Founder of FBLA To Be Honored

Dr. Hamden L. Forkner, former head of the Business and Vocational Department of Teachers' College, Columbia University, will give the main address at the annual convention of the Georgia Business Education Association. The meeting will be held at the Sky Room, Atlanta Municipal Auditorium, on Friday, March 18, at 9:30 a. m.

Dr. Forkner was born on a cattle ranch in western Montana. He received his Bachelor of Arts and Ph. D. degrees from the University of California. Dr. Forkner is the co-author of "Twentieth Century Bookkeeping and Accounting," "Correlated Dictation and Transcribing," and "The American High School."

The speaker is the inventor, author, and publisher of the Forkner Alphabet Shorthand, which has been recently adopted by the world's largest high school. He is the founder of the Future Business Leaders of America, and he was the first president of the United Business Education Association. He has been a teacher for some forty years.

There will be a Fellowship Dinner Thursday, March 17, with members of the Georgia Business Education honoring Dr. Forkner and state FBLA officers. The 1959-60 officers of the Georgia Business Education Association are as follows: president, Mrs. Eileen Altmock, Murphy High School, Atlanta; vice-president, Joseph Specht, Georgia State College for Women, Milledgeville; secretary, Mrs. Ione Hickox, Savannah Vocational School, Savannah; treasurer, Milton Chambers, Berry College, Rome.

The Future Business Leaders of America is represented on our campus by Chapter 1890 of the National FBLA Organization. Chapter 1890 became a member of the National Organization just last May under the leadership of past-president Silas Pittman, and sponsors Miss Elmina McKneely and Mr. James B. Dales.

JEAN PHILLIPS COPS MISS VALDOSTA CROWN

Jean Phillips

Miss Valdosta, 1960

Jean Phillips is the new Miss Valdosta. She is a petite brunette and a freshman here at VSC. She will represent the city in the Miss Georgia pageant to be held in Columbus later this year.

With the title, Jean received many prizes from the merchants of Valdosta, but probably the one she is most pleased with is the year's scholarship she received from the Junior Chamber of Commerce to attend Valdosta State.

This is not Jean's first win in a beauty contest. She has been Miss Lyons High School and Miss Toombs County. Here at VSC she was one of the Calendar Girls on the 1960 VSC Calendar. She is also a member of the Kappa Delta Sorority.

The Miss Valdosta Contest held March 4, at the Roxy Theater was sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. The girls, other than the winner, who participated in the contest were:

Gail Thomas, Penny Williams, Nancy Spell, Toni Steele, Barbara Walker, Jean Hooks, Robin New, Carole Lee, and Patricia Hunter.

As the show began the audience viewed the beauties in evening dresses. Next the girls appeared with varied talents, and following this was the swimsuit competition.

Following intermission the top five finalist were announced. They were Jean Hooks, Jean Phillips, Nancy Spell, Gail Thomas and Penny Williams. Before the top three were announced the awards for Miss Congeniality and Most Talented of the non-finalists were announced.

Robin New received the honor for being Miss Congeniality and Toni Steele, the honor as Most Talented.

As the big moment arrived Penny Williams was presented with a trophy as the second runner-up, Gail Thomas as the first runner-up and Jean Phillips received the crown from Kay Domingos, the 1959 Miss Valdosta.

The week-end was terminated with dinner on Sunday and soon afterwards the visitors began to leave, some planning to return in the fall.

Robert Schrade Will Perform Here

Robert Schrade, talented soloist and recitalist will appear in the college gymnasium on March 25 at 8:00 p. m. sponsored by the Civic Music Association. Considered as one of the more brilliant artists in America today, Mr. Schrade will appear in Carnegie Hall in New York City just prior to his appearance here in Valdosta.

Since his debut at Town Hall in New York in 1949, he has won unanimous praise of critics across the country and in Europe, both as a soloist with symphony orchestra and as a recitalist. In 1956 he played the 15th Anniversary Concert at the National Gallery in Washington, D. C., following which Paul Hume of the Washington Post wrote, "He commands the vital elements of the big style we associate with the music of the romantic composers. . . fine unforced, big tone, and solid technique."

He made his first tour of Europe in 1958 playing in Amsterdam, Hamburg, Milan and Athens. His performances were termed as unprecedented success and he was urged to return each year. Critics in Europe echoed the praise of the eminent societies for which he played in saying, "He is the best America has sent us."

In addition to his performances in Europe, Mr. Schrade has performed over major radio networks of New York and Washington, always reaping enthusiastic acclaim for the high quality of performance and his unusually varied programs.

Born in December of 1924, in Wilden, New York, Schrade springs from a long line of musical ancestors, including many distinguished musicologists and performers. The exchange of ideas during his student years with such musicians as Harold Bauer, Diran Alexanian, Hugh Ross and Ernest Bloch also proved fruitful in the crystallizing of Mr. Schrade's ideas.

A veteran of the Army Air Corp, he has performed as organist and choir director at West Point air field. He has been associated with the Chairmen of New York Philharmonic, NBC and Boston Symphony and Philadelphia and Pittsburgh Orchestras. He has also done extensive musical study with the renown Frederick Meyer.

Each VSC student will be admitted free upon presentation of student identification cards.

Senior Weekend Termed A Success

By Sandra Massey

The week-end of Mar. 4, 5 and 6 found the number of students on campus increased to a large extent. For this was the time known to high school students in the surrounding communities as "Senior Week-end". Registration began on Friday morning for the approximately 100 students who came for the event and continued through the day. VSC students acted as guides and aides in any manner in which their help was needed.

At 6:30 on Friday evening in the rotunda of Ashley Hall there was a short "briefing session" held for the visiting seniors. At the time they were told of some of the events which would take place during their stay and of certain rules they would be expected to observe while here. Following this meeting there was a panel discussion on "What life is like here at VSC".

Participating as panelists were Jerome Clegg, chairman of the panel; Tony Corso, who talked on the library, dining hall, Student Center, and health facilities;

Sandra Pattillo, who spoke on the rules and regulations of the Womens' Residence Hall Council; Lamar Pearson, who spoke on the meaning and purpose of the Student Government Association; and, Sandra Massey, who told something of the clubs and organizations that are active on this campus.

Miss Sawyer and the speech department presented entertainment following the discussion. For the rest of the evening the seniors enjoyed fun at the Student Center.

At 11:00, a pajama party was held in Ashley Hall for the senior girls. Entertainment was provided by the dorm girls.

Saturday began with a tour of the campus led by VSC students. This tour included the library, administration building, and other campus sites. After the tour, an opportunity was provided for the students to talk with professors of their major interest field. A "Coke Party" was held at 11:00 by the Panhellenic Council and the Interfraternity Council.

Saturday night found the seniors enjoying an evening of entertain-

The Roots of Education Are Bitter

While walking down the halls of VSC the other day, I happened to overhear a conversation that went something like this "boy, will I ever more be glad when June comes and I'll get out of this place". I think all of us will be happy and are anxious to see the day of graduation, but the question is are we just coming to school for the diploma or are we coming to receive what we can to aid us in living our future lives?

Going back into the archives of history we find that even Aristotle didn't find education a bed of roses, for it was he that said, "The roots of education are bitter, but the fruits are sweet." We have heard it said all of our lives that the youth of today are the leaders of tomorrow. What do we have to lead with if we have not taken advantage of the opportunities of education. Diogenes said, "The foundation of every state is the education of its youth".

Someone has said this about college education: "A college education is what streamlining is to a car. The motive power is common sense". The sad side of the picture is the fact that many do not accept the importance of an education. We may think the only ignorant people would make this statement about a college education: "A college education is a four-year plan for confusing a young mind methodically".

The truth of the matter is it was written by a very brilliant statesman and the pitiful truth is that a lot of people feel this way. The value of our schooling is just what we make of it.

I've heard numbers of students say "Oh, if I were only back in high school I'd really start out differently.

I'd really study". What's the matter with turning over a new leaf now, there's a lot more of our life to live.

When President Garfield was head of Hiram College, in Ohio, a man brought his son as a student and asked about a shorter course than the regular one. "The boy will never take all those courses in," the father said, but he can take a short course. Can you arrange it for him?"

"Yes, your son can take a shorter course," replied the college president. "It all depends on what you want to make out of him. When God wants to make an oak, He takes a hundred years; but when he wants to make a squash, he requires only two months."

Honorable Mention for VSC Student

The outcome of a year-long nationwide hunt for future college teachers was announced today when the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation made known the names of 1259 winners of its fellowship awards for 1960-61. Gene Deal of VSC received honorable mention according to the announcement.

The announcement was made by Sir Hugh Taylor, President of the Foundation and Dean Emeritus of Princeton University's graduate school. The awards carry a basic stipend of $1500 plus family allowances and full costs of a year's graduate study at any university of the recipient's choice in the United States or Canada.

The winners come from 355 universities and colleges in the United States and Canada and were selected from 8,800 applicants representing 861 institutions. They will study at 83 different graduate schools in the United States and Canada. Most are in the Humanities or Social Sciences but there are also 224 scientists and mathematicians among them.

The shortage of qualified college teachers is one of the most critical problems facing American education today. It is estimated that 30,000 new college teachers will be needed each year during the next decade to take care of the tidal wave of college students expected in the sixties. The Woodrow Wilson Fellowship Program was established in 1945 to recruit promising students for the college teacher profession and to support them during their first year of graduate study. In 1957 the Program received a $24,500,000 grant from the Ford Foundation to increase the scope of its operations and to intensify its search for college teachers.

History Making Presentation Of South's Viewpoint

By Steve Sevits

If you didn't see the television show featuring Senator Herman Talmadge, Sunday night, you missed a history making presentation of the viewpoints of the South.

The inbred hostility of bigtown Yankee newspaper reporters was bared in anticipation of scoring a victory for the interests opposed to the South. The tables, however, were skillfully turned and Senator Talmadge not only defended Georgia but brought to light interesting material that proved most conclusively that Negroes in other parts of the country either couldn't or wouldn't vote as much and as freely as they do in Georgia.

While TV's Meet the Press was a sensational show this past Sunday, it was just another run-of-the-mill example of the misunderstanding of the situations that prevail in the South and the State of Georgia.

Many of the persons attacking the South and trying to legislate for the South not only don't understand what the situation here is, but many have not tried to find or evaluate the facts for themselves. The present hassel in congress is a definite example of the silly misuse of power.

Arbitrary legislation dealing with problems of the South, performed by the nation as a whole is a gross imposition of the twisted misuse of powers by individuals who are obviously trying to resurrect the infamous reconstruction era, either for political, financial, or personal gain.

Federal legislation for the South is just as silly as the South would be if it tried to legislate concerning cranberry boggs in Michigan, or potatoes in Idaho. After all, what do we know about the intimate problems concerning potatoes in Idaho, cranberries in Michigan or the marble quarries in Vermont?

While we recognize the inconsistencies in such foolishness, the same people, (many of whom have never been in the South to observe), are engaged in arbitrarly dealing with people who are just as good Americans as they are.

The basic principles of the founding of this great nation, being brushed aside in an almost totalitarian manner to further isolated interests of disinterested persons. Being an election year, a controversial issue can become fuel for the political machines.

A recent item on the editorial page of the Atlanta Journal titled "Able Defense for the South". After all, there is nothing to defend ourselves against except a violation of clear cut democratic principles. The issue on trial here is not the picayune issue of voting rights, or even the bigger issue of civil rights as a whole. The issue which stands before the docks is bigger than that. It is the basic foundations upon which our government is founded.

Never in the history of this country has the South had such an important role to play in the development and preservation of liberty. Destiny has chosen the South to carry the burden of preserving the liberty of the great American Heritage. Georgia is now engaged in playing an important role in this war against prejudice and intolerance.

The Latest Word

Another quarter is about to come to an end and everybody is madly rushing around to get those last minute term papers in and the thing about it, to get them in on time. It is also about time to start getting those last cram sessions in before finals. I don't know where this quarter has gone, but it has really flown. Somethings I think it is good that it goes so fast, but in other ways it would be nice to have a few extra days to get everything done. Hope to see everybody's name on Dr. D's list this quarter and I don't mean the "black list".

On Thursday night, March 3, the Kappa Delta girls held a bridal shower after their regular meeting. The lucky girls who were feted and who will be marching down that aisle of no return soon were Terry Meeks, Mary Carrell Smith, and Brenda Taylor. The sisters and pledges all wish these the best wishes and a sad farewell to three wonderful girls.

I think everyone owes a big band of applause to the girls of Alpha Delta Pi Sorority for their very nice fashion show which was held on Thursday night, Feb. 25. They would like to thank all the help they received and also the girls from other sororities for their participation.

On Tuesday afternoon, March 1, the boys from Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity feted Alpha Xi Delta Sorority with a coffee held in the House-in-the-Woods. Ashley Register, who is the new president of the Pi Kap ground introduced a the brothers and pledges to the group, after which Jean Hooks did the same for the sorority group.

The table was adorned with beautiful white gladiolas and yellow mums. Acting as hostesses for the occasion were the sponsors of Pi Kappa Phi.

Election time for new officers for the sorority groups here on VSC campus has once again rolled around.

Alpha Delta Pi Sorority elected as their new president of the coming year, Patricia Luke of Valdosta. Filling the role of vice-president is Marie Smith. The other officers elected were Sandra Pattillo, recording secretary; Marilyn Hughes, corresponding secretary; Janice Taylor, chaplain, Jeanie Posey and Kitty Coppage co-membership chairmen; and Ann Powell as treasurer.

Sandra Massey was re-elected as president of Kappa Delta for the coming year. Also re-elected was Virginia Lamb who serves as vice-president and Beverly Ann Greene, serving in the capacity of secretary. Taking over the position of treasurer is Kay Domingos and her assistant is Norma Lou Maxwell. Elected as editor was Sue Wright and Louise Wright was chosen to be membership chairman.

Heading the new slate of officers of Alpha Xi Delta Sorority is Jean Hooks as president and Patricia Herrington as vice-president. Serving as membership chairman will be Judy Whorton. Gloria Reagen was elected as treasurer and Beverly Bridges as recording secretary. Martha Harrell will serve in the capacity of corresponding secretary and chaplain.

The Tekeston Trio, which is the unique discovery of the Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity, participated in Senior Week-end by taking part in the Talent Show held on Saturday night. The group, composed of Stephen Vaughn at piano, Bernie Brown, and Emmett Taylor, also brought the entertainment on Friday night to the Kiwanis Club dinner held at the Country Club.

I would like to spotlight for the week as the VIP of Greek life here on our campus, Jean Phillips, from Kappa Delta Sorority, who walked off with all the honors at the Miss Valdosta Contest. Congratulations, Jean!

The girls from Alpha Delta Pi are planning another one of their delicious spaghetti dinners to be held next quarter.

John's older brother, James E. Seasholtz, a former VSC Student who has a B.S. in Pharmacy and a B.S. in Chemistry, is now a junior medical student at the same Missouri Medical College. The Kirksville College of Osteopathic Medicine and Surgery is rated as one of the top six in the nation.

Elton Dupree is now taking the last two courses required for his master's degree at the University of Nevada. He has a fellowship there, and is doing part-time teaching (teaching assistance)ship). Elton has had fellowships offered him at the University of Oregon and the University of Oklahoma,

Very Interesting People Of The Week

Alpha Delta Pi Fashion Show

"Younger than Springtime" was the theme and younger than springtime were the fashions viewed by students here at VSC on the night of February 25 at the Alpha Delta Pi Sorority Fashion Show.

Under the direction of the sisters and pledges of ADPi, pretty young models showed the audience a preview of spring in the way of clothes. Dorothy Carter, acting as fashion narrator, described each girl's attire as they walked across the stage amid crepe paper streamers and balloons.

Fashions for the very young mister and miss were shown the group by the children of some of the ADPi alumni. Wearing a two-piece spring suit of small black and white checks, Sonia Sutton of Alpha Xi Delta showed the group the "thing" for Easter Sunday.

The answer to the question "What can I wear to the party?" was answered as Leslie Brown, Kappa Delta, modelled a white sheath cocktail dress, and Mary Slade, also of Kappa Delta, added her ideas as she came out attired in a beautiful white and peach colored party dress with matching accessories.

Summer fun was previewed by Robin New as she modelled a black backless swimsuit with white trim and Patricia Herrington of Alpha Xi Delta showed the group another swimsuit of light blue.

Penny Williams from Alpha Delta Pi modelled another style of the classic black swimsuit. Decked out in sports clothes for that spring and summer outing found Jeanie Posey all ready for an afternoon of tennis in peddle pushers.

Mary Carrell Smith, Kappa Delta, showed the latest in the favorite Bermuda shorts while Alice Kay Johnson, Alpha Delta Pi, showed what will be worn in the form of "deck pants".

Modeling a "sports to class" outfit was Judy Jones of Alpha Delta Pi. The outfit consisted of a pair of Bermuda shorts in coral and a printed matching blouse and a pencil slim skirt of matching color and fabric.

Another transitional frock of the "Sunday to evening" type was modelled by Evelyn Hunter of Kappa Delta. The beautiful dress of violet and white was very striking with the jacket on for Sunday and with the removal of the brief jacket became just the thing for that late afternoon party or semi-formal dance. Wearing a sun-back dress of printed cotton satin was Dut Tidmore, a Alpha Delta Pi member.

Dresses which could serve for Sunday wear or school wear were modelled by Martha Harrell, Alpha Xi Delta, and Peggy Crew of Alpha Delta Pi. Martha was attired in a dark transitional cotton with black accessories. A mint green cotton with a beautiful orange hat was modelled by Peggy. Looking as "cool as spring itself" wearing a light cotton dress was Mary Dickey of Alpha Delta Pi.

The fashions have been seen and all the young ladies on campus have their hopes raised that they will be able to supplement their spring and summer wardrobe with some of these fashions which were shown.

-SPORTS-

FROM THE BENCH

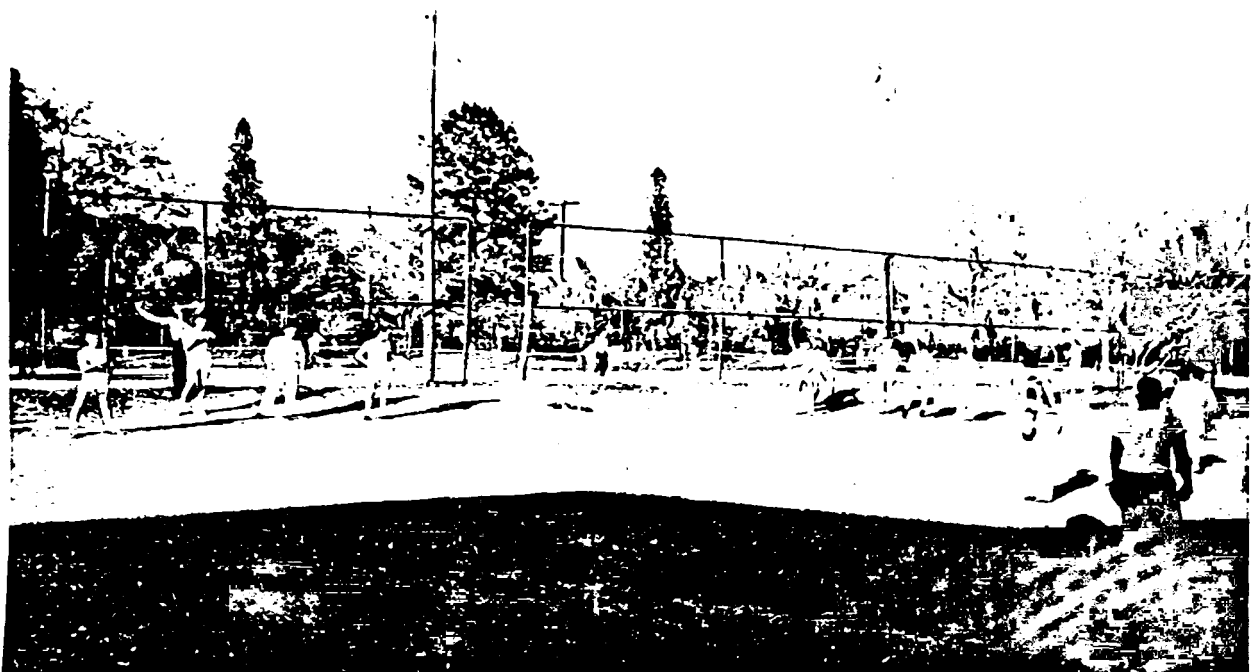

Basketball has concluded at VSC and attention is now being focused on our national pastime, baseball. Basketball did not have the success that Rebel fans had anticipated at the beginning of the season, but considering the handicaps they played under most people would have to agree that they had a fair season. More than any other factor, the injury element played the greatest role.

Baseball for 1960 will begin for the Rebels on March 7 and 8 when they play the Moccasons of Florida Southern. This school, being greatly supplemented by northern athletes should give the Rebels a good fight, but I pick the Rebs to win both of them.

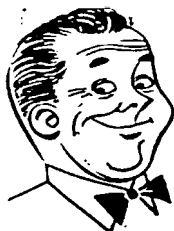

Team should be strong this year with the best looking infield that I have seen for a college of this size in a long time. With performers such as Emory Mobley, Hansel Faulkner, and Buck Ethridge the Rebels should present a well-groomed (carper crew).

In the outfield there are also many capable performers fighting for a position. John McIntyre, Willard Griffis, Jimmy Harrington, and Jerry Norma will all be scraping for the three positions. More will be presented on the Rebels in the next issue.

No matter how little a person may know about religion, he feels fully qualified to argue about it.

Future Business Leaders Met, Elected Officers

Election of the 1960-61 officers for FBLA Chapter 1890 was held at the last regular meeting on March 2.

Those elected for the coming year are: president, Jerwann Phillips; vice-president, Jackie Hiott; secretary, Patricia Luke; treasurer, Doug Calhoun; publicity chairman, Melony Gray; and co-social chairmen, Maxie Payne and Jim Stevens. Installation of the new officers will be held at a later meeting.

After all business was taken care of, the speaker of the evening, Mr. Comer Cherry, was inroduced by Doug Calhoun. Mr. Cherry is manager of the local Credit Bureau. He is an excellent speaker, and has a most interesting history. A graduate of Georgia Military College, he came to Valdosta in 1936.

Since coming here he has served as president of the local Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary Club, and the Country Club. He is the founder and first secretary of the Valdosta Boys' Club, and an active member of the Associated Credit Bureau of Georgia for four years, president of the Associated Credit Bureau of the Southeast in 1956, and as a member of the Board of Directors of the Associated Credit Bureaus of America.

The club was indeed fortunate to have had Mr. Cherry deliver an informative talk on credit in general, and a discussion on how a Credit Bureau works.

The annual State Convention of the Georgia Future Business Leaders of America will be held at Rock Eagle 4-H Club Camp during the weekend of March 11-13. It is hoped that a representation of the local chapter will attend this meeting.
