberts, Cordele, president of the club, and Miss Vangie Trimble, vice president.

Several of the students of the college have been serving as models for the class in advanced painting during the last weeks. The models are chosen from students who have outstanding characteristics that may be portrayed with oils. Among the students posing frequently were Miss Margaret Bennett, Jesup; Miss Ida Lee Stearman, Savannah; Miss Bootsie Hatcher, Moultrie, and Mrs. Hoke Smith, Valdosta.

Announcement was made recently by the staff of the Pine Branch Literary Quarterly, that prizes will be given for the most outstanding piece of literature portraying southern life and traditions, to be published in the magazine during the year. Prizes will be announced in the spring issue in May.

Miss Leonora Dufour, Albany, editor of the Campus Canopy and the Pine Branch, and Miss Marian Reid, Homerville, society editor, attended the meeting of the Georgia Collegiate Press and Press Institute in Athens, February 20-24.

The Math-Science Club presented a liquid air demonstration in the dining hall Friday evening. Members of the club and the student body and faculty were invited to watch the experiments performed with the liquid air.

Miss Lucy Hammond, Griffin; Miss Leonora Dufour, Albany, and Miss Marian Reid, Homerville, attended the military ball at the University of Georgia, Friday evening.

Members of the class in foods recently visited several dairies and food supply houses in Valdosta and vicinity. New equipment for the department is now in use and the students are planning meals according to their caloric content.

One of the loveliest affairs of the social season was the freshman-junior formal on Saturday evening. Miss Sarah Martha Pyle, Valdosta; Miss Virginia Zipples, Savannah, and Miss Margaret Cannon, Cairo, president of the freshman class, together with Miss Annie P. Hopper, dean of women, formed the receiving line.

Rev. J. L. Dickinson, pastor of the Christian Church, addressed the students at assembly, Wednesday morning.

Plans are now under way for the annual concert of the Glee Club to be presented at the Ritz Theater in April. The concert will be one of the outstanding events of the spring quarter.

Alumnae visitors on campus last weekend included Misses Martiele Turner, Leesburg; Maurice Collins, Cairo, and Helen Steele, Jacksonville.

Miss Zipplies,
Talented Pianist,
Heard In Recital

The Georgia State Womans College presented Miss Margaret Zipplies of Savannah in her Senior graduation recital, Friday evening, January 25, at the Womans Building. Miss Zipplies has been an outstanding student in both musical and academic work throughout her four years at the college, and she brought additional credit to herself last evening in a very exacting program. She is a student of Miss Gladys E. Warren, director of the music department.

Miss Zipplies' exceptional talent was especially evident in her mature handling of the difficult Chopin Sonata. Her technique proved adequate for the demands made upon it in the difficult Presto with its rushing scale passages, and her handling of the subjectivity in the Funeral March was most impressive.

Her second group proved she was adept in the modern schools and the Juggler with its tricky inter-play of hands was especially well done.

In the third group, Miss Zipplies again showed her ability in handling contrasting types as evidenced in the graceful Spinning Song, requiring light fingers and a supple wrist. In the Mendelssohn-Liszt "On Wings of Song," she brought out the lovely flowing melodies especially well. The dramatic Erl-King demonstrated her skill in octave passages and dynamic contrasts.

The climax of the program was reached in the brilliant and difficult Tschaiikowsky Concerto, said to represent the culmination of piano Concertos. The memory work alone was no small task, and the number was also a test of endurance in technique. Miss Zipplies was able to subordinate the difficult technical passages to the interpretation of the music itself, thus holding interest throughout the long movement. She was ably assisted in the number by her sister, Miss Virginia Zipplies, who played the orchestral parts most adequately on a second piano.

Miss Zipplies' program showed the result of conscientious work and careful preparation on her part and an appreciative audience was quick to bestow its approval on her endeavors.

Dr. Jere Pound, Noted Educator, Is Dead

ATHENS, Ga., Feb. 8.—(AP)—Dr. Jere M. Pound, for fifty years one of the builders of Georgia's educational structure, died at his home here shortly after noon Friday.

The beloved educator became seriously ill several months ago, after taking up his new duties as president of the Georgia State Woman's College, at Valdosta. Early last summer, his health had become so impaired that he was given a leave of absence, and with his family moved his residence back to Athens, where he had spent so many useful and constructive years in behalf of his state.

Few men in Georgia's educational history contributed so much as Dr. Pound to the establishment of its structure. Since 1884, the year of his graduation from the University of Georgia, he has been either a teacher in the common schools, the state school superintendent, or at the head of an educational institution.

During his long career Dr. Pound was on the faculty of Boys' High School in Atlanta, was principal of Fort Valley Institute, president of Gordon Institute at Barnesville, director of Georgia Normal and Industrial College, now G. S. C. W. at Milledgeville, superintendent of schools for Macon and Bibb County, superintendent of East Florida Seminary, and Georgia state school superintendent.

In 1912 he came to Athens as president of the State Normal School, later the Georgia State Teachers' College and now the co-ordinate College.

Funeral arrangements have not yet been announced.

Funeral services will be held at the First Methodist Church here Saturday at noon, and interment will follow Saturday afternoon in Barnesville.

Dr. Pound is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ada Pound; three daughters, Mrs. W. R. Edwards, of Fort Valley; Miss Ida Pound, of Athens; and Mrs. T. K. Huggins, of Athens; four sons, Murphey Pound, of Columbus; Aldine Pound, of Columbus; Merritt Pound, of Athens, and Stokeley Pound, of Athens; a sister, Mrs. T. R. Arthur, of Shellman, and two sisters-in-law, Mrs. E. A. Pound, of Atlanta; and Mrs. Walter Pound, of Atlanta.

Social Message of Religion Given Stress At State Womans College; Work Is Seen

By GERTRUDE GILMER

The activities in the several religious organizations and activities at the George State Womans College during recent years have given a greater emphasis to the social message of religion. The present generation is profoundly troubled by the problems of organized society. As a result the Y. W. C. A. and other religious organizations, national and international, have turned to the original Christian movement which began with the announcement of a Kingdom not in the sky, but "at hand" and with a summons to everyone to enter the Kingdom at once and work for its expansion.

The religious desire of the youth of the land has probably nowhere been answered and fulfilled better than in the group organizations of young people with activities which formulate a code of ethics, a standard of values, by which to guide lives in a world today, an active enthusiasm for humanity which is no appendage of religion but is of its very essence.

Motivated by the desire for a new social and spiritual order, and with a call to every human being to subordinate all physical, financial, and personal interests to making the Kingdom come, the theme of the 1933-34 Sunday and Thursday evening services was Living Creatively, and the 1934-35 theme, Harmonious Living.

These programs have continuously featured one important part of the constitution, "We unite in the desire to live a full and creative life through a growing knowledge of Jesus Christ."

The two vespers of each week give emphasis to worship and word problems which in the last few months has included discussions of war, peace, race relations, industrial problems, with not only stating the conditions but with an effort for each individual to determine where she can help.

The Sunday school classes during the current year have included the social messages of great women and men of the Bible, Life and Letters to Paul, the social message of Jesus, the prophets of the Old Testament, and historical study of the Old Testament.

An early morning watch service each day is widely attended for a few minutes devotional.

The off-campus speakers of this year have included Dr. W. A. Smart of Emory University and Mrs. Verna Scarborough Thoroughman, an alumna of G. S. W. C. and a missionary from China on furlough.

Delegates from the Womans College Y. M. C. A. have attended the state Y. W. C. A. conference at Macon and the Southeastern conference at Blue Ridge North Carolina.

The cabinets include:

Cabinet 1934-35

President, Mary Elizabeth Weatherford of Savannah; vice-president, Mildred Turnbull, Moultrie; secretary, Dorothy Ogletree, Savannah; treasurer, Josephine Daniels, Ludowici; Bible Study, Eleanor Bailey, Douglas; assistant to vice-president, Amanda Barksdale, Blakeley; world fellowship, Louise Driskell, Surrency; morning watch, Blanche Lockliere, Homerville. pianist, Evelyn May, Quitman; music chairman, Pearl Wilson, Cordele; room chairman, Ida Lee Stearman, Savannah; membership, Eloise Ogletree, Savannah; publicity, Mary Askew, Arlington; entertainment, Vangie Trimble, Moultrie; clubhouse, Shelley Sparks, Fitzgerald; Deputation, Clara Davis Adams, Moultrie.

Cabinet 1935-36

Louise Driskell, Surrency; Priscilla Kelley, Savannah; Helen Dale Parrish, Thomasville; Pearl Wilson, Cordele; Joy Miller, Albany; Myra Hackett, Moultrie; Lois Hafford, Waycross; Virginia Zipplies, Savannah. Evelyn May, Quitman; Alvata Carter, Rockingham; Helen Dale Parrish, Thomasville; Ida Lee Stearman, Savannah; Ruth Williams, Waycross; Wynell Spell, Wrightsville, and assistant, Priscilla Kelley, Savannah.

Other features of the work of the G. S. W. C. religious activities have included the maintenance of a club house for entertainments, a charm school, big sisters for the little sisters, a heart sister for Valentine week, as well as numerous social activities.

The chief objective of the G. S. W. C. religious activities is to train for religious leadership with the emphasis on constructive considerations of vital problems of this day and generation.

GOVERNOR SAYS VALDOSTA NEEDS COLLEGE BUILDING

In a hearing before a house committee last Monday on the University Regents bill Gov. Talmage said a building was needed at Valdosta and "the state will build it."

Following up this statement The Times, through the Associated Press, asked the governor for a more lengthy statement on the need for a new building at the local college.

In reply to the query Mr. Talmage said he has a "cute little plan" for putting up buildings and dormitories where needed in the University System.

On the heels of this statement a bill was introduced in the house Tuesday providing a graduated tax on chain stores. The sponsors of the bill assert it will bring in $300,000 a year. Under the proposed plan the money would be equally divided between the Board of Regents and the Board of Control and must be used specifically for building purposes.

Mr. Talmage made no mistake when he stated that a new building was needed at Valdosta. There must be another dormitory if this college is to continue to maintain its high standard and accommodate the girls who wish to attend every year.

At the beginning of the year the college authorities had to rent two private residences in which to house the students. A number were turned away because of the lack of dormitory space. In some cases three girls are staying in one room. In other words the college is overflowing with students and more dormitory space must be provided.

No one knows yet what the outcome of the chain store tax will be, but it is believed some plan will be worked out to take care of the University System building program.

It is believed that the citizens of Valdosta and the many friends of the college throughout Georgia can convince the governor that there is urgent need for a new building on the campus of the Georgia State Womans College. Action must be taken now, for delay will mean the loss of an additional dormitory.

Miss Bingham Heads Clubs At Local College

Miss Sara Bingham, who has been classed as one of the leaders of the fine arts students of the college here, has been elected president of the Fine Arts club for next year, according to an announcement from the college today.

Miss Bingham was classed as one of the leading art students in a recent issue of the 'Campus Canopy', publication of the students of the local Georgia State Womans College

Besides her membership in the Fine Arts club, Miss Bingham is a member of the I. R. C., the college glee club and the Cotillion club.

GEORGIA STATE WOMAN'S COLLEGE

VALDOSTA, Ga., April 6. — The annual concert of the Glee Club was held at the Ritz Theater on Saturday evening. The first part of the program was devoted to songs by the entire club, and the second part consisted of songs, dances, and individual numbers. Paris Lee, baritone of Atlanta, was guest artist of the concert.

The dean's list for the winter quarter contains names of one of the largest numbers of students ever to receive high honors at the Georgia State Woman's College. The list is composed of the following students: Freshmen: Misses Carolyn Askew, Arlington; Ruth Bunn, Waycross; Elsie Etheredge, Sumner; Wilma Ruth Faircloth, Seville; Carolyn Greene, Columbus; Martha Johnston, Valdosta; Martha Jones, Lakeland; Frances McLain, Dawson; Susie Mathews, Valdosta; Lois Pafford, Stockton; Helen Dale Parrish, Metcalf; Camille Rycroft, Adel; Paula Sapp, Cairo; Mrs. Henry L. Smith, Valdosta; Wynelle Spell, Wrightsville; Vivian Stanford, Adel; Jane Twitty, Valdosta; Carolyn Whipple, Quitman, and Ruth Williams, Waycross. Sophomores: Misses Emma Ambos, Savannah; Louise Bussey, Lake Park; Lella Calender, Valdosta; Frances Crosby, Waycross; Alexa Daley, Dublin; Josephine Joubert, Savannah; Permelia Oliff, Quitman; Marion Reid, Homer-ville; Ida Lee Stearman, Savannah; Matilda Tillman, Quitman, and Pearl Wilson, Cordele. Juniors: Misses Josephine Daniel, Ludowici; Clara Louise Driskell, Surrency; Leonora Dufour, Albany; Luella Giddens, Ray City; Mrs. Nell Greene, Valdosta; Broun Hutchinson, Valdosta; Bessie Jo Johnson, Scotland; Camille Rogers, Baxley; and Lella Urquhart, Waycross. Seniors: Misses Winnie Davis, Valdosta; Emily Fluker, Quitman; Henry Kate Gardner, Camilla; Clare Lawson, Savannah; Ola Lee Powell, Valdosta; Lois Simpson, Valdosta, and Mary Elizabeth Weatherford, Savannah.

Miss Jeannette Vreeland, one of America's foremost sopranos, presented a concert at the Ritz Theater on Sunday afternoon, March 31st. This was the second attraction of the artist series for the present school year. Miss Vreeland's program met with much enthusiasm and appreciation from students and music lovers.

Classes were begun in horseback riding on Monday. Miss Clare Lawson, Savannah, has been named as manager of this sport.

The International Relations Club met in the freshman parlor in Converse Hall on Tuesday evening. The program was in charge of Miss Rachel Coxwell of Leesburg, vice president of the club. Miss Bessie Jo Johnson, Scotland, spoke on the security of the European peace proposals.

A class in riflery will be held on Wednesday and Thursday nights in the gymnasium this quarter. This class is open to juniors and seniors only. The class will be held on the rifle range once a week.

Baseball practice also started last week. Practices will be held three mornings a week, and a breakfast-swim will be held at the end of the season.

College To Present Plays Friday Night

The Senior class of the Georgia State Womans College will present three one-act plays to the public without charge on Friday evening, May 31, at the Emory Junior Auditorium under the direction of Miss Louise Sawyer.

The first play in the group is "The Neighbors" by Zona Gale. This delightful play of village life in the Gale manner has for its cast, Misses Dorothy Ogletree of Savannah; Lois Simpson, of Valdosta; Geraldine Arrington, of Ellaville; Elizabeth Larisey, of Valdosta; Lucy Hammond, of Griffin; Elizabeth Wilkes, of Adel, Louise Ambos, of Savannah, and Clare Lawson, of Savannah.

In the "Will O' The Wisp," a fantasy by Doris F. Halman, a waif is befriended by a country woman who used to house a poet in summer. The poet's wife, a worldly woman, comes for a stay, reveals that she has prevented the poet's writing, and causes the waif to lead the poet's wife to death in the sea. The poet's wife will be played by Miss Eilene Roberts, supported by the excellent cast of Misses Henry Kate Gardner, Helen Claire Varnedoe, and Noellene Johnson.

The third in the group, "The Duchess Says Her Prayers," by Mary Cass Canfield, has all the color and regalness of the renaissance in its portrayal of a domestic scene in the life of two of the most prominent of 14th and 15th century families of Italy, the Sforza and Este. Starring in this play are Misses Margaret Zipplies, of Savannah, Estelle Roberts of Cordele, and Virginia Sheppard of Savannah.

Looking Backward At Commencement

As commencement season approaches, and the high school and colleges of our city make preparations to send out into the world a number of graduates, let us look into the past, and not so very far back and see how it was then.

In The Times of June 1, 1906, is an interesting account of the commencement exercises at the "new" high school, the present Central Grammar school, which was closing its first year. The handsome auditorium, with its lovely drop curtain, scenery and all were described, and the article also states:

"The graduating class is the largest the school has ever turned out, there being sixteen boys and girls to receive diplomas.

"The class oration was given by Mr. William Ashley, and this was followed by a reading by Miss Lillie Belle Roberts.

"Prof. Daniel then introduced Hon. L. W. Branch of Quitman, who delivered the address to the class.

After some music, Col. E. P. S. Denmark, who was then president of the board of trustees, delivered the diplomas.

He made a very forceful address to the members of the class and congratulated the people of Valdosta, as well as the teachers of the high school on the excellent work which had been done on educational lines in the city during the year.

"Diplomas were presented to the following: Misses Marion Wilkinson, Allie Mae Neely, Bessie Cheney, Lillie Belle Roberts, Clara Sargent, Mattie Turner, Louise Ousley, Gwendolyn Bailey, Claud Davis, Leuna Thrasher, Harry Stump, Mann Turner, Walter Cook, Will Fender, William Ashley and John Young Roberts."

At 'Dosta High, the graduating class of 1935 has 100 members, who will receive their coveted diplomas on June 14.

Many changes have been wrought since the class of 1906 prepared to conquer the world, the city has two more public schools, and two flourishing colleges, which are the alma mater of the children of some of the graduates of 1906.

G. S. W. C. Alumnae
Meet Tomorrow

June 7, 1935

All alumnae members of G. S. W. C. are requested to meet at the Daniel Ashley hotel tomorrow morning at 11:30 for a business meeting, to be held on the mezzanine.

The alumnae luncheon will be served at 12:30 in the dining room, and members are requested to make reservations by tonight at latest. Plates will be 65¢ and it is hoped that there will be one hundred per cent attendance.

G. S. W. C. Alumnae Luncheon Club Met

A new organization, the G. S. W. C. Alumnae Luncheon Club, held its first meeting yesterday at 1 o'clock, at Hazel Briggs Tea Room, with about 18 present.

The tables were tastefully decorated with vases of garden flowers, carrying out a color scheme of yellow and white.

Miss Elizabeth McRee was master of ceremonies, and explained the purpose of the club, and introduced the speakers.

Dr. Miriam E. Farber, of the college, gave a most interesting travelogue on India, a country full of interest, especially to one who has spent years there as did Dr. Farber.

Mrs. Joe Durrenberger outlined plans of the club, and announced that the meetings would continue through the summer months, being held on the third Friday of each month.

It is hoped that all members of G. S. W. C. Alumnae in the city will become members.

A delicious plate luncheon was served by Mrs. Briggs.

Tea Dance Given By Valdosta Club

An enjoyable social event of yesterday afternoon was the tea dance sponsored by the Valdosta Club of G. S. W. C.

The dance was held at the American Legion home, which was beautifully decorated with bowls of garden flowers.

Agnes and her colored orchestra furnished music throughout the evening.

The dance was a script affair and a large crowd was present.

WILL EQUIP NEW SCHOOL LIBRARY

Librarian Engaged; Room
Takes the Last Available
Space in High School

IS NOW REQUIRED

The Valdosta High school will next week equip a thoroughly modern high school library, it was announced today by A. G. Cleveland, superintendent of schools. The library equipment will be installed Monday, it was stated, having already arrived. A librarian has been engaged for the coming year, the assignment going to Miss Virginia Touchton of Valdosta.

The installation of the library takes the last unoccupied room in the high school building. Every room is now in use for class room, study hall or science laboratory work. The building, when erected seven years ago, was believed capable of caring for all of the city's needs for at least 15 years. While it still does so, it is obvious that it is now nearly filled to capacity.

The new library is being installed to meet the requirements of the Association of Southern Colleges, which requires that all schools on the accredited list of high schools shall have a library within the high school building.

Miss Touchton, who will have charge of the library work, is a young lady well qualified for the position. She is the daughter of Mr. J. H. Touchton of this city, a graduate of the high school here and of the Georgia State Woman's College. She has had several years' active experience.

College Driveways Open To Traffic

The paved drives through the campus of the Georgia State Womans College have been completed and college authorities ask the public to observe traffic rules while driving on the campus and to refrain from parking on the shoulders which are now soft.

It was announced this morning that the entrances on Oak street and Georgia avenue would be blocked at night and the public is requested to use the Patterson street entrance at night. Those wishing to drive to West Hall or the dormitories may do so by taking the right hand drive just beyond the main entrance and follow it around either end of West Hall to the dormitories.

CAMPUS CHANGES Oct 4, 1935

Paving Nears Completion; Other Improvements Made and Planned Here

Improvements at the Georgia State Womans College this year mean much to the student body. The new paving now nearly complete at a cost of $20,000 provides much more attractive and weather-proof roadways and walks on the campus.

Other improvements include the rearrangement of library facilities to provide a special room for students in the social science department. The infirmary has been remodeled, likewise, to provide more adequate facilities for preventive work and to afford more laboratory room.

This year the college enrollment, which stood at 354 on opening day, is the largest in the history of GSWC as a four year college. The freshman class is larger than that of the preceding year, likewise.

Miss Martha Jackson Wins Honors in Na- tion Wide Contest

Once again a student of G. S. W. C. comes to the front and wins an honor, thus causing the College to share in the glory.

In the nation wide contest, more than 800,000 aspired to write the 600 word American history for carving on Mount Rushmore Memorial, and out of that number, Miss Martha Jackson of Valdosta, a student of G. S. W. C. won honorable mention.

The National Committee of Award, of which President Roosevelt is chairman, after nearly a year, has completed its task of selecting the best papers, and has announced the winners.

Miss Jackson was among those whom certificates of honorable mention were awarded, and of the more than 100 schools and colleges of the Southeast who have been cited by the National Committee of Award of the Mount Rushmore Memorial Inscription Competition for the high standard of excellence in inscriptions submitted by their students, Georgia State Womens College of Valdosta was listed.

The Pine Cone Bids Fair To Win

The Pine Cone, year book of the Georgia State Womans College, with its attractive brown and silver cover, presents every evidence of being another all-American winner in the National Scholastic Press ratings.

The annuals, which were distributed to the students this week are among the finest the college has produced. "The Four Best Years of My Life," was taken as the theme for the book. The theme was carried out in the very clever art work done by Miss Winnie Davis of Valdosta. Caricatures and illustrations in a light story-book form accompanied the contents.

The 1934-35 annual was edited by Miss Elizabeth Larisey of Valdosta. Miss Louise Ambos of Savannah served as co-editor. The business staff consisted of Miss Ambos, who also served as business manager, Miss Virginia Kirkland, Metter, assistant business manager; Misses Carolya Brim, Bainbridge, and Elizabeth Wilkes, Adel, advertising managers.

The students whose pictures compose the feature section were chosen from the senior class. Miss Eleanor Bailey, Douglas, was voted the most representative; Miss Henry Kate Gardner, Camilla, the most versatile; Miss Annie Belle Weatherford, Savannah, the best sport; Miss Virginia Sheppard, Savannah, the most attractive; and Miss Elizabeth Larisey, Valdosta, the most outstanding day student.

G. S. W. C. to Present Miss Ziplies In Graduating Recital

The Georgia State Womans College is presenting Miss Margaret Ziplies, a talented and outstanding senior of Savannah, in her graduation recital at the Womans Building on Friday evening, January 25 at 8:30 o'clock.

Miss Margaret Ziplies will be assisted by her sister, Miss Virginia who is equally talented. The Misses Ziplies are students of Miss Gladys E. Warren, director of the music department. The public is cordially invited to hear the two young artists in the following program:

Gavotte in E Major—Bach-St. Saens.

Sonata in B Flat Minor—Chopin.

Scherzo, Funeral March, Presto.

Turkish March — Beethoven-Rubinstein.

From "The Ruins of Athens.

Mexican Serenade—Mowrey.

The Juggler—Ernst Toch.

Spinning Song—Mendelssohn.

On Wings of Song—Mendelssohn-Liszt.

The Erl King—Schubert-Liszt.

Concerto in B Flat Minor—Tschalkowsky.

First Movement.

Miss Gardner to Give Graduating Recital

Lovely May Queen To Hold Court Saturday

The Georgia State Womans College will present Miss Henry Kate Gardner, of Camilla, in a senior graduation recital in expression at the Womans Building on Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

Miss Gardner is president of the student government and an outstanding student in academic work as well as expression. She is a student of Miss Louise Sawyer.

"Death Takes a Holiday," a play by Walter Ferris, will be the chief feature on the program. The clever and interesting theatrical work will give Miss Gardner excellent chance to display her histrionic ability. Death takes the form of a mortal and for a period of three days lives and loves and suffers as a mortal. When he departs to his own realms he takes with him the beautiful girl with whom he has fallen in love, and who does not fear him, even in his own aspect.

The play is one that stays afterwards in the thoughts as both a sort of stage game that was played and as something that moved toward the poetic.

The public is cordially invited to Miss Gardner's recital on Friday evening.

Miss Mary Polhill, of Sylvester, elected May Queen for this year's festival, will reign over a court on Saturday afternoon on the green in front of Converse Hall. The May Day festival will be essentially different from those of the past in that it will tend slightly to the rustic.

May Day is one of the oldest traditions of G. S. W. C. and preparations have been made for one of the most colorful festivals in the history of the college. Costumes, May-pole windings, dances, music, and the court have been selected and arranged under the direction of Miss Leonora Ivey, head of the physical education department and her able assistant, Miss Elizabeth McRee.

Miss Polhill, of Sylvester, a member of the senior class, in accord with the requirements of the May Queen, has been a student of G. S. W. C. for the past three years. She was originally a transfer from Bessie Tift College. She is an officer in the Student Government Association, and the French club, and a member of the Fine Arts Club. Miss Polhill has shown active interest in student activities since her matriculation, and this, combined with her lovely brunette beauty, will prove the selection of her as May Queen by the student body to be a wise one.

Miss Margaret Ziplies, of Savannah, who was selected as Miss Polhill's maid of honor, is an exceptionally brilliant music student. She is the accompanist for the Glee Club, an officer of the Philharmonic Club, and an honorary member of the Sock and Buskin Club.

Several years ago Play-Day was added to May-Day to make the outstanding combination of Play-Day May-Day. To it are invited the seniors and prospective students for G. S. W. C. from the various high schools near the college.

GEORGIA STATE
WOMANS COLLEGE

VALDOSTA, Ga., May 11.—The Pine Cone, year book of the college, was distributed to the students on Monday afternoon. The theme featured in the book this year is "The Four Best Years of My Life." The excellent art work by Miss Winnie Davis of Valdosta, the general make-up, and the exquisitely beautiful silver and brown cover give promise for its being another all-American prize winner.

The Pine Cone was edited this year by Misses Louise Ambos, Savannah, and Elizabeth Larisey, Valdosta. Miss Ambos also served as business manager.

Miss Estelle Roberts of Cordele, and Miss Winnie Davis, Valdosta, served as literary editors.

The following seniors appear in the feature section: Miss Henry Kate Gardner, Camilla, most versatile; Miss Eleanor Bailey, Douglas, most representative; Miss Elizabeth Larisey, Valdosta, most outstanding day student; Miss Emily Fluker, Quitman, most intellectual; Miss Virginia Sheppard, Savannah, most attractive; and Miss Annie Belle Weatherford, Savannah, best sport.

An art exhibit from the Grand Central Art Galleries in New York, circulated by the Southern Art Projects is now on exhibit in the upper rotunda of Ashley Hall. The exhibit was made possible by the student activities fund.

The Student Government Association met on Saturday evening for the installation service. Miss Mildred Turnbull, Moultrie, was installed as the new president; Miss Henry Kate Gardner, Camilla, president of the association for this year, had charge of the service.

Miss Sara Bingham of Valdosta was elected president of the Fine Arts Club, and Miss Martha Gay, Quitman, was elected secretary and treasurer.

A tea for the biennial council of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs was held in the rotunda of Ashley Hall on Wednesday afternoon. The guests were greeted by Dr. and Mrs. Frank Reade. A discussion of the paintings now on exhibit in Ashley Hall was given by Miss Helen Mechlin, an authority on the paintings.

At assembly on Wednesday morning the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs presented speakers to the student body.

The social activities class entertained members of the class and guests with a hay ride on Thursday evening.

Miss Louise Hardy of Quitman was recently elected president of the English Club. Miss Ames Watkins of Metcalf was chosen as vice president.

The International Relations Club met on Tuesday evening. A discussion of the T. V. A. was led by Misses Nellie and Nettie Johnson of Valdosta.

Officers for the Valdosta Club for 1935-36 are as follows: President, Miss Frances Garbutt; vice president, Miss Lorene Thomas; secretary, Miss Dorothy Morgan; treasurer, Miss Nettie Johnson.

COLLEGE BEGINS TERM OF SCHOOL

Upperclassmen Registering
For Term Today; Freshmen
Turn to Classroom Work

INCREASE SEEN

Upperclassmen of the Georgia State Womans College here were registering for their work for the coming school term at the president's office and the office of the registrar this morning as members of the freshman class, registered last week, turned to classroom work and studies.

An increase in the number of freshmen enrolled, as compared with records of last year, was apparent, college authorities said after a study of their records of registration last week, and although totals could not be obtained this morning, there is expectation of an increase in the enrollment of the upperclass members.

The upperclass registration was expected to occupy all of today and tomorrow.

The college bustled with activity as the registration of the upperclassmen got underway, and the freshmen went into their classes.

Last week was set aside as the freshman week, and Valdosta misses who entered the freshmen class were allowed to spend the week in the college dormitory to become acquainted with the out-of-the-city members of the class.

COLLEGE PAVING IS PLANNED NOW

State Highway Engineer
Visits in City to Complete
Plans For Paving

OUT AT THE COLLEGE

E. A. Logan, division engineer for the State Highway Board, was in Valdosta yesterday to complete plans for beginning the work of paving the roads and driveways of the Georgia State Womans College. Mr. Logan stated that the engineers were finishing up a job in Savannah this week and that his crew would be moved to Valdosta next week and he expected work to begin here about the 15th of June.

This work is being done under authority of a bill introduced by Representatives H. B. Edwards and Theo W. Coleman and passed at the last session of the legislature.

It provides that the driveway which enters the college campus on Patterson street at the main gateway shall be paved so as to make a complete circle in front of West hall and come back to Patterson street through the pines near Georgia avenue. Another road will be paved from Patterson street straight through the campus to Oak street. A third road is to be paved in front of Converse and Ashley halls and running north to Georgia avenue. It is also proposed to pave a roadway from Patterson street through a portion of the pines to the site of a proposed new dormitory.

Walks running from each side of West hall toward the dormitory in the rear will also be paved and it is probable that the present wooden walk from West hall to the dormitory will be replaced with pavement.

The project is one which is expected to be of great benefit to the college. The present unpaved walks and driveways are a handicap in wet weather and are an added expense in the matter of upkeep. With these paved there will be no further upkeep expense.

The work will be completed during the summer so as to have the new pavement ready when school reopens in the fall.

May 3, 1935-

In the death of Mrs. C. C. Brantley, the Times, Valdosta and South Georgia suffered a distinct loss. She was a woman of high character, a writer who fearlessly expressed her opinion on public matters and whose page was closely followed by the majority of the people of Valdosta. She was of the old school of journalism (there are not so many left) and she will be sadly missed. My years of association with her were very congenial and gave me a higher conception of the true mission of a newspaper.

Miss Mary Polhill To Wed Mr. Roper

Mrs. John Goldwire Polhill, of Sylvester, announces the engagement of her daughter, Mary Fitzgerald, to Mr. John Warfield Roper, the marriage to be solemnized in July.—Atlanta Journal.

The above announcement is of interest to the many Valdosta friends of Miss Polhill, who is one of the most popular students at G. S. W. C.

A member of the senior class, she will receive her diploma in June. In the recent May Day fete at the college, she was May Queen, having been chosen by her classmates for that honor. She is one of the outstanding students at G. S. W. C. and has made many friends since coming here, who will be interested in the announcement of her approaching marriage.

Weltner Honored At Lunch Today

A luncheon at which a number of Valdostans, members of the faculty of the Georgia State Women's College and other friends of the school were guests was held today at one o'clock in the College dining room honoring Chancellor Phillip Weltner, who was here to deliver the commencement address to the graduates. About forty men were in attendance.

During the course of the affair Chancellor Weltner, whose resignation as Chancellor is to take effect shortly, predicted that the Valdosta institution would in a short length of time occupy an even more important place in the University System than it does at present. He said that the local school had an air of culture about it which is seldom found in institutions of its kind and he expressed the kindest feelings toward the school, its faculty, the student body and Valdosta for its support of the school.

South Ga. College

VALDOSTA—Miss Una Ritch, of Jessup, president of the Phi Lambda Athletic Association, and Mrs. Jack Howell, president of the Kappas, left Friday to attend the state meeting of athletic associations, which convened at Statesboro. They were accompanied by Miss Elizabeth McRee, assistant director of athletics.

Dr. Earl Phelan and Mr. James Stokes were in Athens last week to discuss the examination program for the university system.

The Sock and Buskin Club will give its annual play at the Ritz Theater Saturday evening, March 9. Bids have been issued to all the old members of the club to return to the college to see the play.

The English Club met at the House in the Woods on Tuesday evening. Dr. Harold Gulliver, professor of English, told the members of some of the current Broadway successes.

Mr. H. T. McIntosh, editor and publisher of the Albany Herald, spoke to the students at assembly Wednesday morning on current problems in national and international affairs.

The Lambdas were victorious in the basket ball games last week, while the Kappas walked away with the first ball series. These games still keep the teams closely tied as to the number of points that each association has.

Auditions were given. Miss Virginia Zipples, of Savannah, and Miss May Lois Hitch, of Valdosta, two of the most talented members of the music department, by Lee Pattison, one of America's foremost pianists, at Warm Springs last week.

Reports of the recent meeting of the Press Institute, which met at Athens, were given by Miss Leonora Dufour, editor of the college paper, and Miss Marion Reid, Homerville, at assembly Tuesday morning. Misses Johnnie Mae Keller, Cordele, and Miss Martie Lundy, Boston, played piano selections as part of the assembly hour for students.

The last talk of the charm school was given on Thursday evening by Mrs. Herman Johnson, an alumnae of Georgia State Woman's College, who spoke on "Charm Through Intellect." On Wednesday evening Miss Louise Sawyer, director of the speech department, spoke on "Charm Through Speech." "Charm Through Correct Dress" was the subject of Miss Daisy Daniels, of the home economics department, Tuesday evening. A fashion show, with models from the leading Valdosta merchants, was held in connection with the talk. Miss Leonora Ivey, director of physical education, spoke on "Charm Through Physical Fitness" on Monday evening. The opening talk of the series was given by Miss Gertrude Gilmer, professor of English, on Sunday evening. A personality and a charm test were given to each student at the close of Miss Gilmer's talk.

Dr. Harold Punke, professor of psychology, attended a meeting of educators in Atlantic City, N. J., last week.

Reading Scheduled For Guild Meeting

Miss Louise Sawyer, professor of vocal expression at the Georgia State Womans College, will give a dramatic reading from "Elizabeth, the Queen," by Maxwell Anderson, at the regular meeting of the Little Theatre Guild tonight at the Carnegie library auditorium at eight o'clock.

"Elizabeth, the Queen," which was presented in New York several years ago with Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne, is one of the most fascinating of the Anderson plays. It is not an historical record, but a moving love story of the romance between Essex and Eliabeth.

The cutting from the play as given by Miss Sawyer should be one of the most interesting presentations of the Guild.

There will be a brief, but very important business meeting for members of the Guild after the reading. Anyone interested in the activities of the Theatre Guild is invited to be present, as this is the last meeting which will be open to the public.

News of Interest From G. S. W. C. At Valdosta

May 26, 1935

VALDOSTA, Ga.—The deputation team of the Y. W. C. A. presented a program at the First Baptist Church, in Moultrie, Sunday. Miss Clara Davis Adams, of Moultrie, had charge of the program. Miss Amanda Barksdale, of Blakely, led the devotional. Miss Henry Kate Gardner, Camilla, was the speaker. A trio composed of Misses Joy Miller, Albany; Florence Tharpe, Leesburg, and Pearl Wilson, Cordele, accompanied by Miss Margaret Zippie, of Savannah, presented a program of special music. The team was entertained with a buffet supper at the home of Miss Clara Davis Adams.

The Philharmonic Club held its annual picnic at Barber's Pool Saturday. Miss Gladys Warren chaperoned the party.

Friday evening the annual party of the Athletic Club was held in the gymnasium. Awards were made by Miss Leonora Ivey, physical education director.

The social recreation class entertained members and guests with a showboat party in the gymnasium on Wednesday evening.

A play, directed by Miss Leonora Dufour, Albany, was the main feature of the program. The following girls composed the cast: Misses Margaret Hudson, Newton; Harriet Bullard, Nashville; Mary Perry, Valdosta, and Elizabeth Wilkes, Adel. Misses Pearl Wilson, Cordele; Evelyn May, Quitman, and Joy Miller, Albany, presented several numbers arranged for the trio. Miss Helen Ashbrook, Valdosta, was presented in a tap dance number.

The Valdosta Rotary Club entertained the members of the senior class with its annual picnic at Twin Lakes on Thursday afternoon.

A one-act comedy was presented by the Sock and Buskin Club Tuesday evening in the play production room. The play was directed by Miss Jessie Cattedge Langdale, of Valdosta, and was composed of the following cast: Laura, Miss Ruth Williams, Waycross; John, Miss Lella Urquhart, Waycross; Laura's Mother, Miss Lorene Johnson, Thomasville; John's Mother, Miss Priscilla Kelley, Savannah.

GEORGIA STATE
WOMAN'S COLLEGE

VALDOSTA, Ga., May 18.—Miss Willene Roberts of Valdosta was presented in her senior recital in the rotunda of Ashley Hall on Monday evening. Her first group consisted of a number of Irish poems and the Irish story "Danny." Her next selection, "From England to America," was more in the tragic vein. Her last selection, "A Marriage Has Been Arranged," was a romance comedy. Miss Roberts has had the lead in a number of the annual productions of the Sock and Buskin Club. Miss Roberts was assisted by Miss Margaret Pardee of Valdosta who played a number of violin selections.

Miss Leonora Ivey, director of the physical educational department, and Miss Elizabeth McRee, assistant director, entertained the athletic council with a fish fry at Twin Lakes Tuesday evening.

The Social Recreation Class entertained guests with a hay ride to Twin Lakes Thursday evening.

The alumnae luncheon group entertained with a luncheon at the Hazel Briggs tea room on Friday.

The Valdosta Club entertained with a tea dance at the Legion Home on Friday afternoon. The tea dance was given in honor of the senior graduates of Valdosta High School.

The Valdosta male chorus presented a program in the rotunda on Saturday evening. The chorus was entertained by members of the senior class.

Miss Gertrude Gilmer, state president of the American Association of University Women, addressed the Columbus branch at a luncheon meeting on Saturday.

Miss Daisy Daniels entertained the dining room girls at Twin Lakes on Saturday afternoon.

Rotarians Fete College Seniors At An Outing

Members of the Rotary club and their wives entertained the seniors of the Georgia State Women's College yesterday afternoon at Twin Lakes in one of the most delightful affairs of the early summer.

Numbers of the college girls enjoyed swimming in the lake when the crowd first gathered. After this a baseball game in which Rotarians and the girls participated was cause for much merriment.

After a bountiful supper, which had been prepared by the wives of the Rotarians, community singing was enjoyed, with James Dasher furnishing the accompaniment on the accordion.

When rain forced the group into the pavilion, Miss Lucile Sawyer of the college faculty gave an amusing reading, "The Waltz," which literally brought down the house.

Afterwards the girls and members of the club enjoyed dancing in the pavilion.

It was declared one of the most enjoyable parties ever given by the Rotarians to the college seniors.

Miss Gilmer Speaker at Columbus AAUW

Miss Gertrude Gilmer, state president of the Georgia American Association of University Women was the honored guest and speaker at the May meeting of the Columbus branch. The affair was in the nature of a luncheon taking place at the Night Owl Saturday at one o'clock.

Miss Caroline Owen, retiring president, arranged the following program:

Greetings from the president, Miss Caroline Owen.

A toast to the old, Mrs. Mark Mote, charter member of the Columbus branch.

A toast to the new, Mrs. George Burrus, newly elected president of the Columbus branch A. A. U. W.

Dances by Barbara Fox and Ida Ruth Renfro, pupils of Helen Willingham and Frances Cole.

History, purpose and activities of the A. A. U. W., Miss Gilmer. Songs, Mrs. W. B. Rainey.

Book review, "Now in November," Mrs. Mack Anthony.

Following the luncheon there was a business meeting at which time Miss Gilmer discussed the duties of officers and committee chairmen.—The Columbus Ledger.

VALDOSTA, Ga.—A hare and hound chase, sponsored by the Lambda and Kappa Athletic Associations, was held Saturday afternoon. The campus and adjoining grounds were agog with the participants.

The Pine Cone staff has announced that the annual will be ready to go to press during the week. The pictures have all been completed, and the art section is ready for the printers. This year the cover of the Pine Branch will be different from those of former years.

An important meeting of the athletic society was held Monday, at which plans for the next quarter were discussed. Plans are now under way to add horseback riding and riflery to the physical education course for the spring quarter.

Rev. Meeks, pastor of the Methodist Church, addressed the student body at assembly Wednesday morning. His speech was the fourth of a series during the quarter.

Dr. Harold Gulliver, professor of English, is collaborating in editing "Letters of William Makepeace Thackeray" to be published by the Press of the Pioneers in August. The book is being edited in collaboration with Rufus Rockwell Wilson, president of the Press.

The International Relations Club held its monthly meeting in the Converse parlor. Misses Ethelvn Massey, of Jesup, and Laura McLeod, of Pineview, led the discussions on the Saar Basin question. Miss Sara Coxwell, of Leesburg, vice president of the club, discussed the question of the Yugoslav-Hungarian dispute.

The new equipment for the foods course in home economics arrived Saturday. Individual electric plates, gas stoves and electric refrigerators are part of the equipment.

Misses Matilda Tillman, of Quitman, as Koop-See, and Martha Gardner, of Camilla, as Chang, starred in "The Romance of the Willow Pattern" given Tuesday evening by the Sock and Buskin Club. The other characters were: Misses Virginia Tuck, of Thomasville, as Maderin, and Lorene Johnson, of Thomasville, as the property man. The play was directed by Miss Vangie Trimble, of Moultrie.

Halliburton Will Appear Here Soon

The first of the Artists Series, to be sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce in co-operation with the Georgia State Womans College, will present Richard Halliburton, noted world traveler and lecturer on Monday night, October 21.

It will be at the High school auditorium and admission prices will be 35 and 50 cents.

Mr. Halliburton was in Valdosta two years ago and attracted a large and appreciative audience.

A feature of unusual interest in connection with his coming lecture is that he recently spent six months in Ethiopia and he is expected to present many facts concerning the country which is now engaged in a war with Italy.

G. S. W. C. GRADUATES

With the delivery of diplomas to the members of the graduating class of the Georgia State Womans College this morning the twenty-second annual commencement of that institution came to a close and another group of young women were prepared to enter upon the more serious aspects of living. These young women, after proper preparation in the various high schools of South Georgia, took up their studies in the local institution and today they received the physical evidence of the completion of their labors.

The Georgia State Womans College in the few years of its existence had won a place in the education circles of which it may well be proud. It offers a course of instruction which is second to none in the Southeast. A faculty of men and women who are leaders in their field has been assembled and each year sees an increase in the number of students who enter the institution fit themselves for living.

To the young women who today received their degrees the occasion marked the end and the beginning. It is the end of school days for most of them. It is the end of their training period. It marks the beginning the period of more serious activities. Soon a number of them will be married, others will enter into the teaching profession, while others go into the different lines of work. It is the beginning of a period when their responsibilities increase.

The Times extends to the graduates congratulations. By their records in school they have demonstrated that they have realized that there are certain duties to living other than the frivolous. They have wrought well during their student days and they will in after life be a credit to their alma mater.

Professor of Local College to Speak at Closing Exercises of Hahira High

22 WILL GRADUATE

Dr. Harold Gulliver, professor of English of the Georgia State Womans College here, will deliver the literary address for the Hahira High school tomorrow night at commencement exercises, it was announced today.

The exercises will begin at 8:30 and 22 graduates will be awarded diplomas for the work they have accomplished since they entered the high school. Prof. A. V. Folsome, superintendent of the school, will deliver the diplomas.

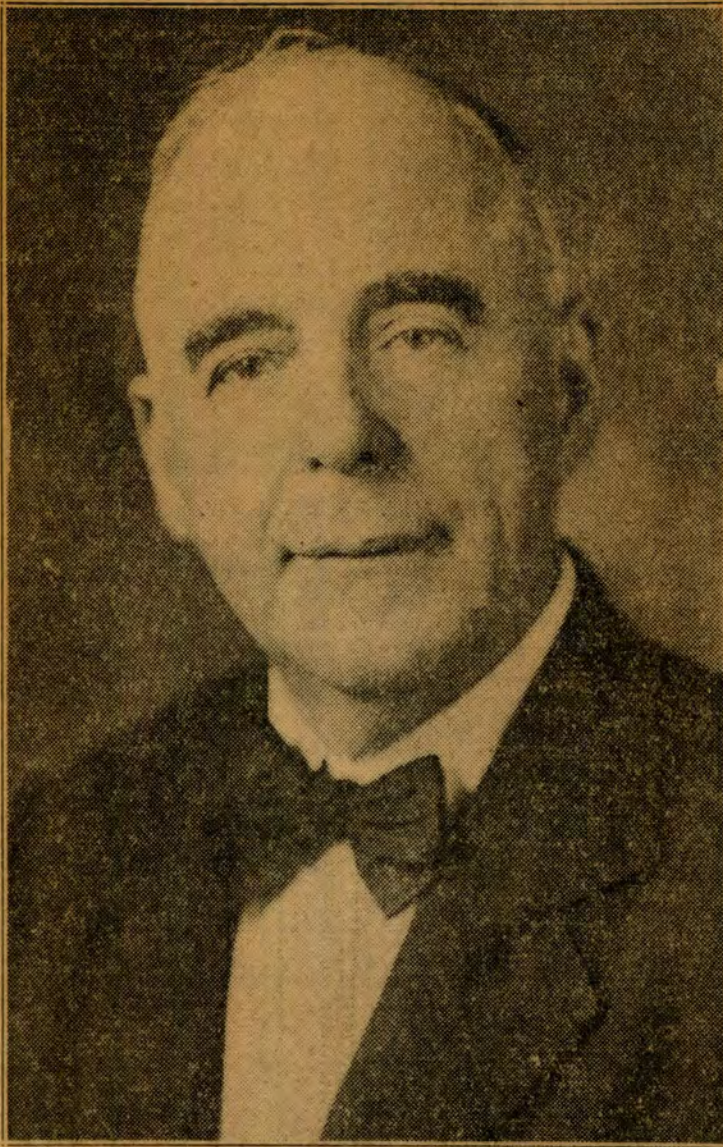

The school graduation class is taking an active interest in the social life of the Hahira section at the present time, a number of entertainments and special presentations being sponsored by the graduates.

The graduating exercises of Hahira Grammar school took place Monday night, May 27, at 8:30 o'clock. Forty-six graduates marched in to Priest's March by Mendelssohn. The salutatory was given by Doris Hall and the class history by Jimmie Lee Fiveash. After the class song Redith Wilson delivered the valedictory. Capt. J. L. Newbern of the Valdosta Post of the American Legion presented the good citizenship medal to Ida Mae Boggan. He also gave the graduation address.

Supt. A. V. Folsome presented certificates to the following: Ida Mae Boggan, Doris Clanton, Evelyn Cornelius, Gladys Cowart, Jimmie Lee Fiveash, Mary Lou Fiveash, Doris Hall, Sue Dillard, Annie Laurie Howell, Virginia Howell, Marie Johnson, Gladys Jordan, Larue Jordan, Eloise McDowell, Lila MasMillan, Mildred Griffin, Nezzie Miley, Jonell Miley, Elizabeth Mullis, Prudence Redding, Willie Belle Register, Irene Ritchie, Rubie Ritchie, Mary Helen Rountree, Ludell Sweat, Floyce Vickers, Laurene Webb, Redith Wilson.

A board of regents which includes three members whom he instructed during his 35 years at Athens, Wednesday voted unanimously to elevate Dr. Steadman Vincent Sanford, president of the University of Georgia, to the chancellorship of the entire university system to succeed another of his former pupils, Philip Weltner, who has resigned, effective June 30.

Dr. Sanford will take over his new duties July 1, meanwhile, in association with Chancellor Weltner, familiarizing himself with his new office.

A successor to Dr. Sanford as president of the university will not be named until the next meeting of the board, scheduled for early in May.

Announcement of the selection of the new chancellor was made by Chairman Marion Smith, of the board, who said that the vote was unanimous and that no other candidates were presented to the board.

Regents To Name Sanford Successor

ATLANTA, May, 6—(AP)— A successor to Dr. S. V. Sanford as president of the University of Georgia will be named by the state board of Regents at a meeting here Friday.

Dr. Sanford has been elevated to chancellor of the University system, succeeding Philip Weltner whose resignation as chancellor becomes effective July 1.

The name of Dean Harmon Caldwell of the university law school was advanced in some capitol quarters today as a possible successor to Dr. Sanford.

Dean Caldwell has been connected with the university several years and before going to Athens was a professor of law at Emory University and practiced here for some time.

The board of Regent's committee on education, headed by Colonel Sandy Beaver of Gainesville, will meet Thursday to decide finally on its recommendation to the board of a successor to the university president.

VALDOSTA, Ga., March 2.—Miss Una Hitch of Jesup, president of the Phi Lambda Athletic Association, and Mrs. Jack Howell, president of the Kappas, left Friday to attend the state meeting of athletic associations which convened at Statesboro this week. They were accompanied by Miss Elizabeth McRae, assistant director of athletics.

Dr. Earl Phelan and James Stokes were in Athens last week to discuss the examination program for the university system.

The Sock and Buskin Club will give its annual play at the Ritz Theater on Saturday evening, March 9. Bids have been issued to all the old members of the club to return to the college to see the play.

The English Club met at the House in the Woods on Tuesday evening. Dr. Harold Gulliver, professor of English, told the members of some of the current Broadway successes.

H. T. McIntosh, editor and publisher of the Albany Herald, spoke to the students at assembly Wednesday morning on current problems in national and international affairs.

The Lambdas were victorious in the basket ball games last week, while the Kappas walked away with the fist ball series. These games still keep the teams closely tied as to the number of points that each association has.

Auditions were given Miss Virginia Zipples of Savannah, and Miss May Lois Hitch of Valdosta, two of the most talented members of the music department, by Lee Pattison, one of America's foremost pianists, at Warm Springs last week.

Reports of the recent meeting of the Press Institute which met at Athens were given by Miss Leonora Dufour, editor of the college paper, and Miss Marion Reid of Homerville, at assembly Tuesday morning. Misses Johnnie Mae Kelley of Cordele and Martiele Lundy of Boston, played piano selections as part of the assembly hour for students.

The last talk of the Charm School was given on Thursday evening by Mrs. Herman Johnson, an alumnae of Georgia State Womens College, who spoke on "Charm Through Intellect." On Wednesday evening Miss Louise Sawyer, director of the speech department spoke on "Charm Through Speech." "Charm Through Correct Dress" was the subject of Miss Daisy Daniels of the home economics department, on Tuesday evening. A fashion show with models from the leading Valdosta merchants was held in connection with the talk. Miss Leonora Ivey, director of physical education, spoke on "Charm Through Physical Fitness" on Monday evening. The opening talk of the series was given by Miss Gertrude Gilmer, professor of English, on Sunday evening. A personality and a charm test were given to each student at the close of Miss Gilmer's talk.

Dr. Harold Punke, professor of psychology, attended a meeting of educators in Atlantic City, N. J., last week.

EMORY PROFESSOR TO SPEAK HERE

Rev. William T. Watkins,
Professor of Church History, to Deliver College

GRADUATION S E R M O N

Announcement from the Georgia State Womans College today was that Rev. William Turner Watkins, professor of church history at Emory University, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class on Sunday, June 9.

The sermon will be delivered at the First Presbyterian Church at 11 o'clock in the morning.

The Rev. Watkins is an outstanding educator and speaker. He spent two years studying in Edinburgh and is at present finishing his doctoral dissertation at Yale, leading to his Ph. D. degree. He is also editor of the Wesleyan Christian Advocate.

He delivered the commencement sermon for the University of Georgia graduating class in Athens last year and his sermon at that time attracted wide attention for his breadth of thought and eloquence.

The graduating exercises will be held at 10 o'clock on Monday morning, June 10, at the First Methodist church and Chancellor Philip Weltner will deliver the address.

Mr. Weltner is well and favorably known in Valdosta, having been head of the University System for two years. The local school is a part of the State system.

Mr. Weltner has resigned from the chancellorship and Dr. S. V. Sanford, president of the University of Georgia, has been elected to succeed him. Mr. Weltner's address is certain to attract much interest.

GEORGIA STATE
WOMANS COLLEGE

VALDOSTA, Ga., Oct. 5.—At a meeting of the senior class on Monday Miss Ethlyn Massey of Jesup was chosen as editor of the Pine Cone, annual of the college. Miss Massey has selected the following staff to assist her in her duties as editor: Misses Lucille Thompson, Ellaville, business manager; Luelle Giddens, Valdosta, assistant business manager; Leonora Dufour, Albany, literary editor; Amanda Barksdale, Blakely, advertising manager; Lella Mae Tison, Jesup, assistant business manager; snapshot editor, Myra Hackett, Moultrie; Ames Watkins, Metcalf, activities; Frances Garbutt, Valdosta, art editor.

The athletic associations of the college entertained with a party in the dining hall on Saturday evening at which time bids were given freshmen to become members of either the Kappa or Lambda athletic associations. Games and dancing were enjoyed during the evening.

Misses Jackie Studstill of Lakeland and Margaret Hudson of Newton have been nominated for the presidency of the Lambda athletic association.

The annual candle lighting ceremony of the Y. W. C. A. was held on the lawn in front of Ashley Hall on Sunday evening. Miss Clara Louise Driskell, Surrency, president of the association, greeted the new members of the group. Miss Ann Richter of Savannah read the response of the new members, and Miss Pearl Wilson, Cordele, read the part of the spirit of the organization.

The annual tryouts for membership in the Sock and Buskin, Philharmonic and Glee Clubs were held last week.

At assembly hour on Friday morning questionnaires were presented to the students regarding leisure time activities, and their preference regarding each of the activities. From the answers obtained from the questionnaire the leisure time programs will be made.

The senior class is making plans for benefit entertainments to be given during the year to raise finances for their annual trip. This year the seniors hope to go to New Orleans.

Mrs. J. P. Grace of Valdosta has accepted the presidency of the local chapter of the American Association of University Women.

The Glee Club, as a result of the auditions, will have for membership: Misses Joy Miller, president, Albany; Alexa Daley, Dublin; Edith Bennett, Savannah; Annie Laurie Bell, Tifton; Jane Brooks, Valdosta; Margaret Cannon, Cairo; Frances Carson, Talbotton; Mildred Daniels, Hawkinsville; Lenora Dufour, Albany; Beverly Dougherty, Valdosta; Pardree Greer, Valdosta; Louise Howell, Valdosta; Floye Evey, Bridgeboro; Mary M. DR. A. GRIFFIN DIES AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS; CITY IS IN MOURNING

Beloved Physician and Outsanding Citizen Yields To Death After Illness Of Less Than A Week; Rites Today

Dr. Archie Griffin, beloved Valdosta physician, died last night at his home on North Patterson street after an illness of less than a week. He was taken sick last week with dengue fever. On Tuesday of this week pneumonia developed and during Wednesday and Thursday he rapidly became worse until the end came shortly after nine o'clock last night.

Funeral services are to be held this afternoon at 5 o'clock from the residence. Interment will be in Sunset Hill. Rev. C. M. Meeks, pastor of the First Methodist Church, and Rev. H. M. Fugate, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will conduct the services.

The survivors are his wife, two sons, one daughter, five sisters, one brother and two grandsons. The sons are Carlus H. Griffin, of this city, and C. Ramon Griffin of this city and Athens. The daughter is Mrs. James Young, of Cedar town. His brother is Thomas Griffin, of Douglas. The sisters are, Mrs. Matilda Griffin Harper, of Ambrose, Georgia; Mrs. Edith Griffin Graham, of Colquitt county; Mrs. Olive Griffin Purvis, of Coffee county; Mrs. Phoebe Griffin Harper, of Irwin county; and Mrs. Sarah Carver, of Coffee county. His grandsons are Tenny Saunders Griffin and Archibald Little Griffin, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Carlus H. Griffin.

Dr. Griffin was born in Irwin county on January 27, 1870. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Griffin, prominent residents of that section of the state.

He was graduated from the Louisville Medical College and began the practice of his profession in Wilcox county in what is now Turner county. About three years after he began practice he married Miss Dollie Little. Their wedding occurred on April 6, 1898.

In 1907, on Thanksgiving Day, Dr. Griffin and his family moved to Valdosta and he remained in this city until the time of his death.

A. A. U. W. Held Jan. Meeting Thursday

The January meeting of the Valdosta A. A. U. W. was held Thursday afternoon in the rotunda of Ashley Hall at the Georgia State Womans College. Dean Hopper opened the meeting with some introductory remarks about the State A. A. U. W. meeting held at Agnes Scott College on January 19, and introduced our new state president of A. A. U. W., Miss Gertrude Gilmer, of the Georgia State Womans College faculty. Miss Gilmer gave a resume of the talk given by Dr. Kathryn McHale, general director of A. A. U. W. Miss Gilmer praised Miss McHale's remarkable work in collecting material for the "Thirty-first Yearbook of the National Society for the Study of Education," a splendid hand book for all educators. She spoke also of interesting talks given by Dr. Meta Glass, president of Sweetbriar and national president of A. A. U. W., Miss Jeanette Kelley, regional director, and by Dr. Rheinart, president of Mills College in California, and ex-president of National A. A. U. W.

Miss Gilmer was followed by the new state secretary, Dr. Lena Hawks, also of our Georgia State Womans College faculty. Dr. Hawks gave an outline of the interesting talk of Dean C. S. Boucher, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, Chicago University, concerning his work in the objective test for students. Dean Boucher feels that tests are not an adequate measure for the attainment of students, but have to be used in the absence of a better method.

Another interesting feature of the state meeting which Dean Hopper reported was discussion by outstanding students of Agnes Scott, Shorter, Wesleyan and the University of Georgia showing the reaction of students to recent changes in the curricula of their respective colleges. It is encouraging to educators that the students themselves show an intelligent understanding of the philosophy underlying these changes.

The reports were followed by a group of songs by the double trio of the Womans College, and the piano solos by Miss Ziplies.

Finds Romance and Graciousness on Visit to Valdosta Luncheon Club

By MILDRED SEYDELL.

VALDOSTA, Ga.—(By Mail)—Greetings from Valdosta! I am down here in God's country where the flowers grow big and fine and the women are pretty and gracious, and the men attractive; and the air is soft and in the evening the moon hangs in the sky like a South Sea isle moon with mystery and romance. And the sun shines in the day with the most gentle, caressing rays.

From my room at the Daniel Ashley Hotel I look out on a prosperous business street—autos thickly lining both sides, many new and bright; people going in and out of the stores not casually but with that buying look.

The manager of this hotel is Horace Caldwell. He has the art of managing a hotel. Like the art Bobby Jones displays in playing golf, he's the top! This hotel is one of the finest in Georgia. Our little private sitting room—I am here with my husband—is reminiscent of the sitting rooms in the hotels in New York.

I came down to speak to the Readers' Forum, whose president is Mrs. Richard Hawk. How many things she and her friends can think of to make guests in their town happy! On a small table in our sitting room, in a forget-me-not blue vase, are deep rose-colored gladioli, giant ones. On another table is a delicious chocolate cake, sent to us by Mrs. C. W. Barnes.

But, wait a minute, that's not all—a corsage of sweetheart roses has just arrived. Oh, they do things right in Valdosta! No wonder two first ladies of the state came from here, Mrs. Hugh Dorsey and Mrs. L. G. Hardman.

The Readers' Forum is an exclusive woman's luncheon club. In the vernacular of the day, you have to "rate" to get an invitation to join. It was after their annual dinner that I spoke. The dinner was a brilliant success, as is everything headed by Mrs. Hawk. Her efficient generalship is proverbial. She has a peculiar gift—Mussolini has it, too—she knows how to draw people out, to make them feel at their best. People like her because they feel good around her.

deed fortunate to have such citizens. I wish they would come to Atlanta to live; we need a little stirring up in Atlanta to get back some of the old pep.

After the dinner Harry Stump sang, accompanied on the piano by his wife. He has a Nelson Eddy voice. Too bad he is such a good businessman—Hollywood could use him.

He is the Wofford Oil representative here, a great friend of our president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, Wiley Moore.

Golden Words

Miss Gertrude Gilmer, a slender lovely brunette, who is an instructor in English at Georgia State Woman's College and writer of books—a valued member of the National League of American Pen Women—gave a little gem of an introduction to my speech, her phrases prettily hung together, her words carefully chosen.

'Sir Richard'

Her husband, "Sir Richard" Hawk—if you are a reader of this column you must be an old friend of his, as I am continually quoting something he has written—is a newspaperman of note. He is a cracker-jack storyteller, has a treasure house of stories collected from his own experiences.

The dinner was at the Valdes Hotel. Manager Morris, of that hotel, must have had all the kettles going—the dinner was a feast! Mrs. George Feagle (you've probably read some of her short stories and poems) and Mrs. J. Y. Blitch (her husband is president of the First National Bank of Valdosta) aided Mrs. Hawk in decorating the dinner tables.

A special guest of honor, come up from Florida for the occasion, was Mrs. Ralph Worthington. She is interested in the restoration of Robert E. Lee's home, Stratford, and is the Florida state chairman for the work. She spoke of the importance of her work. Her words found a deep echo in the hearts of all who heard her.

We certainly should strive for the cause. Stratford is a heritage to leave to our children. It is a link with the Old South, with its charm and culture. Its preservation will give us Southerners standing in the eyes of the world.

Such is the power of Mrs. Worthington's appeal that she collects money for the work even from the Northerners sojourning in Florida, where, in Miami, Mrs. Worthington has a show place of a home. These people from the North say to her:

"Why, asking us to give money to restore Lee's home is like our asking Georgians for money to build a monument to Sherman!"

But somehow she gets what she goes after, and makes the donors like the giving.

On every side I am hearing compliments to Mrs. Hawk and "Sir Richard." Valdosta is in-

I became so engrossed in what she said I almost forgot the commencement of my talk.

Enjoyed greeting old friends living here, school-day friends. Mrs. J. Ashley (her husband is the Mayor of Valdosta) and the Misses Lewis, Pearl and Caro.

This morning a visit to the Georgia State Woman's College to talk to the girls, 340 of them. Had an inspiring chat with the college's president, Dr. Reed. He tells me that $230 will pay a girl's entire expense for a year at the Georgia State Woman's College. An A. B. there can be gotten with a thousand dollars for expenses.

The grounds are very picturesque. A walk, palm-bordered, leads to the main entrance of one of the white stucco, red-tiled buildings. Flowers and pine trees and oaks everywhere about.

The girls were dressed very stylishly. Most of them are thinking of getting married rather than making a career—that is, so says the president.

The object of the college is rather to give the girls a fuller, richer life than to prepare them for a career. After taking a look at them, I don't think they'll have any difficulty in getting husbands—except that it will be hard to choose which proposal to accept.

Hurried back to the Daniel Ashley for a luncheon. Guests: Mrs. Hawk, Mrs. Worthington, Mrs. Blitch, Mrs. Marie Youmans—director of Valdosta's fine dancing school (she's taking some of her pupils to Hollywood this summer)—Miss Gilmer, Mrs. J. D. Ashley, Mrs. Feagle, Mrs. Hollahan and Mrs. W. M. Oliver—of the golfing Olivers (four sons and her husband all golf experts), they have a room in their home that resembles a jeweler's shop, filled to capacity with golf trophies!

Come on down to Valdosta. It's the best place I know to have a good time. Got to stop writing now to get ready for a fish fry!

Colorful Events Mark Celebration At Local College

Tom Smith of Valdosta; and the crown-bearer, Frances Paine of Valdosta.

The festivities in honor of the queen will begin with the circle dance and the Pickadilla which will be done by a group of peasants who later do the winding of the May-pole. The dancers are: Annie Laurie White, Waycross; Bernice Andrews, Thomasville; Ivelyn Folsom, Hahira; Heled Landey, Valdosta; Jerry Quinn, Hazelhurst; Harriet Radford, Quitman; Blanche Locklear, Homerville. Lois Dickerson Homerville; Lonnell Morris, Pearson; Merle Sumner, Waycross; Dorothy Herndon, Lake Park; Mildred Daniels, Hawkinsville; Olive Pinkerton, Eatonton; Ruby Jordan, Waycross; Tad Whipple, Quitman; Idella Baumstein, Lake City; Lois Perry, Kingsland; Thera Hambrick, Ray City; Camille Rycroft, Adel; Grace Swindle, Ray City; Martha Gardner, Camilla; Winnifred Corbett, Pearson. Bobbie Cochran, Camilla; Floye Ivey, Bridgeboro; Arrie Carter, Fargo; Madee Watson, Lakeland; Clarence Conner, Lakeland; Emma Ruth Jones, Donaldsonville; Ruth Williams, Waycross; Alvata Carter, Rockingham; Lora McPhaul, Doerun; Eloise Lineberger, Valdosta; Barbara Hatcher, Moultrie; Essie Skinner, Tifton; Johnnie Mae Kelly, Cordele; Paula Sapp, Cairo; Jane Twitty, Valdosta; Frances Hinson, Waycross; Anne Mary Evans, Coolidge; Sarah Pyle, Valdosta; Martha Jones, Lakeland; Wilma Faircloth, Seville; Ruth Loughridge, Blackshear; Winifred King, Woodbine; Ruth Bunn, Douglas; Sue Coppage, Valdosta; Ellie Etheridge, Sumner; Tiny McEachren, Valdosta; Carolyn Askew, Arlington; Florice Zipperer, Clyattville; Dot Dixon, Patterson; Frances Hiers, Morven; Martha Powell, Valdosta; Elizabeth Strickland, Miami, Fla.; Janie Merle Byrd, Pavo; Martha Johnston, Valdosta; Lois Pafford, Lakeland; Juanita Kennedy, Surency; Wynelle Spell, Wrightsville; Mary Jones, Valdosta.

The peasants will be followed by the Morris-men. To the jingle of the bells on their trousers they will do their dance of the sticks. The Morris-men are: Sally Prescott, Folkston; Rhona Barfield, Valdosta; Doris Griffiths, Homerville; Louise Harper, Albany; Gayle Chute, Unadilla; Juanita Simmons, Homerville; Elizabeth Macon, Moultrie; Vivian Stanford, Adel; Edith Bennett, Savannah; Lovenia Lassiter, Valdosta; Norma Renfro, Vienna; Eva Mae Smith, McRae; Blanche Mabbett, Quitman; Lucille Tyson, Jesup; Betty Vaughan, Savannah; Kitty O'Neal, Tifton; Lucille Holt, Baxley; Theresa Graham, Jesup.

Two-faced jesters will amuse the audience with their two-faced dance. One side of the costume is a girl while the other is a boy. Those to take part are: Miriam Adams, Camilla; Emma Ambos, Savannah; Lucille Thomson, Ellaville; Lota Griffith, Valdosta; Pearl Wilson, Cordele; Joe Daniel, Ludowici; Clara Louise Driskell, Ocilla; Gwendolyn Quinker, Valdosta.

In the dance of the Soldier and Shepherdess, the dancer, Henry Kate Gardner, of Camilla, will take the soldier, Carroll Peeples, of Valdosta, away from the shepherdess, Matilda Tillman of Quitman, but a big bear, Mayme Register, of Adel, will come along and frighten the dancer away. The shepherdess will save the soldier's life and thus win his love so completely that he spurns the dancer.

The maidens of the prologue will do the dance of the "May wreaths."

"Clowning" will be done by the young mummers dressed as Puncinellos. They do tricks, stunts, and feats of great strength. They will react the play of William Tell, shooting the apple from precarious spots other than the head. The clowns are: Catherine Hagan, Savannah; Mary Ellen Cordes, Jacksonville; Sarah E. Morgan, Mystic; Martha Lawry, Dawson; Bonney Lou Newsome, Valdosta; Louise Elrod, Tifton; Rosalyn Eubanks, Rochelle; Josephine Joubert, Savannah; Margaret Varn, Wareboro; Martha Gay, Quitman; Correne West, Quitman, and Lorene Thomas, Valdosta.

The lords and ladies will forget their court dignity for a while and dance the dance of "playfulness."

The Gipsy vagabond, Estelle Roberts, of Cordele, will appear, hailing the Gipsy dancer, Carroll Peeples, to come dance for him. She will be followed by the rest of the Gipsy band: Mary Alderman, Pavo; Bessie Autrey, Valdosta; Leila Callender, Valdosta; Margaret Hudson, Camilla; Annie K. Knight, Quitman; Linelle Lang, Valdosta; Bootsie Hatcher, Moultrie; Ruth Godwin, Valdosta; Marie Middleton, Cordele; Permelia Ohff, Quitman; LaForest Smith, Valdosta; Eloise Ogletree, Savannah; Anne Turner, Valdosta; Lee Stearman, Savannah, and Wyllene Roberts, Valdosta.

Pierrot, Wyllene Roberts, of Valdosta, and Columbine, Helen C. Varnedoe of Valdosta, will make love again in the old, old story of the Glove.

The climax of the festival will be the winding of the May-poles.

GULLIVER NAMED HAHIRA SPEAKER

Professor of English of Womans College to Deliver
Address at Hahira

SCHOOL FOR GRADUATION

Dr. Harold Gulliver, professor of English in the Georgia State Womans College here, will deliver the literary address at graduation exercises of the Hahira High school on Thursday,
May 30, it was announced today.

A number of programs and special entertainments will feature the commencement exercises and the awarding of diplomas, according to plans now being formed at the school.

The Hahira school, headed by Professor A. V. Folsome is the largest high school in the county educational system and holds a high scholastic rating with state school authorities.

Plans for the entertainments prior to the commencement exercises include the senior class play, which will be presented on Tuesday, May 21. The play is "Gate to Happiness," a comedy drama in three acts, by Lillian Mortimer and directed by Mrs.
Folsome. The entire cast will be made up of members of the senior class.

On Thursday, May 23, the musical and reading talent of the school will be presented by Miss Emma Adams, director, of music and expression. Her pupil, Miss Virginia Ferrell Barfield, will be presented in a certificate recital.

The program includes a number of readings, musical numbers and other attractions. Ushers will be Misses Grace Cowart,
Carolyn Folsome and Mary
Hunt.

Dr. O. H. Fowler, pastor of the First Baptist church of Manchester, Ga., will deliver the baccalauerate sermon Sunday May 27. The combined choirs of the churches of Hahira will furnish the musical numbers for this service.

Grammar grade certificates will be awarded to 48 seventh grade students in the school auditorium Monday evening, May 27. The speaker for the occasion will be furnished by the American Legion of Valdosta.

On this program also will appear Redith Wilson, as the first honor pupil, Dorris Hall and Jimmie Lee Fiveash, the second and third honor graduates.

Ida Mae Boggan will be presented with a medal of honor offered by the American Legion and won on five points of excellency. The five points governing the awarding of the medal include scholarship, co-operation sense of humor, leadership and comradeship.

Tuesday evening, May 28, will be given over to the senior class for the annual senior program.

Miss Frances Webb will be the class poet, Miss Willie Mae Outlaw will be heard as class historian, Miss Inez Webb is class prophetess, Miss Martha Peters as statistician; the Key of Knowledge will be presented by E. Lee Ring and Chester Jordan, the class president will deliver the final presidential message to the entire class. The entire group of 20 will join in singing the class song and the class quartet will sing in conclusion the song "Carry Me Back to Old Hahira."

On Thursday evening, May 30, the graduting exercises will be held.

The salutatory will be delivered by Miss Carolyn Folsome, who was awarded the second honor in scholastic standing, and the valedictory will be delivered by Miss Virginia Barfield, who holds first place.

Miss Barfield is a sister of Julian Barfield, first honor graduate in the class of 1928, and the second member of her family to attain the honor in the Hahira school.

Dr. Gulliver, the literary speaker, will use as the theme for his address the topic "The Challenge of Change."

The diplomas will be delivered and the final address made by the superintendent.

NOTED SINGER TO APPEAR AT
RITZ ON SUNDAY

March 22, 1935
Miss Vreeland Brought Here by College and Jaycees

Jeannette Vreeland, America's foremost soprano, who will sing at the Ritz Theatre in Valdosta on Sunday afternoon, March 31, at 4:00 o'clock, has appeared with great success throughout the country in recital, concert and oratorio and as soloist with the great symphony orchestras. In private life she is the wife of Percy Rector Stephens, well known vocal teacher of New York City.

Jeannette Vreeland is recognized from coast to coast in this country as one of the most versatile and capable singers to be heard on the concert stage now. She has command of all types of vocal musical literature which makes her program interesting to both the musical public and the layman.

The price of tickets for the Vreeland concert is 35c for school children and 75c for adults. The same concert for every other engagement this year is more than double this price.

When Jeannette Vreeland made her continental debut at the Bachsaal, Berlin, she won a notable success as can be seen from the following critical report of the recital:

"Jeannette Vreeland, a soprano from New York City, made her appearance with a varied programme at the Bachsaal. Mozart, Weingartner, Verdi, French, English, and American composers made up the programme. The singer goes about her task with facility. She cultivated pure bel canto in arias and lieder. The voice is a pure head-soprano with splendid high notes."—Hans Pasche, Berlin Die Signale.

Dr. A. Griffin Dies After Brief Illness

chants and professional men in the city to close their places of business.

During the few days of Dr. Griffin's illness, when it became known about the city that his condition was critical, hundreds of sorrowing friends visited the home to hopefully seek news of improvement. From all this section of south Georgia have come messages of grief over the news of his passing.

Dr. Griffin was a member of one of the oldest and best known families in south Georgia. They were pioneer settlers of Irwin county and have for years held a leading position in this section of the state. Carrying on the traditions of the family, Dr. Griffin won and kept a position at the top of his profession and in the hearts of his fellow men.

Funeral arrangements are being handled by Sineath's.

During his residence and practice of his profession here he attained a position which was reached by few physicians. Ever anxious to keep abreast of every professional development and improvement he took a number of courses in special work in the leading hospitals and universities of the country. He enjoyed a practice over all of south Georgia and north Florida and his quiet dignity and skill as a physician and surgeon won for him a place in the section which has been reached by only a limited number of men.

Dr. Griffin was a member of the Valdosta Rotary Club and was always active in his attendance upon its meetings and its interests.

He was a devout member of the First Methodist church. Each service found him in his accustomed place and he was one of the staunchest supporters of all of its affairs.

During his professional career he gave of his time and services to charity and the poor in countless ways. He accumulated large real estate holdings and was one of the largest property owners in the city and section.

He was a director in both the Citizens and Southern National Bank and the First National Bank.

Dr. Griffin was one of the chief owners of and president of the Valdosta Press, publishers of The Valdosta Times. The Times office will be closed during the hour of the funeral.

He also had many other property interests here and elsewhere in the section.

Dr. Griffin was one of the builders of the Little-Griffin-Owens-Saunders private hospital and by his example and his contributions of his time and skill he helped keep this institution in the forefront of such organizations of the state.

As a mark of respect to him, Mayor J. D. Ashley has ordered all city offices closed during the hour of the funeral and by proclamation has called on all mer-

Miss Vreeland to Offer Delightful
Program at Ritz

Jeanette Vreeland, soprano who has been signed for a concert here March 31st under the auspices of the Artist Series sponsored by G. S. W. C. and the Junior Chamber of Commerce will present a program of varied music from the musical libraries of the world.

It is with interest that so much of Brahms has been noted on her program. To sing Brahms a voice of especial purity and simplicity is required. There are few fire works in his music for voice, and even fewer passages where, "the soprano tears up the patch". When Brahms is noted on the program of a singer, one may be sure that she has acquired a certain spiritual perception of music which carries her beyond the rendering of yards of trills and high C's.

Debussy, the modern French composer is also included on her program. Many people sing Debussy, but few interpret him. This writer believes that if Miss Vreeland had not had a superb understanding of Debussy she would have chosen some of his more obvious works.

The piece de resistance on the program, the naughty, tantalizing, distinctly Delibes "Filles de Cadiz", has brought many an audience to its feet demanding an encore when it has been given by an understanding voice. Valdosta should be no exception.

Miss Vreeland's program follows:

I.

Aria—O, toi qui prolongeas mes jours, from "Iphigenie en Tauride—Gluck.

Pastorial—Veracini.

II.

Zigeunerlieder I.—Brahms.

Zigeunerlieder VII.—Brahms.

Zigeunerlieder VI.—Brahms.

III.

WATKINS TALKS ON TEACHING MATTER

Professor of Church History of Emory University Delivers Graduation Sermon
TO WOMANS COLLEGE

Speaking to an audience which taxed the capacity of the auditorium, Rev. William T. Watkins, professor of church history at Emory University, delivered the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of the Georgia State Womens College at the First Presbyterian church yesterday morning.

The College Glee Club, under the direction of Miss Alimae Temple, director of music, featured the program with anthems. The first was "God of Our Fathers" by DeKoven, and the second was "Sanctus" by Buck. The Glee Club also led in the congregational sinnging of hymns.

After congratulating the young ladies on having completed their four years of study at the institution, Mr. Watkins took as a basis for his remarks the text from Matthew 6:2, "And He (Jesus) opened his mouth and taught them."

He said in part:

"Really great teachings are often lost in their simplicity," he began. "Jesus, the greatest teacher of all time, taught the greatest truths in such a simple way that they are often overlooked."

"You young ladies are about to go out in the world at a time when we are living in a hurry. Often great decisions—sometimes those which will affect your whole afterlife—will be made in a moment. You would give much for a month or a year in which to think the matter over, but no—you must decide at once.

"Football players do not make decisions in a moment as often as the watchers in the sidelines think they do. They are so thoroughly drilled in their plays that they know at once whot to do when a play is made by their opponent that thew do not have to think, they just do as they were taught. One should be so well grounded in what is the right thing to do that when the crisis comes, you will just do it.

"Success is altogether from within and not from without. If one sees a masterpiece, painted by an artist, or a beautiful sunset, it is the amount of artist that is within you that enables you to appreciate the beauty of the painting of the sunset. If you have none of the artist within you, you cannot see the beauty in them.

"Jesus taught men how to get along with others. He has never hurried or upset by what he saw, but always took the long view of things. "We are prone," the speaker said, "to sacrigece the future for the present. We do what will be to our advantage right now and seem to take no thought of what will happen in the future.

He said that nearly all failures could be traced to one of three things: fallure to exalt the spiritual value over the physical, fallure to work for the future instead of the present and failure to work for the good of others instead of for one's own selfish aims.

He urged the members of the class to take the Great Teacher as their example and to follow His teachings in their life.

TALMADGE STATES WILL BUILD DORM

Governor Declares State Will Build Dormitory For Local College if Needed

USE STATE FUNDS

A dormitory for the State Womans College here will be erected from state funds, if such a building is needed, Governor Eugene Talmadge declared today in a statement to the Associated Press in Atlanta.

The governor, asked about his plans for the local college, by the Associated Press Bureau in Atlanta which acted on a request for a statement from the governor, filed this morning by the Times declared he had a "cute little plan" for putting up school buildings and dormitories where needed, in the state university system.

He intimated that he would use his emergency fund to buy supplies for the buildings and use state convicts to do the work.

Asked this morning what plan he had for erecting a dormitory at the Georgia State Woman's college at Valdosta, he said that if it is shown a building is needed there, the state will put it up. At a hearing before a House committee yesterday on his University Regents bill to kill a projected Public Works loan, the chief executive said a building was needed at Valdosta and "the state will build it."

The governor said "we built six buildings at Milledgeville with supplies bought by the emergency fund and used convicts for the labor." He did not say directly this was the "cute little plan" he had in mind for school buildings.

"Wherever it is shown conclusively that new buildings are needed, the state can take care of the situation," Talmadge said.

The University Regents bill would prevent the Board of Regents from obtaining $2,631,800 loan and grant from the PWA, which they had proposed using for construction of new buildings for the 14 institutions of the system. The bill was approved by the House committee, and a senate committee will hold a public hearing at three P. M. today.

Talmadge was asked at the committee hearing yesterday if at any time during negotiations for the loan he had voted with the regents to apply for it. He said no, that the vote was always eleven to one. He explained however, that in the early stages of negotiations, he had made several trips to Washington in the interest of Public Works Loans to Georgia, "because the federal government was putting out all that money, and we wanted to know what it was all about," said he thought records of the board meetings would show that he never voted with them on the university system loan. Marion Smith, chairman of the Board of Regents, told Talmadge that it was at the governor's request that the five percent compensation to the supervising officers be lowered to four percent.

"And that is three and one half percent too much" Talmadge said.

Robert and Company was employed as supervising architect for the PWA construction program of the system, which proposed a new building at Valdosta, where members of the Board of Regents said girls were turned away because the college lacked room for them.

SANFORD NAMED BY STATE REGENTS

on August 24, 1872, the son of Charles V. Sanford, a businessman and manufacturer, and Mrs. Elizabeth Mars Steadman Sanford, whose father established one of the first cotton mills in Georgia.

The new chancellor was educated in the public school of Conyers and Macon, matriculating at Mercer from which he was graduated with an A. B. degree in 1890.

Dr. Sanford took up teaching as a vocation immediately after his graduation, becoming principal of the old Marietta Male Academy where he remained for two years. From the Marietta academy he went to the Marietta public school system as principal of the high school and superintendent of city schools, a dual office which he held until 1903, with the exception of a year he served in the Spanish-American War as captain of Company F, Third Regiment, United States volunteers.

Joined University in 1903.

In 1903 he went to the university as a professor in English and during his 33 years there has served in practically every capacity from the lowest to the highest.

He founded and for six years headed the university school of journalism, one of the outstanding journalism schools of the nation which has graduated a number of men and women who have become outstanding in the journalistic and newspaper world.

In 1927, Dr. Sanford was named dean of administration at the university and in 1932, when the present board of regents was organized, he was made president, succeeding Dr. Charles M. Snelling, who, likewise, was made chancellor and who is now chancellor emeritus.

In addition to working continuously for education, Dr. Sanford showed a deep interest in athletics, heading the university's athletic association for many years. He was the founder and for many years president of the Southern conference.

Studied Abroad.

While a professor and executive at the university, Dr. Sanford found time in 1912 and 1913 to study abroad, attending the University of Berlin and the University of Oxford. He took his family abroad with him and his three sons, likewise, attended the two institutions, one of them, Dr. S. P. Sanford, of Savannah, obtaining an education in Berlin, which afterward fitted him for a place as chief of intelligence in the American First Division during the World War.

The European post-graduate work was in addition to post-graduate work he did at the University of Chicago in 1899, while superintendent of the Marietta schools.

In 1895, Dr. Sanford was married to Miss Grace McClatchey, of Marietta, a brother of Major D. F. McClatchey, of Atlanta. Mrs. Sanford is a former president of the Georgia Federation of Woman's Clubs, and at present is national vice president of the Colonial Dames.

Dr. Sanford is a Baptist, a member of the Odd Fellows, the Knights of Pythias and the Athens Kiwanis Club. He also is a Mason.

The Sanfords have three sons. In addition to Dr. Sanford, of Savannah, they are Charles S. Sanford, recently chosen president of the Liberty National bank, of Savannah, and Homer R. Sanford, well-known Atlanta insurance executive.

Has Sister, Two Brothers.

Dr. Sanford has two brothers, Shelton P. Sanford and Paul H. Sanford, both Macon businessmen, and one sister, Mrs. Kelly P. Allen, of Macon.

Dr. Sanford, himself a veteran of the Spanish-American War, has a unique distinction in that his father was a Confederate veteran and his son, Dr. Sanford, is a veteran of the World War.

He is the author of an English grammar which has been in use in Georgia schools for more than a decade and which is widely used in public and private schools outside the state.

Talmadge Congratulates Talmadge.

Shortly after his election, Governor Talmadge congratulated the new chancellor.

"Aaway back in 1902 or 1903 you were on a committee at the university to name an anniversarian and you voted for Gene Talmadge," the governor told Dr. Sanford as he shook hands with him. "I am very happy to be able to give you my vote today. I know you will make a great chancellor just as you have made a great instructor and a great university president."

Chancellor Weltner also was present and congratulated his successor.

Three new members of the board who will take office July 1 were present at Wednesday's session and joined in voting for Dr. Sanford. They are John Monaghan, of Pelham; Charles Milam, of Cartersville, and Miller S. Bell, of Milledgeville.

Debt Committee Named.

Chairman Smith said that the committee to work with the governor on paying the debts of the university system, all of which were made before the board of regents was created, was to be composed of himself, Colonel Sandy eBavers, of Gainesville; Mr. Woodruff and Major Howell.

At its session Wednesday the board also voted to have the state auditor audit the books of the athletic associations of the university and Georgia Tech under the provisions of the bill recently passed by the legislature.

A number of other matters of a routine nature were disposed of at the session.

Annual Banquet of G. S. W. C. Alumnae

Members of the Alumnae Association of G. S. W. C. held their business meeting and annual banquet Saturday morning at the Daniel Ashley hotel.

The business meeting, held on the mezzanine, was presided over by Miss Elizabeth McRee, acting president.

The treasurer's report was given by Miss Iva Chandler, followed by report from the corresponding secretary, Miss Clarice Ivey.

Rules of the scholarship fund were brought before the meeting and discussed, and it was decided that a scholarship will be given next year to some outstanding girl.

Officers for the next year were then elected. They are:

Mrs. J. A. Durrenberger, president.

Miss Elizabeth McRee will complete her term as vice-president.

Mrs. Herman Johnson, treasurer.

Miss Clarice Ivey will complete her term as corresponding secretary.

Following the business session the annual banquet was held in the hotel dining room.

The idea of "the last round up" was featured in decorations, and menu. The room was bright with flowers, and the table was decorated with toy pistols in holsters, and other "western" effects.

Miss McRee, as toast mistress was in charge of the program, and during the luncheon the new officers were introduced to the group.

All of the dishes on the menu had western names, to carry out the idea of the "round-up."

During the dinner, Miss Louise Holcombe rendered a number of piano selections.

Mrs. Mary Knight Stevens of the Class of 1916 was present and was introduced to the gathering, as was also Mrs. Corinne Studstill Knight, from far away Texas.

After the luncheon, the following program was given:

Reading, "Battine" (Elias Day), Miss Henry Kate Gardner.

Beautiful Blue Danube Waltz, (Schulz-Euler), Miss Margaret Zipplies.

"The last round up instructions," were given by the "round-up boss," Dr. Frank Reade.

The luncheon was one of the most enjoyable ever held by the Alumnae Association, and was largely attended.

PWA LOAN TO G. S. W. C.

It appears Governor Talmadge has thrown a bomb into the Board of Regents' building program. After much work on the part of the individual members of the board and others interested in the University System the Public Works Administration finally agreed to loan the board $2,800,000 for the erection of buildings throughout the system.

Under the plan the PWA contract called for a loan of 70 per cent and an outright gift of 30 per cent of the total. All of the money was to be used upon self-liquidating projects.

The local college was in line to receive the sum of $85,000. This money was to be used for building a new dormitory, which is badly needed. On account of the overcrowded condition at the present time the college authorities have found it necessary to rent two private residences in which to house the students.

In convincing the federal authorities of the legality of the loan the regents succeeded in showing to the satisfaction of the PWA that it would not put the state in a penny of debt, state appropriations would not be subject to the debt, there would be no lien against state property, the loan to be paid out of student fees alone, and that the facilities were needed to take care of the constant increase in enrollment.

On the other side of the picture is the governor's promise to get the state out of debt before the end of his term as chief executive. He pledged to the people a state free of debt and he is certainly keeping his word.

No one can blame the governor for his desire to clean the slate, but it seems he is mistaken in his stand on the PWA loan. The Public Works Administration has agreed to make the loan and grant without taking a lien on property now owned by the state, but only a mortgage on the buildings to be erected under the program. Each school receiving a loan would stand on its own bottom and default by one particular college would not involve the entire system.

So there would be no lien against state property and no state debt. It would be a liability against particular parcels of real estate and other parcels would not be subject to sale in case of default.

If the governor insists upon this bill being made into law it is hoped he will sit down around the table and help work out another plan with the Board of Regents whereby the building program may be continued.

A new state prison is being built in Tattnall county at the present time. Under the plan the PWA will erect the necessary buildings and rent them to the state. It may be possible to devise some plan of this nature for the University System building program.

Every one in Valdosta and Lowndes county should manifest an active interest in this problem and aid the governor in working out some plan that will not jeopardize the building program which is so vital to the Georgia State Womens College.

Weltner

CHANCELLOR TALKS TO STUDENTS FOR THEIR FINAL MEET

Young Ladies of State Wo- mans College Receive De- grees, Diplomas Today

Declaring that economy in government is admittedly a necessity but adding that education is a necessity which is greater than any idea of economy, Chancellor Philip Weltner, of the State University System, addressing the graduates of the Georgia State Womans College this morning at the graduation exercises, made a plea for greater support of our educational institutions and for a fuller appreciation of what schools and colleges mean in the scheme of living.

Chancellor Weltner said that he held to the belief that there is very little difference between education and life. He declared that education which is not life is not real education.

Mr. Weltner said that some schools have a real mission while some appear to exist without any definite reason for their existence. He said that some schools seem to have the idea that their mission is only a please, regardless of whether or not they accomplish anything worth while for their students. The Chancellor added that the Georgia State Womans College does have a real mission and that the thought of its mission is ever before the faculty. Giving to the students an appreciation of the liberal arts in preparation for living is the real mission of the school, he added.

Mr. Weltner said that schools like individuals, must have definite missions to perform if they fill any real place in the world. He said that where the good of the entire group is not a consideration there can be no growth. He spoke of the constitution of the United States as a document, or institution, which had served a notable purpose in the scheme of the American government, but added, that where it appears that even so fundamental an institution as the Constitution does not continue to serve the common good changes are inevitable.

In discussing the study of the liberal arts Chancellor Weltner pointed out that in the 11th and 12th centuries students were groping to recapture the culture which had been lost in the Dark Ages. He said that by the study of the liberal arts, grammar, geometry, astronomy, music, art and the sciences—they sought to live a freer and fuller life. And so it is today, he said.

Some would make education intensely practical, without due thought of the finer things of living, but he said that any such idea of education was not the one which would enable a man or woman to get the most out of living. He said that a knowledge of the liberal arts was needed to release the full character of the young man or the young woman.

Mr. Weltner pointed out that the Georgia State Womans College exists by reason of money from the state. He said that there was too much feeling that economy in governmental affairs was of paramount importance. He said that education is more important than economy, even today. He added that a people dare not neglect education lest they go backward.

Mr. Weltner said that in his conception the University System existed primarily to satisfy human needs. He showed that sacrifices on the part of all taxpayers are necessary to maintain the schools and he said that he felt that the sacrifices so made were an investment in life.

He urged the graduates to make of their education the foundation on which they will build useful lives that will enrich the entire people.

In opening his address Chancellor Weltner mentioned the

Valdosta Club, CSWC Honors V H S Seniors

The Valdosta Club of G. S. W. C. entertained the members of the Senior class of the high school at a tea dance Saturday afternoon at the Legion home.

The rooms were attractive with floor baskets and bowls of garden flowers.

In the receiving line were Miss Broun Hutchinson, president of the Valdosta Club, Buck Murphey, president of the Senior class, Miss Frances Garbutt, incoming president of the club, Miss Anne Turner and Miss Jessie Catledge Langdale, officers, and Miss Annie P. Hopper, dean of women.

Music was furnished for the dancing by Mrs. Hansell Paine, Mrs. W. A. Pardee and Joe Scala.

Punch was served during the afternoon.

The affair was a girl break, and was most enjoyable.

Guests included members of the Senior class of V. H. S. and a few out of town visitors.

Athletic Awards

Given At G. S. W. C.

June 2, 1935

Members of the two athletic clubs of G. S. W. C., the Phi Kappas and Phi Lambdas, met in the gym Saturday evening to receive the coveted awards for the year.

The building was decorated with streamers carrying out the colors of the two clubs, red and purple and white, while vari-colored balloons were strung across the ceiling.

Miss Leonora Ivey and Miss Elizabeth McRee, instructors in physical education at the college, had charge of the program.

All of the Lambdas were dressed as boys, while the Kappas dressed as girls.

Four times were chosen and several games and contests were enjoyed, after which some time was spent in dancing.

There was much excitement as Miss Ivey prepared to give the awards, which was a deep, dark secret. Assisted by Miss McRee, they were presented to the following:

VALDOSTA, Ga., April 27.—One of the most colorful events of the school year at Georgia State Womens College was the May Day festival on Saturday, April 27th. The queen of the May, Miss Mary Margaret Sylvester, was crowned queen of comeliness by Polhill, of Syl-complimentary to the loveliness and stateliness of her highness. The queen was dressed in a white crepe gown with organdy ruffles. The train was white underlined with green. The festivities began with the prologue—a certain group of maidens: Louise Ambos, Savannah; Mary Askew, Arlington; Amanda Barksdale, Blakely; Nellie Mae Gannon, Valdosta; Merle Gibson, Columbus; Ruth Jones, Thomasville; Joyce Tipton, Sylvester; Ames Watkins, Metcalf; and youths of Rob-in Hood's band: Rachel Coxwell, Leesburg; Janet Cook, Boston; Frances Carson, Talbotton; Mary Lois Hitch, Valdosta; Joy Miller, Albany; Jose-lynn Moseley, Valdosta; Mary Agnes Roane, Savannah; Vangie Trimble, Moultrie—arrived early on the green on May morning. They frolicked with their garlands playing horse, skip rope, London bridge, blind-man's buff, and May-pole. Next came the king, Miss Eleanor Bailey, of Dou-glas, his court, and the people, all doing honor to the queen of the May. They were preceded by the heralds, Helen Dale Parrish, of Thomasville, and Kitsie Smith, of Waycross. The court consisted of Miss Margaret Zip-plies, maid of honor, dressed in pink crepe with organdy ruffles; the ladies of the court, Helen Moody Carter, Valdosta; Alexa Daley, Dublin; Billie Ham, Valdosta; Broun Hutchinson, Valdosta; Martha Jennings, Valdosta; Marie Joiner, Albany; Clare Lawson, Savannah; Una Ritch, Jesup; Patsy Sparks, Fitzgerald; Virginia Tuck, Thomasville—quaintly clad in charm-ing green and yellow gowns; the lords of the court—Clara Davis Adams, Moultrie; Cleo Barber, Bainbridge; Margaret Bennett, Jesup; Chappie Bragg, Savannah; Margaret Carter, Ray City; Ruby Harrison, Fitzgerald; Virginia Ingram, Bainbridge; Lorene Johnson, Thomasville; Viginia Kirk-land, Metter; and Esther Smith, Sycamore, wearing green, yellow and white suits; the train bearers, Morris Smith and Tom Smith of Valdosta, and the crown-bearer, Frances Paine of Val-dosta.

The festivities in honor of the queen began with the circle dance and the Pickadilla which was done by a group of peasants who later did the wind-ing of the May-pole. The dancers were: Annie Laurie White, Waycross; Bernice Andrews, Thomasville; Eve-lyn Folsom, Hahira; Helen Landey, Valdosta; Jerry Quinn, Hazlehurst; Harriet Radford, Quitman; Blanche Locklear, Homerville; Lounell Mor-ris, Pearson; Lois Dickerson, Homer-ville; Merle Sumner, Waycross; Dor-othy Herndon, Lake Park; Mildred Daniels, Hawkinsville; Olive Pinker-ton, Eatonton; Ruby Jordan, Way-cross; Tad Whipple, Quitman; Idella Baumstein, Lake City; Lois Perry, Kingsland; Thera Hambrick, Ray City; Camille Rycroft, Adel; Grace Swindle, Ray City; Martha Gardner, Camilla; Winnifred Corbett, Pearson; Bobbie Cochran, Camilla; Floye Ivey, Bridgeboro; Arrie Carter, Fargo; Madge Watson, Lakeland; Clarice Conner, Lakeland; Emma Ruth Jones, Donaldsonville; Ruth Williams, Way-cross; Alvata Carter, Rockingham; Lora McPhaul, Doerun; Eloise Line-berger, Valdosta; Barbara Hatcher, Moultrie; Essie Skinner, Tifton; John-nie Mae Kelly, Cordele; Paula Sapp, Cairo; Jane Twitty, Valdosta; Fran-ces Hinson, Waycross; Anne Mary Evans, Collidge; Sarah Pyle, Val-dosta; Martha Jones, Lakeland; Wil-ma Faircloth, Seville; Ruth Lough-ridge, Blackshear; Winifred King, Woodbine; Ruth Bunn, Douglas; Sue Coppage, Valdosta; Ellie Etheridge, Sumner; Tiny McEachren, Valdosta; Carolyn Askew, Arlington; Floride Zipperer, Clyattville; Dot Dixon, Pat-terson; Frances Hiers, Morven; Mar-tha Powell, Valdosta; Elizabeth Strick-land, Miami, Fla; Janie Merle Byrd, Pavo; Martha Johnston, Valdosta; Lois Pafford, Lakeland; Wynelle Spell, Wrightsville; Juanita Kennedy, Sur-rency; Mary Jones, Valdosta.

The peasants were followed by the Morris-men. To the jingle of the bells on their trousers they did their dance of the sticks. The Morris-men were: Sally Prescott, Folkston; Rhona Barfield, Valdosta; Doris Grif-fis, Homerville; Louise Harper, Al-bany; Gayle Chute, Unadilla; Juanita Sirmons, Homerville; Elizabeth Ma-con, Moultrie; Vivian Stanford, Adel; Edith Bennett, Savannah; Lovenia Lassiter, Valdosta; Norma Renfroe, Vienna; Eva Mae Smith, McRae; Blanche Mabbett, Quitman; Lucille Tyson, Jesup; Betty Vaughan, Savan-nah; Kitty O'Neal, Tifton; Lucille Holt, Baxley; Theresa Graham, Jesup.

Two-faced jesters amused the audience with their two-faced dance. One side of the costume was a girl while the other was a boy. Those taking part were: Miriam Adams, Camilla; Emma Ambos, Savannah; Lucille Thompson, Ellaville; Lota Griffith, Valdosta; Pearl Wilson, Cordele; Joe Daniel, Ludowici; Clara Louise Driskell, Ocilla; Gwendolyn Quinker, Valdosta.

In the dance of the Soldier and Shepherdess, the dancer, Henry Kate Gardner, of Camilla, took the soldier, Carroll Peeples, of Valdosta, away from the shepherdess, Matilda Tillman, of Quitman, but a big bear, Mayme Register, of Adel, came along and frightened the dancer away. The shepherdess saved the soldier's life and thus won his love so completely that he spurned the dancer.

The maidens of the prologue did the dance of the "May Wreath."

"Clowning" was done by the young Mummers dressed as Pulcinellos. They did tricks, stunts, and feats of great strength. They reacted the play of William Tell—shooting the apple from precarious spots other than the head.

The clowns were: Catherine Hagan, Savannah; Mary Ellen Cordes, of Jacksonville; Sarah E. Morgan, Mystic; Martha Lawry, Dawson; Bonney Lou Newsome, Valdosta; Louise Elrod, Tifton; Rosalyn Eubanks, Rochelle; Josephine Joubert, Savannah; Margaret Varn, Waresboro; Martha Gay, Quitman; Correne West, Quitman, and Lorene Thomas, Valdosta.

The lords and ladies forgot their court dignity for a while and danced the dance of "Playfulness."

The Gipsy Vagabond, Estelle Roberts of Cordele appeared, hailed the Gipsy dancer, Carrol Peeples, to come dance for him. She was followed by the rest of the Gipsy band: Mary Alderman, Pavo; Bessie Autrey, Valdosta; Leila Callendar, Valdosta; Margaret Hudson, Camilla; Annie E. Knight, Quitman; Linelle Lang, Valdosta; Bootsie Hatcher, Moultrie; Ruth Godwin, Valdosta; Eloise Ogletree, Savannah; Anne Turner, Valdosta; Lee Stearman, Savannah; and Wyllene Roberts, Valdosta.

Pierrot, Wyllene Roberts, of Valdosta, and Columbine, Helen C. Varndoe, of Valdosta, were making love again in the old, old story of the Glove.

The climax of the festival was the wind of the May-pole.

The May festival was preceded by Play Day. May Day-Play Day is G. S. W. C.'s day of entertainment for the seniors of the Georgia high schools under direction of Miss Leonora Ivey, head of physical education department. The games played during the morning were: Tennis, fish ball, basket ball, croquet, box hockey, horse shoe pitching, ring tennis, bat ball, golf, balloon volley ball, and prison newcomb.

G. S. W. C. Athletic Clubs Had Party

The Athletic Association of G. S. W. C. entertained members of the Kappas, the Lambdas and pledges Saturday evening. The affair taking the form of a cabaret show, was held in the dining hall.

The tables around the room were decorated in the colors of the clubs, red and white for the Kappas, and purple and white for the Lambda colors.

A series of shows and stunts were presented, with informal dancing between the shows.

The first attraction was a burlesque on "Wild Nell of the Plains," all in pantomime. The story read by Miss Leonora Dufour, as "Jazzing Jane," was portrayed by the following characters: "Handsome Harry," the hero of the plains, Miss Chappie Bragg; "Lady Vere de Vere," Miss Lorene Johnson; "Sitting Bull" and his tribe of Indians, Misses Matilda Tillman, Josephine Joubert, Ruby Harrison.

The next number was a tap dance by Miss Madeline Race, followed by a tight rope walk, by Miss Priscilla Kelley, which was done true to style, umbrella and all.

A trio, composed of Misses Florence Tharpe, Joy Miller and Pearl Wilson, sang a group of popular songs, accompanied by Miss Leonora Dufour.

An enjoyable contest was a game of rocking chair volley ball between a group of students and members of the faculty, in which the students won.

Another contest was drawing a face on a paper bag, by six freshmen and six juniors, the juniors winning.

Miss Elizabeth Kelly made a hit impersonating a prima donna, rendering several selections from operas. She was accompanied by Miss Dufour on the piano—but it was all impantomime—neither of them made a sound.

A contest in which everyone present engaged was the Stock Exchange. This was won by Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Durrenberger, and Miss Denise Beasley won the lucky number.

The obstacle race caused much merriment, when six of the faculty paired with six seniors and sewed up some seams, using the right hand of one and the left hand of the other partner. Miss Mildred Larsen and Ruby Harrison won in this.

Bids to the athletic societies, the Kappas and Lambdas were then issued by Misses Ivey and McRee and Mrs. Jack Howeli, president of the Kappas and Miss Margaret Hudson, Lambda president.

Light refreshments were served after the program.

SOUTH GEORGIA TEACHERS COLLEGE

VALDOSTA, Ga., Feb. 23. — The third art exhibit of the year will be on exhibit in the Upper Rotunda of Ashley Hall from February 16th to March 1st. Through the co-operation of the Fine Arts Club and the Artists Series Committee, a group of water color paintings by Eliot O'Hara, one of America's leading artists in this medium, will be open to the students and faculty. Mr. O'Hara has exhibited in such varied parts of the world as Puerto Montt, the southernmost port of Chile, and in Sheffield, Eng. His "Bridge at Ronda" won the Irving Brokaw Prize at the American Watercolor Society and the New York Watercolor Club. His watercolors of other subjects have also received numerous prizes and in 1928 he won the Guggenheim Fellowship. This exhibit will be one of the most interesting to come to the college this year.

The annual frolic of the Sock and Buskin Club was held in the Play Production Room on Thursday evening. The members relied on their own ingenuity in preparing skits and acts for the frolic. Arrangements for the frolic were made by Miss Estelle Roberts, Cordele, president of the club, and Miss Vangie Trimble, vice president.

Several of the students of the college have been serving as models for the class in advanced painting during the last weeks. The models are chosen from students who have outstanding characteristics that may be portrayed with oils. Among the students posing frequently were: Miss Margaret Bennett, Jesup; Miss Ida Lee Stearman, Savannah; Miss Bootsie Hatcher, Moultrie, and Mrs. Hoke Smith, Valdosta.

Announcement was made recently by the staff of the Pine Branch Literary quarterly, that prizes will be given for the most outstanding piece of literature portraying Southern life and traditions, to be published in the magazine during the year. Prizes will be announced in the spring issue in May.

Miss Leonora Dufour, Albany, editor of the Campus Canopy and the Pine Branch, and Miss Marian Reid, Homerville, society editor, attended the meeting of the Georgia Collegiate Press and Press Institute in Athens, February 20th to 24th.

The Math-Science Club presented a liquid air demonstration in the dining hall on Friday evening. Members of the club and the student body and faculty were invited to watch the experiments performed with the liquid air.

Miss Lucy Hammond, Griffin; Miss Leonora Dufour, Albany, and Miss Marian Reid, Homerville, attended the military ball at the University of Georgia on Friday evening.

Members of the class in foods had the privilege of visiting several dairies and food supply houses in Valdosta and vicinity recently. The new equipment for the department is now in use, and the students are planning meals according to their caloric content.

One of the loveliest affairs of the social season was the freshman-junior formal on Saturday evening. The rotunda and dining hall of Ashley Hall were brilliantly and artistically decorated for the event. Miss Sarah Martha Pyle, Valdosta; Miss Virginia Zipplies, Savannah, and Miss Margaret Cannon, Cairo, president of the freshmen class, together with Miss Annie P. Hopper, dean of women, formed the receiving line.

Rev. J. L. Dickinson, pastor of the Christian church, addressed the students at assembly, Wednesday morning.

Plans are now under way for the annual concert of the Glee Club to be presented at the Ritz Theater in April. The concert will be one of the outstanding events of the spring quarter.

Alumnae visitors on campus last week-end included Miss Martiele Turner, Leesburg; Miss Maurice Collins, Cairo; and Miss Helen Steele, Jacksonville.

President of Womans College Reads Letters From Battlefields of Virginia to Add Feature to His Address

Featuring observance of Memorial Day in Valdosta today was an address by Dr. Frank Reade, executive dean of the Georgia State Womans College. The exercises were held at the First Methodist church and were attended by an unusually large crowd.

Dr. Reade, during his address, read extracts from letters written by his grandfather while he was serving in the Confederate army in Virginia. These letters told a graphic story of the sufferings of the soldiers in both the Confederate and the Northern armies and were striking arguments for peace.

Dr. Reade spoke feelingly of the April of 1861, when the armies of the North and the South were facing each other, of the April of 1917 when the United States took her place in the World war and to April of 1935 when numbers of students of colleges and universities of America staged demonstrations against war and urging the adoption of a program of world peace.

Pointing to the horrors of war, as they came home to the citizens of this nation during the War Between the States and the World War, Dr. Reade urged that the thought and the prayers of the nation be directed toward the attainment of world peace.

Mrs. R. A. Peeples, representing the United Daughters of the Confederacy, presented prizes for essays written by Miss Mary Winn Greer, of the high school student body, and to Legh Scott, of the Junior High School student body. These two Valdosta students won in the local contest and their essays also won in the district contest and they are now being forwarded to the state contest.

Mrs. Peeples in recounting the history of the essay contests said that in 1903 the suggestion was made by the Georgia division of the U. D. C. that such essays be written so as to teach the school children of the state the true history of the War Between the States. The first year there were three essays entered in the entire state. In 1934 there were 36,474 essays entered, showing a remarkable growth in interest in the subject of southern history.

Mrs. James Cranford, acting for Mrs. J. B. Johnson, placed the wreath for the Valdosta American Legion Auxiliary.

Dr. Reade was introduced by Mayor J. D. Ashley.

Miss Katharine Sneed and Mrs. Clyde Ellis sang a medley of Southern airs James Dasher played a medley of southern airs on the pipe organ.

Rev. C. M. Meeks delivered the invocation and Dr. L. R. Scott delivered the benediction.

Georgia Educator Expires at Home In Athens Friday

DR. JERE M. POUND

ATHENS, Ga., Feb. 8 (AP)—Dr. Jere M. Pound, well known educator, died at his home here today after an illness of several months.

Funeral services will be conducted from the first Methodist church here tomorrow at noon. Burial will be made Saturday afternoon at Barnesville.

Shortly after beginning his office of president of the Georgia State Woman's College at Valdosta last summer, Dr. Pound was forced by ill health to ask a leave of absence.

He and his family returned to Athens.

Dr. Pound's career as an educator started in 1884 following his graduation from the University of Georgia.

Among the positions he held were: Faculty member, Boys' High school, Atlanta; principal of Fort Valley Institute; president of Gordon Institute, Barnesville; director of the Georgia Normal and Industrial College, now G. S. C. W., at Milledgeville; superintendent of schools at Macon and Bibb county; superintendent of the East Florida seminary; and Georgia state school superintendent. He came to Athens in 1912 as president of the state normal school and also held a similar position with the Georgia State Teachers' College.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Ada Pound; three daughters, Mrs. W. R. Edwards, Fort Valley; Miss Ida Pound, Athens; Mrs. T. K. Huggins, Athens; four sons, Murphey Pound, Columbus; Aldine Pound, Columbus; Merritt Pound, Athens, and Stokely Pound, of Athens.

Dr. Pound was also a trustee of Emory College, a member of the National Educational Association, Southern Education Association, Georgia Education Association, Kappa Alpha, Phi Beta Kappa and Kappa Delta Pi.

Mr. Pound was affiliated with the Democratic party and a member of the Methodist church in which he took an important part. He was twice a member of the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, a lay leader in the North Georgia conference of Methodists, a member of the educational committee of the Layman's Missionary movement and chairman of the Minute Men of the North Georgia conference.

He was also a member of the Cloverhurst country club at Athens.
