SGA NOMINATIONS COMPLETE ELECTION SET TOMORROW

The Student Government Association's Election Committee announces today the following candidates who are seeking election tomorrow. Those in the race for the top SGA offices are:
President, David Melton and

Joe Webb; Vice-president, Lamar Pearson and Kelsey Kemp; Treasurer; George Bennett and Ben Force; Secretary; Kay Domingos, and Elaine Studstill.

Class elections for next year's senior, junior, and sophomore classes will also be held at the same time. Therefore one would not only vote on the SGA ballot but also for his respective class officers on another ballot also. Likewise, dormitory students would vote for dormitory representatives and town students would vote for town representatives to the SGA.

Class nominations are as follows:

SENIOR

President: Robert Waters and Buck Etheridge; Vice-president; Gabriel Saliba and Mike Singletary; Penny Williams and Sonia Sutton; Treasurer; Bascom Raulerson and Wayne Welch; SGA Representative; Boy; Berni Brown and Michael LaHood; Girl; Jean Hooks and Emily McBride.

JUNIOR

President; Butch Hickox and Martha Sue Bragg; Vice-president; Charles Greene and Sue Wright; Secretary; Carolyn Garner and Beverly Anne Greene; Treasurer; Sandra Massey and Betty Pace; SGA Representatives; Boy; Butch

Hickox and Sam Brooks; Girl; Sandra Smith and Jeanie Posey.

SOPHOMORE

President; Doug Eason and Judy Koehler; Vice-president; Faye Fassel and Martha Harrell; Secretary; Beverly Bridges and Carole Lee; Treasurer; Gloria Reagan and Alice Kay Johnston; SGA Representatives; Boy; Harvey Roddenberry and Gary Dooly; Girl; Toni Steele and Mary Dickey.

Dormitory and town representatives nominated are:

Dormitory Representatives; Girl's; Louise Wight and Martha Price; Boys; Jan Rogers and Wayne Garrick; Town Representatives; Girl; Phoebe Humphries, Genna Parramore and Sandra Delocah; Boy; Billy Dasher and Richard DeLoach.

Jimmy Broxson president states, "Please vote-break the national record. Only 48% of registered voters vote in national election. If you don't vote; don't complain about the electorate; if you vote you may complain."

A WALK THROUGH THE PARK AND WHAT WE FOUND THERE - A little girl who had just found a basket of easter eggs and four VSC Co-eds who went down to Cool their heels. The little "co-ed" is cute Pam Kelly of Valdosta and the big co-eds are Diane Cowart (at top) and L to R Beverley Barksdale, Betty Merritt, and Carleen Bell.

Play About Author of 'Lady Chatterley's Lover' April 26

A play about D. H. Lawrence, the author of Lady Chatterley's Lover will be presented next Tuesday evening, April 26 at Pound Hall auditorium on North Campus. The play is entitled (I Rise in Flame Cried the Phoenix), and was written by Tennessee Williams. It will be presented by the Speech Department.

The Williams play has been said to be one of the purest pieces of dramatic writing. When Williams wrote it in 1949, he did not believe that it could be performed in the theatre. Happily, however, the short play's unveiling on the New York stage last year proved him wrong in this particular estimate of his own work, and now Valdosta will view it probably for what could well be only the second showing.

The play reduces the beauty of D. H. Lawrence's life into a brief death scene. It does not stick literally to the facts of the actual last day at Venice, France, but rather as Henry Hewes wrote in the Saturday Review, "attempts to fashion the poetic truth of Lawrence's spirit as it might have been revealed in the final critical moment. The mortal shell burned out by inner fire at its hottest."

The controversial Mr. Williams has accomplished a success once again with this poignant and tragic study of a man whom so little probably understood. Nevertheless, the play is rich in philosophy and is only a part of the entire evening of entertainment which the Speech Department is presenting Jerome Clegg. Companion pieces on the program are a comedy, "A Morality Play for the Leisured Class", and William Shakespeare's "Ages of Man".

Shakespeare's "Ages of Man" is a program that is similar to the production given last season on Broadway by John Guilgud. The production is performed on a bare stage with only one actor taking all the parts.

There is no profuse bodily action in the acting, but rather the characters are created for the audience by the use of the hands and the face.

It is an interesting show from the beginning now famous, "All the world's a stage" to Prospero's speech from "The Tempest". "We are such stuff as dreams are made of and our life is rounded with a sleep."

Other well known, carefully chosen speeches of Jacques in As You Like It; Lorenzo in the Merchant of Venice; Caliban in the TEMPEST; Mercutio in ROMEO AND JULIET; and three sonnets give the audience an impression of youth as found in the work of Shakespeare.

With the use of the speeches of Angelo in MEASURE FOR MEASURE; Hotspur in HENRY IV, pt. one, and the long and arduous RICHARD II the performer is about (Continued on Page 2)

Logan Resigns VSC Post

By Sandra Pattillo

Clayton Logan, head of the Valdosta State College department of music, has resigned from his college post to enter full-time Christian service as a soloist and song director. His resignation is effective June 31.

Mr. Logan is a native of Athens, Ga. and is the husband of the former Miss Sue Ann Horne of Chattanooga, Tenn. They have one daughter, Clara.

Mr. and Mrs. Logan will continue to reside at 2304 Oak Street.

Mr. Logan attended the University of Georgia and received his Bachelor and Master of Fine Arts Degrees in voice.

While at the University, he was soloist in several operatic

The Female's Viewpoint

In a recent issue of the Campus Canopy, a "man" on campus stated his views on the problems of dating. In the article he expressed a desire for the girls' view on this problem - and in this article, he's "gonna get 'em"! Due to the fact that this is the opinion of only two people, we are aware that there ARE other opinions.

It was stated that the dating practices of yesterday have been outmoded and certainly this is true in many cases. No longer is a couple expected to do their courting in the family parlor nor is a young man expected to have the coquette home by dark. But one thing is never outmoded - common courtesy.

A girl no longer expects to be asked for an evening a week in advance, unless for a special event requiring special dress or other arrangements (in contrast to the cited article). But most girls feel that if a boy is interested enough to want a date the girl should at least have time to look her best - this requiring more than an hour!

Also concerning time, our "male" friend stated that a boy would probably not know a week in advance his plans, but do boys realize that a girl is capable of long range planning when they may not be?

The problem of finance, regardless of popular views, is usually understood by girls, especially those in college. Most girls do not base a good date on the kind of car a boy drives or how much he spends. A boy should not ask for a date unless he is financially able. But who says a date should have to cost "$2.00"? Too many young men think that a girl demands too much, but few realize that a girl might just like to go to the Student Center for a coke.

In regard to the problem of where to go, the previous article seemed to be, in a way, paradoxical. The author stated that a girl "tends to be unfinancial-minded in regard to dating"; then he says the girl ought to play a large part in planning a date.

How can she plan a date, if she doesn't know how much money the boy has to spend? If she makes a suggestion, he might get the idea she is "unfinancial-minded"!

A girl may be "choosy" (with good reason) in her dates, but who can judge if "she can't afford to be"? There are not many girls in this world that date just to be dating, but date to have a good time and to be with someone they like - what's a better reason to be "choosy"? I think many girls and boys would be terribly hurt and disappointed if they thought they were being dated because their dates "couldn't afford to be choosy".

Sure, let's have a Sadie Hawkins' Day on VSC Campus and watch these cowards - called boys - run!

to present the "Manhood" segment.

In order to give a clear impression of old age the performer uses in the second part of the program, two sonnets, Henry in HENRY IV, pt. 2, the guilt haunted Clarence in RICHARD II, Claudio in MEASURE: Caesar in Julius Caesar, Hamlet in HAMLET, and the death of King Lear from KING LEAR, and lastly with three speeches of Prosper's from the TEMPEST, the program closes.

"A Morality Play for the Leisured Class is a comedy in the funniest sense of the word. As has been stated in advance publicity we are not giving out any information of this one for fear it will give away the plot.

Assisting Mr. Clegg in I RISE IN FLAME CRIED THE PHOENIX will be Jo Rabun and Barbara Walker. Maurice Whiddon will assist in the MORALITY PLAY.

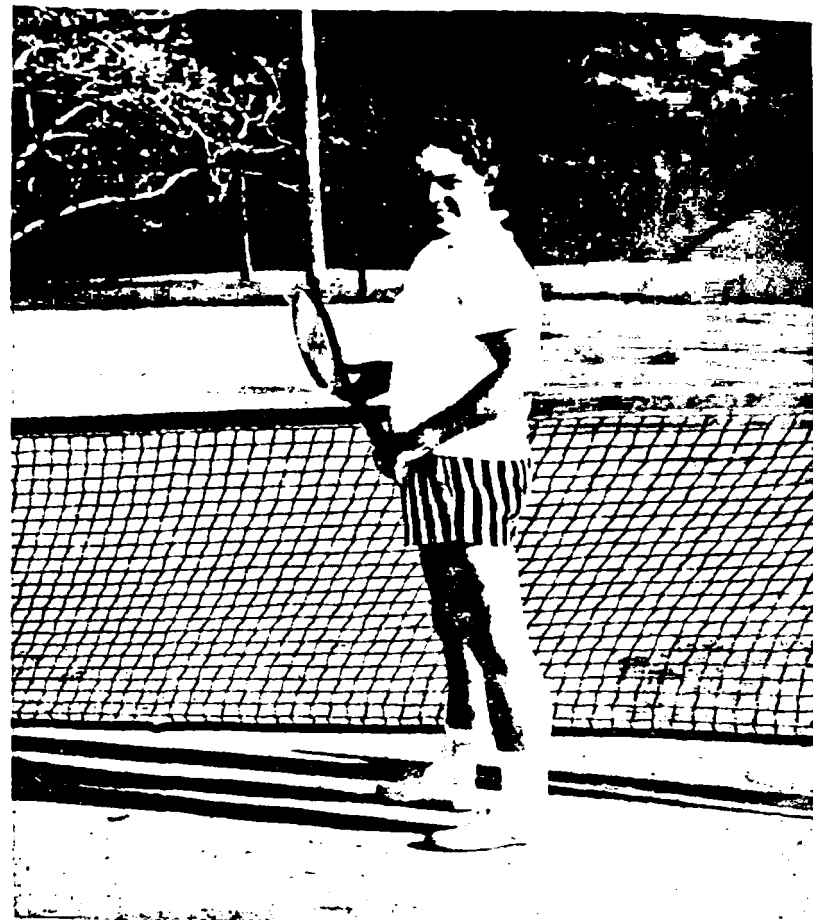

Art Work Now On Display

Every few weeks the Art Department places a drawing or painting in the library for the enjoyment of library habitues. These drawings and paintings are changed at regular intervals.

A new library exhibit has been placed there. The first part of the exhibit is colleges of victorian houses which were done by Julia Gayle Jenkins, Patricia Hunter, Michele Dozier, and Kay Johnston. (They are members of Art 105).

The second exhibit on display there is a stick sculpture by Beverly Turner.

If you are going to frequent the library in the next few days, remember that this picture is there for your viewing pleasure.

Mrs. Wisenbaker Retires As Dean of Women

By Emmett Taylor

I have been amused at the beginning of each Fall Quarter during the two years that I have been here to see Freshmen girls prior to and after their oriented talk with VSC's Dean of Women. It seems that the girls really expect someone similar to a warden in a prison and are actually prepared to meet this type of person, but to their surprise in a very distinguished, understanding lady greets each of them and makes them feel at home.

Having served in a very efficient capacity for several years in this position, Mrs. Joe Wisenbaker has decided to retire in July of this year.

Mrs. Wisenbaker has been affiliated with this college for a number of years, having been one of the original members of the faculty when it was established and later graduated from the then Georgia State Woman's College before it was a degree granting institution.

In 1933, she received an A. B. Degree from GSWC and has since attended graduate schools at the University of Georgia and the University of Tennessee.

Some years after arriving in Valdosta from Madison, Georgia where she was born and raised, she married the late Mr. Joe Wisenbaker of this city and two daughters were born to them. Mrs. L. W. Dudley, her eldest daughter, now resides in Rockville, Maryland and Mrs. L. L. Harrell lives in Wilmington, Delaware. With a glint of pride in her eye, Mrs. Wisenbaker told me that she was known as "Grandmother" to seven grand-children.

In between her duties as a professional woman, wife, and mother, Mrs. Wisenbaker has found time to participate in various civic, cultural, social, and religious groups since coming to Valdosta. She has for a number of years been a Sunday School teacher in the Methodist Church and is a life member of the Women's Society of Christian Service.

From the humanitarian standpoint, Mrs. Wisenbaker said she was proud to relate that she was a charter member of the Child Welfare Clinic, an organization concerned with the welfare of underprivileged children.

Having dealt with various aspects of education throughout her life as a student, teacher and as an administrator on the college level, she has become a member of honor societies and organizations in the educational field. Among these are Delta Kappa Gamma (honorary women teachers society), Kappa Delta Pi (honorary teachers society), Phi Kappa Phi (honorary scholastic society which includes all educational fields), American Association of University Women, a life member of the Congress of Parents and Teachers, and GEA.

From the social and cultural standpoints, Mrs. Wisenbaker holds membership in the Valdosta Garden Club, Wymodausis Club, and last but certainly not least from her viewpoint is her Bridge Club. When I asked her what her plans were after retirement, she jokingly replied, "Sit on my front porch", which I thought would be the logical thing to do, but she digressed and said that she expected to have more time for her favorite hobbies of gardening, reading and playing bridge - as an afterthought she said that she hoped to do some traveling.

The staff of the Canopy joins with me and I'm sure the student body and faculty wish the best of everything to this fine Christian woman who has meant so much in the lives of many.

Mr. Logan also served as soloist and choir director at Price Avenue Baptist Church.

He has been associate professor of music at Valdosta State College since 1949, and became department head in 1955. As director of the "Serenaders" he has toured 10 states and the District of Columbia performing before civic, church, school and other groups.

A tenor, he has presented concerts in Georgia, Florida, South Carolina, North Carolina, and Tennessee. He is a member of the National Association of Teachers of Singing and is listed in Who's Who In American Education, Directory of American Scholars, and Who's Who in Music, International.

A Baptist, he is an active member of the Gideons, International, and is a member of the Valdosta Kiwanis Club.

The Latest Word

"This is the time that tries men's souls". I feel that this old saying surely can be applied to this season of the year, especially for me. The vision of a day at the beach or by the pool or out in the country on a picnic comes at the most unheard of times - such as right in the middle of a history or English or any lecture. I read the other day where is a cure for spring fever was ever discovered, it would be of more help than a cure for the common cold. Agreed anyone?

Alpha Delta Pi sorority here on campus was honored during the first week in April by a visit from their province president, Mrs. Prescott from Atlanta. It was also during this week that Jeannie Posey was elected as vice-president of the chapter and Alma Grubbs, a sophomore from Syl-vester, was pledged.

The group also held a spaghetti supper in the House-in-the-Woods on Sunday evening, April 10. From the delicious aroma coming from that way and the compliments paid it must have been awfully good. An Easter egg hunt will be held on Thursday afternoon before Easter for the underprivileged children here in Valdosta.

South Carolina, national Grand Secretary Bill Rogers, Province Supervisor and Hugh Thompson, Stone Mountain, Georgia, Assistant Province Supervisor, Mrs. John B. Odum, representing the VSC faculty, was also in attendance.

A dance immediately followed the banquet. The highlight of this was a special intermission program by the Tekeston Trio, composed of Bernie Brown, Emmett Taylor and Stephen Vaughn. The Zeta Nu sweetheart, Penny Williams performed next in a Spanish dance.

Chaperones for the event were Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Carter and Mrs. Odum.

Dogwood Legend

By Sandra Massey

(ED. NOTE: Although Easter Sunday has already passed as you read this, the beauty and simplicity this editorial was just too good not to be printed.)

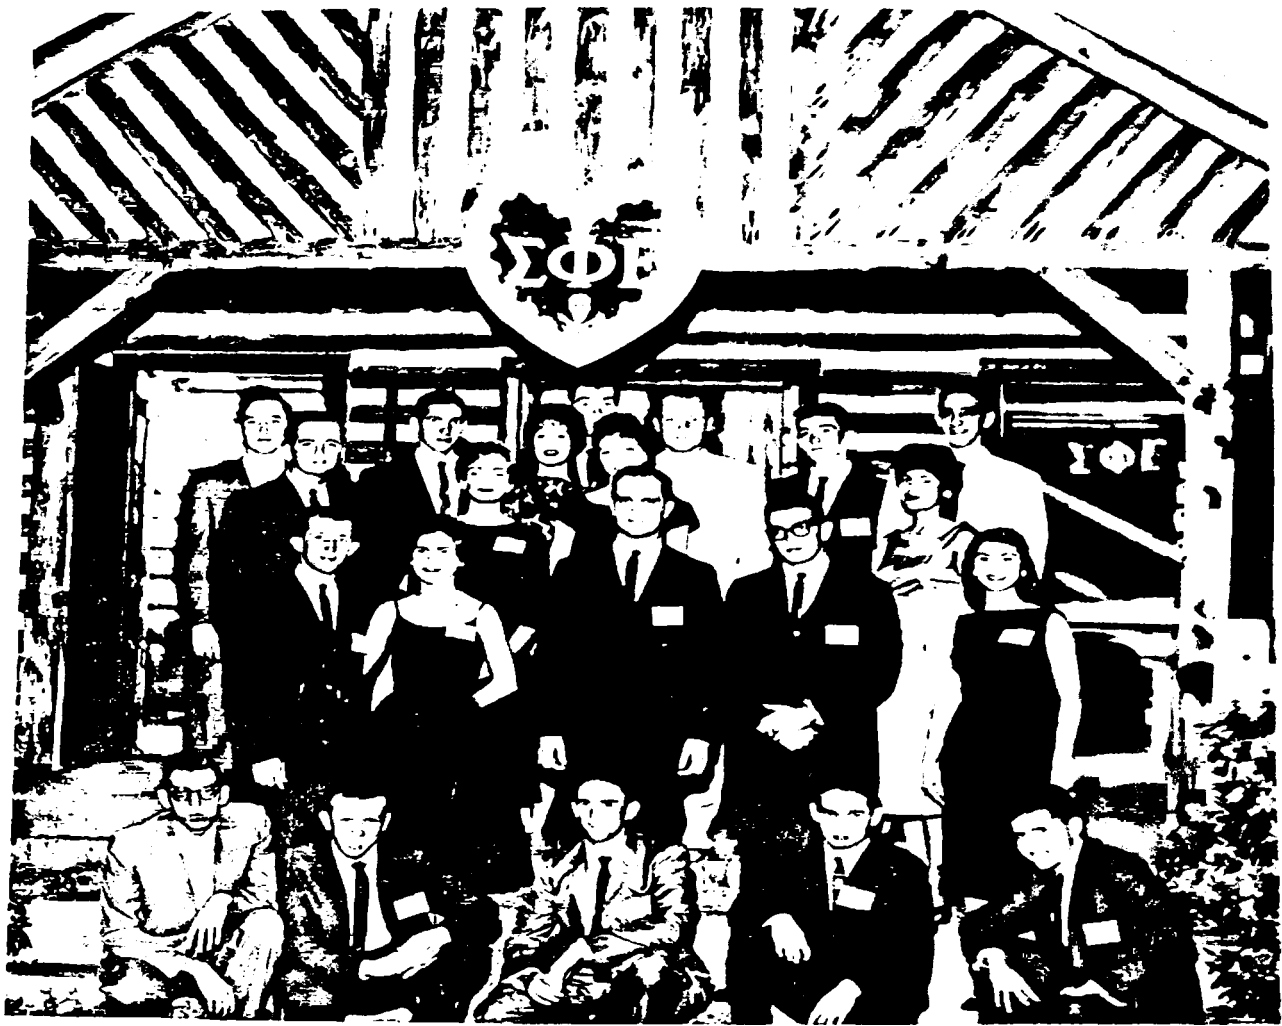

Easter is a time which holds different meanings for different people. For the children it means that wonderful Easter egg hunt; for many young ladies it means the time of a new awakening - that the world is a better place because this was the time that Christ arose. The story of Easter is the story of God's wonderful window of divine surprise.

During the spring of the year, especially around Easter, the dogwood trees are a beautiful sight. At one time the tree we now know as the dogwood attained the size of a forest oak. Its wood was hard and firm, a favored timber of the cross. To be thus used of man distressed the tree. So that Jesus in His hour of travail pauses to make a compassionate promise:

"Because of your regret and pity for my suffering, I say unto you that never again shall your species grow stalwart enough to be fashioned into a cross. Henceforth, you shall be slender and bent and twisted. And your blossoms shall be in the manner of the cross, two long petals and two short petals. And in the center of the outer edge of each petal there will be nail prints, brown with rust and stained with blood."

"And the heart of the flower shall be as the crown of thorns. And all who see it shall give thought that it was on this manner of tree that I was crucified. And it shall come to pass that this tree be not mutilated. Neither shall it be destroyed in wanton waste, but cherished in my name to mark my death upon the Cross of Calvary."

This is the legend of the dogwood.

Sigma Epsilon Goes National

By Sandra Massey

A series of social events accompanied the affiliation of Sigma Phi Epsilon Chapter with its national fraternity last weekend.

The fraternity has been on campus since 1955 as a colony of the national fraternity. It is the third fraternity on the VSC campus to become part of a national group.

The House-in-the-Woods was the scene of open house festivities Friday evening. Decorations were arrangements of azaleas and greenery and arrangements of roses and violets, the latter two being the fraternity flowers. Hostesses for the occasion were Misses Mary Dickey, Jeannie Posey, Patricia Luke, Robin New, Janice Taylor and LaRae Courson, who are members of Alpha Delta Pi sorority, and Miss Barbara George.

A banquet was held on Saturday evening at Minchew's Restaurant during which the charter was presented to Tommy Sessions, president of Georgia Gamma chapter. The banquet was followed by a dance at which time the music was furnished by the VIP's.

Initiation took place Saturday and the fraternity attended church as a group Sunday morning.

Two installation teams, composed of 30 boys, from the University of Alabama and Florida State University installed the new chapter. Members of the fraternity from Auburn, Georgia Tech, University of Florida, Stetson University, University of Miami and Georgia State College were also on hand for the ceremonies.

The Sigma Phi Epsilon director of Chapter Services, Darrell Brittsan, of Richmond, Va., and the Grand Chapter Historian, Bedford Black, presided over the ceremonies and presented the charter to the local chapter.

Officers of the fraternity installed were Tommy Sessions, Valdosta, president; Willard Griffis, Quitman, vice-president; John Baskin, Naylor, secretary; Michael La Hood, Valdosta, controller; and David Brooks, Valdosta, historian.

YWCA Elects

The YWCA holds its annual installation service in the private dining room of the cafeteria on April 11, 1960. The service was led by Priscilla Busby, retiring president, and the officers were installed by Mrs. A. W. Quillian.

The officers and cabinet of the YWCA for 1960-61 are the following: Latrelle Reynolds, Sylvester, president, Barbara Langley, Sylvester, vice president and vespers chairman; Judi Robertson, Tifton, associate vice president and program chairman; Mary Lou Coleman, Tifton, secretary; Wanda Thrift, Cobtown, treasurer and finance chairman; Delene Branch, Enigma, membership chairman; Charlotte and Glenda McClellan, Nashville, ways and means co-chairmen; Trudy Berrie, Waverly, publicity chairman; Carol Vick, Moultrie, music chairman; Gloria Grissett, Ray City, social chairman; and Joyce Robinson, Nashville, chaplain.

MATH SCIENCE NEWS-LETTER

Dr. Clyde Connell is the author of an article published in the Jan. 1960, issue of The Auk entitled "Fat-Free Weights of Birds". Dr. Eugene Odum and Mr. Herbert Kale of the University of Georgia are co-authors. This paper is a byproduct of ecological research supported by an Atomic Energy Commission grant.

Ken Ferrell, VSC 1959 graduate, and his work as juvenile probation officer of Lowndes County featured in an article by Mike Barron in the April 6 issue of the Valdosta Times.

The Math-Science Club held its regular monthly meeting on April 13 at 7:30 in the House-in-the-Woods. Marine biology, illustrated by the film "The Science of the Sea" and informal discussions of marine research by biology staff members, comprised the program. Officers for the academic year 1960-61 were elected.

On F. T. A. day we were pleased to see Betty Waters Gruvery (Mrs. Charles L.) one of our alumnae who is teaching biology and a Homerville and is proud of the new bioscope which was purchased for the use of her students recently.

In a recent letter from the dean of the Emory University School of Dentistry, sent to advisers of pre-dental students, our attention was called to the great need for adequately-trained pre-dental students. Although Emory anticipates more than 300 applicants from whom a maximum of 80 can be accepted, it is proving extremely difficult for the admissions committee to find every 80 of these with academic records which indicate that they might be expected to do well in dental school.

This situation seems to be a general one since the Council on Dental Education has reported that nearly one-half of the dental schools in the United States and Puerto Rico were unable to fill their freshmen classes in 1959.

The American Medical Association has established new academic training requirements for the profession of medical technology according to an announcement received recently from the Registry of Medical Technologists. Beginning in 1962, three years of college work will be the prerequisite for entering an AMA-approved school of medical technology. The three-year program here at VSC was planned in anticipation of this raising of standards by the American Medical Association.

The members of the Math-Science Division teaching staff met at assembly period on April 12 to consider ways and means of avoiding schedule conflicts resulting from our varied course offerings, double laboratory periods, etc. In spite of a number of constructive suggestions we shall need to do some good long-range planning of programs to meet the needs of students in the professional and pre-professional programs.
